TROLLEY CO. WAKING UP

Cars Are Operated on Old Schedule, All Meeting at Station, Beginning Today.

COL. HINE EXPLAINS

Says New Cars Will be Secured as Soon as Possible—In Conference With City Officials Saturday Night, He Agrees to Resume Old Method of Operation.

As a result of the resolution introduced at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council by Robt. L. Lee, there was a conference of the committee of street and sewers and Col. Hine, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway, Saturday evening, in this city, looking toward a betterment of the local trolley service and rolling stock. It was agreed by Col. Hine, representing the trolley company, that commencing today the old schedule of operating the cars would be followed. This means that all of the cars will meet at the Watchung avenue station every fifteen minutes, instead of having two cars meet there only at a time. While it is not definitely known how the system of transfers will be changed it is believed that the old system of giving transfers on the various cars will be followed.

Under the new system such inconvenience was caused the travelling public, especially workingmen in the local shops who depend on the trolley to take them to work. They were obliged to lose five or ten minutes at the Watchung Avenue station for a connecting car. Now they will be able to make direct connection.

As to the improvement of the rolling stock, Col. Hine assured the Councilmen that as soon as the company's new plant at Cranford is completed, many changes for the better will be made. He cited the fact that the loss of eight cars by fire some little time ago, has necessitated the borrowing of other cars, it being impossible to buy cars and have them delivered at once. Col. Hine also stated that new cars would be added for the summer travel and that the other cars would be thoroughly repaired. The company through its representative assured the committee that it is its purpose to give Plainfield and adjoining towns as good trolley service as possible.

According to the disposition of Mr. Lee's resolution, it will have to come up at this evening's meeting of the Council for action. Just what the outcome of that wil be is not known now. There are a great many people who are in accord with the spirit of the resolution, but do not exactly like its form. It is safe to say, however, that Mr. Lee will stand firmly by his resolution and get all the benefit from it that is possible.

BOARD OF TRADE INCORPORATES.

Somerville's Board Decides to Have a Legal Existance.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 2—The Somerville Board of Trade has been incorporated and will make a much greater effort to land big manufacturing concerns for this place. One new factory is already assured and others are negotiating. The incorporators are A. M. Terriberry, Jas. Q. TenEyck, Philip Case, John Enk, Voorhees T. VanFleet, John A. Maxwell, Selah Schoonmaker, Charles Schwed, Tracy H. Dawes and W. G. Savage.

Dual Birthday.

A happy dual birthday celebration was observed Friday evening at the home of Wilbur Randolph, of Duer street, when he and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Adams, entertained a number of guests. The affair was a surprise to Mr. Randolph, although Mrs. Adams knew of it. The latter's birthday was on Wednesday and that of Mr. Randolph on Thursday. It was then arranged to celebrate on Friday evening.

Three New Dwellings.

Charles L. Force, the architect, has completed plans for three new dwellings, including one for Charles Wheeler being erected on Stone street by Titus & Pope, contractors; one for Philip Maguire on West Fourth street, being erected by Henry Hoffman, contractor, and another to be erected for Mr. Cocks at Clinton avenue and West Third street, by Titus & Pope, contractors.

CAN'T BE PUNCTURED.

New Tire Just Invented by C. H. Shepherd, of the Borough.

C. H. Shepherd, of the borough, has recently received a patent on an improved vehicle tire, which, it is claimed, is absolutely punctureless. A test, made by placing one of them on a bicycle and rolling it over carpet tacks, proved that the outer covering could withstand the sharp points. It is also said to be exceedingly resilient. The tire is to be placed on the market during the coming season.

NEVER HEARD OF HIS DEATH

MRS. CHRISTIANNA COLES DIED AT SCOTCH PLAINS, SATURDAY.

Was the Grandmother of Horace Hand, One the Westfield Wreck Victims.

The death of Mrs. Christianna B. Coles, widow of the late Jacob Coles, occurred at her home in Scotch Plains, Saturday night, after a long illness. She was one of the oldest residents of the village being in her eighty-sixth year.

Six children survive her, four sons and two daughters. The former are Scott, of Mississippi; Albert, of Chicago; Thomas, of New York; and Lewis B., of Scotch Plains. The daughters are Miss Hattie Coles, of the Plains, and Mrs. Hezekiah Hand, of Plainfield. The funeral services will be held from her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Owing to her critical illness, Mrs. Coles was never informed of the death of her grandson, Horace Hand, one of the New Jersey Central wreck victims. Another relative, Mrs. Gerst, who lived with her, is very ill and is not yet aware of Mrs. Cole's demise.

COAL AND LUMBER.

Big Company Formed by Prominent Somerset County Politicians and Business Men Just Incorporated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 2. — Senator Samuel S. Childs, Former Sheriff Schoonmaker and a number of prominent business men of this section have formed the Smith-Schoonmaker Company, which has filed articles of incorporation with County Clerk Somers. This organization has a capital stock of $125,000 and will enter extensively in the coal and lumber business, succeeding the firm of Smith & Schoonmaker.

The incorporators are Chas. J. Smith, Selah Schoonmaker, Lewis A. Thompson, Alex. G. Anderson and John F. Reger. The officers of the company are, President, Charles J. Smith; vice president, Lewis A. Thompson; secretary and treasurer, Selah Schoonmaker; board of directors, Chas. J. Smith, Selah Schoonmaker, Samuel S. Childs, L. A. Thompson and A. G. Anderson.

Music and Lecture.

A meeting of the children of the Plymouth Brethren was held last Monday in their rooms on East Front street when, instead of a social, as was erroneously stated, new music was learned by the children. During the afternoon an illustrated lecture was given the children on the Holy Land which proved very interesting.

Reading by Miss Carroll.

Miss Antoinette Carroll will give readings at 342 Webster place, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Her selections will be "A Maiden Anthony," and "The Saving Sense."

Postponed Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church has postponed its social for the present. It will probably be held during the present month.

REBUKES CITY FATHERS FOR GIVING LICENSE

Rev. John MacMurray Speaks Strongly on the Action at Recent Council Meeting.

PREACHED LAST NIGHT

SAYS FOURTH WARD DOES NOT WANT THE NEW SALOON.

Denounces Six Councilmen Who Voted for It—Says It Was in Face of Conclusive Evidence of Illegality of Necessary Signers.

Common Councilmen, politicians and saloon keepers came in for a general rebuking from Rev. John MacMurray in a sermon preached by him at the Monroe Avenue church, last evening. The discourse was inspired by a visit to the session of the City Fathers, Monday evening, when the liquor applications were granted after the liveliest meeting the body has had in years.

Taking as his text, "Ye are the salt of the earth," the preacher said that just as salt was used to sweeten the Jewish burnt offering, so was Christian character in any community today. It is the duty of the Christian, said he, to make his influence felt in the home, at church, in society, business and politics. If he takes his religion into politics, continued the preacher, it is not enough that he votes as he prays, but he should pray right and vote right.

"Those of us who were at the Common Council meeting," Mr. MacMurray said, "were made to feel the need of Christian men in politics. When there was an opportunity to reduce by one at least the number of licensed saloons in our city, six of the Councilmen, in the face of conclusive evidence of the illegality of signers for an application and against the protests of respectable residents of that part of the community, deliberately voted to grant a license to a man who was already privileged to sell liquor at wholesale."

"All honor to the four men, Tyler, Pray, Daniels and Garrigues, who realized the situation and by their votes expressed their conscience in the matter and their freedom from political bossism and saloon nomination. We resent the statement of the young lawyer, who evidently used his position in the Council to further the interest of a client, when he said the Fourth ward had decided it wanted the saloon. Perhaps the political boss of the Fourth may have so decided but the rank and file, the tax payers and respectable citizens do not want this or any other saloon within its boundaries.

"Hardly a day goes by but what I am appealed to by mothers whose hearts are made sad by the influence these drinking places have over fathers and brothers, in order to arouse public sentiment against them. The authorities have been appealed to in vain, and now it remains for the people to act and if the saloons can't be done away with entirely their power can at least, be curtailed."

DEATH OF MRS. SISSON.

A Prominent Worker in Chapels Passed Away After Long Illness.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mrs. T. A. Sisson, of 41 Somerset street, after an illness of several months with Bright's disease. Mrs. Sisson was well known in this city where she has has lived for many years, and was also prominently identified with church work in Warren chapel and at Hope chapel where she taught a Sunday-school class for some time.

She is survived by a husband, who is also well known in this city and by a daughter, Miss Alice M. Sisson.

The funeral will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the house, 41 Somerset street and the interment will take place in Hillside cemetery, Wednesday morning.

Dr. Lewis Preached.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached very acceptably at the First Presbyterian church last evening. In the morning the regular communion service was in charge of Rev. Mr. Karner No new members were received at this service.

Prize Choristers.

The prize choristers of Grace P. E. church for February were Alfred Manley, Elmer Boban, Harry Smith, Edwin Scheller, Harold Miller, and the Misses Jessie Little, Cornelia Sampson, Cornelia Miller, Ethel Weseman.

DEM. TICKET NOW COMPLETE

Committee on Vacancies Fills Nominations for Council and Minor Offices.

HARDING AND BODINE

Two Well-Known Citizens Chosen as the Councilmanic Candidates—Committee Met Saturday Evening and Completed Democratic Borough Ticket.

Saturday night, the committee on vacancies which was appointed at the Democratic primary, completed the nominations for the Democratic ticket in the borough for the coming election.

C. H. Harding and L. B. Bodine were nominated for councilmen. Both are very well known in the borough as capable men. Mr. Bodine is the son of John Bodine, who was at one time prominently identified with borough politics. Mr. Harding is a conservative business man and is a member of Grace M. E. church.

John T. Case received the nomination for the office of commissioner of appeals and Leander W. Hammond was placed upon the ticket for justice of the peace. The Board of Health appropriation is $550, the same as last year's appropriation.

The committee on vacancies comprised Levi Kline, David J. Carney and Walter C. Linbarger.

MISS CADY'S RECITAL.

Plainfielders Who Attended Were Given a Real Treat—Assisted by R. A. McGee, Basso.

A number of Plainfielders helped to fill to overflowing the east room of the Waldorf-Astoria, Friday afternoon, the occasion being a delightful piano recital given by Miss Harriette Cady, assisted by Raymond A. McGee, basso. No more pleasing programme could have been arranged by Miss Cady, each number so entirely different, yet none the less pleasing than the other. The interpretations of all was above criticism.

If any one selections out of a programme representing the work of such masters as Bach-Saint-Saens, Moskowski, Von Weber, Chopin, Tschaikowsky, the polonaise from LaBal Suite by Rubenstein was perhaps the most enjoyable, and showed Miss Cady's absolute control of the intricacies of piano technique. The Barcarolle-G major by Moskowski was also played exceptionally well, the swaying rythm and singing tone unusually pronounced. Miss Cady has given evidence of her ability as an artist on several occasions in Plainfield and her recital Friday afternoon only tended to deepen the admiration for herself, and rendering of the classics.

Mr. McGee sang two solos and although suffering from a severe cold, pleased the audience and was compelled to respond to an encore each time. He was well supported by the accompaniments of Miss Saidee Mae Howell.

DUNELLEN MARRIAGE.

Was Performed February 17 and is Now Announced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 2—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Pauline A. Kean to Charles W. Moore, both of this place. The ceremony was performed February 17 by Rev. S. K. Doolittle at his home. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Kean, and the groom's brother, William I. Moore, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in the borough.

Still Suffering.

Miss Mabel Conover, of Duer street, who was one of those who were injured in the recent wreck, is still unable to attend to her duties in New York. She went to New York a few days ago but was obliged to give up and come home as she still felt the effects of the terrible shock.

Getting New Members.

ACCIDENT TO DYNAMO STOPS TROLLEY CAR

CARS ON PLAINFIELD-ELIZABETH LINE RUNNING TO RAHWAY JUNCTION.

Elizabeth Trolley System at a Standstill This Morning on That Account.

EARLY THIS MORNING

Breaking of Rocker on One Dynamo Threw Load on Other Which Was Burned Out—Expect to Run Cars Tonight.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 2—The entire trolley system in this city, including the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railroad Company, was stalled all this morning and afternoon through the breaking of a half ton rocker on one of the large dynamos at the local power house. The accident occurred this morning at 6:10 and immediately after the first dynamo stopped running the larger one, having the sudden load put upon it, was burned out and the entire plant was crippled. A small auxiliary engine was started running and towards noon a few cars were running although not anywhere near the number usually operated.

Manager E. H. Stevens said this morning that he expected to have the entire system in working order by nightfall.

The cars on the Plainfield branch of the road were operated this morning as far as Rahway junction where they are supplied with power from this city.

DEATH OF W. H. CHAPMAN.

Passed Away at His East Front St. Home After Few Weeks Illness.

Following an illness of several weeks from cancer, death came to William H. Chapman at his home on East Front street, Saturday evening.

He was in his sixty-fourth year and leaves a wife and two daughters. For several years he had been a member of the Crescent Avenue church, which he always attended.

The funeral services will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and Dr. Richards, of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, will officiate. The interment will be private.

INSPECTED AUTOS.

Geo. M. Macintyre Returned From Trip Through West.

George M. Macintyre, of the F. L. C. Martin Company, accompanied by Otto Nehr, returned home, Saturday night after an extensive trip through the middle west. The journey was made for the purpose of inspecting the large automobile factories and the coming season's models which the Martin company will handle. They visited the shops at Detroit, Hamilton, O., Minneapolis, Minn., London, Ontario, and Pittsburg. In all they were gone one week and were greatly pleased with the result.

IN HIS SLEEP.

Boarded a Train and Put Off at Dunellen, Where He Was Waked Up.

A young lad ten years of age, residing temporarily in the borough, and afflicted with somnambulism, left his home early yesterday morning clad in a sweater, a pair of drawers and a pair of ragged stockings, went to the North Avenue station and boarded the 5:17 westbound train. He was carried as far as Dunellen, where Dr. Brakeley was called to look after him. Inquiry revealed to the home of the lad and he was sent back to Plainfield and taken home.

FUNERAL AT CALVARY.

Services Over Remains of Mrs. Dorcas Perkins Yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. Dorcas Perkins, who died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Sarah L. Lewis, last week, was held yesterday afternoon from the Calvary Baptist church, Rev. Scott Wallace, officiating. The interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Perkins was born in Scottsville, Va., seventy-four years ago, but came to this city in 1889 and has resided here since. She is survived by a son and a daughter and several grand and great-grand children.

LOOKED OVER MUSIC HALL.

Councilman Lee Inspected It and Had Changes Pointed Out.

Representing the fire and buildings committee of the Common Council, Councilman Robert L. Lee inspected Music Hall in company with Building Inspector Doane, Saturday afternoon. The proposed changes were pointed out to him and the method of construction was thoroughly explained. He expressed no opinion in regard to the inspection but will make a report at the Council meeting this evening.

WALKS AFTER TWENTY YEARS

OPERATION HAS GIVEN THAT POWER TO MISS ETHEL BOWMAN.

Has Been Practically Helpless From Birth—Operation by a New York Specialist.

A marvellous operation performed several weeks ago in the Hahnemann Hospital, New York, upon Miss Ethel Bowman, the twenty-year-old daughter of A. H. Bowman, of Dunellen avenue, has practically given her the power of locomotion, which she has been denied from birth. She is now learning to walk and expects to discard a cane and crutch within a few weeks.

The girl was afflicted with paralysis of the ankles soon after birth. She was practically helpless and moved about only with her limbs incased in braces and with crutches. Nothing definite in the way of a cure was accomplished until the time of Dr. Lorenzs' visit to New York when her father placed her in the care of Dr. Roberts, a nerve specialist of West Fifty-ninth street.

He performed a delicate operation which consisted of cutting the tendons about the ankles. The limbs were then placed in plaster casts and the patient was further treated by electricity. It resulted in the cure as mentioned and there is every reason to believe it will be complete.

SWIMMING CONTEST.

Walter McNaughton Won the First Prize—Several Trophies Presented at Social Which Followed.

A swimming contest was held Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. in which there were five entries. They were: Denton, McNaughton, Neal, Tice and Koons. The contest was for fifty yards and Walter McNaughton made the course in 46 4-6 seconds with Denton 1-5 second behind.

At a social which was held afterwards in the parlors of the association building the first prize of a silver badge was awarded to the winner and a bronze badge was presented to Denton who took second place. At that time the prize for the bowling contest was awarded to the wiuner of the bowling games, Clarence Line. The prize was a bowling ball with a silver plate upon it bearing the name of the winner and the dates the games were played.

For having the highest average in ten games of handball the silver cup which was offered as a prize in the handball tournament the prize was awarded to Ray Smith. William E. Neal was given honorable mention for being a close second in a hard fought battle.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PORTER.

Services Held From Home on East Second St., Saturday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. John Porter were held from her late residence on East Second street, Saturday afternoon, with a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance. They were in charge of Rev. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, who spoke feelingly of her Christian fortitude during her illness. There were numerous flowers contributed by friends.

The interment was afterward made in Hillside cemetery, the casket being borne by William A. Woodruff, George Bolsterli, Edgar Shepheard and A. L. Force.

Auto Frightened Horse.

Samuel Manson, of Metuchen, was thrown out of his carriage Saturday afternoon, on Park avenue, near East Ninth street, and was badly bruised about the body. His horse took fright at a passing automobile and shied suddenly but did not run away. The driver drove off without assistance.

Lamp Exploded.

CONROY GIVES HIS PLATFORM

Tells in An Interview How He Stands on Various Borough Questions.

HE IS GOING IN TO WIN

While He Didn't Seek the Nomination, He Will Use All Honorable Means to Win—Was An Anti-Annexationist at Last Election—Says Sewers Must Come.

Previous to the Democratic primary which was held Friday night, many different names were mentioned for the Democratic nomination for mayor but none but a favored few knew who the right man was. William J. Conroy, himself, did not know that he was slated for the office until a short while before the time set for the meeting. Friends prevailed upon him almost at the last minute to accept the nomination, and, consequently, he was placed upon the ticket as a nominee for the mayoralty of North Plainfield as a "dark horse."

Coming into the political field unheralded, as it were, the people of North Plainfield are much interested in knowing who the candidate for that important office is and what his views are on different matters of interest to the borough. To many he is not a stranger as he has lived in the borough ever since he moved to this locality from his native town, Peapack, twelve years ago. He is a property owner to a large extent in the borough and is the proprietor of a well established carriage repository on Somerset street near Linden avenue. He owns a residence on Linden avenue and his children are attending the Borough High School, while another, a graduate of the school, is studying in Trenton at the State Normal School.

Mr. Conroy was seen by a Daily Press reporter Saturday afternoon and in an interview told of the manner in which he was prevailed upon to accept the nomination and what he would do if he was elected. He said:

"I did not make any canvass for the nomination and only consented to allow my name to be used after my friends prevailed upon me to do so. Before that I had no intention of running and the suggestion was therefore much of a surprise to me.

"Now that I am in the race I intend to use all fair and honorable means for election. If elected I will do the best I can and will do nothing to harm the interests of the borough for the interests of the borough are necessarily my interests inasmuch as I am a property owner here.

"I have no great promises to make. I have not been extravagant in business and will no be extravagant in conducting the business of the borough, if elected. I do not believe in cutting expenses in the needs of the borough when those needs are imperative. I believe that sometimes there are improvements made which could be delayed but at the same time I am a firm believer in progress.

"The present Mayor is a first rate official and is a good man but I believe he has done some things which would have just as well have been left undone, which would have been better for him and for the borough. I realize that he will be a hard man to beat but now that I am in the race I intend to undertake it with a vim and strive for election by all fair means."

"How do you stand on the annexation question?" ventured the interviewer.

"In regards to the annexation question I will say that I voted against it when it was brought up. Since then nothing has been done to call for another expression on the matter."

"How about the sewer question?" he was then asked.

"I am not prepared to say much in regard to the sewer question but it is an improvement which is necessary and we must have sewers in the borough some day."

"What position do you take in regard to the high license question?" the reporter next ventured.

"I believe in using justice and good judgment with all men in business and I believe that the saloon man is entitled to some consideration, inasmuch as the government recognizes such merchants as ligitimate business men. Personally I have no use for the saloon but as they are business men they are entitled to some consideration.

IS NOT THE PROPER REMEDY

WALL STREET SUMMARY TELLS OF EXTRA MAN IN CAB PROPOSITION.

Declares That Safety Suggestions Are Not Always Good—Its Comment.

Opinions differ decidedly regarding the Westfield disaster and the best methods of preventing a like accident. The Wall Street Summary, in its issue of February 20, had the following under the caption "Safety Suggestions Not Always Good," to say on the subject:

"Distressing as fatal railroad disasters undoubtedly are, there is no real justification for some of the unthinking and passionate agitation which immediately goes up from a large part of the press and public when one takes place. We yield to one in the desire to see every possible safe-guard, within reason, thrown around railroad travel but because of this we are not compelled, as some irresponsible newspapers writers seem to be, to advocate hastily the first method of supposed prevention of future accidents that may be suggested, regardless of its practicability or efficacy. The recent terrible wreck on the New Jersey Central at once brought about a clamor for a law compelling the railroad companies to supply a third man on the engine, when it is of what is called the "Mother Hubbard" pattern—that is, so constructed as to practically separate the engine driver and his fireman. Three men on the engine was proclaimed to be a surety against misreading or ignoring of signals or the disaster which might follow the sudden death of the engine driver at his post.

"Now, we find at the outset a dozen of the most experienced and expert engine drivers on the several New York trunk lines, when summoned before the State Railroad Commission, virtually unanimous in opposing the idea of a third man placed in the cab with the engine driver. The witnesses were from the five leading railroads of the State and so could not be accused of parochial narrowness. They handle the fastest express trains between here and Buffalo and so they must be well acquainted with the possible danger of rapid travelling. That they were not 'coerced by the companies' may be assumed when one engine driver declared that 'the Brotherhood does not want' a law providing for three men to a locomotive. The trend of the views of these practical men was that another man in the cab would divide responsibility, distract attention and be worse than useless.

"There has been great progress in the last few years in legislation, not only for the protection of passengers, but for increasing the safety of railroad employes. Much more may possibly be done in this line but the way to accomplish any good is not by ranting against corporation or seizing upon every half-backed proposition made by those who pose as 'labor's friends.' It is reassuring to recall that the annual rate of all accidents on railroad—fatal and otherwise, to employes and to the public—is about one-hundredth of one per cent. Fatal accidents are at about the rate of 8-1,000 of one per cent."

PERSONAL.

Miss Carrie Kellogg, of Orange, is the guest of friends in North Plainfield.

Mrs. George Fairchild, of Grandview avenue, who has been ill with tonsilitis, is now rapidly recovering.

George Mantz, of Mt. Horeb, was in this city Saturday and visited friends in North Plainfied and this city.

Mrs. Williston Quick, of Somerville, has returned home after visiting Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, of Somerset street, William T. Overton, of Fairville, Mass., is the guest for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, of Mountain avenue.

Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, who has been confined to his house, a sufferer with the grip, has now recovered.

Mrs. Edward F. Fickert, of Fairview avenue, who is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever, is now able to leave the house.

Stephen Beeching, of Watchung, is detained at his home with an attack of the grip. Mrs. Beeching has also been ill with the same malady.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

THE COLD HINDERS BUILDING

NUMBER OF PERMITS FOR NEW STRUCTURES BELOW THE AVERAGE.

Snow Storms Partly to Blame, But Indications Point to a Healthy Boom in the Spring.

Applications for building permits have not been coming into the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane as rapidly as they were received during the latter part of January. This is due to the number of very cold days and the snow storms which have visited this city during the past few weeks. It is expected many will soon be made in time for a spring boom.

A permit to alter the building of Sylvester Delago, at 1,043 North avenue, was granted Tuesday. It is for the remodeling of a large barn and James Rafin will be the contracting carpenter.

Mrs. Henry Liefke made application for a permit to erect two dwelling houses at 810 West Front street. The houses will be 24x24x27 feet. The mason will be Theodore Gray and the contracting carpenter, William Brokaw.

John C. Storm has made application for a permit to erect one dwelling on the lot at 818 Liberty street. The house will be 18x18x38 feet and N. C. Pennington will be the contracting carpenter.

An alteration permit was granted to George Rial, of 318 East Fifth street, to make some changes to his residence. He will erect an extension to the rear of the house, which will add 5 feet to the structure. John C. Stewart is to be the contracting carpenter.

A building permit was granted to A. H. Burdick, of Dunellen avenue, for the erection of a dwelling at the corner of West Front street and DeKalb avenue. Mr. Burdick will be the carpenter and mason.

Henry Liefke was granted a permit to erect a house at West Fifth street and Lee place. The dwelling will be fitted with all modern improvements. William Clum is the architect, Theodore Gray will be the contracting mason and William Brokaw will be the contracting carpenter.

Frank Rogers was granted a permit to erect an extension to his house at 511 Madison avenue. He will build six feet to the south side forming an addition which will be 6x6x10. Titus Laury will be the contracting mason and L. T. Titsworth will be the contracting carpenter.

IRELAND TO BE FREE

Strong Declarations Made by the Clan-na-Gael.

BRITISH EMPIRE'S DOWNFALL BECUS

Principles to Be Adopted at Robert Emmet Memorial Meetings—Counsel Recourse to the Sword If Necessary.

NEW YORK, March 2.—James Reidy, secretary of the New York committee of the Clan-na-Gael, has made public a declaration of principles which will be officially promulgated at meetings of the organization to be held in all the principal cities of the country in commemoration of the birth of Robert Emmet, the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of which is on March 4.

After reiterating the belief that Ireland is destined to be an independent nation and that to gain this end she is justified in recourse to the sword, the declaration continues:

"Not even a scant measure of legislative freedom can be won by pleading to the parliament of England, as no installment of justice has been granted Ireland except through fear of physical force.

"We assert that the settlement of the land question promised by the British government will be attempted only because England fears in her coming troubles the hostility of the race in and out of Ireland and hopes to secure peace and loyalty by buying a class at the expense of the entire people. We further assert that nothing of this kind can or will prevent the race from keeping up the fight for the establishment of an Irish republic.

"Constitutional agitation tends to denationalize the Irish people and has led people to believe that Ireland was content to remain a part of the British empire, whereas her people would be satisfied with nothing less than an Irish republic. There is evidence of a revival of the militant spirit in Ireland, and this spirit has been aroused in the Irish race in America to a greater extent than ever. The Irish race in America, too, is aroused to the necessity of combining with true Americans and citizens of other origin to frustrate the attempts of England to commit the United States to policies calculated to serve purely British purposes and to embroil this republic with nations which were friendly when America needed friends and England was hostile. England's mask of friendship is put on to enable her to filch American territory and destroy the Monroe doctrine while pretending to uphold it.

"We firmly believe that the British empire has entered on the downward path leading to final dismemberment and that a wise and resolute use of its ever increasing difficulties will give Ireland her final opportunity. We counsel no rash or premature action, but we insist that Ireland's true interests demand that the world be told that she will not barter her inalienable rights for any half measure or for tardy redress of grievances. We ask the race at home and abroad to steadily prepare for the opportunity (and to make it if they can) to strike the final blow that will make Ireland a nation among the nations."

The Typhoid Situation.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 2.—One death occurred from typhoid fever yesterday, that of Harry Noron, a resident of Ithaca. The general conditions of the epidemic continue to improve. Chairman U. Clarke of the local board of health has announced in justification of the board that it is carrying out all the directions of state health commissioner Lewis made by that officer when he was in Ithaca last week, with the exception that no action has been taken in the case of property along the watersheds from which filth might come. A municipal election is being held today, and the indications are that the vote will be overwhelmingly in favor of municipal ownership. There is a division of opinion among the citizens as to whether pure water shall be secured by filtration of the present supply or by the establishment of a new system.

Gale Continued on British Coast.

LONDON, March 2.—The gale was renewed in the British isles on Saturday night and continued yesterday, but with less violence. Vessels are still taking refuge in the ports and arrive battered by the storm. Others have gone ashore. A quantity of wreckage has been seen off the coast of Northumberland, and the indications point to the wreck of the British ship Cambrian Prince, Captain Owens, Coquimbo for Middlesborough, which called at Queenstown Feb. 11. Later news from the south of Ireland shows that the gale did great damage to shipping.

Three Killed In Central Wreck.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 2.—Three railroad men were killed and several others were severely injured, three probably fatally, by the wreck of a westbound limited train on the New York Central railroad at the yards in this city. Every car left the track, which was torn up for a distance of 1,000 feet.

Aged Couple Suffocated.

READING, Pa., March 2.—Peter Texter, Sr., aged eighty-four years, and his wife, aged seventy-eight years, were found in bed suffocated by illuminating gas. The gas jet had been turned on, it is believed, by accident.

Judge Day In Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Judge William R. Day, who is to succeed Justice Shiras of the supreme court, has arrived in Washington. He expects to take the oath of office today.

WORKED ON SUNDAY

House Held Four Hour Business Session.

Large Crowds In Galleries Watch the Unusual Proceedings—It Was Still Thursday by a Parliamentary Fiction.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The house of representatives held a four hour session yesterday and put the District of Columbia appropriation bill through its last parliamentary stage in the face of the Democratic filibuster. The previous question on the conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill was ordered, and the vote on its adoption will be taken when the house reconvenes today. That was the net result of the Sunday session. Although it was Sunday by the calendar, it was still Thursday, Feb. 26, according to parliamentary fiction. The Democrats put a block in the legislative wheel at every opportunity, and it required six roll calls to accomplish what was done. Large crowds watched the proceedings from the galleries.

When Speaker Henderson dropped the gavel at noon, Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, was on his feet. He announced that there was evidently no quorum present and that the house could not do business on Sunday without a quorum. Thereupon on motion of Mr. Payne, the majority leader, a call of the house was ordered. The doors were closed, and the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to bring in absentees.

At the conclusion of the call 241 members had appeared, more than a quorum, and Mr. McCleary (Minn.) called up the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Mr. Underwood (Ala.) attempted to interpose the point of order that the call had not been completed, but the speaker ruled that, a quorum having appeared, business could proceed.

The doors, which meantime had been opened, however, were again closed by the direction of the speaker on Mr. Underwood's point of order that further proceedings under this call had not been dispensed with by the action of the house. After a brief explanation of the report, against the protests of various Democrats who desired to be heard, it was adopted—144 to 59.

There was another roll call on ordering the previous question on the Alaska homestead bill, which was presented by Mr. Lacey (Rep. Ia.). A half dozen points of order raised by the Democrats were ruled out, and the chair declined to entertain any appeals on the ground that they were dilatory.

At 3:55 p. m. the house recessed with the motion to adopt the conference report on the Alaskan bill pending.

The Democrats of the house have decided to prosecute their filibuster until congress expires by limitation at noon March 4, and the three remaining days of the session, therefore, promise to be largely repetitions of the last three—that is, all business will have to be transacted in the face of every obstacle which the minority can interpose. But even by the laborious processes to which the majority will be put it is believed ample time remains to get through the conference reports on the remaining five appropriation bills. There is slim chance for much beyond this, so far as the house is concerned.

A resolution introduced in the house by Representative Dalzell and referred to the committee on rules provides for a joint resolution to continue appropriations in the event of the failure of any of the supply bills to pass at this session. While there is time within which to pass all the appropriation bills under the conditions now existing in the house, the conference reports must be accepted in whole by that branch. It is reported that there is a disposition on the part of the conferees on one or two of the appropriation bills not to yield, and the aim of the resolution introduced is to provide against the contingency of a disagreement of any conference committee.

The Mohawk In Flood.

FONDA, N. Y., March 2.—The ice in the Mohawk river has gone out, and the river has risen continually since. The Mohawk valley is threatened with another flood, and precautions are being taken to prevent great damage. The ice from Schoharie creek, one of the Mohawk's largest tributaries, has gone out for the fourth time this season and has formed a gorge east of Amsterdam, causing much alarm among property owners along the river in that vicinity.

Mrs. Roosevelt Leaves Groton.

GROTON, Mass., March 2.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, who has been spending several days at the Groton school with her two sons, Theodore junior and Kermit, has left for Washington by way of Ayer Junction and Boston. She was accompanied by her daughter Ethel and a maid. All three of the children attended divine service with their mother yesterday morning in St. John's chapel, which is connected with the Groton school.

Blown From a Bridge and Drowned.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 2.—Emmett Powell, a prominent farmer of Sodus Center, was blown from a bridge over Salmon creek during the night and drowned. He was with a party of friends, but no one saw the accident, and the body was not discovered until several hours after the accident under the ice a quarter of a mile away.

Princess Louise With Her Mother.

VIENNA, March 2.—The former crown princess of Saxony has arrived at Lindau, which is situated on an island in Lake Constance, where she met her mother. She will stay at her mother's chateau at Lindau for the birth of her child.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Philadelphia Baseball Club Sold. Republic to Be Launched April 15.

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—The Philadelphia National Leage Baseball club has been sold by Colonel John I. Rogers and A. J. Reach to a syndicate composed of twenty Philadelphians, two residents of Cincinnati and an Indianapolis man. The transfer was made to James Potter, who is at the head of the syndicate. The purchase price was not announced, but is said to have been about $200,000. William J. Shettsline, present manager of the club, has been retained in the capacity of secretary and business manager.

Spars For Shamrock Ordered Here.

NEW YORK, March 2.—An order has been received by the Whitestone Hollow Spar and Boat company of Whitestone Landing, N. Y., from Messrs. Fife & Son of Scotland for a number of hollow spruce spars for the British cup challenger Shamrock III. Mr. J. G. Fraser, the manager of the Whitestone company, declined to give information regarding the spars, explaining that this would be a breach of confidence.

Jeffries and Corbett to Fight.

NEW YORK, March 2.—James J. Jeffries and James J. Corbett met here and after an amicable conference agreed to fight twenty rounds next July before the club that will give them $25,000 or the largest purse that may be offered above that sum, the winner to take 75 per cent and the loser 25. It was also agreed that the principals should meet in Baltimore to sign articles on Thursday next.

The Hawthorne Handicap.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The entries and weights for the $10,000 Hawthorne handicap, to be run at Hawthorne Saturday, May 25, are now made public. The race is a sweepstakes for three-year-olds and upward and closed with ninety-nine nominations.

Republic to Be Launched April 15.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The new cup defender, which is to be called the Republic, will be launched at Bristol, R. I., April 15. This information has been obtained from inside sources absolutely authentic.

FIRE DAMP EXPLOSION.

Brave Work of Rescuers Saves Most of the Miners.

LATROBE, Pa., March 2.—Remarkable work has been done by the rescue parties sent into the Hostetter-Connellsville Coke company's shaft, near here, which was the scene of a disastrous explosion of fire damp.

It was at first thought that seven men had lost their lives, but the last rescue party brought out seven, and it is believed that only two are left in the mine. These, it is certain, are now dead.

The explosion occurred when the full force of men were at work, and it is considered almost a miracle that there were not many fatalities. About 800 men are employed in the mine, which is located four and a half miles west of this place on the Whitney branch of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

Knapp Feels Sorry.

HAMILTON, O., March 2.—Alfred Knapp exhibited yesterday the first evidences of regret at his crime infested past since his arrest. It followed the visit for the purpose of identification of Herman Littleman of Cincinnati, father of the victim of Knapp's first murder in Cincinnati. Mr. Littleman failed to recognize Knapp as any one he had ever seen before, and as he turned away Knapp expressed penitence for the crime, while tears stood in his eyes. Although convicted of minor offenses, Knapp was never charged with capital offenses until his brother-in-law last week started an investigation.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 2.—The Mississippi river is at a standstill at this point, the gauge marking thirty-four feet. The water covers an area of ten miles in the Arkansas lowlands opposite this city, and the situation is becoming serious. Many farmers have left their houses, and stock has been placed on high ground. At present the river is above the danger line from New Madrid to Helena, but if the predicted rise of another foot occurs a disastrous overflow will visit the Arkansas and lower Mississippi valleys.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

MEYERSDALE, Pa., March 2.—Francis W. Barre was instantly killed and his son Marshall, aged twenty-five, so badly hurt that both legs may have to be amputated, the result of a boiler explosion at the Barre sawmill, five miles east of here. The boiler let go with terrific force, blowing the mill to atoms and throwing the men employed in every direction. All escaped with minor bruises except the two mentioned above.

Ohio River Threatening.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 2.—The Ohio river is rapidly approaching the danger line, and predictions are that it will be in the lower streets by night. Forty-one feet are expected. So far no houses have been reached by the flood, but men have been busy moving goods out of cellars and warehouses in the wholesale district and moving people in low sections out of their homes Many homes are flooded in the Little Kanawha valley.

Lineman Fell to His Death.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 2.—Herbert Moore, foreman of a gang of linemen employed by the Hudson River Telephone company, slipped on a pole and fell to the ground, a distance of thirty feet. His neck was broken and his skull fractured, and death was instantaneous.

UNION BACKS DOWN.

Schenectady Painters Take Back Potter, and He Remains In Militia.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 2.—The Potter case has been settled by the painters' union backing down from its position, and William Potter will be allowed to go to work as a union painter and at the same time remain a member of the militia, exactly the terms which he has been standing out for for the past three months.

The agreement was reached at a conference held in this city between a delegation from the painters' union, a committee from the Builders' Exchange, the organization of all local employers in the building trades and First Vice President Hedrick of the International Painters' union. The committee from the Builders' Exchange stated that they wanted to have Potter restored to full membership as a journeyman painter and that he be allowed to continue a militiaman. The committee from the painters' union refused to accept this proposition, and there was a long discussion.

The painters said that their constitution forbade admitting a militiaman to membership, but Mr. Hedrick said that the Potter case had injured the organization more than anything that could happen to it, and it must be settled. He stated that the international executive board could grant the local union a dispensation to admit Potter and that he was sure that the dispensation would be granted. The painters considered the matter for a time and then agreed to accept the proposition and recede from their previous position if the matter was kept out of the newspapers.

Potter has been steadily at work for his old employers, and as soon as the union meets it will grant him a card.

A FAMOUS LAND SUIT.

Heirs of an Indian Win Against Packers at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 2.—A jury in the case of Annie B. Wood and other heirs of Silas Armstrong, an Indian, to recover Missouri river bottom lands in Kansas City, Kan., valued at $1,000,000 and occupied by Armour & Fowler, the packers, and others, has returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The attorneys for the defense have filed notices of appeal.

If the decision of the lower court shall be sustained, the Armour Packing company will probably be the heaviest losers. The portion of the tract claimed by Armour is valued at nearly $100,000. Other large losers will be the Fowler Packing company, the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad company, the Rock Island Railroad company and the Metropolitan Water company. Smaller interests are claimed by numerous other companies and corporations. In all there were forty plaintiffs and ten defendants.

The tract of land contains nearly eighty-five acres and originally belonged to Silas Armstrong, a Wyandotte Indian, and was an island from 1867 until 1891.

The contention in the suit hinged on a change in the channel of the Missouri river in 1867, just before Armstrong had transferred his property.

The property transferred extended to the bank of the river, but that year the channel of the river had changed several hundred feet. The portion thus cut off from the tract was not sold, but in the course of time the river changed again and ran in its old channel. When the river changed back to its former channel, the portion in litigation and the main body were again connected.

Granite Workers' Strike Averted.

BARRE, Vt., March 2.—An agreement has been reached between the Granite Manufacturers' association and their sharpeners, polishers, lumpers and derrick men and a new scale of wages agreed upon to go into effect immediately, thereby averting the strike that was threatened. The settlement of the differences has caused great rejoicing in this city. The cutters and sharpeners are to receive $3 per day of eight hours, with a half holiday on Saturday during June, July and August. Blacksmiths are to sharpen for fourteen men, and a semimonthly pay day is granted. By the new schedule 2,400 men will receive an increase in wages.

Another Gift From Phipps.

CALCUTTA, India, March 2.—Henry Phipps, director of the Carnegie Steel company, who gave Lord Curzon on Feb. 1 $10,000 to be devoted to some practical object for scientific research promising to be of enduring benefit to India and who on Feb. 3 gave Lady Curzon, wife of the viceroy, $10,000 for her Victoria memorial midwifery fund, has handed to Lord Curzon a further sum of $50,000 for the promotion of agriculture and scientific education.

A Duel to the Death.

PAINESVILLE, O., March 2.—The story of a duel to the death to avenge an insult to the United States army is the confession of Isaac Tuuri, a Finnish citizen of Fairport, this county, made to Sheriff Hughes. Tuuri's roommate, Michael Holsa, was found dead in an orchard near town Oct. 16 last with two bullet holes in his head. Tuuri was arrested on circumstantial evidence and was indicted two weeks ago for murder.

Fatal Wreck In Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 2.—A fast passenger train from Chattanooga to Salisbury was wrecked about three and a half miles west of Lenoir City, Tenn. The wreck was caused by spreading rails. Three deaths are reported, and a number are injured. The wreck occurred on the top of a steep embankment, and the train plunged down this. Three coaches were burned outright.

PRESIDENT REPLIES.

Character, Not Color, a Test For Officeholding.

SOUTHERN CASES ARE EXPLAINED.

Roosevelt In a Letter to Editor Howell of Atlanta Says He Will Not Swerve From the Course He Has Mapped Out.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 2.—Following are extracts from a letter from President Roosevelt to Clarke Howell, editor of the Constitution, in reply to a request for an exposition concerning a recent letter from Harry Stillwell Edwards of Macon with reference to the matter of federal appointments in the south:

"In making appointments I have sought to consider the feelings of the people of each territory so far as I could consistently do so without sacrificing principle. The prime tests I have applied have been those of character, fitness and ability, and when I have been dissatisfied with what has been offered me in my own party lines I have without hesitation gone to the opposite party, and you are of course aware that I have repeatedly done this in your own state of Georgia. I certainly cannot treat mere color as a bar to holding office any more than I could so treat creed or birthplace, always providing that in other respects the applicant or incumbent is a worthy and well behaved American citizen. Just as little will I treat it as conferring a right to hold office.

"I ask you to judge not by what I say, but by what during the last seventeen months I have actually done. In South Carolina I have appointed a white postmaster to succeed a colored postmaster. Again in South Carolina I have nominated a colored man to fill a vacancy in the position of collector of the port of Charleston, just as in Georgia I have reappointed the colored man who is now serving as colored collector of the port of Savannah. Both are fit men. Why the appointment of one should cause any more excitement than the appointment of the other I am wholly at a loss to imagine. As I am writing to a man of keen and trained intelligence I need hardly say that to connect either of these appointments or any or all my other appointments or my actions in upholding the law at Indianola with such questions as 'social equality' and 'negro domination' is as absurd as to connect them with the nebular hypothesis or the theory of atoms.

"I have consulted freely with your own senators and congressmen as to the character and capacity of any appointee in Georgia concerning whom there was question. My party advisers in the state have been Major Hanson of Macon, Mr. Walter Johnson of Atlanta—both of them ex-Confederate soldiers—and Mr. Harry Stillwell Edwards, also of Macon. A large percentage of the incumbents of federal offices in Georgia under me are, as I understand it, of your own political faith.

"This is true of your own state, and by applying to Mr. Thomas Nelson Page of Virginia, to General Basil Duke of Kentucky, to Mr. George Crawford of Tennessee, to Mr. John McIlhenny of Louisiana, to Judge Jones of Alabama and Mr. Edgar S. Wilson of Mississippi, all of them Democrats and all of them men of the highest standing in their respective communities, you will find that what I have done in Georgia stands not as the exception, but as the rule for what I have done throughout the south. I may add that the proportion of colored men among the new appointees is only about one in a hundred.

"In view of all these facts I have been surprised and somewhat pained at what seems to me the incomprehensible outcry in the south about my actions, an outcry apparently started in New York for reasons wholly unconnected with the question nominally at issue. I am concerned at the attitude thus taken by so many of the southern people, but I am not in the least angry, and still less will this attitude have the effect of making me swerve one hair's breadth to one side or the other from the course I have marked out, the course I have consistently followed in the past and shall consistently follow in the future."

Ordered to Collect Indian Tax.

ARDMORE, I. T., March 2.—It is stated here that Indian Agent Shoenfelt has instructed the Indian police at once to collect the tribal tax of 1 per cent on the dollar valuation of merchants' stock in the Chickasaw and Choctaw nations. Agent Shoenfelt is said to be acting on the authority of Secretary Hitchcock, who holds that the tribal tax is valid. The merchants will ask for an injunction to restrain the police from carrying out the order on the ground that the tax is invalid.

Seventeen Days In Snowbanks.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 2.—One of the two snowbound expresses has just returned here. The train left this city seventeen days ago and only succeeded in getting halfway across the island. The passengers tell thrilling stories of their experiences amid the snowdrifts. The other express is still stuck fast, but the passengers left it and walked across thirty miles of snowfields to an open section of the line on this side of the country and will reach here in the middle of the week.

A Noted Astronomer Dead.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Rear Admiral William Harkness, retired, professor of mathematics and one of the most noted astronomers in the United States, is dead at his home, 90 Mercer street, Jersey City. Typhoid fever, which attacked him ten days ago, was the cause of death.

THE CAMPAIGN.

As the "anti" Republicans have failed to nominate an independent candidate by petition, it looks as if the mayoralty fight in the borough had narrowed down to two candidates, Newton B. Smalley on the Republican ticket and William J. Conroy on the Democratic. The attempt of the "antis," who opposed Mayor Smalley, to make annexation the chief issue of this campaign, has failed. Mayor Smalley and the record he had made came to the fore and it is the question of indorsement of his administration which is going to be the most prominent before the borough voters. There will be some of the "antis" who will do their best to defeat Mayor Smalley but they do not represent all who opposed him on the question of annexation by any means. An independent candidate would simply make Mayor Smalley's chances all the better as it would split the opposition so it is probable that the anti Smalley faction will unite on the Democratic nominee.

As everybody expected, Mayor Smalley was nominated. The Republican primary was simply overflowing with harmony. The two candidates for the Borough Council, one an avowed "anti" and the other in favor of the greater city, were nominated. Both are well-known borough citizens and men in whom the community has trust. The "anti" Republicans, who objected to Smalley, did not make their appearance in the primary.

The Democratic "dark horse" made its appearance. William J. Conroy, a reputable borough business man, was selected. He was not anxious for the nomination but accepted it as a party duty. Nobody doubts that he would fill the place honestly and to the best of his ability although he does not possess the aggressive personality of the present mayor.

Viewed at the present time from an impartial standpoint, there should be no doubt of Mayor Smalley's re-election. He has the advantage of an excellent political organization, he is one of the most popular men in North Plainfield, and his campaign is now being conducted on the record he has made as a mayor which any unprejudiced person will have to admit has been a good one. He will lose some votes from the "anti" faction and gain a few from Greater City Democrats. The fight should be fairly close with a comfortable majority for Mayor Smalley. A change in the conditions of things is always possible, however, and it may throw the election either way. There is no telling what will happen before election day.

CHILD LABOR.

The Van Blarcom bill, which has recently been introduced into the Legislature, provides that no children under fourteen years of age shall be employed in this State. This is in line with what has been done in Massachusetts, New York and other states. New Jersey is far behind the other Eastern states in the treatment of its children.

The present law provides that any boy of twelve and any girl of fourteen may be employed. Practically, however, a child may be employed at any age, because the factory inspector is allowed to use his own discretion in giving licenses to "orphan children where necessity may seem to require it," and licenses are seldom or never refused.

Resolutions were adopted by the recent charities conference in Montclair, where Mrs. Florence Kelly represented the National Consumers League, asking "for the enactment at the present session of the Legislature of a measure which will effectively raise the legal age for beginning work, to fourteen years for both sexes, and will abolish the discretion now conferred upon the factory inspector to permit children to work under that age."

Similar resolutions, forwarded to Trenton by local organizations, would be of value to the child labor movement and personal letters to Assemblymen on this subject would be especially effective.

A number of boroughites have called attention to the fact that there has been no reduction in the borough tax rate, that it has increased instead. It will be well if they look up the facts connected with that increase and see that it is due to the increased cost of the borough schools, not to any part of the borough administration that is in the control of Mayor Smalley and the Borough Council. As a matter of fact, the actual borough tax has been reduced. It is but fair that this explanation should be made so that Mayor Smalley and the members of the Borough Council should not be held responsible for that for which they are not to blame.

The March meeting of the Common Council will be held this evening. The last session of the Council was such a sensational one that more than the ordinary interest is taken in its future actions. It is not likely, however, that either the questions of the licenses or the trolley will come up at tonight's meeting. The most important business will probably be the report on the police patrol system and the decision on the part of the Council to install it.

What does it mean? Here's a business enterprise in Somerville with Former Senator L. A. Thompson and Senator S. S. Childs on the board of directors. Of course, business and politics are often very different but who would look for such a combination as that?

The leaders in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League meet this evening. It promises to be an important game.

"I believe that a man, in order to serve the interests of the borough well, should serve those interests alike. My business education has taught me that little matters should receive the same attention and more, than the large matters and I can see no reason why the same does not apply to politics.

"I promise to do the best I can if I am honored by the people of North Plainfield with election and I promise I will not build up a political machine out of my possible success."

Mr. Conroy was educated in the public schools of New Jersey at Paepack, where he was born. He came to this city twelve years ago and is one of the charter members of the Grace M. E. church as is C. H. Harding, who is one of the nominees for councilman.

DUNELLEN.

A larger congregation never gathered in the Presbyterian church than did last evening upon the occasion of the reopening of the church, which has been closed for several months for repairs and improvements. The interior of the church has been repapered and handsomely decorated and also recarpeted. The pastors of the Methodist and the First Baptist churches, together with Rev. A. F. Todd and Rev. S. K. Doolittle, occupied seats on the platform. Rev. L. E. Livermore was unable to be present through illness. The rest of the local churches were closed last evening in order to give the members the chance to join with the Presbyterians in celebrating the reopening of their edifice. The choir, assisted by Wm. Jeffreys, tenor; Edmund Teel, bass; Mrs. Runyon, alto; Mrs. Hoffman, soprano; and an orchestra, rendered several numbers in an excellent manner. A quartette composed of Mr. Jeffeys, Mr. Teel, Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Runyon, sang "Lead and Keep Me." Mrs. Hoffman sang a solo and Mr. Jeffeys rendered the well known "Holy City," in good voice. Miss Edith Boice sang "A Dream of Paradise," very sweetly, with a violin obligato by James Wotten. Rev. N. J. Sproul spoke a few words about the church and then Rev. Mr. Todd delivered an earnest prayer. Rev. S. K. Doolittle spoke of the beuaty of the church edifice and its relation to the work of God. Lastly Rev. Frank Fletcher complimented the members of the church on the beauty and tastefulness of the work they had had done and ended by saying he hoped their work would be blessed and that it might continue. All spoke highly of the value of a beautiful place in which to worship. The services closed with the benediction delivered by Rev. A. F. Todd.

Although election day is fast approaching primaries have not been called by either of the parties here. It is probable that the primaries will find the slates of both parties in a confused state as it is at present problemetical as to who is going to run for the various offices. For mayor neither party has yet decided upon any one although various names have been mentioned. The Republicans have mentioned W. J. Hamilton and Frank Wynkoop, while the Democrats have considered Lewis Schneider. Just who will win out at the primaries is hard to say but a merry time is promised in any case.

A dime social will be held in the Presbyterian chapel Friday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Selections will be rendered on the graphaphone by Mr. Watson and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Hoffman, of Lebanon, who sang in the Presbyterian church, last evening, was entertained by Mrs. A. J. Fisher.

Joseph Kuldoshes' new house on Main street is nearly finished and presents a handsome appearance.

Miss Ethel Crane, of New York, returned home Saturday after a visit with Miss Louise Brakeley.

Miss Lingo, of Philadelphia, is visiting at the home of Mr. Wilcox, of Prospect avenue.

Clarence Teel, of Plainfield, spent a portion of yesterday with the family of Edmund Teel.

Bert Hoffman, of Somerville, has been visiting at the home of Mayor Swackhamer.

Lewis Block, the butcher, is awaiting the arrival of some new fixtures for his shop.

The next meeting of the card club will be held at the home of the Misses Marlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent yesterday at home.

Mrs. Albert Randolph is slightly improved from an attack of grip.

Miss Emily Apgar and daughter spent Sunday out of town.

Walter Bodine, of New York, spent Sunday with his parents.

Charles Dickson entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

No services were held in the Baptist church last evening in order to allow the congregation to attend the services in the Dunellen Presbyterian church.

Rev. Frank Fletcher preached in the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday during the illness of the pastor.

The Willing Workers held an interesting meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stanley Day.

Rev. L. E. Livermore is still under care of a physician for an illness with the grip.

Quite an amount of ice has been taken from the pond during the past week.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The board of registry for the township will meet in the Town Rooms tomorrow from 1 to 9 o'clock for the purpose of revising and correcting the registry list for the spring election to be held Tuesday, March 10. The borough board will meet in the fire house at the same hour.

Owing to the storm of Saturday no weekly shoot of the Brookside Gun Club was held. This is the first time the club has failed to hold its weekly meets since the club was organized last fall.

Frederick Ivamy, of the Scotch Plains Hotel, has disposed of his business to Mr. Earle, of Newark. The change in management will take place Saturday of this week.

"Lessons from the Sermon on the Mount" was the topic of the B. Y. P. U. meeting at the Baptist church last night. J. W. Gavett, of Plainfield, led the meeting.

Conrad Peltz and family, of Bayonne, have taken a flat in the Baptist church building. Mr. Peltz will open a tonsorial parlor in the building tomorrow.

The monthly observance of the Lord's Supper was held at the close of the morning service at the Baptist church Sunday.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The pianos sold by G. S. Kenyon on West Front street, not only look well, but they have the wearing qualities. They represent first-class workmanship and can be purchased on easy monthly payments.

Peerless cuts of beef, the best there is in poultry and superior Hamburger steak are several of the specialties at VanSickle's North avenue market. Everything is sold at the lowest possible price but for cash only.

Accuracy and precision are two essentials in compounding prescriptions. Neither is lacking at Nagle's drug store where none but the most experienced men are in charge of the department. It is under the personal supervision of the proprietor.

When it comes to selecting flowers for wedding or any other social function it pays to get the from them best greenhouses. Charles L. Stanley, of North avenue, always has a fine line of cut flowers on hand from his own hot houses besides having many fine house plants.

As usual, Peck, of West Front street, is ready to show his patrons his very fine stock of spring and summer goods, including the prettiest designs in laces, linens, etc. There is never any question as to the quality of the goods and for this reason the prices are not unreasonable.

In his new location on Park avenue, opposite North, Jerry Foss is making lots of friends and gaining customers. The reason is plain. He has more room to display his stock of fish and oysters and the fact that he has none but the best results in his gaining trade. He delivers all orders.

S. Hirsch, of 430 Watchung avenue, begs to call attention to the fact that he is making a specialty this spring, of making over suits. His woman's custom department is always in touch with the prevailing styles and he is therefore in a position to make suits to order along the strictest fashion lines.

It is doubtful whether one would find such an attractive line of goods within a hundred miles of Plainfield, as is now being displayed at Woodhull & Martin's store. It includes all the pretty and desirable goods for spring and summer wear, of the latest pattern and best quality. Great bargains are also offered in the furnishing goods department, as well as in the carpet department. This is just the time to make your selections in these various departments, while the stock is complete.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fulton and daughter, of Brooklyn, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mills, of West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Frost, of Watchung avenue, with Miss Weston and Miss Marien Frost, have gone to Atlantic City for two weeks.

Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A., returned Saturday from St. Augustine, Fla., where he has been regaining his strength after an attack of the grip.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Use Press Want Ads.

—Robert VanWyck and family, of 826 West Fifth street, have removed to 75 Sandford avenue.

—Neuman Brothers continue to have the largest stock of fresh vegetables to be found in the city. It is replenished every day.

—A social meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the Monroe Avenue church, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles C. Randolph, 1125 Dunellen avenue.

LENTEN GOSPEL CAMPAIGN

THE LOCAL PASTORS ASKED TO TAKE PART IN IT.

Appeal Received From Twentieth Century National Gospel Campaign Committee.

The Plainfield Minsters' Association has received an appeal from the Twentieth Century National Gospel campaign Committee, for a National Lenten gospel campaign and the chances are there will be a general observance of it. The appeal says among other things:

"The Lenten season has of late years—owing to the special emphasis placed upon it by some branches of the church, and the resulting temporary staying of the tide of worldliness and frivolity at that time—proved peculiarly favorable to the promotion of religious interest. Its connection with the death and resurrection of our Lord, increasingly recognized in all branches of the church, would seem to make it a most opportune time for the quickening of Christians for spiritual life and service. We therefore respectfully suggest a plan for making the most of this Lenten opportunity this year for the furtherance of the spiritual advance for which the present crisis so urgently calls."

It was proposed that "Ash Wednesday," be observed as a special day of humiliation and prayer. It was asked that the prayers be of a definite kind, including petitions for a return to absolute faith in the Bible as the inspired authoritative word of God, for quickened sense of the sinfulness of sin, the sufficiency and efficacy of the atonement of Jesus Christ wrought on the cross, for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, etc.

The appeal continues:

"Following the day of prayer and continuing until April 10, let every Christian minister, in his own church or in co-operation with the ministers of neighboring sister churches, undertake the work of personal positive evangelism among the unsaved. Let evangelistic sermons be preached, let special Gospel music be sung, let there be discreet and enterprising advertising done through the press, circulars, cards and bill-boards.

"In order further to emphasize publicly the intense desire of Christians to reach and make welcome the non-church going people, we would suggest that all church buildings be opened to the public each day, from morning until close of services at night, during the Lenten season."

POSTPONED ARGUMENT.

Counsel Agreed in That Famous Corieli Will Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 2—In the Orphans' Court, here, Friday, Judge Schenck postponed the argument in the celebrated Isaiah Corieli will case, by consent of counsel, until Wednesday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

The exceptions to the accounts of Miss Margaret F. Vail, of Plainfield, executrix of the estate of the late Sarah S. Line, of North Plainfield, were laid over for two weeks. Horace Codington, of Somerville, represents the exceptant and John H. VanWinkle, of Plainfield, the executrix.

Five Strong Programmes.

The Young Men's Christian Association offers in its supplemental course which opens this evening five exceptionally strong programmes. Miss Pipe, who furnishes the literary portion of the Park Sisters' entertainment, is strongly endorsed by Ralph Dunbar, of the Dunbar Handbell Ringers, who were so favorably received last Monday evening in the regular Star Course entertainment.

A Beautiful Sight.

Trinity Reformed church received a large accession of members, yesterday morning, seventeen persons joining that church by letter and six on confession, all of the latter being young persons from the Sunday-school.

POPE GREETS CARDINALS.

Contrary to Advice of Physicians His Holiness Receives.

ROME, March 2.—Dr. Lapponi, the pope's physician, made a strong effort to induce his holiness to renounce his reception of the cardinals. He remonstrated with him, saying, "Your holiness, my duty is to point out that your health would greatly benefit by your resting today." The pope replied, "My dear doctor, before your valuable advice comes my duty, which I shall perform until the end."

The audience was held in the pope's private library, and Leo XIII. spoke continuously for half an hour with the forty-two cardinals present. No address was delivered, and the most important words were when the pontiff referred with emphasis to his advanced age and approaching end. He was led to speak thereof in reminding the cardinals that the room in which he was receiving them was the same in which Pius IX. held his last consistory, he (Leo XIII.) being present, but in bed. The cardinals greeted this reference to the possible approach of death with a chorus of noes and with exclamations of "We have all come to wish you a long life."

By this time the excitement of the reception had improved Pope Leo's appearance. When he entered the library, his form was bowed and trembling, but he now seemed to have acquired strength and animation. He showed the cardinals a magnificent antique clock which had just been presented to him by the Count of Caserta, the head of the Naples branch of the Bourbon family. Before retiring he presented to each cardinal a richly produced pamphlet, reviewing the chief events in his pontificate, including a Latin poem of his own composition and five of his most important encyclicals. His holiness said, "I will order that the few cardinals absent, like Cardinal Gibbons, shall also have it."

RUSSO-TURKISH WAR.

Great Danger of an Outbreak In the Spring.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—Some publicists are of the opinion that only the sternest language toward Turkey can prevent a war between Russia and Turkey in the spring. They believe that Turkey will pursue bands of Macedonian revolutionaries across the Bulgarian frontier and that public opinion will compel Russia to interfere.

The Russians thoroughly understand that a war with Turkey will be a more severe one than that in 1878. Officers are quoted as saying that the Turkish army is the best in the world owing to its German organization and armament. There is an inclination here to anticipate German financial support of Turkey, and in view of the situation forebodings of a clash with Turkey are freely expressed in private, although they are carefully suppressed in the newspapers.

Bridge and Houses Washed Away.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 2.—The ice in the Mohawk has moved out and in doing so formed a gorge against the Dunsbach ferry bridge fourteen miles from this city. The flats for a distance of five miles were covered with water from five to fifteen feet deep, the tracks of the Troy branch of the New York Central railroad were flooded four feet deep for nearly a mile, and the damage is heavy to farm property and in the loss of animals. In the afternoon the gorge broke, carrying three cottages and washing away part of the bridge. The loss to the bridge company is estimated at $20,000. People living in surrounding houses were rescued by boats.

Campania Published a Newspaper.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Cunard fine steamer Campania, Captain J. B. Watt, has arrived from Liverpool and Queenstown after a most tempestuous passage of seven days, nine hours and twenty-two minutes. The Campania, fresh out of the graving dock after an overhauling, left Liverpool expecting to make a very quick passage, but from the time of leaving Daunt's Rock up to the time of her arrival she experienced a succession of terrific gales, with violent squalls and mountainous seas. During the voyage a paper containing marconigrams edited by Purser Graham was published.

Memorial Services In the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The senate spent three hours yesterday in eulogies of four deceased members of the house. Messrs. Martin (Va.), Gallinger (N. H.), Perkins (Cal.), Clay (Ga.) and Daniel (Va.) spoke of the late Peter J. Otey of Virginia. At the conclusion of the address the several resolutions of respect were adopted, and as a further mark of respect the senate at 3 o'clock adjourned.

Long Idle Mine Resumes.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 2.—The Big mountain section of Henry Clay shaft, owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, was started up today. Work is furnished for 300 men and boys. Big mountain was closed down when the miners went on strike last year and was flooded.

FOR THE SOUTH.

Pale Colored Gowns—Feather Muffs and Stoles.

Cream and mastic, pale pastel blue and several shades of pink and strawberry are popular for costumes and gowns intended for the south. The coat costume is not so universally in demand, and it is more modish to have a three-quarter sack coat for cool days, the gown being made with a short bolero and altogether in more elaborate fashion to wear with a feather tippet in warm weather.

A Russian blouse lately designed had a full front of ivory satin gathered to a lace yoke, and the broad collar and revers of cloth were ornamented with the panne. The sleeve in bell form was tucked at the widest part and drawn into a cuff of panne. One of the new stoles of chinchilla colored marabou was worn with this gown, and the very large flat muff had two bushy tails on either side.

These feather sets will be much worn in the spring, and they are exceedingly warm and cozy, being so large and full that they quite cover the shoulders.

The illustration shows a stole of ermine trimmed with a broad flounce of lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Economical Crepe de Chines—Smart Black Gowns.

Evening gowns have never been more beautiful and varied than they have been this winter nor perhaps more costly, for they are of the most diaphanous and therefore perishable materials, which need to be made up over silk of the best quality or else their effect is lost.

When economy is to be considered, a crepe de chine gown is advisable, for, though the initial cost of this fabric may be great, a really good crepe de chine will wear splendidly and will emerge triumphant from the ordeal of cleaning and remodeling.

The same advantage may be claimed for the chantilly and sprigged brussels nets, which are also extremely fashionable, both in ivory and black. Some of the loveliest gowns are mainly fashioned of chiffon and tulle, which are both as fragile as they are effective.

Black is so extremely becoming to some women that it remains in high favor, especially for dinner or theater wear.

The gown in the picture is of ivory crepe de chine, trimmed with applique or wide meshed net. The belt is of green and white taffeta.

"He's likely to faint dead away if you apply that title to him again, Miss Merton," Rossiter had wit enough to answer.

What had he been about to say? Miss Densmore wondered. Inference clearly pointed but in one direction, and yet—— She was in a tremor of doubt, not sure of herself, marvelling at Rossiter's sudden exhibition of feeling when hitherto he had held himself in such close restraint. As for Rossiter, he had resolved that he would not turn his back on the Merton farm and the hop-fields without putting his fortune once more to the test.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton came in shortly, a lamp was lighted, and then, though they urged upon him to rest for a while longer, Rossiter declared that he would go down to the men's sleeping-quarters, and bade them all "good-night."

"You'll not hesitate to rouse some of us if you should feel ill?" said Mrs. Merton.

Rossiter assured her that she need have no further anxiety in regard to him, and went out to find Joe Becraft lounging about watching for him. He would have much preferred to be alone, but he would not hurt Becraft's feelings, so the two walked towards the men's sleeping-quarters together.

The next morning Rossiter was at his work as usual. He did not feel strong, but in response to all inquiries replied that he needed only another night's rest to be ready for further adventures. The girls came into the yard long enough to pick one more box each, chatted gleefully over the amount of money they had earned, talked of the departure of the pickers and how lonely the farm would seem after they had gone, inquired as to Rossiter's plans, and said, as they were leaving, that they would reserve their good-byes until later, he having stated that he should probably ride into Illica with the Beerafts on the following morning, although some were planning to take the evening train for Hintonville.

By four o'clock the last box had been emptied, the last pole stripped and stacked. It was announced that Mr. Merton was to be found in his little room in the barn, and thither all the pickers flocked for their pay. When the grateful farmer came to settle with Rossiter he endeavored to make him accept a much larger sum than that due him, saying he wished in some way to show his appreciation of his many services, and knew no other manner of making clear such appreciation. It was frankly yet by no means indelicately put, and though the pole-puller would not listen to the proposal, he was gratified rather than offended. Mr. Merton then asked him if he would not like to remain in his employment upon the farm, saying that Jack Parmelee had suggested it. For this further mark of kindness Rossiter expressed his thanks, but replied in the negative, whereat Mr. Merton's regret was apparently genuine.

As Rossiter emerged from his interview with Mr. Merton, and was standing in the door of the barn pondering upon how he should effect his interview with Miss Densmore, a young man, trimly clad and neatly gloved, drove briskly into the yard in a smart dog-cart. He pulled up in front of the porch and Miss Densmore and Miss Merton came out to meet him.

"Hullo! There's young Wolffe, a friend of Sylvia's from Illica," said Jack Parmelee, who was sitting upon the barn threshold whittling energetically at a splinter of pine. "Hey, Dick Whittlesey! Run and take that horse!"

"I came down from the woods day before yesterday," the newcomer was saying to Miss Densmore, "and yesterday I met your father, who told me you were up here, so I thought I'd drive out."

As Rossiter viewed the greeting between the two, the lovely girl and this fine-looking, handsomely dressed young man, the little fabric of dream which he had allowed to grow gradually since his struggle in the dip crumbled into dismal ruin. He strode away into the orchard cursing himself for his mad presumption. Yet hope died hard, and by the time the sound of the supper bell rang out he made up his mind that the presence of this unexpected arrival should not deter him from pleading his cause. Curiously, in all his thoughts of Miss Densmore the probability that her affections were engaged was not a thing that had received from him much consideration. Now he wondered why.

The evening meal was earlier than usual, that those of the pickers who desired might catch the train at Hintonville. After he had eaten Rossiter again sought the orchard. He had decided that he would wait and watch to see when Mr. Wolffe took his departure, and then perhaps the opportunity he sought would offer itself. Eagerly he marked the shadows gather, and saw the evening star begin to glisten beyond the purple outline of the distant hills. He was just upon the point of returning to the proximity of the house when he caught the faint murmur of voices. He had found a seat upon a wide rail in a corner of the shake fence where tall elderberry-bushes formed a partial screen, and fancying it was some of the pickers wandering by the path, half a dozen yards away, to the edge of the orchard, he concluded he would let them pass before making a move. He sat there inattentive and passive until suddenly he was conscious that one of those speaking was Miss Densmore. Without looking he knew who her companion must be. What should he do? As yet he had heard no word of their conversation, and he had no desire to play the unwilling eavesdropper. As noiselessly as possible he tried to shift his position so that he might slip into the bushes on the other side of the fence and thus steal away unnoticed. He had half accomplished his purpose when what Wolffe was saying became clear to him.

"It isn't a matter of one hour in the day, Sylvia, but of every hour," his words ran. "Indeed, it seems to me that you are never absent from my thoughts. I can't put you away from me. Why, up there in the woods I heard your name in the song of every bird, in every breeze that cried in the pine-tops, in every brook murmuring over the rocks. Your face was always before me, even when I woke in the great darkness of the forest night."

Rossiter could not know that it was the third time this young man had declared his love to Miss Densmore; that he was now breaking his promise not to speak of it to her again; that a moment before, when he had ventured on forbidden ground, she had endeavored to silence him. To the tortured man it seemed like a first declaration, and to all appearances the girl was a willing listener. In his agony of mind his caution was forgotten, and he allowed one of the branches which he had bent back to slip from his hand and strike against the fence. Miss Densmore glanced towards him, recognized his disappearing figure, and gave a little, suppressed cry. He supposed it to be one of fright, and, hastily parting the bushes among which he now found himself, sped, crushed at heart, swiftly away in the thickening shades.

CHAPTER XIII.

GOOD-BY TO THE HOP-FIELDS.

When Miss Densmore stepped upon the porch of the house she was alone. Mr. Wolffe had gone to the barn to look after the harnessing of his horse. His interview had had in it an unmistakable element of finality, and at last he realized the utter hopelessness of further pleadings and protestations. He could not understand Miss Densmore's strange agitation and fright at the noise in the bushes, but why, he questioned, should he now trouble his head about that? His horse was shortly ready, he sprang into the cart, gathered up the reins, and started, in no very amiable mood, on his 12-mile drive to Illica.

As Miss Densmore entered a narrow side hallway she encountered Jack Parmelee.

"Your pole-puller left his good-byes," he said. "He changed his mind, I guess, about waitin' until morning; thought mebbe he could catch the train at Hintonville; wanted me to give you this," and he held out a small slip of folded note-paper.

"Thank you," said Miss Densmore, taking it and passing into the room where Rossiter had been brought the previous afternoon, and where her cousin and aunt were now sitting. It was, then, even as she had feared: Rossiter had heard a portion of Mr. Wolffe's untimely declaration.

"Mr. Wolffe wished me to say good-night," she remarked to Miriam and her aunt. "It's so late that he felt he must hasten back."

"Mr. Rossiter's gone. Did Jack tell you?" exclaimed Miriam. "Wasn't it queer he should start off so, and never come in to say good-by? I can't understand it. Really, I feel quite hurt."

"Oh, I suppose he thought if he waited to say good-by to everyone he wouldn't catch the train," returned Miss Densmore with assumed indifference.

This attitude on her cousin's part seemed so unnatural that Miss Merton fell to wondering what could be back of it, but she did not think it wise to question her. There was Mr. Wolffe's sudden departure too. Could there be any connection between the abrupt leave-taking of the two men? The enigma was quite beyond her solving, and there appeared to be no inclination on Miss Densmore's part to solve it for her. The latter lingered for a moment, and then passed leisurely from the room. She ascended the stairs, entered her chamber, and closed the door. She did not strike a light at once, but sat down upon the edge of the bed and gazed wide-eyed at the wall

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

P. S. KIELY,
2 18 10 Chief of Police.

HE SIGKED THE PLEDGE.

But Before She Got Hubby's Signature She Had to Send In Two Calls for Police.

A ring of the telephone bell in police headquarters at 3:20 o'clock disturbed the early morning quietude of the Mulberry street building, in New York.

"Well, what is it?" said the officer in charge.

"A man is setting fire to the house," came from the other end, and in a low, sweet voice.

"That's bad. Tell me your name and your address."

"I'm Mrs. Annie Fleming, of 108 West One Hundred and Thirteenth street," the woman said.

"All right. We'll attend to it," the officer assured her.

Two minutes later, away up in the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station Sergt. McCarthy was giving orders to Policeman Schemerhorn, who looked doubtful when he got the order, but he moved quickly, just the same, because the sergeant said the case was urgent. He appeared again quite soon and with a frown assured McCarthy that "it was all a fake."

Once more the telephone bell broke the stillness at headquarters, and once again the officer in charge sent word to Harlem. This time Policeman Horn was sent. Horn and Schemmerhorn linked their efforts, and now insisted on getting at the source of the excitement. They finally found Mrs. Fleming, demanding in no mild, uncertain tones to know just what she meant.

"It's all right now," she said.

Pressing for further light, the two policemen were informed by Mrs. Fleming that her husband had come home "slightly under the weather," and that to frighten him so that he would promise her to sign the pledge she had pretended that she was going to have him arrested.

"He's promised now," she said, "and it's all right."

The two policemen left, reserving their remarks for the street, where there was plenty of room as well as lots of air.

A LITTLE TOO MUCH.

Mr. Secondman Now Believes That Warmed-Up Love Is Exasperating, to Say the Least.

"Warmed-up love," remarked Mr. Secondman, "is all right in a good many respects, but it has its disadvantages. For instance, my wife is a good, loyal woman, but things occur frequently in our private affairs that well might wound the sensitive nature of a trusting, affectionate man.

"Now, of course, I am glad that my wife thought a great deal of her first husband—in fact, I should judge from what she says that he was a wonderful, a remarkable man—but it hurts my pride to have her keep his photograph and her own side by side in our album. I didn't much care to have her celebrate her crystal wedding last autumn on the fifteenth anniversary of her first marriage. I felt melancholy for six months after she gave our boy the full name of her first husband. Indeed, I know he must have been a great, noble man, and she is certainly a true, loyal woman; but there are some things that I flatly refuse to do, no matter what my marriage vows were."

"Ah! does she forget and call you by her first husband's name?" inquired the sympathetic listener.

"Very often, of course; but I don't care for that. Her latest idea is to have me trim my whiskers just as her first husband did his, wear an old suit of his clothes in the evenings, and talk through my nose. She says that would make her just the happiest wife in the world."

PRESENTED WITH INSIGNIA.

Given to Ten Members of City High School This Morning.

In accordance with an act recently passed by the Board of Governors of the City High School, the insignia of the P. H. S. A. A. was formally presented to ten members of the school by Principal Travell this morning. The insignia consists of the letters P. H. S. in the High School red and is to be worn on a dark blue ground. The P is larger than the other two letters and these will be placed one on each side of it on the jersey or sweater.

Those who received the insignia were Fred T. VanAuken, 1903; Herbert S. Munro, 1905; C. C. Recap, 1903; G. A. Brakeley, 1903; C. W. T. Ulrich, 1903; M. T. Moynihan, 1903; H. G. Thompson, 1905; H. H. Craig, 1905; J. B. Miner, 1903, and A. F. Conant, 1903.

FIRST MEETING.

Pastor From Hoboken Preaches at First M. E. Church Tonight.

A large congregation marked the beginning of the two weeks' series of meetings at the First M. E. church, last evening. Rev. W. C. Snodgrass occupied the pulpit in the place of Rev. William T. Helm, U. S. N., who was called away by the death of his father. He preached an eloquent sermon from which many helpful lessons were drawn.

This evening, Rev. Charles L. Mead, pastor of the First church at Hoboken, will preach. He is a powerful speaker and the largest Methodist congregations in northern New Jersey assemble to hear him from Sunday to Sunday. His personality has won for him the highest popularity.

Funeral of Somerville Woman.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 2—The funeral of Mrs. Cornelia Rappleye Beekman, widow of Rev. Goyn Talmage, was held this afternoon from her late residence here. She was one of the oldest members of the First Reformed church, being in her eighty-third year. Rev. William Stockton Cranmer officiated at the service. Several children survive her. Her husband was a brother of Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, the celebrated divine.

HE CELLEBRATED.

Carl Hansen Was Released Saturday, But on Being Rearrested Received a Double Dose.

A suspension of sentence, which Carl Hansen received in the city court, Saturday morning, so overjoyed him that he went out and immediately celebrated by again getting intoxicated. He was returned to a cell at headquarters at 3 o'clock and this morning he received a double dose from City Judge Runyon of $10 or thirty days. He took the latter.

Joseph Joutros was arraigned Saturday afternoon for selling lamp mantles without a license. He paid a fine of $3.

Sentence was suspended on Charles Coyle, who was arrested at the North Avenue station, yesterday, by Patrolman Overbaugh, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Played With Loaded Gun.

While playing with a loaded gun, Saturday morning, Willie Machoni, who lives with his parents on Richmond street, was burned slightly on the hand by the sudden exploding of the weapon. Only one finger was burned as the bullet passed between his thumb and forefinger and lodged in the molding in the room. The lad was badly frightened by his narrow escape.

Disposed of Hotel Furnishings.

The sale of the furnishings in the Hotel McVey annex took place Saturday afternoon, with a crowd of 200 in attendance. About $300 was realized. The date of the sale of goods in the main building will be announced later. As soon as the property is disposed of, Landlord McVey will remove to his former home at Red Bank.

Souvenir for Each Guest.

In honor of her birthday, Marie, the daughter of D. T. Kenney, of Rockview avenue, entertained twelve of her little friends at a birthday party, between the hours of 2 and 5 Saturday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in playing games. A feature of the afternoon was a novel cake. The cake obtained souvenirs for each guest.

Evening for Whist.

There is considerable interest manifested in the scheme of the Park Club to devote an evening a week to whist, if a sufficient number of people signify their desire for it. The popular card game has been greatly in vogue this season and a number of private matches have been played off every week.

Joined the Church.

Communion services were held yesterday morning at the First M. E. church and the Crescent Avenue church. At the former one person was received on probation and five by letter and at the latter church one was received on confession.

At the communion service, yesterday morning, at the Congregational church Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Satterfield, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Dahl and Mrs. Charles W. Bentley were received into membership.

Church Entertainment.

An entertainment will be given at Mt. Olive Baptist church Thursday evening, March 12.

PALE PEOPLE
With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,
ATTENTION!
The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the
NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL,
SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,
With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

VISITED Y. M. C. A.

Boys From the Rahway Association Came Here for a Visit Saturday —Played Basket Ball.

The secretary of the Rahway Y. M. C. A. came to this city Saturday morning with fifteen members of the boy's department of that association. They took part in the regular class work at the local association and early in the afternoon five of the Rahway boys were selected for a basket ball game with the local players. The result of the game was a defeat for the local boys.

The visitors had a swim in the pool and bowling was also enjoyed. Luncheon was served in the boys' parlors. After lunch three of the regular basket ball players came to this city from Rahway and another game was played. The Plainfielders held the players down until almost the last when, through over confidence, they lost to the visitors by a score of 12 to 10. After the game the Rahway boys were taken on a trip about the town, accompanied by Secretary Robbie, during which they visited the various points of interest.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue, has gone to Lewisburg, Pa., to attend the wedding of her sister.

FUNERAL OF MISS HARRINGTON.

Services Held at St. Mary's Church Were Crowded.

St. Mary's church was filled to the doors, yesterday afternoon, when the funeral of Miss Mary Harrington, who died suddenly from heart disease, took place. Rev. Father Smith was in charge but the mass was not conducted until this morning.

The interment was afterward made in St. Mary's cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were Patrick Harrington, Patrick, Martin and James Regan, Patrick Griffin and Thomas Gannon.

Practical Sermon.

Rev. G. M. Karner, one of Plainfield's retired ministers, occupied Rev. Dr. Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church, and delivered a most practical sermon on the subject of "They Changed Their Minds," as suggested by the story of Paul among the barbarians at the time of the shipwreck, as told in the twenty-eighth chapter of Acts.

Interesting and Helpful.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Chivers, of Brooklyn, preached an interesting and helpful sermon at the First Baptist church, yesterday morning, taking for his subject, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

THE INDIANS CAMPED THERE

RELICS CONSTANTLY BEING FOUND NEAR WATCHUNG SPRING.

Spear and Arrow Heads Found in Considerable Number— Other Relics.

That a large camp of Indians once lived near the present site of the Watchung springs is evident from the fact that constantly finds are being made by workmen who are in the employ of the Watchung Spring Water Company, of this city.

Recently, while some men were digging about the spring they uncovered some very fine specimens of spear heads. The idea that they are spear heads is secured from the fact that they are very much larger than the ordinary arrow heads. They are shaped very well and show much skill on the part of the tribe to which they no doubt originally belonged.

Other relics have been found besides spear heads and arrow tips. Several weeks ago a workman found some fine specimens of neckwear which are believed to have been worn by the Indians. The substance is not stone but appears to be something like petrified bone. Evidences of carving are to be found on the articles.

These articles are on exhibition at the office of the company on North avenue. Some of the specimens are not well made but the majority of them are cleverly shaped and show evidence of being made by hands more skilful than the ordinary American Indian. This supposition is strengthened by the fact that these relics are found deep in the ground.

FAKE TALE.

Man Declared Himself a Counterfeiter and Gave Plainfield, N. J., as His Residence.

A man who gave the name of John Hunter and his residence as Plainfield, N. J., gave himself up at the Madison street police station in New York, Saturday evening, claiming that during the past two years he had been engaged in the manufacture of spurious coin which he had circulated in Plainfield. He said that the illegal business had troubled him and he wanted to make a confession. The man also claimed that he had been employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works.

Inquiry in this city failed to reveal the identity of any such person. Officers of the Pond Machine Tool Company said that no such person was employed at the works, and the police were unable to locate such a man.

This morning's New York Sun states that the story John Hunter related Saturday evening was a fake, according to the prisoner. He claims that he told the story to get a night's lodging, that he had been promised a job, but that he failed to get it. Hunter will be held until tomorrow, when he will be allowed to go.

Superintendent Andrew MacCardell, of the Pond foundry department, went to New York, yesterday afternoon, to investigate the matter and talked to Hunter at police headquarters. He found the man to be a resident of Scotch Plains, but he had never worked at Pond's. He said he was employed in the New York shop of the Garvins.

DEATH OF MRS. BOWEN.

Mother of H. E. Bowen, of This City, Died in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Henry C. Bowen, widow of one of Brooklyn's best known citizens, and mother of Herbert Wolcott Bowen, minister to Venezuela, and H. E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, died at the old Bowen homestead in Brooklyn, Saturday night after a long illness with Bright's disease. Mrs. Bowen was born in Pomfret, Conn., about 69 years ago. Her maiden name was Eleen Holt. She was married to Mr. Bowen in 1865.

The Bowen family is one of the most prominent on Brooklyn Heights Henry C. Bowen was born in Woodstock, Conn., where the family still has a country seat, in 1813. Mrs. Bowen's funeral services will be held today at the late home and the interment will be in Woodstock, Conn. Minister Bowen left Washington yesterday for his mother's home in Brooklyn.

Broke a Toe.

While skylarking at his home this morning, Fred Shepherd, of Park avenue, accidentally kicked his right foot against a projection. The force broke a bone in the great toe and it was necessary to call Dr. Long. He will be unable to walk without a crutch for several weeks.

FOUND BODY IN STREAM

A Gruesome Find Made by David Runyon, Near Lincoln—It Is a Mystery.

LONG IN THE WATER

No Clue to Cause of Death, Whether by His Own Hand or the Hand of Another—Identity Also a Mystery—Was Found While Hunting for Musk Rats—Theories as to Death.

Face downward in the muddy water of New Market brook, near the Close farm, Lincoln, the body of a man was discovered yesterday afternoon. While there were no marks to be found about the body to suggest a violent end, the cause of death is shrouded in mystery. Any clue which would seem to lead to the discovery of the identity of the man is also lacking. Was it murder, suicide or accident?

This gruesome discovery was made by David Runyon, of Dunellen, while hunting musk rats. He had started out with his gun early in the afternoon and tramped along the banks of the brook which flows from the New Market pond westward under the railroads, past the "tanks" and eventually on to join Bound brook and the Raritan. The stream was still swollen from the recent rains and drift wood covered the banks.

While looking for a musk rat, Runyon spied a peculiar object in the water. It looked like a man. A scarecrow washed down by the flood was what Runyon supposed it to be. With a fence rail, he pulled it to the shore and turned it over. Then he beheld the face of a man, bloated and discolored. The body was in a stage of decomposition, showing that it had been there for some time.

Dragging the body partially ashore so that the current would not carry it away, Runyon hastened back to Dunellen to tell of his find. Undertaker W. G. Runyon was notified and went to the spot while Coroner Quackenboss, of New Brunswick, arrived during the course of the afternoon, viewed the body and ordered its removal to Runyon's undertaking parlors in Dunellen.

Long exposure to the water had left the body in a condition which made it impossible to find any bruises or broken bones. There were no cuts apparent. The remains were apparently those of a German, sixty years old, dressing in working clothes and rubber boots. The hat was missing.

The hair was sprinkled with grey and the forehead a high one. The frame was a stocky one with a weight of about 170 pounds in life. There was a short stubby moustache thickly sprinkled with red hair. There was nothing found in the clothing that would give any clue as to the identity of the man. In the pockets were a watch of cheap make, which had stopped at 6:05, 55 cents in change, a razor and a pen knife.

So far there is nothing to give any clue as to how the man met his death. The stream flows near the spot where David Vail, was found dead on the Jersey Central tracks two weeks ago. At that time there was some doubt as to whether he met death on the railroad or had been the victim of foul play. The county officials finally decided that he had been struck by a train. The discovery of this body has started a new batch of rumors.

While there is no evidence that robbery was intended in the case of this unknown man or that death came by other than accident, no one is missing in that vicinity and the presence of the body cannot be accounted for. There is the theory of murder and some possible connection with the death of David Vail. Another suggestion is that death was deliberately planned but this is hardly possible as the water, even in time of flood, is not sufficient volume to make drowning sure. The theory has been advanced that the man had fallen from one of the bridges in the dark and, stunned by the blow, had been drowned before he had an opportunity to save himself. With the high water of recent days, the body could have been carried some distance.

FORMER PASTOR SPEAKS.

Rev. Dr. Tuttle Will Preach at First M. E. Church Tonight.

The preaching of Rev. Charles L. Mead, of Hoboken, in the First M. E. church, last evening, was greatly enjoyed by a large congregation. As an eloquent speaker, he has few equals and his remarks were presented in a convincing tone.

This evening the meeting will be lead by Rev. Dr. Alexander H. Tuttle, of Summit, who was pastor of the First M. E. church from 1886 until 1888. He is too well known in Plainfield to need any introduction and he will undoubtedly preach to a large attendance.

CONTRACTS FOR WATER MAINS

PHILLIPSBURG COMPANY WILL SUPPLY PIPE FOR 'PLAINS MAINS.

Laying of Water Pipes in Scotch Plains Will Begin in Two or Three Weeks.

The contract for supplying the pipes for the water mains in the streets of Scotch Plains was awarded yesterday to the Warren Foundry and Machine Company, of Phillipsburg, Pa., of which William Runkle, formerly of this city and brother to Harry G. Runkle, is president.

The contract for the laying of water piping in the 'Plains was closed on February 20. The contract calls for fourteen hydrants at $35 a piece, or $10 more than Plainfield paid and $15 less than the price paid by Elizabeth for the hydrants placed on the streets of that city. Two and a half miles of six-inch piping will be laid. All the piping will be of cast iron and will be the same as that in use in this city.

The work of laying the pipe will be commenced as soon as it is delivered at the 'Plains which will be in about two or three weeks. The contract between the township and the water company is binding for ten years.

HOW MANY DEMOCRATS?

Local Democratic Club Will Make a Canvass of the City to Find Out.

An important meeting of the Democratic Club was held last evening at their headquarters on East Second street. A committee was appointed to arrange for a banquet to be held on Jefferson Day. The committee comprises P. J. Reville, Harry Marshall and Lopis Stover. A committee, consisting of Herbert Stover, J. F. V. Dilts, P. J. Reville and Sylvester Sharkey, was appointed to arrange for a systematic canvass of the city for the purpose of ascertaining the exact number of Democrats there are in Plainfield. They will select eighteen men, an equal number from each ward, for the purpose of making a house to house canvass.

WHIST CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Connett Entertained the Geisha Whist Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Connett, of East Fifth street, entertained the Geisha Whist Club at their home last evening. The first and second prizes for the women were presented to Miss Lillian Chandler and Miss Carrie Mulford, while Harry A. Connett and William Townsend won the first and second prizes for the men. After the play the host and hostess served a collation and dancing was then the feature for the rest of the evening. Miss Chandler will entertain the club Thursday evening, March 12.

Chosen President of Senate.

The tie caused last week by balloting for president of the senate of the City High School student government system was voted off, this morning. G. A. Brakeley, 1903, was elected to the office by a majority of twenty-eight votes over N. C. Hill, 1903, who tied with him in the first balloting. Brakeley will serve until the close of school in June.

For Social Workers.

The Public Library has received recently the proceedings of the National Conference of Charities and Correction for 1902, the gift of Mason W. Tyler. The volumes of these proceedings, of which there are now eight in the library, are a mine of information to the social worker. They are in the circulating department.

Will Receive in New York.

Among those who will receive at the third "at home" given this afternoon by Mrs. Julius Hubbell Seymour, of 304 West Eighty-Sixth street, New York, is her niece, Miss Helen Louise Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Howard Brown, of Central avenue.

'TWAS START WHICH DECIDED THE GAME

Y. M. C. A. Obtained a Lead That Hope Y. M. A. Boys Could Not Overcome.

IN BASKET BALL LEAGUE

AFTER THAT THE GAME WAS ONE OF BEST PLAYED IN THIS CITY.

Both Teams Were Much More Accurate in Goal Throwing—Denton's Record in Throwing on Fouls—Hope's Hard Fight.

It was the lead obtained at the very start which saved the day for the Y. M. C. A. in its game with the Hope Y. M. A., in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League, played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening. After those few fatal moments, it was an even thing between the two teams, but those were enough to decide it. Victory was finally won by a score of 32 to 20.

Everybody expected to see a close game and, when the Y. M. C. A. five started in with a vim that fairly took the Hope boys off their feet, it was a genuine surprise. The pace of the home players seemed to daze the Hope contingent for a while and the game was one-sided. Then, when the score stood 10 to 0 in favor of the association players, the visitors waked up. After that, it was one of the prettiest basket ball games ever played in Plainfield. But the lead was too much and it was never overcome.

Probably the most noticeable improvement on the part of the Y. M. C. A. was their accuracy in goal throwing. The guarding, after that first period, was unusually good and the ball did not get in the vicinity of the basket as many times as usual. Nevertheless, there was an unusual number of goals made. The home team was the better at this although the Hopes improved wonderfully in the second half. Most wonderful of all was Denton's goal throwing on fouls when he missed but two chances out of ten, a remarkable record for a match game. The Hopes were very weak in free throws. While the play was hard and fast, there was little rough play seen. The umpiring was very strict.

When the first half ended the score stood 16 to 7. The second half was a fine contest. The play was very even and the score would have been but for Denton's great work on fouls. Hopes had a team play that was very effective and defied the best efforts of the Y. M. C. A. players. But Ray Smith was the shining light for the home team in that half and his great quickness, combined with accuracy, kept up the Y. M. C. A. end. Each team scored six times from the field in that half. Smith threw four of Y. M. C. A.'s six.

The teams lined up as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		Hope Y. M. A
Denton	RF	Dilks
Cahoone, Smith	LF	Porter
Scull, Cahoone	C	Whitley
Heinecke	RG	McCombe
Neal, Scull	LG	Chamberlain

Score—Y. M. C. A., 32; Hope Y. M. A., 20. Goals from the field—Denton (2), Cahoone (3), Smith (4), Scull (3), Dilks (2), Porter, Whitley (3), McCombe (2), Chamberlain. Goals on fouls—Denton (8), Whitley (2). Fouls—Y. M. C. A., 12; Hope Y. M. A., 10. Referee—William C. Geiger, of Jersey City. Umpires—H. M. Hoffman, Jr., and P. W. Manger, of Jersey City. Timekeepers—Edward P. T. Smith, of Reform Club, and H. Pittenger, of Y. M. C. A. Scorers—John H. Doane, of Y. M. C. A., and George E. Firstbrook, of Hope Y. M. A.

TAKEN HOME.

John Schenck is Fast Recovering From Effects of Fall From Pole.

John Schenck, the engineer of the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, who was badly injured in a fall from a pole on East Front street, several weeks ago, was removed today from Muhlenberg Hospital to his home on Manning avenue. He has been attended by Dr. Norman H. Probasco and his recovery has been so rapid that he is now able to sit up. He will probably be able to return to work, unless he suffers a relapse, inside of four weeks.

Preparing for New Saloon.

Workmen are engaged in tearing out the store at 543 East Third street for the purpose of fitting it up for Turner's saloon. Extensive improvements will be made to the place and it will be ready for occupancy in a month or two.

To Preach Tomorrow.

Rev. Appleton Grannis, of St. Michael's church, New York, will preach at Grace Episcopal church, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

MORE SEWERS TO BE BUILT

Common Council Decides to Enlarge Present System in Southwest End of City.

FOR RESIDENTIAL PARK

Street Committee Has Something to Say Regarding Trolley Service, and Makes Certain Recommendations—Two New Policemen Were Also Appointed.

The members of the Common Council are finding plenty to do this year and, although this is only the beginning of the third month, each succeeding session seems to be filled with business of vital interest to every citizen. The regular meeting of the Council held last evening was an important one and several matters affecting the city in general and particular were considered. One of the most important measures was that regarding an extension to the present sewer system, which will practically cover the remaining part of the city not now provided for in Plainfield's system of sewage disposal.

Regarding this sewage matter, the committee on streets and sewage has for some time past been at work perfecting plans for this improvement. Last evening the committee, through its chairman, Mr. Tolles, presented the following which will explain itself:

"In complicance with the resolutions adopted by the Common Council December 26, 1902, and February 2, 1903, your committee on streets and sewers would report that we have investigated the matter of the most efficient means of sewering that portion of the territory of the city which lies outside of the area which may be drained by gravity, and that we first considered the plan outlined in 1895, which contemplated draining the sewage to a pump-well at the intersection of Plainfield and Pemberton avenues, from which it would be raised to the gravity system at Grant avenue.

"This plan, while providing for the section east of Grant avenue, leaves the area west thereof without sewerage facilities.

"We have therefore thought it best to extend the main sewer through Pemberton, Sherman and Monroe avenues, West Seventh street (or West Sixth street), Clinton avenue, South Second street and West Front street to a pump-well on the city property at the intersection of West Front street and Rock avenue, where the sewage would be raised by pumping to the present disposal works, the pumps to be operated by electric motors, gas or gasoline engines. The crossing from South Second street to West Front street would be at DeKalb avenue.

"The easterly end of the line would run through Prospect avenue, Crest street, Martine avenue, Park avenue, Arlington place, Arlington avenue, Rose street, Randolph road and Plainfield avenue, thus providing for nearly the whole of that portion of the city which cannot be drained by gravity.

We find, from the city surveyor's profiles, that the maximum cut would be nearly 22 feet, and the test pits sunk under our direction show that the material is sand of varying fineness, also that much of the grade will be below the level of the ground water, necessitating the use of cast iron pipe.

"We have submitted the proposed plan, with map and profile, to M. N. Baker, consulting engineer, of New York, and append his report hereto.

"We would mention, in addition to the reasons for preventing the infiltration of ground water referred to by Mr. Baker, that the more such water is admitted to the sewers, the greater must be the capacity of the disposal works provided.

"We estimate that the cost of the main sewer and pumping plant only, would be approximately $65,000, only a small portion of which cost could be assessed upon the adjacent property. A number of small lateral sewers should be constructed in connection with the above described main sewer, but as the larger part of their cost would be assessed upon adjoining property, we have not included them in our estimate.

"We believe that the residents in the section under consideration cannot be indefinitely deprived of the sewerage facilities enjoyed by the rest of the

AWAITS COURT'S RULING ON NEW SCHOOL LAW

City School Board Wants to Hear Decision Before Starting New High School.

A SHORT SESSION HELD

LAST NIGHT'S REGULAR MEETING SAW ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Report of Superintendent Maxson Regarding Convention of Superintendents Recently Held at Cincinnati, O.—Routine Business.

Last evening's session of the City Board of Education was one of the briefest it has held in many months No business of much importance was transacted and less than half an hour sufficed to attend to all routine matters.

The tax collector's report showed a total received for the month of $880.06 According to Custodian Arnold, the combined receipts for the month were $14,895.46 and the disbursements $6,916.48, leaving a balance to the Board's credit of $26,188 41. A report was received from Superintendent Maxson in which he related his impressions of the convention of school superintendents at Cincinnati, O., last week, which he attended. Another report was received from Miss Addie Parker Jackson, teacher of physical culture in the schools, in regard to the improvement noted in pupils taking the course. It was commended and placed on file. Secretary Woodhull's bond of $2,000 was offered and accepted.

Informally the new High School subject was introduced and it was explained by Mr. Lovell that the committee is awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court as to the validity of the new school law dealing with the sale of bonds for building purposes. It is expected the court will return its finding this week.

BASEBALL MATTERS.

Manager and Captain for Hope's Team Will be Elected at Annual Meeting to be Held Soon.

The annual meeting of the Hope Y. M. A., which was scheduled for this evening, has been postponed for two weeks, owing to a pressure of other matters in connection with the minstrel perfomances. At that time, in addition to the election of officers, several important matters will be considered, among them being the payment of sick benefits to members who are not in arrears for dues. This is a matter which has been contemplated for a long time.

Baseball matters will also be given attention and the manager and captain of the 1903 team will be named. The members will then learn definitely whether the association is to seek a new diamond for its games.

Y. M. C. A. STATE CONTESTS.

Plans Made at Conference of Physical Directors at Passaic.

A conference of the employed officers of the New Jersey State Y. M. C. A.'s was held yesterday morning and afternoon at Passaic. During the morning a plea was made to keep the Y. M. C. A.'s out of professional baseball.

During the afternoon the physical directors met to formulate an organization of a State athletic committee for the purpose of arranging inter-city contests. It was left to committees to formulate bylaws and a constitution. Each physical director will select a member of his department who will be a representative in the committee on arrangements.

All-Day Missionary Meeting.

SPECIAL SERMONS.

The Subjects for Series by Rector Downey, of the Holy Cross.

Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, of the Church of the Holy Cross in North Plainfield, has announced a special series of sermons to be preached by him for six Sundays beginning next week. The subjects are as follows: March 8, "The Typical Woman;" March 15, "The Typical Man;" March 22, "Social Distinctions;" March 29, "A Warning Against the Evils of the Times;" April 5, "Prayer and Praise as a Medicine." These sermons will be preached at the regular morning services of the Sundays named.

MUCH WEATHER LAST MONTH

GREAT VARIETY OF CONDITIONS SEEN DURING FEBRUARY.

Only Eight Clear Days—Nine Days of Rain and Six of Snow—Great Temperature Changes.

According to the report of the local government observer, John Neagle, February past was a month of all sorts and conditions of weather, with rain or snow predominating.

There were only eight clear days and of the other twenty, ten were cloudy and the remainder were partly cloudy. Jupiter Pluvius shed tears in copious quantities on nine days and snow fell on six. The rain-fall was .60 above the average of twelve Februarys and the average temperature was three degrees above the same number. The complete rainfall was 4.96 inches and the snow fall 13.5 inches.

The first half of the month was six weeks ahead of the season, but the last half put it back. The coldest days were the 17, 18, 19, 20 and 23.

FIVE YEARS PAST.

The Event Was Celebrated by Little Harvey K. Thorn Assisted by His Friends.

Harvey Kingston Thorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Thorn, of East Second street, celebrated the fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday, by inviting a number of his young friends to his home from 3 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The little folks had no end of fun in playing the "Naughty Helen" game, and prizes were awarded to Miss Helen Garretson, Miss Margaret Loizeaux, Walter Fischer and Harold Sharkey.

During the afternoon a Punch and Judy show delighted the boys and girls. After all the little guests were seated at the table and the five candles on the birthday cake were lighted, a flash-light picture of the group was taken by William Thorn.

Those present were Charles Beckman, Colin Millard, Craig Blair, Walter Fischer, Harold Sharkey, Stockton Burr, Marion and Madeline Blimm, Helen and Minnie Leitheuser, Isabella Gloak, Harold Phifer, Lewis Henry, Helen Garretson, Ruth Klein, Mabel and Margaret Loizeaux, of Plainfield; Arthur Ingraham, of Newark; Bernyce Bogart, of South Amboy, and Miss Ada Thorn, of Elizabeth.

COMPANY HONORS.

Those Who Won 100 Per Cent. Honors in Company K.

After the drill last evening Company K held a business meeting when important matters were brought up for discussion. Those who are entitled to 100 per cent. honors for faithful drilling are Lieutenant John M. Lewis, First Sergeant Charles A. Peterson, Sergeant A. I. Littell, Corporal George H. Whitney, Corporal Alfred Tranchand, Corporal Clarence Bilyeu and Private James L. Niles.

All the above named are entitled to an extra bar on their medals as a result of this percentage.

CONTRACT FOR ROAD.

Freeholders Will Give Out Work for Bound Brook's New Road.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 3—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet in the court house here tomorrow, when bids for macadamizing the road that begins north of the borough line of Bound Brook in Mountain avenue and extends to the foot of Watchung Mountain, will be opened and the contract awarded.

The regular monthly session of the Board will not be held until March 11, because town meeting falls on March 10.

Adjourned to Saturday.

The case of Arthur Kyle against L. J. Duffy, for assault, was postponed in the city court, this morning, until Saturday.

ADOPTS POLICE PATROL SYSTEM

The Common Council Finally Takes Action and Decides for the Gamewell System.

IT WILL COST $6,025

After a Recess to Discuss the Contract, the Council Decides in Favor of It—Will be Installed in a Hundred Days—To Start the Work at Once.

The members of the Common Council at the regular session held last evening unanimously adopted the Gamewell police patrol system, thereby voting to install the same in this city. This action was in accordance with the predictions of The Daily Press a few days ago. The contract was awarded to the Gamewell Company at the specified price of $6,025, and after the acceptance by the company and the signature of the proper city officials it will become operative. That the company expects to accept the conditions was evidenced last evening, when its representative said that the order for the supplies would be given today and that within two weeks the work will be started.

Before final action on this proposition was taken, the Council held a recess for one hour to discuss every phase of the drafted contract. According to this contract and for the specified price, $6,025, the Gamewell Company agrees to install a police signal system consisting of an automatic plant of the most approved character, provided with devices of modern design, and upon the completion of the same transfer the entire system to the city for the price paid for the full term of patents. The system is to be installed within one hundred days from the time of signing the contract and it is to be inspected thirty days after completion, when, if found satisfactory, a certificate so signifying shall be given by the city. The company guarantees protection to the city in the use of all patents in connection with the system and agrees to make good any defects within five years from the date of installation. The contract to become valid must be signed within ten days from last evening.

According to the provision of the contract the connections to five of the patrol boxes will be through the underground conduits of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and the extra expense for this work will be $850. All other wires will be placed on poles.

Mr. Randolph, chairman of the police committee, made the report on this matter and offered a resolution providing for the acceptance of and awarding of the contract, which was unanimously adopted.

The system provides for sixteen street wall boxes. When the box is pulled it shall give its own number, and also transmit the special service desired. The index for transmitting the special service shall automatically restore itself. The boxes shall have electro-magnet bells, signal keys, lightning arresters, and shall have all the necessary connections for telephone service in addition to the automatic signalling devices, and the labor of installing the boxes shall be included in the price.

Police headquarters' equipment shall be designed for operating the system in two separate parts or circuits. The apparatus shall be mounted upon a cabinet desk and all the necessary devices shall be provided for operating and recording all signals automatically. The specifications also provide for an emergency bell annunciator and that all report calls shall be made silently without ringing a bell. For the wagon house there will be an equipment of the customary electro-mechanical gong and the telegraph line is to be constructed in a double metallic circuit and is to be so constructed that there will no induction when telephones are used. The amount of line will be sixteen miles in all.

All of the material, apparatus and work shall be furnished in a thorough and workmanlike manner, and the whole system put up in complete working order ready for service, including the necessary primary batteries for operating the system. The sixteen boxes will be located at such points as previously stated in The Daily Press.

SO SOOTHING.

Its Influence Has Been Felt by So Many Plainfield Readers.

The soothing influence of relief,
After suffering from Itching Piles,
From Eczema, or any itchiness of the skin
Makes one feel grateful to the remedy.

Doan's Ointment has soothed hundreds.

Here's what one Plainfield citizen says:

Mr. A. H. Woodruff, of Vailsburg, N. J., says: "For the benefit of those similarly afflicted as I was with hemorrhoids or piles I want every reader of this paper to know, that I suffered with attacks of this tormenting nuisance for over fifteen years. During that time I spent a lot of money trying 'sure cures' and exhausted all my knowledge about salves and ointments, and also the advice of my friends. One day while reading an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Ointment I concluded to make one more effort and I commenced the treatment. Greatly to my surprise the area of itching gradually contracted until it completely dried up. What is of considerable more importance to me, there is no indication of a recurrence."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had here in Plainfield. Drop into L. W. Randolph's drug store and ask what his customers report. Doan's Ointment for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

THE SUBURBANITE.

A Monthly Publication Soon to be Issued by the Jersey Central Railroad.

"The Suburbanite" is the name of a new monthly magazine which will shortly make its appearance, published by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. It will epitomize "the suburban idea" and contain much matter for those who are, as well as those who ought to be interested in suburban homes.

The first issue will contain articles on "Jersey,—the Automobilists' Paradise" by Winthrop E. Scarritt, President of the Automobile Club of New Jersey, "A Suburban Home Garden" by Joel Benton, "Picturesque Cranford" by Jas. Rodgers, Advertising Manager of Harper's Publications, "Building a Suburban Stable" by John Irving Romer, editor of "Equipage," "City versus Suburban Life," "Social Life in the Suburbs," "A Suburbanite to Some Purpose—a True Story," "Atlantic City at Easter," "Advantages to the Children of a Suburban Home," etc.

The new magazine will be handsomely illustrated with engravings from photographs of suburban scenes taken specially for it, and will contain useful data concerning distances of various suburban points from the city and cost of commutation. A feature will also be a department of light gossip, entitled "In The Smoker" by The Commuter. Sample copies may be had as soon as issued by application to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, Central R. R. of New Jersey, New York.

Shake Off the Wintry Blasts.

The months of January and February are the most disagreeable to the northerner and delightful are they for the Florida tourist. The trip to Jacksonville is through a section as historic as it is picturesque, and the service to that point via the Royal Blue Line is the best. The New Jersey Central is going to run an excursion to Jacksonville on Tuesday, March 10. Train leaves New York, foot Liberty street, at 8:30 a. m., arrive Washington at 2:10 p. m., same day; leave Washington at 7 p. m., March 11 and arrive Jacksonville at 1:20 p. m., March 12. The round trip rate from New York and vicinity is $50, and includes also sleeping car berths, meals en route, transfer and hotel accommodations in Washington on southward trip, passengers making their own arrangements for the northward return trip. The arrangements are such that the care and worry of the journey are in the hands of the railroad company, and the tourist has the entire time for enjoyment. The New Jersey Central has issued "A Little Yellow Book" on this Florida trip; if you want it send a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York. It's free for the asking. 2 18 6 eod c 3

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Fresh spinach, lettuce, watercress, fine eating and cooking apples and oranges are among the offerings of R. W. Barnes for this week. His store is on Park avenue near North avenue.

The centre of attraction at I. H. Boehm's dry goods emporium this month will be the woman's suit department. This is one of the finest bargain corners in the city and all the goods sold are exactly as represented.

Bonn, the West Front street milliner, is just now making a specialty of a line of very pretty hats for the season's wear. Within a short time he will be ready with his spring display, which he proposes to make on a large scale.

Pure drugs, pure soda and proper prescription work are some of the features at Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building. Hodge is an experienced druggist and employes none but expert clerks. Agent for Belle Meade sweets.

For the last few weeks VanArsdale has been receiving his new styles of shoes. They are now ready for inspection and the different lines are guaranteed to be good wearers, comfortable and stylish. They are for men, women and children.

Fred Endress calls attention to the completeness of his seafood department. Nothing generally found in a store devoted to fish selling is lacking. The department is in charge of men who know the business and are capable of giving prompt service.

The proprietor of the Paris Cloak Store on West Front street is preparing for a very large spring and summer trade and he will have a stock of suitings, separate skirts and shirt waists second to none. It will be to your advantage to inspect the stock.

Opportunities are to be found on all sides at this time of the year to secure real bargains in suits and clothing. The removal sale at the New York Bargain Store on West Front street is still going on and daily the store is filled with bargains which tempt the prospective buyer.

Have you seen the attractive display of blue chinaware shown by P. G. Dubois at the Oriental Tea Store on West Front street? A whole window is given to the display. The stock at this store is equal to that in Vantine's, New York, and you will find many desirable articles in Oriental goods.

Hill & Shupp, the dry goods merchants, are planning for the spring and summer trade by purchasing a very large stock of goods for every department. The firm is now displaying an attractive line of spring dress goods, and in the other departments much interest is being shown in the fine line exhibited.

John H. Doane, the West Front street shoe dealer, has been making some improvements at his store, whereby he can exhibit his fine line of shoes to better advantage. The windows are enclosed in the rear and large mirrors are used effectively. Mr. Doane handles the well-known Sorosis shoe for women and the Ralston shoe for men, in all sizes and styles.

During the coming season, Harry Dreier, the popular West Front street sporting goods man, will make a specialty of the Spalding baseball goods. He is now ready to give estimates for the complete furnishing of teams with uniforms and paraphernalia and is quoting prices that compete with the New York and Newark houses. Another feature during the season will be a complete line of bicycles, embracing all the best makes. The 1903 makes are now being shown together with the latest sundries.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. James Webber, of Brooklyn, was the guest on Sunday of Mrs. Daniel Olston, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Anna Most, of Myrtle avenue, who has been confined to her house suffering with appendicitis and who recently underwent an operation for relief, is rapidly recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Walton, baby and maid, left for their home in New York City this morning after a six weeks' stay with Mrs. Walton's mother, Mrs. E. B. Smith, of Westervelt avenue.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it.

DEADLOCK IS BROKEN

Delaware Legislature Elects Two Senators.

NOT REPRESENTED FOR FOUR YEARS

Thirty-sixth Ballot Results in the Choice of J. F. Allee, an Addicks Man, and L. H. Ball, a Regular Republican.

DOVER, Del., March 3.—For the first time in four years the state of Delaware has secured full representation in the United States senate. At a special session the state legislature elected State Senator J. Frank Allee (union Republican) to the senatorship which expires in 1907 and Congressman L. Heisner Ball (regular Republican) to the term expiring in 1905.

The selection was undoubtedly due to pressure from Washington brought to bear upon the regular Republicans in the legislature who have all along opposed the election of J. Edward Addicks or any of his adherents to the United States senate. Congressman Dick of Ohio came to Dover in the interest of Republican harmony. He established headquarters at the Hotel Richardson, where prior to the joint session of the legislature he received a delegation from each Republican faction. He advised the acceptance by the regular Republicans of the union Republicans' proposition agreed upon in Philadelphia Saturday that a union Republican be elected to the long term senatorship and a regular Republican to the short term, Addicks himself being eliminated.

Anticipating the likelihood of an agreement between the Republican factions, Democratic State Chairman Saulsbury presented a proposition to the regular Republicans, agreeing to use his influence for the election with the aid of the Democrats of two regular Republicans to the United States senate. This proposition was approved by the advisory committee of the Democratic state committee, but was not ratified by the Democratic legislators in caucus.

In the meantime a compromise was effected between the regular Republicans and the Addicks (union Republican) forces resulting in the selection of a senator from each faction.

In expectation of a settlement of the senatorial difficulty politicians and prominent men from every section of the state were present at today's sessions of the legislature. The election of Messrs. Allee and Ball was announced to an audience that filled the house of representatives to suffocation. Men were standing upon the window ledges, and so compact was the crowd that many of the spectators stood upon the shoulders of others, supporting themselves against the walls of the assembly room.

The two senators will report at Washington on Wednesday. Dr. Ball's term as a member of congress expires on that day.

No Trace of Burdick's Slayer.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 3.—Nearly four days have elapsed since the body of Edwin L. Burdick was found in his "den" on the first floor of his home on Ashland avenue with his skull crushed to a pulp. During that time the district attorney's office and the detective force of the city have worked night and day on the case. Scores of persons have been called into the district attorney's office at all times of the day and night. The "third degree" has been worked in some cases by the authorities in their endeavor to follow a clew to some tangible end. As yet there does not appear to be the remotest possibility of an arrest, although the authorities will not deny that they are working along some definite lines.

Floods In West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 3.—The crest of the rise was reached yesterday when the marks showed a stage of 40 feet 3 inches. Hundreds of houses in the lowlying districts in Wheeling, Benwood, Martins Ferry, Bridgeport and Bellaire are partially submerged, and considerable damage has been done. There has been an almost complete suspension of operations in the iron, steel and tin mills, potteries and other industries. James Duffy while being ferried across a south side street fell into the water and was drowned. There have been no other fatalities.

Freshet In the Delaware.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., March 3.—Swelled by freshets from its many tributaries in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, the Delaware river has leaped its banks, flooding many of the towns and villages along its course. The water rose with alarming rapidity and is five feet above its normal level and sweeping over the piers here.

FIGHTING LADRONES

Sharp Encounter Seven Miles From Manila.

STRONGHOLD TAKEN AND BURNED.

Twenty-nine Men Killed and Many Wounded in the Two Engagements—Sumner Fears Trouble in Mindanao.

MANILA, March 3.—A detachment of scouts under the command of Lieutenant Nickerson attacked and defeated a body of ladrones near the village of Mariquina, Luzon, seven miles from Manila, Sunday. Lieutenant Nickerson located the enemy and delivered his attack before daylight. After an hour's fighting the ladrones were scattered, and nineteen were killed and many wounded. There were no casualties on the side of the scouts. It is unknown if the enemy formed a part of General San Miguel's force.

The constabulary last Wednesday surprised and captured the stronghold of the ladrones in the mountains of Albay, Luzon, where a force of ladrones attacked a small detachment of constabulary on Feb. 20. The constabulary on Wednesday met with some resistance on the part of the ladrones, who were defeated with a loss of ten killed and four captured. The ladrones' stronghold and supplies were burned.

Brigadier General Sumner, commanding the department of Mindanao, telegraphs that he expects trouble along the military road north of Lake Lanao, Misamis. He says that the datos of the sultan of Mindanao are friendly and anxious for peace, but are unable to control sections of their unruly followers. General Sumner has warned the soldiers to avoid any conflict and to carefully guard against surprises.

The government is preparing to promulgate a penal code to supersede the Spanish code. The vice governor, General Luke E. Wright, is the author of the new code, which was reviewed and revised by the other members of the Philippine commission. The code is modeled after those of several American states.

William Crozier, the editor; Mr. Kenny, the manager, and Mr. Green, a reporter, of the American, have been arrested on a charge of libeling General Davis.

Maine's Crew Behave Badly.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 3.—As the result of beating a sergeant and a private of the local police force, received at the hands of sailors from the battleship Maine Saturday evening, and the showering of eggs and vegetables over the side of the ship on them by marines, Chief of Police Johnson will make formal complaint to the navy department. In the statement now preparing the chief of police makes specific complaint against the officers of the warship and calls attention to what he characterizes the lack of discipline and semimutinous conditions apparent.

Socialist Triumph In Copenhagen.

COPENHAGEN, March 3.—The city council last night elected a socialist house painter named Jensen as mayor of the finance department. After the election a torchlight procession, composed of members of all the trades unions with bands of music, accompanied the new mayor from the city hall to the offices of the newspaper Social Demokraten, where speeches were delivered and songs were sung. There was an enormous crowd and the demonstration degenerated into disorders and a fight with the police. Many were injured and some arrests were made.

Married a Japanese.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The marriage of Miss Florence Louise Cresswell, twenty-seven years old, and Chujiro Koehi of Japan has been reported to the Hudson county (N. J.) bureau of vital statistics. The ceremony was performed recently by the Rev. Thomas Hall in Jersey City. The bride was until recently a teacher at Bryn Mawr college. The groom said he had been connected with the biological department of Princeton university and that he intended to take his bride to Japan to live.

Autos Displace Stagecoaches.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Establishment of a daily automobile service between Guadeloupe and the town of Ste. Rose is reported to the state department by L. H. Ayme, United States consul at the former point. This line, says the consul, is the first step toward the substitution throughout the colony of automobiles for the stagecoaches which heretofore have been the only means of land transport.

Hurricane Sweeps Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 3.—A furious hurricane, the worst for many years, has raged here. The schooner Ethelroy went ashore and is a total wreck. The crew had a narrow escape. It is feared that other disasters have occurred along the coast. A number of bridges and fishing stations have been destroyed, and the ice blocks the coast worse than ever as a result of the storm.

Public Debt Decreases.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Feb. 28, 1903, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $937,972,898, which is a decrease as compared with Jan. 31 of $5,969,695.

Chess Tournament at Monte Carlo. Racing Resumed at Oakland.

MONTE CARLO, March 3.—The second round of the second half of the international chess tournament here was played yesterday. Maroczy beat Moreau, center gambit, in sixteen moves; Pillsbury beat Schlechter, queen's gambit declined, in eighteen moves; Taubenhaus beat Albin, Ruy Lopez opening, in forty-four moves; Teichmann beat Marshall, queen's gambit declined, in twenty-six moves; Mieses beat Reggio, in forty-four moves, and the game between Tarasch and Mason, French defense, resulted in a draw after thirty-two moves.

Athletics at Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 3.—William J. Clarke, formerly of the Baltimore and Boston National league teams and now captain of the Washington American league club, has arrived here to coach the Naval academy baseball players. Outdoor practice begins today. Ensign J. W. Timmons is at work with fifty-five candidates for positions in the crew of the eight oared shell for the season's boat races.

Wire Rope For the Defender.

TRENTON, N. J., March 3.—John A. Roebling's Sons' company of this city has completed an order of 24,000 feet of wire for the new cup defender that is being constructed. The rope is from one-half to one and three-eighths inches thick. The rope for the standing rigging has an all wire center, while the running rope has a hemp center to give it more pliability.

Racing at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Racing was resumed at Oakland yesterday, with a good crowd in attendance. Three favorites won. In the last race Boland on Oriana, a 10 to 1 shot, outfinished Minder and landed Oriana winner by a head from El Fonse.

McGovern-Ryan Meeting Off.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The meeting between McGovern and Ryan arranged for Thursday in Philadelphia has been declared off.

THE POPE'S ANNIVERSARY.

Thousands of Visitors Tax Rome's Capacity.

ROME, March 3.—The city is overflowing with visitors. The hotels have turned the bath and billiard rooms and offices into bedrooms, but the accommodation is still insufficient for the crowd of 20,000 pilgrims besides the 50,000 other visitors who are here for today's ceremony.

Forty-six out of the fifty-eight members of the sacred college are here, together with nearly 300 archbishops and bishops. The pope passed a very quiet birthday, spending most of the time resting to please the doctors, or, as he said, "Praying to please himself."

Preparations at St. Peter's for today continued all last night. The rain prevented the people from spending the night before the doors of St. Peter's, as is usual on such occasions, in order to insure securing good positions.

Strike on the Wabash Threatened.

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—Unless certain demands for an increase in wages on the Wabash system east of the Mississippi river are granted today it is probable that a general strike will be instituted. Committees representing the trainmen and firemen of the road sent ultimatums to President Ramsey late yesterday afternoon, notifying him that the result of the recent poll among employed members of their organizations was that the demands of 15 per cent increase for freight men and 12 per cent increase for passenger men east of the Mississippi, exclusive of the Canadian line, and double pay for double header freight trains, must be conceded at once or a strike would be ordered.

Dam Bursts Near Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 3.—The large dam which held back the water of Mill creek at a point along the branch road of the New York Central railroad which is being constructed between Carman and South Schenectady broke yesterday, and within five minutes thousands of tons of water came pouring down the ravine which leads into Schermerborn's millpond. All the property along the flats between the New York Central track and the Villa road was submerged. Scores of families fled to a place of safety, and many narrow escapes are reported.

CANAL COST GROWS.

Engineer Bond Adds $20,000,000 to First Estimate.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 3.—State Engineer Bond has just submitted to the legislature his revised estimate of the cost of the improvement of the Erie, Oswego and Champlain canals, as requested by the assembly. In 1900 he estimated the proposed work could be done for $81,408,115. His revised estimate declares it will cost $91,674,553. Of the added cost $5,900,984 is for increased cost of labor and material and $4,365,454 for unforeseen contingencies and erroneous estimates.

If the Champlain is made a barge canal and the Hudson river from Troy to Waterford and the Niagara river from Tonawanda to Buffalo be improved, the total cost, he says, will be $100,562,993.

He declares that the price of labor and material has advanced within two years; that if the business of the enlarged canal were doubled it would increase the estimate by $1,330,000; that the dams for canalizing the Mohawk, Seneca and Hudson rivers will cost $3,734,570 and the dams for impounding water $2,769,096; that his estimate does not cover riparian damages except on the Oswego river; that the right of way will cost $3,738,843, of which the sale of lands will repay $1,966,391; that in his first estimate 10 per cent was allowed for engineering and contingencies, to which he has added in this second estimate 5 per cent to pay for the services of five expert engineers to cover added expense and to make a reasonable allowance for erroneous estimates.

Filibustering at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 3.—The senate calendar was abandoned last night after an hour's attempt of the majority to pass bills. This was a result of the filibustering of the Democrats following the defeat of Senator Grady's resolution to recall the Stevens inheritance tax bill providing that a tax shall be imposed on all real estate valued at more than $10,000 when inherited by lineal heirs, so that the Democratic senators might have an opportunity of placing themselves on record as being opposed to the bill as well as to this scheme of taxation. The measure was passed on Thursday last, Senator Grady being absent. The Republican senators made ineffectual efforts to pass several bills, Senator Grady even voting against one of his own bills, and the calendar was abandoned. The senate adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

COUGHED UP AN EEL.

Ocean Tourist Brings Over a Queer Stowaway.

NEW YORK, March 3.—One of the most unique stowaways brought into this port arrived on the Campania. It was a wriggling eel six inches long, and it had made the voyage snug in the stomach of a steerage passenger.

Niels Andersen, seventeen years old, a native of Sweden, shortly after the Campania left the other side was stricken with illness that baffled the ship's surgeon. He was taken with violent coughing spells and complained of severe pains in the stomach. No treatment that the surgeon prescribed helped the young fellow in any way. He was deathly sick all the way over.

With the other steerage passengers he was lined up for inspection by the Ellis island surgeons and was suddenly taken with a violent fit of coughing which doubled him up. It seemed as if he was going to choke to death. Physicians hurried to him and started to apply remedies. Suddenly Andersen gave a violent cough, and an eel dropped out and wriggled around on the deck.

Short Season at Trenton.

TRENTON, N. J., March 3.—The senate last night held a short session and cleared up its calendar in about twenty minutes. Among the bills passed were those incorporating Ventnor, Atlantic county; Westfield, Union county; Woodbine, Cape May county. Senator Strong introduced a bill for the appointment of a state architect to have supervision of the construction of public buildings. The Passaic pollution bill, introduced by Mr. Boyd, was the special order in the house and after being debated for more than an hour was passed—45 to 7. Practically all of the opposition came from Passaic county.

Explosion Kills Six.

EASTON, Pa., March 3.—Six men are thought to be dead and twenty-five or thirty others are injured, several of them seriously, from the effects of an explosion at the Edison cement plant at New Village, N. J., seven miles from here, on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. A large part of the plant was burned. Many of the injured are being cared for at New Village and Stewartsville and at farmhouses in the vicinity of the plant.

Heavy Purchase of Bonds.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vermilye & Co., bankers, announce that they have purchased $10,000,000 first mortgage thirty year 4 per cent gold bonds of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern road. This is one-half of the amount authorized to be issued now and is part of a total issue of $50,000,000. The money derived from the sale of the bonds will be used for new mileage and terminal construction at St. Louis.

Shaw Denies Certain Changes.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw denies the report that certain removals in the customs service at the port of New York were being made for political reasons. He said the removals were for the good of the service and as a business proposition.

PEKING, March 3.—The Chinese government is contemplating the establishment of a great lottery as a means of increasing the revenues.

LONG DAY IN HOUSE

Members and Clerks Weary and Worn.

AN EXTRA SESSION IS SUMMONED.

The President, Seeing No Prospect of Any Action on Treaties This Time, Calls the Senate For March 5.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—From 11 in the morning until late last night the house struggled laboriously against the Democratic filibuster, working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's space. Roll call followed roll call on every proposition. The voices of the reading clerks were worn out by the ceaseless calling of the roll, and several clerks from committees have been drafted to help out.

Since Thursday last, when the filibuster was inaugurated, there have been over sixty roll calls, as against fifty-seven for the entire long session lasting from Dec. 1, 1901, to July 3, 1902. The members also show the effects of the heavy strain, but they are sticking to their posts. Last night the great hall presented a disheveled appearance. The floor was strewn with bits of paper, looking as if a snowstorm had swept through the hall.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill were sent to conference.

The house also adopted the conference reports on the postoffice and agricultural appropriation bills and shortly before midnight, at the end of a continuous session of almost thirteen hours, took a recess until 11 o'clock today.

The senate passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion, Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order. When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference reports on the fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homstead bill were agreed to.

Mr. Morgan got the floor soon after the night session began and held it for nearly two hours. While speaking he observed Mr. Aldrich smile and called attention to it. Mr. Aldrich jestingly remarked that he was smiling because Mr. Morgan was not talking on the Panama canal. Mr. Morgan replied that that had no connection with the financial bill except the stealing part of it, which is in Paris.

Mr. Bailey made a strong plea against filibustering and said that four great measures had been defeated by filibustering against the statehood bill. He mentioned that bill, the two treaties and the financial bill. He and other senators said it was evident the Aldrich bill could not pass.

Mr. Tillman convulsed the senate by declaring that Mr. Quay, "the most astute politician in the United States," had bunkoed the Democrats on the statehood bill, using it to defeat the trust legislation. Mr. Quay denied this, saying he had pressed the statehood bill before the antitrust campaign began. Mr. Aldrich said the obstructive tactics surprised him and that he wanted the country to know where the responsibility rests should the bill fail.

The conference reports on the postoffice and the agricultural appropriation bills were agreed to and the deficiency bill sent to conference.

The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference.

EXTRA SESSION CALLED.

President Commands Senate to Reconvene Thursday.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The president has issued the following proclamation:

By the president of the United States of America. A proclamation.

Whereas, public interests require that the senate should convene in extraordinary session; therefore I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the senate of the United States to convene at the capitol in the city of Washington on the 5th day of March next at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at Washington the 2d day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and three and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-seventh.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the president.
JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

New York Senators Snubbed.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill in their agreement have left out the senate amendment appropriating $2,000,000 for a site for the New York postoffice over the station of the Pennsylvania railroad. This amendment was offered by Senator Platt, favorably reported by the committee on public buildings and grounds and accepted by Senator Allison, in charge of the bill. Both the New York senators urged the retention of the appropriation, but the house conferees would not yield.

President Signs Important Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The president has signed the army appropriation and the Philippine coinage bills.

THE ONLY SOLUTION.

While occasional and even continuous growls from the public may not avail much with trolley companies any attempt or even suggestion by the legislative body of any municipality to revoke the franchise of such a corporation is too serious a thing to be overlooked by the officials of the company. So it was that the mere public mention of Councilman Lee's attempt to compel the local trolley company to improve its service or go out of business had its effect on that corporation. There was a conference between Col. E. W. Hine, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, which controls the local system, and the city officials. The schedule was changed as the Common Council had asked sometime ago and Col. Hine explained the causes of the delay and made more promises for the future.

If Mr. Lee's agitation had ended a week ago, it would have accomplished much. It waked up the officials of the trolley company to a realization that the people of Plainfield were in earnest. The Plainfield line is but a small part of a big system. No one doubts that the company has been badly handicapped as it claims but it is also to be believed that the needs of the local system were not the most important ones in the eyes of the company which was naturally particularly interested in its main line. This agitation may result, however, in bringing home the fact that Plainfield must be taken care of at all hazards.

Instead of two cars meeting at the transfer station every five minutes and compelling those desiring to transfer to another line to wait five or ten minutes, cars of all lines now meet every fifteen minutes. It is the old system with which so much fault was found. The chief objection was that it converted Watchung avenue into a waiting station and made the passage of vehicles through that street dangerous to both passengers and vehicles. It was thought that the new arrangement would improve the conditions but it didn't as The Daily Press prophesied.

There is just one way whereby the troublesome conditions on Watchung avenue can be removed. When the trolley company establishes a transfer station with a loop on private property and takes its waiting cars off the public streets, then and not until then will the public be satisfied. Watchung avenue is too important a thoroughfare to allow any corporation to use it for its own purposes to the detriment of the public welfare. Let the Common Council act in this matter and it will find that the trolley company will accept the inevitable when it finds that the present unsatisfactory arrangement cannot be continued.

We are led to expect a verdict from the Grand Jury when it reports to court tomorrow morning. Then the results of its investigations as to the cause and responsibility for the Westfield disaster will be learned. It may be that the Grand Jury has discovered something very important which the coroner's jury overlooked but we are not inclined to believe so. There still remains the fact that Engineer Davis ran by six danger signals and made, as far as we know, no attempt to stop. If the Grand Jury can draw any logical conclusion from the facts other than the one reached by the coroner's jury it will be a genuine surprise.

There is an old adage to the effect that "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." It was never better illustrated than by certain Republican politicians in North Plainfield. Because the opposing faction in their party threw its influence against the Republican candidates at the November election, the politicians in question are now working to encompass the defeat of Mayor Smalley. It is strange what combinations politics will sometimes make.

Rev. John MacMurray has a habit of saying just what he thinks regardless of how it may please some of those in authority. He didn't hesitate a minute in his expression of opinion regarding the granting of that license down in the Fourth ward, and some of the Councilmen came in for some rather pointed criticisms.

Just one week to election in the borough. There's going to be a wonderful lot of quiet work done in the next seven days.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. V. W. Nash, of Prospect avenue, has recovered from a recent severe illness.

FIRST OF SERIES.

Park Sisters and Miss Mildred Pipe Gave an Excellent Entertainment.

The first of a series of five supplemental entertainments, which will be given this and next month, was held last evening in Y. M. C. A. Hall, when there was a large audience present.

The programme rendered last night was high class in every particular and was, in all, one of the finest musical and literary entertainments ever given in the local association. The Park Sisters, the well known cornetists, rendered several very pleasing selections and Miss Mildred Pipe gave several recitations. Next Monday evening the second entertainment of the course will be given.

Men's Club Meeting.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church has issued invitations to the regular meeting this evening at the church. A programme of interest will be presented.

City High School Athletic Association Plans to Give an Entertainment March 28.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association held yesterday it was decided to hold an entertainment in the near future for raising funds for the support of the baseball team. Various plans were suggested and it was finally decided to hold an entertainment on the evening of March 28 in Franklin Hall.

The programme, as planned, will consist of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations. The talent to be used will be taken from the student body of the school. Instrumental music will be a feature and sextet of young men has been formed and will begin work under the direction of William P. VanEps, 1904. The vocal part of the programme is under the charge of Charles L. Lewis, singing instructor at the High School. George L. Babcock, 1904, has been appointed to take charge of securing the talent from the student body.

Plans for entertainment are being farther considered and work in training will begin Thursday.

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

One of the most important meetings of the year of the Literary Circle will be held this evening at the home of F. T. Dickerson, of Front street. Each member will invite a friend and a very enjoyable time is anticipated. Rev. L. E. Livermore and Rev. Frank Fletcher, veterans of the Union Army, will be present and speak and Nelson Carpenter, of Rahway, a veteran of the Confederate Army, will also tell some experiences.

A meeting of the Epworth League will be held tomorrow evening in the Methodist church after prayer meeting. This will be the regular monthly business meeting.

Court Dunellen, I. O. F., held its regular monthly meeting last evening. After the regular business meeting an enjoyable time was spent with the indoor games.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold a dime social at the home of Mrs. George Giles, Thursday evening to which all are invited.

Many compliments are being heard for the appropriate and handsome way in which the interior of the Presbyterian church has been decorated.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joel Giddes, of North avenue.

The Republican and Democratic primaries will probably be held the last part of this week and the first of next.

Harry Randolph has about recovered from the effects of an injury to his hand which was received some time ago.

Only about $360 remains yet to be secured on the Methodist church debt and this will all be secured by April 1.

Adam Dealaman, who is in a precarious state of health, shows but little improvement.

A meeting of the trustees of the Methodist church was held last evening.

Mrs. J. Newton Apgar is recovering from an illness of several days.

Michael Moynihan has accepted a position on a Plainfield daily.

The Juniors will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening.

John Logan is slowly recovering from quite a severe illness.

The board of registry is meeting this afternoon at the Hotel Nelson. It is probable that several names will be added to the registry list as the new factory has brought several new residents in this district.

J. Y. Wilson has harvested some ice in his ice house but will have to get some elsewhere to carry through the summer.

A meeting of the Township Committee will be held this afternoon when routine business will be transacted.

Rev. L. E. Livermore is improving slightly from an illness with the grip.

The annual school day will be held in the township on March 17.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Funeral services of the late Emanuel Frazer, of Stony Hill, were held yesterday morning from St. Mary's church where a solemn requiem mass was said for the repose of his soul. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church. Mr. Frazer had been a sufferer from pulmonary trouble for several years. A widow and five children survive him.

The board of registry is sitting in the Town rooms today from 1 to 9 o'clock from the purpose of revising and correcting the registry. This is the last opportunity to get registered if your name does not appear on the polling list.

Seeley's paper mill was closed Monday morning so as to enable the employes to attend the funeral services of their late fellow employe, Emanuel Frazer, which were held from St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. G. M. Shott, secretary of the Minister's Conference meeting, attended the weekly meeting held Monday morning in the Twenty-third street Y. M. C. A. building, New York.

The large bill board erected at the Park avenue crossing of the trolley, last fall, has been removed, an improvement which is very noticeable to the residents living in that neighborhood.

A number of the Sunday-school workers from the several schools attended the union Sunday-school convention held Monday in St. Paul's M. E. church, Cranford.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Clark, of Montclair, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Clark.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of the Baptist church, was held in the parlors of the church last night.

Election for the several township offices will be held one week from today, March 10.

Mrs. Chas. Meyers has been entertaining her sister, Miss Levers, of Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Four Home Circle prayer meetings will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock by members of the Baptist church. One of these will convene at the parsonage, another at the residence of Deacon Lewis Campbell on the road to Metuchen; another at the home of Deacon E. J. Boice, and another at the home of Bethune Dunham. At each meeting the same subject will be considered and prayer will be made for the same object. There will be no regular meeting at the church tonight.

The Republican primary meeting of the voters of the township will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in Friendship Hall, at New Market.

The Democratic primary meeting will be held at Hotel Nelson, New Market, tomorrow evening.

The auction sale of the personal property of the Plainview Stock Farm took place today.

Earl Darlington went to New York today to celebrate his eleventh birthday.

Lost a Finger.

Wilson A. Douglas, of Westfield, who was formerly employed in one of the local shops but who recently secured a position in Newark, had one of his fingers amputated in Newark, Saturday, as a result of an accident.

Social for Tomorrow Night.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a social and entertainment in the church parlors, tomorrow evening.

IS AFTER THE GAME LAWS

STATE FISH AND GAME COMMISSION MEETS TO CONSIDER THEM.

Will Try to Kill Measures Introduced With Mistaken Idea That They Pleased Board.

A meeting of the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission will be held in Trenton today and it is expected that the commissioners will do something to kill the pernicious measures which have been introduced under the supposition that they were points asked for by the board. The members of the commission do not want the black bass law changed to make the opening day any earlier than it is at present. They had to fight to protect the bass on their spawning beds and succeeded a few years ago in getting a law passed concurrent with those of New York and Pennsylvania.

They do not want the general shooting season changed either. In fact the commission desires no changes which may add to the confusion which changes always cause. The laws are good enough as they stand and nothing should be done to extend the time of fishing or shooting.

The farmers are anxious to have a law passed permitting them to kill or trap rabbits at any time in the year if they think that the rabbits are destroying their crops or are biting the bark of their trees. Some years ago a farmer wanted permission to kill carp at any time. He was right in wanting to kill them, but he went a little too far when he said that they came out of the ponds and brooks in the spring and ate up acres of his growing wheat. He got his law passed, however, but the Tuckerton man who wanted an open season for terrapin all the year round failed when he advanced the argument that they crawled under his fields and orchards and ate the roots from his trees and vegetables. He had a steady market for diamond backs and did not like to see it restricted.

THEATRICAL.

Comic Jerome Sykes, in Klaw & Erlanger's satirical farce, "The Billionaire," has made the hit of his career at Daly's Theatre, New York, where capacity audiences laugh themselves tired eight times a week. This piece is an entirely new and novel departure from all previous humorous productions. The new farce not only represents delightful fun but also artistic magnificence and magnitude. In richness of costuming it has never been equalled and in scenery it eclipses all efforts ever made in this field of amusement enterprise. Chief interest centres in the theatre scenes of the second act, which furnish an entire entertainment in themselves. The Wednesday and Saturday matinees are largely patronized by people living in suburban places, who find the mail order bureau at Daly's, through which seats can be secured four weeks ahead, of great convenience to them.

That graceful little soubrette, Miss Gertrude Quinlan, in "The Sultan of Sulu," has introduced a new dance in George Ade's merry opera at Wallack's Theatre, New York. It is called the ostrich dance, with steps and movements in imitation of the stately, sour-faced bird of the desert. Miss Quinlan sings the song "The Queer Little Ostrich" and 'tween the verses comes the dance on which she is getting a string of encores each night. It is described as unlike anything in the shape of "coon" song or animal dances ever seen on the stage, combining comedy and poetic movements that give it a distinct original flavor and entitling the little comedienne to the honor of having invented a new thing in terpsichore.

Suit Was Settled.

The case of Frazee Suydam against Peter Emmons, of Oak Tree, which was brought up before Justice Von-Menden, at New Market, Monday morning, was satisfactorily settled. William G. DeMeza represented the complainant.

Corporation Notice.

Public Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, held on Monday, the second day of March, 1903, an ordinance of which the following is a true copy, to wit:—

to Provide for the Construction of a Further Addition to the System of Sewerage already Constructed in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said City a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the several ordinances of said City relating thereto, and particularly the ordinances respectively entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6 1897 and "An Ordinance to provide for the improvement of Sewage Disposal Works, Beds and Appurtenances of the City of Plainfield," approved April 4, 1900, to which several ordinances reference is hereby made for greater certainty; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said City under the provisions of the Acts of the Legislature in such case made and provided, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore,

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows;

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct an order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed as aforesaid, be constructed in and for said City, under the provisions of the Acts of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, including pumps, motors, boilers, pump well and engine-house, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plan as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights-of-way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance, to wit:

Section 2. That the said Common Council doth hereby determine to acquire by purchase and to take and appropriate the lands and real estate necessary to be taken and appropriated for the construction of said system of sewerage, and to make compensation to the owner or owners thereof by payment of damages therefore in accordance with the provisions of the aforsaid acts" was presented, read and ordered to be considered and acted upon by said Common Council at an adjourned meeting thereof to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in said city of Plainfield, on Monday, the 23d day of March, 1903 at the hour of eight o'clock in the evening of that day, and at such meeting ample opportunity will be given to all parties in favor of or opposed to the improvement contemplated by said ordinance to present their views with reference to the same in writing, or otherwise, as the Common Council may at that time direct, and public notice is hereby given of the intention of the said Common Council to cause said improvement set forth in said ordinance to be made, and such persons or corporations as may object thereto are requested to present their objections in writing at the City Clerk's office, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at or before the expiration of ten days from the date of this notice, or to the Common Council at its first meeting held after the expiration of the said ten days, and said Common Council at such meeting to be held on the 23d day of March, 1903, as above stated, or afterward may proceed to consider and pass such ordinance notwithstanding any objection.

By direction of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

JUST A CENTURY OLD

City of Chicago About to Celebrate Its Centennial.

Origin of the Western Metropolis Dates from Arrival of United States Troops Late in the Spring of 1803.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

UNDER the direction of Mayor Harrison several committees are now actively at work making preparations for a suitable celebration of the one hundredth birthday of the city of Chicago. The exercises connected with this unique historical event will include a carnival, grand military review, a naval demonstration on Lake Michigan and other attractive features. Among the distinguished visitors will be President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the members of the cabinet and supreme court justices and their wives, the diplomatic corps, the senators of the United States and members of the house of representatives, 20 or more governors of sovereign states and a multitude of other distinguished men and women. The celebration will last six days and, if present plans are carried out, will be held early in September.

The birth of Chicago dates from the arrival of a detachment of United States soldiers, late in the spring of 1803. The troops were in charge of Lieut. James Swearengen and marched overland from Detroit to the foot of Lake Michigan. They were followed by Capt. John Whistler, who, with his wife and baby son, came by the lakes with supplies. The spring was well under way before the two expeditions came together and all possible haste was made to put things in shape for the approaching winter. A fort was built at a point which is now the foot of Michigan avenue, facing Rush street bridge. There were no horses in the county at that time and the soldiers were compelled to harness themselves to logs which they had chopped in the adjacent forest. It was tedious and trying work, and necessarily the building progressed slowly. When completed the fort consisted of a double stockade, with two blockhouses at opposite corners, a storehouse and quarters for officers and men. An underground passage led to the river, so that water might be had in case of a siege.

FORT DEARBORN, AS IT APPEARED IN 1812.

The name Chicago is of Indian origin, and is mentioned by the French Jesuit missionary Marquette, who first visited the site of the present city in 1673. It was also visited by Perrot in 1770. In the winter of 1674-75 Marquette camped on the banks of the Chicago river from December till near the close of March. When he arrived, on December 4, he found the river frozen and the ground covered with snow. By the French voyagers the name of the city was spelled in a variety of ways, the majority rendering it Chi-cau-gou. There is mention of it in accounts of La Salle's expedition down the Illinois river, by way of St. Joseph and Kankakee, in 1680. In Hennepin's account of this expedition is a chapter called "An Account of the Building of a New Fort on the River of the Illinois, Named by the Savages Chi-cau-gou and by Us Fort Chevereux." Pere Marquette invariably wrote only of the Illinois, the Chicago river being then considered a part of the lower river by the whites, although the Indians seem to have had a better knowledge of the geography and topography of the country. The Wisconsin Historical society has in its possession a map, said to have been made by Sampson, geographer to the king of France, in 1673, before the Marquette or Joliet expeditions had been heard from. On this map there is one great river running from Lake Michigan to the gulf of Mexico, intended probably to represent the Mississippi. It is called the Chuequa river. The name Chicago, according to some authorities, means "great" or "strong," but the Indians themselves asserted that it means "skunk." They fortified their claim by relating that once upon a time a chief named "Skunk" was drowned in the river and to perpetuate his memory the red men named the stream for their unfortunate companion. The early trappers and traders attempted to change the name several times, but without success.

Capt. Whistler, the first commander of Fort Dearborn, was a revolutionary soldier of considerable renown and had had years of frontier duty. He was in command until the summer of 1811, and during his administration managed to maintain comparatively friendly relations with the Indians and to attract a number of settlers to the new town. He was succeeded by Capt. Heald in June, 1811. When the war with Great Britain broke out in 1812, the government, apprehensive that a post among the Indians, so far from the frontiers, could not be successfully maintained, ordered it abandoned. On August 12, Capt. Heald marched out of the fort, and after proceeding two miles on the lake shore he was attacked by the Pottawatamie Indians. Twelve, the entire number of the militia garrison, 26 of the regular troops, two women and 12 children, in all 52, were killed and several wounded. The Indians destroyed the abandoned fort; but it was rebuilt in 1816, under Capt. Bradley. The fort continued to be occupied until 1837, when, the Indians having left the country, it was abandoned. The spot where the massacre of 1812 occurred is now marked by a handsome monument, erected by the late George M. Pullman, near the foot of Sixteenth street.

When the soldiers first arrived in 1803 there were but four traders' cabins at Chicago. The traders, who were either French or half-breeds, had Indian wives. Their names were Le Mai, Ouilmette and Pettell. The fourth cabin, which was empty that summer, was owned by a man named Burnett, who lived in Michigan. The first bona-fide settler was John Kinzie, who, with his family, came to Chicago in 1804 and laid the foundation of the great commercial center of to-day. Mrs. John Harris Kinzie, wife of the son of the original John, wrote a number of books about the early days of Fort Dearborn. The elder Kinzie was a trader who had been in the Lake Michigan region for many years and had visited Chicago previous to the building of the fort. Mr. Kinzie was living at Bertrand, Mich., then called Parc aux Vaches, at the time of the fort construction. He, with other traders, conceived the idea of making Chicago their headquarters; but, as it afterward appeared, he was the only one to establish his home near the fort. He came with his entire family early in the year 1804 and bought the cabin of Le Mai, located at a point which is now the foot of Kinzie street.

JOHN HARRIS KINZIE.
(Son of the First Permanent Settler of Chicago.)

The Le Mai place seems to have been the oldest establishment in the region. Le Mai did not build the cabin himself, but had purchased it from one Jean Baptiste Point-au-Sable, a San Domingo negro, who had wandered north into the Indian country, and finding congenial comradeship among the redskins made it his home. It is believed that he came to Chicago in 1796, and that the cabin was built in that year. The picture of the Kinzie house which has so often appeared in print, shows the place many years later, when it had been enlarged, beautified and painted. It was nothing more than a shelter when the soldiers arrived in 1803.

John Kinzie and the other settlers who followed him led an exciting life, but they persisted in establishing their ascendancy over the semi-barbarous half-breeds and Indian savages who surrounded them. After the massacre of 1812 the little town grew steadily in importance as a trading post; and when, on August 10, 1833, the town of Chicago was organized by the election of five trustees it had within its limits 28 voters. On September 26, 1833, a treaty was signed with the chief of the Pottawatamies, 7,000 of the tribe being present at the council, and on October 1 they were removed west of the Mississippi river. The first charter of the city was passed by the legislature and approved March 14, 1837; and the first election under the charter was held May 1, 1837.

FOR GENERAL UTILITY.

Walking Suits—Tailor Made Gowns. Button Trimmings.

Smart walking suits are made of gray zibeline or even the lighter weight gray rough goods.

The skirts of these utility costumes are made just to escape the ground and are devoid of gored flounces or anything which would tend to cut the height.

The perpendicular in frocks and tailor mades has grown into an accepted fact. In general it will be observed the lines of the waist are continued upon the skirt, giving a long and almost princess effect which is very becoming; only around the bottom are horizontal lines used in the shape of rufflings, and these are oftener than not broken up in the form of festoons, etc.

VELVETEEN BLOUSE.

Buttons are playing an important part in dress in quaint enamel and old silver and gold, while queer dangles abound on smart tailor made coats and bodices. When not too heavy, these form an effective mode of trimming.

The cut shows a velveteen blouse which may be made up in any shade with a front of white tucking.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Short Lengths of Lace and Brocade and How They May Be Used.

In trimming laces, insertions and passementerie odd lengths are often useless, but from four to six yards will trim a blouse fully, or six yards of deep lace will border a coffee coat and make frills to the elbow sleeves, or four and a half yards if the lace is of a heavy type will do for the same purpose.

Coffee coats with the skirt matching are very smart, but all the pale colors can be worn with a white cloth skirt or a lace one.

These dainty little affairs may be made quite inexpensively from remnants of lace and brocade, not to speak of the fine already tucked materials.

COFFEE COAT.

Odd lengths of taffeta silk sometimes are quite useful; nine yards are quite sufficient for a trained foundation slip with bodice and plain sleeves or eleven yards with a plaiting at the edge or with two narrow gathered frills.

The illustration shows a coffee jacket of cream lace over pink liberty satin.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Card Trick.

Take twenty cards from the pack and deal them out in three packs. The novice is requested to single out a particular card (silently, of course). The player then inquires in which pack the selected card lies and is careful to place the pack indicated between the other two. The cards are laid out in the same manner, three lines in all, carefully observing the order described as to putting the pack with the selected card in the middle, the same card to be chosen each time. The exponent then takes all cards used in his hand and makes a feint of striving to pick out the correct card with difficulty, being careful not to disarrange their order. He knows or will know when he has tried the trick that it is invariably the eleventh card that represents the choice of the person engaged in the matter.—New York Telegram.

A Knight of the Highway

By CLINTON SCOLLARD,

Author of "A Man at Arms," "The Son of a Tory," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. B. Lippincott Company. All rights reserved.

She recalled what she had said on the night of the hop-dance, and also her talk with Rossiter on the preceding evening. "Her promise to herself," he had called it, her assertion in regard to her after-thought of her hop-picking life. Tears started into her eyes. Had he come to say good-by to her, as she surely expected that he would, she had meant to extend to him a cordial invitation to call upon her in Illica, and something in her heart told her he would have come. Now she felt that in all likelihood she should never see him again. He had not revealed to her his home—or the place that he had once called home; she had gathered that it was one of the large eastern cities, and that he was returning thither to begin life anew, that was all. The chapter seemed to her irrevocably closed.

At length she rose, lighted a candle and unfolded the crumpled scrap of paper. "Good-by. God bless you," she read, and then his signature—"Philip Rossiter." She extinguished the candle, and going to the window looked long at the sky and the fast-thickening stars. Then she walked to the bureau, opened one of the drawers and taking therefrom a little box of Venetian glass which held some treasured trinkets, snapped back the lid and laid the paper caressingly among them.

After his plunge out of the bushes Rossiter hurried up the field, crossed into the upper orchard, and made his way to the sleeping quarters of the men. What he had just seen and heard had suddenly dissolved the resolution and purpose that had been daily taking firmer and more definite shape since he left the freight-train that night at Illica. Life never would, never could, hold aught for him. What he had recently experienced proved this but too plainly. He was a fool to think that he could ever be anything but a vagabond. He would take to the road again. Hastily he put his few belongings together and strode to the door. There he paused. Should he leave without a word to any one? The love in his heart flooded over him like a great wave as his mind reverted to Miss Densmore. No, he would somehow contrive to send a goodby to her. It was a crowning piece of folly, perhaps, doubtless, for it would mean nothing to her, but he would indulge in it nevertheless. It would be his final tribute on the now shattered altar of hope—the shrine which he had so unwittingly reared.

He remembered to have seen Joe Becraft that morning slip a small pencil into a vest hanging upon a chair near his cot. The garment was still there. He took out his brother's letter, tore off at the crease a little strip upon which there was no writing, and in the dim light traced his words of adieu. He then replaced the pencil, thrust the folded message into his pocket, and rending in scraps the remainder of the letter, scattered the fragments upon the grass as he stepped from the door.

"There's an end of that!" he said.

In the hop-kiln, by dull lantern light, some of the pickers were having a last impromptu merry-making to the wheezy music of a mouth-organ played by one of their number. Among the dancers was Joe Becraft. It had been Rossiter's intention to bid him good-by, but he saw that he could not do so without encountering many others, so with a consciousness of real regret he turned away. As he came to the end of the barn he descried Jack Parmelee's familiar figure moving towards the house. Here was the very man for his purpose. He hailed him.

"Mr. Parmelee!" he called.

The farm manager halted.

"Oh, it's you!" he said, as Rossiter drew near. "What's up?" He had remarked the pole-puller's bundle.

"I'm off," said Rossiter. "I've changed my mind about waiting till morning. If I hurry I think I can catch the Hintonville train, but I can't wait to say good-by to everyone. Won't you make my adieus to Mr. and Mrs. Merton and Miss Merton and to the Becrafts,—I'm very sorry not to see them all,—and would you be kind enough to give this to Miss Densmore?"

He held out the slip of paper with its pencilled words. Parmelee took it.

"Why, certainly, to be sure," he said. "But you'd better wait. Indeed, I wish you'd stay right on. We need just such a man as you. Mr. Merton'd give you good wages, you know."

"It's very kind of you. Mr. Merton spoke about it, but I must go," answered Rossiter, holding out his hand.

"Well, you'll come next year?" said Parmelee, giving him a hearty grip. "I'll keep a place for you, if you say so."

"I can't promise," Rossiter replied. "Thanks just the same."

Parmelee watched Rossiter stride out of the gate and take the Hintonville road.

"There's a chap I can't make out," he muttered as he walked towards the house.

Rossiter recalled that half way to Hintonville there was a highway branching towards the west. When he reached this he took it without hesitation. He had no intention of trying to catch the train, but had spoken of doing so as a plausible excuse for his hasty departure. Plans he had none, needed none. He was to drift again, a waif, a vagrant, a common vagabond. Now nothing mattered. Money he had, more than he had possessed that year, but of what special avail was it? In the life to which he was returning he could manage quite as easily without it. He trudged on steadily, his mind a babel of emotions. One by one he reviewed the scenes of his hop-yard life, in which Miss Densmore always appeared as the central figure, but chiefly he dwelt upon his return to consciousness after the encounter in the dip of the Blue Creek Road. It must have been pity not love that he had seen in Miss Densmore's eyes as she had bent above him. Yes, it must have been that, and yet the look haunted him, and continued to do so.

By and by he found himself nearing the valley of the Oskenonto. As he halted an instant before seeking the lower level, a fierce pulsating flame leaped up into the hollow of the night, and he knew that he was not far from the blast furnace of Harkana. Descending, he chose a road that led him past the flaring stacks, and paused to watch the fiery waves of molten iron pour into the moulds of sand. He crossed the furnace slag-heaps, hideous even in the starlight, and beyond the Oskenonto and the abandoned Susquenango canal found a highway ascending into the hills. Whither it wound he had no notion, and naught did he care. The hills appealed to him. He would go up among them as high as might be, and so he struck into this road. For a time he ascended gradually, then it became stony and steep. Behind him, from time to time, the stacks of the furnace shot streamers of red and blue and orange into the night, illumining briefly and weirdly the heaven and the earth. Occasionally a cloud would reflect the glow after the flame had died, a mock sunrise or sunset. Towards midnight, when he had won high among the uplands, the moon rose, a crumbling segment of pale gold.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from five to five hundred dollars on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

EIGHT HUNDRED FEVER CASES.

Seven More Deaths at Ithaca—City Ownership of Waterworks Voted.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 3.—Yesterday's election on the question of municipal control of the waterworks of Ithaca resulted in overwhelming victory for city ownership, there being 1,335 votes in the affirmative and only 30 in the negative.

The result of the vote has brought cheer to the town, where there was much depression by reason of the fact that during the past twenty-four hours five persons have died in and around Ithaca, all of whom had contracted typhoid fever in Ithaca. Seven new cases were also reported. It is estimated that there are 600 persons in Ithaca who are suffering with typhoid fever and probably 200 others elsewhere who have contracted the disease here.

To date nineteen Cornell students have died of typhoid fever, of whom eighteen were male students. This is almost 1 per cent of the male students in Cornell to die of the fever within three weeks.

The health board of the city of Ithaca has inaugurated a system of district nursing of the sick, the work being in charge of a specialist from New York city, who is aided by a number of competent nurses. They go from house to house and are of immense service to the poorer patients.

The disease is being carried out of Ithaca to surrounding towns. Reports have reached the city of three cases which resulted from a visit of a friend from Ithaca who was afterward stricken with the disease.

Prominent Sandy Hill Man Dead.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., March 3.—The body of John William Walt, one of Sandy Hill's wealthiest men and a retired paper manufacturer, was found in the sluiceway of the Allen Bros. company's mill last night. He had last been seen about noon on the river bridge just north of the mill. At 3 o'clock workmen at the mill found a coat and vest in the sluiceway. In one of the pockets a handkerchief with the initials "J. W. W." was found and in another a gold watch which was identified as Mr. Walt's. The water was then drawn from the bulkhead, and the body was found. Whether death was accidental or premeditated is unknown. The deceased, who was about sixty-eight years of age, had long been prominent in the affairs of the town.

Gift of Pittsburg Ladies to President

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Delegates from the Pittsburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented to the president a handsomely framed picture of the historic blockhouse at Pittsburg that was erected in 1764 as a defense against Indians. The Daughters of the American Revolution hold the building in trust and take zealous care of it. The ladies invited the president to visit the blockhouse at the first opportunity. Accompanying the picture was a history of Fort Pitt and Fort Duquesne.

Still Probing Graceland Wreck.

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 3.—The county grand jury reconvened during the day and continued its inquiry into the wreck on the New Jersey Central railroad near Westfield on Jan. 27. A number of engineers and firemen, formerly in charge of engine No. 27 of the Philadelphia and Reading train, which crashed into the Easton local, gave evidence.

TO OPEN CANAL.

Delaware and Raritan Canal Will be Opened for Navigation Monday, March 9.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 3—The Delaware and Raritan canal will be opened for navigation at 7 o'clock March 9. During the winter extensive improvements have been made at various points along the route of the canal $1,000 has been spent in repairing the Five Mile dam just below this place on the Raritan river. This dam was washed away by the great freshet of a year ago.

When the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company erected the buildings at Riverside Park and said it would make the place an ideal summer retreat the company's officials said that they would help pay for the repairing of the dam so that they could use the pond, thus made, for boating purposes. It is probable that next summer, a feature of the park will be the boating on the Raritan river.

city, and we have, after very careful deliberation, concluded to recommend for adoption the accompanying ordinance, which provides for the construction of sewers in the section referred to, excepting the streets already provided for in previous ordinances."

The appended report of the consulting engineer, M. N. Baker, of New York, simply recommends the plans of the street and sewer committee as being feasible and most practical and he says that after careful inspection he believes it will do all that is claimed for it. After the reading of the two reports, Mr. Tolles offered an ordinance which provides for the improvement to the sewer system and sets Monday evening, March 23, as the time when a public hearing will be given in the matter.

It is explained that by reason of the extensive plans now perfected by G. Herbert Taylor and Philadelphia capitalists for the building of a residential park in the southwestern part of the city, there will be no measurable increase in the tax rate by reason of the extension of the sewers and that the increase in the valuation of property will be more than enough to pay the cost. It is principally for this reason that the Council is so willing to go ahead and give that portion of the city a sewer system.

Another important matter considered was a report of the streets and sewer committee on Councilman Lee's resolution offered last week which provided for an immediate improvement of the trolley service and rolling stock. Mr. Tolles submitted a report, which is to be communicated to the general officers of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company. This provides that new carpet shall replace all wornout carpet on the seats of the cars and that as soon as possible rattan seats shall be provided; that all old cars shall be replaced by new ones, that all wires and equipment shall be inspected regularly; that all employes, whether on duty or off duty and while riding on the trolley cars shall refrain from smoking, using loud or boisterous language and shall act in a gentlemanly manner; that all cars stop at Watchung and North avenues, when requested by passengers, also at Third street and Watchung avenue. It was Mr. vanHerwerden's suggestion that the cars stop at Third street and Watchung avenue, and it is the sense of the report that these improvements be made just as soon as practical.

The customary batch of applications for licenses from hackmen, peddlers, truckmen, etc., were presented and on a motion offered by Chairman Tyler, of the license committee, were granted after the usual fees are paid.

J. J. Kenney petitioned the Council for permission to make a brick addition in the rear of his store so as to provide for an extension of the sewer. On motion of Mr. Lee, of the fire and building committee, the petition was granted. A petition from residents in the vicinity of Monroe and Hobart avenues, asked for four additional electric lights, and the matter was referred to the proper committee.

Geo. O. Martine and other property owners on Martine avenue, petitioned the Council to accept that thoroughfare as a street. The matter was referred to the committee on streets and sewers. John Hensey and others asked that North avenue, east of Richmond street, be repaired. The petitioners complained that the street is too muddy to be passable, while the cellars in that neighborhood are filled with water, making life boats a necessity. The streets and sewers committee will investigate the conditions noted by the residents on North avenue.

Building Inspector Doane reported that during February, seventeen building permits were granted.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins appointed Wm. C. Messler and John Huff special policemen. The appointments were confirmed. The new men will probably do regular duty until such time as the Council believe them competent and qualified. They will then be made regulars.

Mr. Huff passed one of the best examinations for the position, his mental work as well as physical qualifications being most satisfactory. Mr. Messler also passed good examinations. The latter has been in the employ of Wikoff & Stiglits for some time. The Police Board are much pleased with the new appointees.

Mr. Daniel offered a resolution transferring $1,000 from the general fund to the fire fund and $500 from the general fund to the poor fund.

After Mr. Tolles moved that when Council adjourned it be to meet on Monday evening, March 23, an adjournment was taken to that date.

FOUND PAPER THAT'S FIVE CENTURIES OLD

Remarkable Discovery Made While Tearing Down Old House at West Dunellen.

OTHER ANCIENT RELICS

A NUMBER OF DOCUMENTS THAT WERE WRITTEN IN REVOLUTIONARY TIMES.

Found in Old House Said to Have Been Built Two Centuries Ago—Paper Dated 1400—Brought Over From England.

While a force of men, working under Contractor Walter Apgar, of this city, were tearing down an old house at West Dunellen a few days ago, one of the men, Charles Abel, of New Hampton, discovered six papers, many of which are almost as old as this government and one even antedates the discovery of America by almost a hundred years.

The old house in which the papers were found was itself a landmark, the date of its erection going back beyond the memory of those now living, and it is thought to have been almost two centuries ago.

Whoever, in years long since gone, built the old house, was evidently a person of considerable means, for he had built a substantial house of almost a dozen rooms, and the construction was by able workmen. The materials were originally oak and poplar, and sometime in remodeling brick had been used in making a sort of lining. The house was 28x55 feet, one and a half stories high.

Five of the papers found by Mr. Abel were between the brick lining and the wooden walls, and had evidently gotten in there before the remodeling took place. The Guardian paper which appears below was found in a bag in the chimney wall covered over with plaster. In a similar box on the opposite side of the chimney were found parts of a rude time piece and a piece of very dry soap. The papers named according to their age are a due bill dated in 1400, a note of inquiry dated 1786, an apology for nonpayment of a debt dated 1793, a dun dated 1803, another dun dated 1815, and a ward's application for a guardian dated 1793. The one of greatest interest of course is that dated 1400. The following is the reading of it:

January 17, 1400.

Due to David Croiele three sixpence on Demand of.

Witness my hand.

Abraham Depue.

This was evidently written in England and brought to America by the early settlers, not for its worth, but like hundreds of old papers every one has, simply because it had gotten mixed with valuable papers. Its value, as measured by the present English pound sterling and valued in American terms, was about forty cents. The pound sterling of that date was decidedly more valuable. One reads in history where the Cabots served the King as sailors during one exploring expedition for twelve pounds sterling, which equalled a little more than $750 of modern American coin. On that basis the due bill would now be worth $5 in money. The old paper was almost crumbled away by age, and there was some difficulty in making out the signature.

The name of Runyon is closely connected with the history of Dunellen and there are still many citizens of that name in the community.

The other papers are interesting only by having been connected with the extremely ancient paper, and are given below without comment, further than to say that of the Guardian's paper only the formal heading appears.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Chief of the Fire Department T. O. Doane has received an interesting letter from Charles E. Buell, of Camden, but formerly of this city, written on his deathbed, in which he tells of his patent of the automatic fire sprinkler system, the first to be used successfully in any city.

Mr. Buell opens his letter by stating that the physician has again notified his family that he can not live but a few hours, but that as he has rallied a little he would answer Chief Doane's letter.

He explains the working of his device with remarkable exactness for one who is about to pass away, and the letter, as a whole, is most interesting. Chief Doane prizes the missive very highly as he was very well acquainted with Mr. Buell when he resided here.

Funeral of W. S. Terry.

Funeral services over the remains of Winfield Scott Terry were held from the residence of his parents at Alton, yesterday. They were in charge of Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. Interment was afterward made at Hillside cemetery.

New Officers Sworn In.

John Huff and William Messler, who were appointed special policemen by the Common Council, last evening, were sworn in by Chief Kiely, this morning. Their uniforms are being prepared and they will commence regular duty tomorrow night.

RAILROAD CO. IS CENSURED

Grand Jury Brings In Presentment After Investigating Westfield Disaster.

ITS VERDICT IN FULL.

Grand Jury Declares That Engineer Davis Was Primarily to Blame, But That Jersey Central and Reading Are Deserving of Censure—The Reasons Why.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, March 4—Engineer Davis was directly responsible for the Westfield disaster but the Jersey Central and Reading Railroads were deserving of censure for several reasons. That was the opinion of the Grand Jury as made public this morning after a long investigation following upon that of the coroner's jury. A presentment was brought in against the railroad companies and submitted to the court. There were no indictments.

For several weeks the Grand Jury has been considering the question of the responsibility for the wreck. A number of witnesses have been summoned and the ground gone over by the coroner's jury reviewed. Some new witnesses were brought over from Philadelphia in an effort to throw new light on the subject.

It was well known that certain members of the Grand Jury were determined to fix the responsibility on the railroad company if it were possible. It is generally believed that the unusually long session of the Grand Jury was largely due to the attempt to search out facts on which to base this claim. From the substance of the presentment, however, the opinion prevails here that the Grand Jury was able to secure no additional light on the cause and that the verdict is practically the same as that of the coroner's jury except that it is placed in different form.

The Grand Jury was in session yesterday morning and adjourned to meet again this morning. It was not long after 10 o'clock when the jury announced that it was ready. A decision may be reached in that body by a majority vote of its twenty-three members. The Grand Jury marched over to the Armory where court was in session and through its foreman, J. W. Murray, Jr., of Plainfield, announced that it had completed its labors. It had one indictment, nothing to do with the wreck case, and the presentment. The presentment was read by John K. English, clerk of the Grand Jury, and that body was discharged by Judge Vail with the thanks of the court. The presentment was ordered placed upon the minutes of the court. It was in full as follows:

Union County, ss:

The grand inquest of the State of New Jersey in and for the County of Union,

Present, that in accordance with instructions received from his honor, Judge Vail, they have made careful investigation relative to the disastrous railroad wreck which occurred on the Central Railroad near Westfield in this county, on the evening of January 27, 1903.

In order to get all the facts attainable, the Grand Jury has called to appear before it and has interrogated railroad officials, railroad engineers, operatives and private citizens and from all the evidence adduced, the Grand Jury has arrived at the following conclusions:

1. Engineer Davis of Engine No. 27 is primarily responsible for the railroad wreck, in that he ran his train past five danger signals set against him.

2. That the reason for his doing so was that the signals were obscured from his view by steam escaping from either a faulty injector or a leaking steam chest, either or both of which became out of order between Jersey City and Elizabeth.

3. That after the cab of the engine became so enveloped with steam that signals were invisible to the engineer, he should have shut off steam or stopped his engine until he could have found out whether or not the track ahead of him was clear.

4. We do not think that the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey used sufficient precautions to avert the disaster. Its train despatcher knew before the train left Jersey City that an STOLE CLOTHES.

Burglars Visited John D. Gluck's Home at Westfield Monday Night.

The home of John D. Gluck, at Westfield, was entered Monday night and some clothing was stolen. The robbers were in the act of robbing other parts of the house when a servant, hearing a noise, arose and disturbed the intruders. They fled from the house through a second story window, taking the clothing with them. The robbery occurred between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Gluck is a steamship broker in New York and is very well-known in this city to many commuters.

READY FOR HOPE MINSTRELS

THEY WILL BE GIVEN THREE EVENINGS NEXT WEEK.

Those Who Will Act As Principals —Will Excel Last Year's Famous Effort.

From present indications, the second annual minstrel show of the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel will far surpass the success attained by the initial effort. The troupe this season consists of forty members, all of whom are excellent vocalists while the soloists and comedians have greatly improved.

John H. Cose will again act as interlocutor and his cohorts on the end will be Matthew Sweeney, Edward Shortman and William L. Holbert, handling the bones and George Cose, Thomas Muir and Bertram C. Firstbrook with the tambos. They have been supplied with a large number of local hits in the way of songs and jokes while they will be assisted by the chorus in giving some of the best and latest popular medleys. Solos will also be given by Lewis Tallamy, Charles Leland, Henry Williams, Augustus Feiring and Elmer D. Cutting.

The performances are to be given on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of next week and the tickets are already selling rapidly. It is announced by the committee that the number will be limited in order to prevent taxing the capacity of the chapel as was the case last year.

NO NEW MAJOR.

Cadet Captain Will be Acting Major of the Battalion to End of Term.

Owing to the resignation of Cadet Major E. D. Murphey, and Sergeants C. Brown and H. M. Slauson from their offices in the City High School battalion, the following promotions have been made: Corporals P. Brown, H. E. Lavelle and S. Freeman have been promoted to sergeants, and Cadets J. Gavett and G. M. Rittenhouse, Jr., have been appointed corporals.

Nothing definite has been done in the matter of appointing a successor to Cadet Major Murphey, who was compelled to leave school on account of ill health, but it is probable that no major will be appointed this year, but that one of the company captains will serve as acting major in drills until the close of school.

To Name Officers.

The nominating committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will meet Friday evening when they will make the nominations for the election of officers which will be held in a few weeks. The committee comprises C. W. McCutchen, chairman; Miss Florence Marsh and Daniel R. Douglas. The committee will meet after the regular weekly prayer meeting this evening.

Change on Lehigh.

Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, recently issued a circular letter, which took effect Monday. The letter announces that the office of assistant general passenger agent will be abolished, and A. A. Hurd, who has filled that position, will become general eastern passenger agent, with office at 355 Broadway, New York, vice W. B. Smith, who has been assigned to other duties.

Rev. Mr. Crudup in Charge.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Dorcas Perkins were held from the Mt. Olive Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, and Rev. E. J. Crudup officiated. It was stated that the services were at the Calvary Baptist church and that Rev. Scott Wallace was in charge.

In Good Condition.

The Official Board meeting of the Grace M. E. church was held Monday evening. Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting. Reports were read which showed a good condition of the church.

IDEAS APPLIED TO THE LOCAL SCHOOLS

Superintendent Maxson's Report of Recent Convention of School Superintendents.

SOME IDEAS ADVANCED

HE DRAWS ATTENTION TO THEIR PRACTICAL APPLICATION IN THIS CITY.

Would Make New High School An Educational Centre—The Need of Introduction of Manual Training in All the Grades.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, Monday evening, Superintendent H. M. Maxson submitted a report of his attendance at the annual meeting of the National Association of School Superintendents, which was held last week at Cincinnati. As usual Professor Maxson took an active part in the proceedings and the impressions he gained were related in detail to the board. The report was as follows:

"Through the kindness of the board, I was in attendance last week at the annual meeting of the National Association of School Superintendents, in Cincinnati. I also took occasion to spend some time in visiting the public schools of that city.

"The meeting was attended by about eight hundred superintendents from various parts of the country, and there was much that was instructive and helpful to the superintendent in the papers presented and the discussions that followed. No small part of the value of such meetings is the opportunity to discuss ideas and learn the ways and methods of various systems in other cities through conversation with the superintendents, both in transit on the cars and in the intervals between the meetings. Among the subjects discussed, some of the more important were as follows:

"Better Methods in Geography, a Readjustment of the High School Curriculum to Meet Modern Needs, The Use of Literature in the Grades, Industrial Training, The Most Effective Use of the Superintendent's Time, What Should be the Features of a Modern Elementary School Building, Some of the Practical Problems in Manual Training, and The Best Method of Electing School Boards.

"The latter subject was especially interesting, since the plan which found acceptance was almost identical with that followed in our own city. It was maintained that the School Board should consist of five members, each elected for five years, one vacancy occurring each year; that the board should be strictly non-political, and the members should be elected at large, not by wards. One of the important claims advanced for a small board was that it would make it possible for the business to be transacted by the whole board, as a committee of the whole, so that each member would be conversant with the business done, as is the practice in your board.

"In the matter of industrial training, it was maintained that there should be training for the hands, involving invention and skill on the part of the pupil, not only in the High School, as is so common in many cities, but through all the grades to the very lowest where the work would consist of simple forms of constructive work with paper, cardboard, raffia, and the like. As is already known to you, this agrees with my own views. For some years, now, I have looked forward with eager impatience to the erection of the High School as affording an opportunity not only for manual training for the older pupils, but, by the readjustments which would follow and the stimulus which it would give, for developing lines of work that would give the pupils opportunity to do things with their hands in all the lower grades. Many of the teachers are already, with my encouragement, doing some of this work. It is to be hoped that the High School unanimously provided for by the Board of Estimate will enable us in a year or so to establish a complete system of manual training. The discussion of the features of a modern school building was of special interest to me in view of the plans which must soon be made for this new High School. It tended to confirm the views which I already held in some particulars, and to clarify my ideas concerning others.

"President Eliot, of Harvard College, gave a most interesting address on 'The Full Utilization of the School Plant,' in which he held that it is a wasteful policy to use a school building only during the five or six hours in which the day school is in session; that it ought to be used by the public much more widely for educational classes, lectures, and other matters of interest or profit to the citizens. He maintained especially that the High School should be the centre of educational activity in the community and that through it much more might be done than is done at present for educating and improving those who are no longer pupils. It has been a part of my plans for the new High School building that there should be a good-sized assembly hall and also a smaller hall, suitable for an audience of about one hundred, which might be used for lectures, classes of various kinds, circles of study and other educational interests, and that the school might thereby be made to serve a much wider circle than it does at present. I am pleased to find the idea endorsed by so high an authority as Dr. Eliot."

DEATH AFTER LONG ILLNESS

PATROLMAN FLANNIGAN PASSES AWAY FROM EFFECTS OF PARALYSIS.

One of the Pioneer Members of the Local Police Department—Was Appointed in 1883.

Following an illness of nearly two years, death came at 12:30 this morning to Patrolman Patrick J. Flannigan, at his home on West Fifth street. His original ailment was brought on by a stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered. During the greater part of his illness, he was able to move about only with the aid of crutches or an invalid's chair.

Patrick Flannigan was one of the oldest members of the local police force, having been appointed in 1883 when it then comprised but three men of whom Doorman Thomas McCue is the only one remaining. He served faithfully until the time his illness began. During his early patrolling days he was stationed the greater part of the time on West Third street between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue and it was he who first dubbed that section, "The Boulevard" a name which it still retains. Many others have claimed to be the originators of the title but there is no doubt that Patrolman Flannigan was the first to call it so.

He was sixty-five years of age and came to Plainfield in 1868. Surviving him are a wife and five daughters, the latter being Mrs. Charles Ward, Mrs. Michael Whalen, and the Misses Catherine, Elizabeth and Loretta Flannigan, all of this city. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, but it will in all probability take place from St. Mary's church of which he was a member.

HEALTH MATTERS.

Nothing Startling Developed at the Meeting of the City Board of Health Yesterday Afternoon.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon, when routine matters were considered. All the members but President C. J. Fisk were present.

Health Inspector William Addis reported that he made during February 145 inspections. Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow submitted his customary report of dairy inspections and milk analysis, there being a marked improvement over previous conditions. It was reported that the child at the isolation hospital ill with small-pox will probably be discharged next week. Thus far no new cases have developed. Several important matters which were to have been considered yesterday were laid over until the next meeting.

Cake Sale Instead of Fair.

A meeting of the King's Daughters of the Grace M. E. church was held Monday night at the church. Reports were read which showed that good work has been done during the past year. It was decided not to hold a fair as at first planned but to hold a cake sale at the church a week from Saturday.

After Trolley Company.

William G. DeMeza has been retained as counsel by Lyle Compton, of North Plainfield, in an action against the Plainfield, Elizabeth and Central Jersey Railroad Company. The suit is for damages for injuries received February 28, last.

Sewing Meeting.

The women of the First Presbyterian church will hold a sewing meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Walker in the Jackson building.

MISS RANDOLPH TO RETIRE FROM SCHOOL

Her Place in the Randolph-Cooley School to be Filled by a Woman From Savannah.

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE AT A MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Miss Caroline Randolph Will Sever Her Connection at the Close of the Present School Year—The Additions to the Faculty.

During the last week a general invitation was extended to the parents of the pupils attending the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School to meet at the school yesterday afternoon, at which time an announcement was to be made of special interest. A large number gathered at the appointed hour and Miss Caroline Randolph in an appropriate speech made the announcement that she had decided at the expiration of the present school year to sever her connection with the school and took the opportunity to announce to the parents with great gratification that the school hereafter would be under the special guidance of Miss Emelyn Hartridge, the founder and recent principal of one of the most successful schools for children and young women of the south, located at Savannah, Ga.

Miss Hartridge is a woman of great experience, a person of charming personality and has undertaken as a life interest, school work, and by reason of her superior educational qualities is especially adapted to continue the Randolph-Cooley school which has been such a successful institution of learning in the city of Plainfield in the last few years. Miss Marion Randolph will continue as associate principal and Miss Mellick will, as heretofore, continue as principal of the elementary department.

The curriculum will continue the same as in previous years. Added to the corp of teachers will be Miss Ward, of Orange, who has been associated with Miss Hartridge in her Savannah school for some years past as head French teacher. Miss Ward has had a wide experience having lived in Paris and devoted considerable time to the translation of French works into English. She will prove undoubtedly a very valuable acquisition to the school, she being a most thorough French scholar. Miss Mary Wells, a Smith College graduate, will also be associated with the school during the coming year devoting her services to history and geography.

It is needless to say that Miss Randolph's announcement, which she felt very necessary to make before issuing the usual application blanks for the approaching year, caused considerable surprise. It is a well known fact that Miss Randolph and Miss Cooley have brought their school to a very enviable position and the success of their efforts is well known in other parts of the State. The introduction of Miss Hartridge to the audience assembled was most gratifying and it took her but a few moments in well chosen words to impress those present most favorably. Certainly from the very high recommendation with which Miss Hartridge comes to our city it can be confidently expected that the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School, which is to be continued under the same name, will meet with the same success in the future as it has in the past.

Miss Hartridge's school, founded by her soon after her graduation from Vassar eleven years ago, has long been recognized as one of the most thorough and complete private schools for girls in the south. She now leaves Savannah to undertake a broader field of work here. The patrons of the Randolph-Cooley School will find in her a person with high ideals of education and exceptional character and executive ability. Although it is very natural that much regret will be felt at the retirement of Miss Caroline Randolph, it must seem very apparent to those in close touch with the interest of the school that the choice of Miss Hartridge as her successor is a wise stroke, thereby assuring the continuance in this city of a superior school.

At the conclusion of the meeting Miss Randolph was surrounded by many interested friends, who were eager to extend their congratulations and best wishes for her future happiness.

George Green, has returned home after a year's service as seaman on the cruiser Columbia.

WAGNER MUSICALES.

Series to be Given by Miss Neuhaus at Plainfield Residences.

A series of Wagner musicales of The Ring of the Niebelungen will be given by Miss Estella Neuhaus, of Boston, Mass., on Tuesday mornings at 11 o'clock on the following dates and places:

March 10, "Das Rheingold" at the residence of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers; March 17, "Die Walkure," at the residence of Mrs. C. W. McCutchen; March 24, "Siegfried," at the residence of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers; March 31, "Gotterdammerung," place to be announced later.

SOCIAL FOR ENDEAVORERS

GAMES AND MUSIC WERE THE FEATURES OF SOCIAL LAST NIGHT.

Society at Trinity Reformed Church Spent a Pleasant Evening in Various Ways.

Unique games and other novel features characterized one of the most delightful socials given by the social committee of the Trinity Reformed church Christian Endeavor Society and made last night's event a very pleasing one. The attendance was very large.

Music and recitation entered largely into the programme. Miss Ursula Krewson favored with several pleasing recitations A piano duet was played by Misses Katherine Finger and Theresa Casenove. Among the games which were played were the penny game, "The Race for Names" and the "age" game. All these proved to be very entertaining and were greatly enjoyed by all.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in red and green. Refreshments, which were served at a late hour, were in charge of Albert Utzinger and Fred Dunavan.

The committee in charge of the social, and to whom much credit is due for the success of the affair, comprised the Misses H. M. Kreitling, Minnie Wyman, Nettie Young, Kate Bodine, Emma Lindsay, Bessie Martin, and Elizabeth Davenport; H. S. Humes and Clarence Rittenhouse, of the social committee; Elmer P. Wheeler, W. J. Trembath, John Van-Horn, C. F. Colthar and Julius Williams, of the reception committee; and the Misses Anna Searing, Anna Bodine, Anna Randall, and Jean Lindsay; Mrs. Edward Ross and Mrs. W. J. Trembath, of the flower committee, who had charge of the decorations.

WORK IN WEST.

Rev. Robert M. Craig Will Address Meeting in Plainfield Friday.

Rev. Robert M. Craig, who has the supervision of the work of the Boards of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church in New Mexico and Arizona, which includes the mission school work of the Woman's Board, will give an account of his work at the annual meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church.

Mr. Craig has spoken in many of our prominent churches to large audiences and always with great acceptance. Facts, incidents and experiences related in most pleasing manner interest, instruct and thrill his audiences. All hearing him will be both delighted and profited.

Excursion for Boys.

The boys' secretaries of the State Y. M. C. A.'s are arranging an excursion for the boys in their departments, to Washington, D. C., between March 13 and 16, inclusive. The cost of the trip per boy will be $12.50. All those who want to enjoy this trip from the local association can secure all details from Secretary Robbie at the local Y. M. C. A.

Missionary Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will be held in the parlors of the church Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. There will be an address by Rev. Mr. Craig, Synodical missionary for New Mexico and Arizona. An offering will be received for special objects. Tea will be served at 5 o'clock.

Lenten Sewing Class.

The first meeting of the Lenten Sewing Class will be held at the residence of Mrs. Rufus T. Lincoln, West Eighth street, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The work this year will be for a sale to be held for Grace P. E. church after Easter. There will be six meetings in all.

Osteopaths.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Wilcox, both graduates of the American School of Osteopathy, of Kirksville, Mo., have located in our city, with offices at 132 Crescent avenue.

$25 FINE FOR SPEAK EASIES

Eight Fined $25 For Selling On Sunday—Sentence Suspended On Other Charge.

FOR ILLEGAL SELLING.

Local Defendants, Who Pleaded Non Vult, Arraigned Before Judge Vail This Morning for Sentence—Future Violation Will Bring Request for Imprisonment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 4—In the court of Oyer and Terminer, this morning, Judge Vail pronounced sentence in the Plainfield "speak easy" cases. Each of the following defendants, who had pleaded non vult to selling liquor on Sunday, were fined $25 and costs: Lorenzo Paoli, Pasquale Rosso, Tony Lusardi, Nicholas Martone, Carrie Carbone, Hiliard T. Everitt, Antonio Buono and Frank Margentino.

The defendants were originally indicted on two charges, for selling without a license and for selling on Sunday. On the first charge there was a suspension of sentence. The prosecutor declared that if at any time in the future he learned of their selling again illegally, he would have the charge re-opened and would recommend imprisonment.

IN THE NAVY.

Word Received From Edward Wrage Who Left Plainfield Three Years Ago.

For the first time since he left this city, three years ago, word has been received from Edward Wrage, a former well-known resident. In a letter received by his sister, Mrs. Howard Allegar, of East Second street, yesterday, he made it known that he has been pretty well around the globe since he bade Plainfield adieu.

On leaving Plainfield he went to Galveston, Tex., and was there during the terrible devastation and flood. He afterward joined the navy and has visited in England, Italy, Austria, Greece, France, Germany, Sweden and Norway. He is now in London and reports being in excellent health.

CLERKS TO INCORPORATE.

Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association Will be a Legal Organiation.

The Retail Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association, of this city, has retained William G. DeMeza as its counsel to file articles of incorporation in Trenton. The papers will be filed this week. The object of the association will be to pay sick benefits and also death benefits to those members who are at the time of their illness or death, in good standing.

The corporation will be known as the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association and will have the following officers: President, H. P. Greenwood; first vice president, F. C. Conke; second vice president, Miss Kate Carty; recording secretary, Griffith Jenkins; financial secretary, Miss Elizabeth Day, and treasurer, William D. Williams Frightened at Car.

Becoming frightened at the sight of an approaching trolley car on upper Somerset street, the horse of J. W. Mundy ran away up that street, Monday morning, narrowly missing the car in its mad flight. The horse had been left hitched to a post in front of the store of Currin & Conover, at the corner of Somerset street and Grandview avenue. No damage was done to the wagon nor the horse as it was captured a few blocks away.

Reports Received.

A meeting of the West End Hose Company was held Monday evening at the headquarters on Harrison avenue when important matters were transacted. Reports were read. A social time was enjoyed after the meeting.

Old Pastor Preached.

For the first time in several months, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes preached at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening. His sermon was a forceful and interesting one and was listened to by a large congregation.

Strange People.

A lecture on "Strange People" will be given at Warren chapel, by Rev. Delos E. Fink, Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The lecture will be illustrated.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

PASTORATE ENDED.

Rev. T. E. Davis Has Left Bound Brook Presbyterian Church—No Successor Chosen Yet.

Bound Brook, March 4—The pastorate of Rev. T. E. Davis at the Presbyterian church, which has existed since July 1, 1890, terminated last Sunday, with the quarterly observance of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. At that service twelve new members were received. During the pastorate of Mr. Davis 327 members have been received into the church, 100 have been dismissed and fifty-five have died. The present membership of the church is 390.

Mr Davis was given a farewell union service in the Congregational church Sunday evening, after the usual sermon. Short addresses were made by the pastors of the other churches. Because of an affection of the throat Mr. Davis will retire from the ministry for a time, and will engage in mining in the State of Alabama. Rev. Charles P. Glover will preach next Sunday and declare the pulpit vacant.

TOO MANY PUPILS.

May Have to Reopen the Schools in Piscataway Township to Accommodate Them All.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 4—There is now some probability that the school at Lincoln, which was closed on account of the opening of the new school building in East Bound Brook, will be reopened. According to a statement given out yesterday by County Superintendent of Schools H. Brewster Willis, at New Brunswick, the new school is one of the most successful in the State.

When the building was erected it was thought that the school was large enough to accommodate all the pupils from surrounding towns and villages but the attendance has increased forty per cent., and already the school is becoming crowded, and it is believed that the schools closed at Harris Lane, Raritan Landing, Lincoln and other places may have to be opened to accommodate the younger scholars.

THEATRICAL.

The long run of "The Silver Slipper" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, will end Saturday, March 14. It has been one of the most successful engagements ever played in New York. After "The Silver Slipper" is withdrawn, another enormous production will be offered at the Broadway. It is called "The Prince of Pilsen." The piece is the last work of Pixley and Luders, who achieved such distinct success with "King Dodo." The music is said to be tuneful throughout and the comedy extremely amusing. In the cast will be such well-known stars as Helen Bertram, Jeannette Bageard, Anna Lichter, Lillian Coleman, John W. Ransone, Arthur Donaldson, Albert Parr and Sherman Wade. The initial presentation of the opera at The Broadway Theatre, New York, will occur on the evening of Tuesday, March 17.

There is no discounting the bill at Keith's Union Square Theatre next week. It is one of the best that liberal "Napoleon of the Continuous" has ever put into his vaudeville house in New York. The Nobles head the bill and their work in comedy sketches is distinctively high class. Tom Nawn and Company presenting "Pat and the Genii," which is even more laughable than "One Touch of Nature;" The Marvellous Merrills in their acrobatic feats; Josephine Sable, the well-known vocalist; LaPetite Adelaide, without doubt the showiest toe dancer in vaudeville, and her costumes are rich and appropriate; Quaker City Quartette, in popular songs; Waxtenbury Brothers and Tenny in a musical act; Raymond and Caverly, well-named the "Roger Brothers of Vaudeville," Kennedy and James, in a rapid-fire talking act, and many other clever performers, will help in the entertainment.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

Box Social.

A box social and entertainment will be held tomorrow evening in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Doing the Right Thing.

The trouble begins with a tickling in the throat and a nagging little cough. Soreness in the chest follows and the patient wonders if he is going to have an all winter cold. Probably, if he does the wrong thing or nothing. Certainly not if he uses Perry Davis' Painkiller, the staunch old remedy that cures a cold in twenty-four hours. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

UNIONS CHECKMATED

Wabash Road Prevents Strike by an Injunction.

PRESIDENT RAMSEY'S SHREWD MOVE

Firemen and Trainmen Had Served Notice on Company That Failure to Grant Wage Concession Would Cause Strike.

ST. LOUIS, March 4.—An injunction granted by Judge Adams of the United States district court prevented the culmination of the threatened strike of the 1,100 firemen and trainmen of the Wabash railroad for higher wages.

As the result of the poll during the past week among the employees over the question of striking in case President Ramsey ultimately should refuse to grant the demanded wage concessions on the Wabash east of the Mississippi river the engineers and conductors refused to participate in a strike, but the firemen and trainmen favored it emphatically. Their committees on Monday notified President Ramsey that he would be given until noon yesterday to grant their demands. If by that time he still refused, a strike would be immediately called.

President Ramsey in the afternoon requested a little more time, and the two committees granted him until 5 o'clock to make final reply. Before the allotted time had expired President Ramsey had secured a restraining order from the court, and it had been served on all the officials of all the orders and members of the grievance committees. The injunction was a most sweeping instrument and effectually blocked any strike proceedings. In part it reads:

"We, therefore, do strictly command you, until the further order of the court, absolutely to desist and refrain from in any way or manner ordering, coercing, persuading, inducing or otherwise causing, directly or indirectly, the employees of the said Wabash Railway company to strike or quit the service of said company."

The injunction is temporary, and the writs are not made returnable. The persons against whom the injunction is issued may appear in court at any time and present a plea to have the injunction dissolved, or if no one asks that it be dissolved it may be made permanent.

Passengers Relate Hardships.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 4.—The passengers of the two express trains which were snowbound in the interior are now reaching the city and relate thrilling stories of their experiences. During their detention in the snowdrifts they were reduced to two meals daily, consisting of cake, hard biscuits and a mug of tea. Sometimes they had only one meal. They had no meat for over a week and were reduced to very short commons when the relief reached them. Four women on one of the trains suffered extremely, one being stricken with fainting fits from exhaustion. The second class passengers had no sleeping accommodations during the whole period they were blocked in the snow.

New Arms For Militia.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—General Crozier, chief of ordnance, has made preliminary arrangements for arming the entire organized militia of the United States with the Krag-Jorgensen musket of the regular service in accordance with the provisions of the new militia law. He already has collected about 60,000 of these arms at the government arsenals at Augusta, Ga.; Benicia, Cal.; Rock Island, Ill., and San Antonio, Tex., and more will be shipped to those points from the armory at Springfield, Mass., as needed.

Summoned Before Strike Commission

SCRANTON, Pa., March 4.—Representatives of the operators and miners have been summoned by the mine strike commission for a conference in Washington to take place tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. All the local lawyers who appeared before the commission will leave tomorrow for Washington. The summons from the commission simply states that the commissioners want to confer about the question of weighing coal.

Snow Blockade In Texas.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 4.—The country around Amerillo is wrapped in nearly two feet of snow, and the town has been practically shut out from the world for the past six days. Railroad traffic is completely suspended. Not a train has moved in a week. Two hundred passengers are held here awaiting the break of the snow blockade, which is the worst ever known in that section of the state.

Strike Award This Week.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 4.—According to the statements given out here by some of the most prominent mine workers the award of the strike commission is expected to be in the hands of the district boards by Friday next, though none of the officers could be induced to give their opinion as to what the miners could expect.

Vermont Votes For Liquor.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., March 4.—Returns from the annual election in 212 out of 246 cities and towns in the state show that nearly 40 per cent favored the sale of intoxicating liquors compared with 30 per cent at the general state vote on the license question last month.

The Rockefellers In Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, March 4.—John D. Rockefeller, accompanied by his wife, son and a physician, has arrived here from the east en route to California, where he goes to take a two months' rest.

GREAT DAY AT ROME

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Pope Leo's Coronation.

BRILLIANT CEREMONY IN ST. PETER'S

His Holiness Endures the Fatigues of the Occasion Admirably and Expresses Great Satisfaction at the Day's Close.

ROME, March 4.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of Pope Leo was celebrated with all the grandeur and impressiveness associated with the high ceremonies of the Catholic church and amid a display of enthusiasm and emotion on the part of the vast assemblage gathered within the walls of St. Peter's such as vied with the greatest of previous demonstrations of reverence and affection for the aged pontiff.

Last night all the sacred edifices in Rome, monasteries, convents, seminaries, and many private houses were illuminated in commemoration of the event, the Trastevere quarter and the Leonine city especially presenting a blaze of light, while the general effect was heightened by the burning of bengal fires throughout the city.

Pope Leo, who supported admirably the fatigue and excitement of the day's ceremonies, after having retired rose again from his couch and, going to the window of his bedroom, gazed for awhile upon this scene of illumination. The view from the Vatican, embracing a stretch of seven miles brilliant with light, was a marvelous one, and his holiness exclaimed as he withdrew from the window, "This will indeed be a pleasant thing to dream of."

The ceremony in St. Peter's cathedral lasted two hours and a quarter, and although it was noticeable that Pope Leo felt the effects of his recent cold, all were surprised to see how well he seemed. His voice was strong, his gestures vigorous, and the frantic cheering which greeted his arrival and departure gave him visible pleasure and brought a faint tinge of color to his face. After the tiring ceremony of the morning Dr. Lapponi carefully examined the condition of the pope, and although he found him none the worse for the fatigue he had undergone, yet he ordered him to rest during the whole afternoon. But at night after the doctor's last visit his holiness insisted upon getting up to view the illuminations.

At the close of the day's exercises the pontiff exclaimed: "The demonstration today has been so affecting. It surpassed all my expectations. I am completely satisfied. There was no note of discord."

Alleged Counterfeiters Arrested.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 4.—The police have arrested two alleged counterfeiters in a hut in Phillipsdale and captured fifty-four molds for coining ten cent pieces, two crucibles for melting metal and other paraphernalia. The men gave their names as Frank Chambers of New Jersey and William Henry of Boston. The raid was made by a large force of police, who had been notified of a mysterious camp in the woods. The two occupants were asleep when the hut was surrounded. They told the police that the counterfeiting outfit had been used by several well dressed men who came there occasionally. Several towns and villages have been complaining recently of the circulation of spurious coin.

France Not Opposing Treaty.

HAVANA, March 4.—M. Brouwaert, the French minister to Cuba, asserts that there is no foundation for the statements published here under a Washington date to the effect that France is opposing the ratification of the reciprocity treaty with the United States and is threatening to make reprisals against Cuban products if the treaty is put into effect. M. Brouwaert says the Cuban demand for French luxuries will increase under the era of prosperity which will follow the carrying into effect of the reciprocity treaty.

Thanks For American Charity.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 4.—Dr. Louis Klopsch has left this city to begin a tour of the famine provinces in the interior of Finland. Before leaving he placed at the disposal of the Finnish relief committee $20,000 more from the Christian Herald fund to be used in the relief work. The committee voted the heartfelt thanks of the people of Finland to the American people for their generous aid rendered in time of need.

Cleveland Back From Florida.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 4.—Former President Cleveland has returned to Princeton from Stuart, Fla., where he had been staying for several weeks. He said that he had enjoyed his stay in Stuart, although while he went out boating and fishing frequently, the rainy weather kept him indoors a great deal of the time. He will be one of the speakers at the Beecher memorial meeting in Brooklyn next week.

Killed by Falling From Engine.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., March 4.—George A. Cleveland, a Delaware and Hudson fireman, was killed here by falling from the tender of his engine while it was standing in the yard. Cleveland was about twenty-four years of age and was a resident of Port Henry until his marriage about eight months ago, since which time he had lived in Whitehall.

Stove Plant Blown Up.

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 4.—The Olive Stove company's plant, a large two story brick structure, was entirely demolished by an explosion of gas caused by a leak in the mains. Herman Goedeker, Sr., an employee, was fatally burned. The loss on building and stock was $50,000.

FIGHT MAY FAIL.

Clubs Refuse to Offer Stipulated Purse In Jeffries-Corbett "Go."

NEW YORK, March 4.—There is a hitch in the Jeffries-Corbett fight that threatens to stop the match. When the two heavyweights met here on Sunday, the conditions under which they agreed to meet stipulated that the purse should not be less than $25,000. In a statement made in Baltimore Corbett said that that provision would certainly be in the articles which he is to sign on Thursday.

It now develops that the San Francisco clubs, knowing that they have the fight in their own hands, will not offer a purse. A dispatch from San Francisco stated that the Hayes Valley Athletic club would offer 70 per cent of the receipts for the mill, but no purse, and that the other clubs would follow suit.

As the fighters agreed to meet only for a $25,000 purse and the clubs refuse to hang one up there is a chance that the contest may after all fall through.

State League Club Sold.

UTICA, N. Y., March 4.—At a meeting of President Farrell, Harry W. Roberts and David A. Dishler here last evening arrangements were perfected for the transfer of the Utica state league franchise from its former owners to Mr. Dishler, and the deal was practically closed, Mr. Dishler becoming the possessor of the franchise and the owner of the Utica Baseball club. He will manage the club. President Farrell left at midnight for New York, where he will meet President Powers of the National association, President Pulliam of the National league and President Johnson of the American league, when a new national agreement will be formulated and presented to the major leagues for their indorsement.

Johnson Quits the Turf.

NEW YORK, March 4.—"I've lost $1,000,000 in a year, and I'm going to quit the race tracks for good," said Dave Johnson, the famous bookmaker, yesterday. Johnson is one of the "old guard" of the bookmakers and is well known to every patron of the race tracks all over this country. He sold his seat in the Metropolitan Turf association for $3,500 a few minutes before making the above announcement.

Quakers Elect Officers.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—The new owners of the Philadelphia National League Baseball club met and elected officers as follows: President, James Potter; vice president and treasurer pro tem., Arthur E. Newbold; directors, E. M. Robinson, Francis E. Bond, George H. Frazier, Charles E. Ingersoll and Edwin I. Hyneman.

ENGLAND TO EXHIBIT.

Official Acceptance of Invitation to Our Fair.

LONDON, March 4.—"The government has accepted the invitation of the United States government to participate in the St. Louis exhibition," said Premier Balfour in the house of commons, replying to a question of Henry Norman (Liberal) regarding the steps being taken to insure the United Kingdom being adequately represented.

"The extent to which the country will participate," continued the premier, "and the exact modus operandi are now under consideration."

Turks Clash With Insurgents.

SOFIA, March 4.—A collision has taken place between Macedonian revolutionists under the famous leader, Boris Sarafoff, and a body of Turkish troops near the village of Vladinirovo. It is reported that ten of the insurgents were killed or wounded, while the loss on the Turkish side was much greater. The revolutionists succeeded in escaping to the hills.

Morgan Gives a Dinner.

HAVANA, March 4.—J. Pierpont Morgan and party went for a trip into the country yesterday. In the evening Mr. Morgan gave a dinner at the Hotel Telegrafo to Minister Squires. Mr. Wadsworth and Mrs. Wadsworth, nee Hay, the members of Mr. Morgan's party and a few prominent Cubans were among the guests.

To Retire Teacher at Eighty-three.

TRENTON, N. J., March 4.—The state legislature has passed a bill permitting Jersey City to retire on half pay Principal Lindsley of one of the public schools there. Mr. Lindsley has been teaching in Jersey City for over fifty years and is eighty-three years old.

Potter Boycott Off.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 4.—The trades assembly has declared off the boycott which had been placed against Shafer & Berry, the employers of William Potter, the militiaman. At a meeting earlier in the evening the painters' union took similar action.

Finance Minister Resigns.

SANTO DOMINGO, March 4.—The minister of finance, Emiliano Tejera, has resigned. He had been a bitter opponent of the settlement of the American claims.

EDUCATORS AT ODDS.

Fight Against Regents Renewed at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 4.—The battle of the educational forces of the state on the subject of unifying the systems now at variance was continued yesterday before the senate committee on education, when a hearing was had on the measure introduced by Senator Elon R. Brown, providing for the creation of a board of education of nine term regents within the present board of regents, which board shall have the power to appoint a superintendent of education.

The hearing was characterized by several sensational incidents and developed the fact that a bill on the subject of unification will be presented to the legislature from the regents in a day or so.

Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Danforth E. Ainsworth advocated the passage of the Brown bill as being the very best plan yet presented to clear the educational atmosphere, which, he said, had now been clouded by mists of misrepresentation created by the regents and their employees. Mr. Ainsworth declared that over $4,000 had been embezzled from the regents and that the person who stole it never was punished.

Secretary J. Russell Parsons of the regents replied to Mr. Ainsworth, saying that the regents had nothing to do with the theft; that $5,162 had been taken by a dishonest employee who had charge of the stamp account; that the money had been refunded and the employee discharged. Inspector Charles W. Wheelock of the regents also replied to Mr. Ainsworth, resenting, he said, the implication that the regents had anything to do with taking the money.

"I did not say that they did," declared Mr. Ainsworth. "I want to stop that before it goes any further."

Mr. Ainsworth alleged that various members of the board of regents were active politicians, mentioning Messrs. Depew, Reid, Lord and Dix.

Superintendent Skinner argued that his department should be given jurisdiction over all high schools and academic departments of all other schools supported by public funds.

MOSKOWITZ TRIUMPHS.

Inventor of New Method of Car Lighting Praised.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Morris Moskowitz has at last had the satisfaction of listening to a group of "railroaders" and professional men sing the praise of his invention, the successful working out of which had cost him untold trials and suffering and almost his life.

Moskowitz's system of lighting railway trains by electricity generated from the axle was given a severe test on coach No. 912 on the New York Central. The car was run to Croton and back, and the score or more of experts who witnessed the test congratulated the young inventor and pronounced his mechanism a perfect success.

The invention promises to revolutionize car lighting. It reduces the cost to a minimum, and the electric load the car carries is hardly felt on the engine. The dynamo gives the same output whether the car is moving slowly or in record time and will continue to give light for twelve hours after the train has stopped. The power is produced through a belt around the car axle, and the current is then automatically balanced to insure a uniform voltage or pressure.

In the car used in the test on the Central there were twenty sixteen power lamps. They gave a clear white and brilliant light.

Fire Follows Burglary.

CANAAN, Conn., March 4.—A business block, containing the postoffice, a jewelry store and a savings bank, destroyed with all its contents, a dwelling house partly burned and at least one safe looted is the record of a visit of burglars to this little village. The loss by fire is estimated at $10,000, while it is believed that cash and stamps taken from the postoffice safe by the burglars after they had blown it open with dynamite will amount to $1,000.

Carolina Timber Lands Sold.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 4.—Twenty thousand acres of timber land near Asheville has been bought by Charles D. Fuller of Kalamazoo, Mich., who will erect one of the largest timber land plants in the state, with headquarters at Asheville. He also will build a railroad fifteen or twenty miles long through the Balsam mountains.

William to Visit Christian.

COPENHAGEN, March 4.—It is now decided that the German emperor will pay a visit to King Christian here. It is presumed that he will arrive before April 8, which is King Christian's eighty-fifth birthday, though the visit may be delayed till September, when the czar and King Edward VII. are expected at the Danish court.

BEDLAM IN THE HOUSE

Hot Words Exchanged and Blows Threatened.

ALDRICH FINANCE BILL DEFEATED.

Senate Has Full Membership For First Time In Four Years—Elkins Scores Republicans—Tillman Threatens to Block Business.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Yesterday was almost a repetition of Monday in the house. Slowly but surely through the operation of ceaseless roll calls the conference reports to complete the necessary legislation were ground out, and when the house at 7 o'clock recessed until 10 o'clock only two conference reports on appropriation bills were still undisposed of, the general deficiency and the naval. The Democratic opposition did not abate and will be continued until congress expires at noon today.

During the debate on conference reports members on each side got in political speeches, and several times party passion flared up. Just before the recess bedlam broke loose, and there was an exchange of high words between two members on the floor. A personal altercation seemed imminent in the confusion, but was avoided by the intervention of friends.

The actual business done during the eight hours of the day session consisted in the adoption of the conference reports on the immigration, public building and sundry civil bills, the reference of the president's veto message of a Virginia claim bill to the committee on war claims, the adoption of a resolution to correct clerical errors in the immigration bill and the passage of a senate bill to authorize the treasury department to coin souvenir coins for the Thomas Jefferson Memorial association.

The final defeat of the Aldrich financial bill was witnessed in the senate when it was displaced by the Philippine tariff bill. Mr. Aldrich explained in detail his measure and said that a small number of men in the senate had deliberately, with malice aforethought, murdered it.

One of the features of the session was the fact that for the first time in two years Delaware was represented in the senate. J. Frank Allee and L. Heisler Ball, elected for the long and short terms respectively, appeared in the senate and were sworn in by President Pro Tem. Frye. Besides the two years that Delaware had been totally unrepresented in the senate there were two years previous to that time when there was a vacancy in one of the seats. Mr. Ball's term of service will expire two years hence, while Mr. Allee has four years to serve. The senate for the first time in four years has its full membership of ninety.

In the course of the debate Mr. Elkins declared that the Republican party had been false to its solemn pledges in three successive platforms with respect to statehood for Arizona, Oklahoma and New Mexico, and he said that it was the first time that party had been guilty of filibustering. He declared that upon the Republican majority rested the responsibility for the defeat of several important measures in the senate. The senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

The conferees of the two houses on the naval appropriation bill reached an agreement at 10 o'clock last night. The senate surrendered on the principal item of disagreement, the amendment relating to the increase of the navy. The provision as agreed upon provides for three battleships of 16,000 tons displacement and two battleships of 13,000 tons displacement and entirely eliminates the provision for cruisers.

Senator Tillman caused a flutter in the senate late last night by announcing his intention to defeat the naval appropriation bill and the general deficiency bill. This determination was the result of an announcement from the conference room on the general deficiency bill to the effect that the house conferees had refused to accept the senate amendment providing for the payment of the South Carolina state claims of $47,245. The senator had a stack of books beside his desk almost as high as the desk, while on the desk was a volume of Byron's poems open at the "Vision of Judgment."

"It is a just claim and must go in," he said, "or I will defeat both the remaining bills and force an extra session of both houses of congress. I can talk until 12 o'clock tomorrow, and that is all that is necessary for the accomplishment of my purpose."

General Booth Hurt.

NEW YORK, March 4.—General William Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army, was painfully injured by a fall downstairs in the Salvation Army headquarters in West Fourteenth street. The wonder is that, considering his age, his hurts were not more serious. The general escaped with a sprained knee and an injured arm. He was to have sailed for Europe today, but he canceled the trip.

No Gift of Carnegie to Princeton.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Publicity was given yesterday to a story that Andrew Carnegie had given or promised $1,000,000 to Princeton university, at Princeton, N. J. President Woodrow Wilson is ill. Treasurer Duffield of the university said that he knew of no such gift or promise and that he would be likely to know if any such gift was expected.

POLICE PATROL SYSTEM.

Within a hundred days, Plainfield is to have a police patrol system in operation. The action of the Common Council in authorizing the installation of that system was expected. Mayor Jenkins had recommended it and the Councilmen had already expressed themselves in favor of it. Action had been delayed only to allow the proper committee to investigate and ascertain the comparative cost and merit of the different systems. The decision was in favor of the Gamewell system.

Anyone who is at all familiar with the police patrol system cannot deny that it is of great benefit to the city. It is of more practical value than would be the addition of a dozen more men to the force. When the benefits received from it are considered, the advantages gained are very cheap for the necessary expenditure. Plainfield is naturally a well behaved city. Its criminal class is very small, its offenders of the peace and quietude of the community are very few when compared with those of other cities of similar size. There are times, however, when it is very desirable that Plainfield should be ready to cope with the unexpected. It is for this reason that the system will be of particular value.

Plainfield is thoroughly a suburban city. One of its chief attractions is that it offers such an ideal spot for a home in close proximity to the greatest city of the land. In order to attract people here, the city must keep up to date. Even though it has the reputation of being a particularly well mannered city, the fact that it has an up-to-date police force ready for the emergency is going to have its effect on prospective citizens.

We have been criticized because we have been continually harping on the subject of possible increase in the tax rate in reference to this and other subjects of municipal interest. The fact remains, however, that it takes money to make improvements and while the people of Plainfield are glad and willing to see any reasonable change made, there is going to be serious objection if the tax rate begins to soar. This one improvement is an excellent thing and money well spent but there must not be too many "good things" before the year is over so that the tax payers will have to suffer. The Common Council wants to think long and carefully before it provides for any increase in the tax budget.

The law is very strict about the hackmen and will not permit them to block traffic in front of the railroad station with their vehicles. Why then should the trolley company be allowed to convert one of the most important public thoroughfares into a waiting room? The present trolley muddle on Watchung avenue will never be ended until the trolley company builds a loop on private property and allows its passengers to alight under a covered shed instead of in the middle of the street and stops blocking a public street to traffic.

Now that there are stations on either side of the Jersey Central's tracks, it would be an excellent thing if the city placed a cross walk on Watchung avenue opposite the east bound station. Trolley cars that stop there now leave their passengers in the midst of the street. On rainy days a cross walk would prevent the present wade through mud. As many of the passengers who thus alight are women and children, wading is particularly undesirable. There is already a cross walk leading to the flight of stairs to the west bound station.

Very interesting will be found the report of Superintendent of Schools H. M. Maxson, which was presented to the School Board Monday night and appears in today's Daily Press. It tells of his visit to the recent convention at Cincinnati and is particularly interesting in that he explains how he believes suggestions made there should be utilized in building the new City High School.

Every few days we are favored with a communication by a writer who fails to attach his name. While we do occasionally use anonymous communications, it is requisite that we shall know the name of the writer as a matter of good faith. Communications, therefore, which have not the name of the writer attached, find their way to the waste basket.

BY BOTH PARTIES.

Mayor Brokaw, of Bound Brook, is Renominated Again.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 4—R. H. Brokaw was renominated for Mayor by both Republican and Democratic caucuses, held Monday evening. Mr. Brokaw has served two successful terms and the fact that his work is appreciated by his fellow citizens is attested in that no other candidate has been nominated since his first term four years ago. The nominees for Councilmen are as follows: For three years—Republican, John Magaw and A. C. Thomae; Democratic—G. W. Anderson and Wm. Schure; for one year—Republican, Wm. S. Terhune; Democratic—Runyon Field.

Preparing for Reunion.

In the near future it is proposed to hold a reunion of students of Flushing Institute, at Flushing, L. I., and for the purpose of learning the names of those in Plainfield who attended that institute, Councilman vanHerwerden would like all such persons to communicate with him. There are a number of Plainfielders who were students at that school.

To Sing at Anniversary.

The twenty-seventh anniversary of the West Side noonday prayer meeting at 281 Greenwich street, New York, will be celebrated Friday between 12 and 1 o'clock, when an anniversary address will be given by Rev. C. H. Yatman, the evangelist. Mrs. John H. Manley, of Park avenue, has been secured to sing some special selections.

On Duty at Hospital.

Miss Perrine, a former resident of Plainfield, but for some time past a trained nurse in the Elizabeth Hospital, is still on duty at Muhlenberg Hospital. She came to this city at the time of the railroad wreck at Westfield and she is still engaged in caring for patients at the hospital.

Old Plainfielder Preached.

Rev. Father Michael Glennon, who was brought up in this city, and who was ordained into the priesthood last June, preached last evening in St. Mary's church at the special Lenten services which are being held there.

Miss Mary Buckley, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buckley, of Watchung avenue, is recovering from a severe attack of tonsilitis.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A patriotic meeting was held by the Literary Circle last evening at the home of F. T. Dickerson. There were a large number of invited guests present and the evening was a very enjoyable, as well as an instructive one. At roll call the members answered to their names with quotations from Whittier. Then Rev. Frank Fletcher, a Union veteran, gave a highly delightful account of his war experiences and of many things he saw and heard at that time. He was followed by Nelson Carpenter, of Rahway, who served in the Confederate Army. He told very interestingly of the other side of that great struggle. Rev. N. J. Sproul sang some patriotic songs and Miss Florence Dickerson played a piano solo very nicely. The remainder of the evening was given up to the serving of refreshments and sociability.

At a recent meeting of Defender Fire Company the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: President, T. J. Ronayne; vice president, Adam Herlich; chief, Chas. Wyhuskey; assistant chief, Walter Vliet; foreman, Walter Runyon; first assistant foreman, Harry Swackhamer; second assistant foreman, Joseph Maier; doorkeeper, Harry Dodwell; secretary, Chas. Coriell; treasurer, William Wyckoff; representative on Board of Fireman's Relief, Fowler Vail; trustee, Fowler Vail.

The unknown man who was found dead in the brook near Lincoln by David Runyon was buried yesterday afternoon in the South Plainfield cemetery by Undertaker Walter G. Runyon. The body was viewed first by the coroner who gave a permit for burial, the expenses of which the county will bear. The body was too badly decomposed to admit of identification.

The teaching staff of Lincoln School is in a somewhat depleted state as the result of illness. Both Miss Whitenack and Miss Higgins have been ill with the grip. Their places have been taken by Miss Doolittle and Miss Nellie Dodwell.

Fred Touzeau is able to be out after a siege of the grip. He is also recovering from an injury to his hand, received in the Pond Tool Works, last week.

P. M. Ising is recovering from the effect of injuries received in the wreck but is still obliged to visit the hospital to be looked after.

Chas. Lake returned to business yesterday, after being ill with the grip. A. A. Lake is now able to sit up after his severe illness.

Letters are advertised at the postoffice this week for W. A. Townsend and Paul Clark, care of Laurence Rittery.

Chas. Williams, gateman at the Washington avenue crossing, has been troubled with the grip.

The Democratic primary will be held in the Borough Hall on the evening of March 6.

The Republican primary will be held in the Borough Hall Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Vance have returned to their home in this place after a stay in New York City.

Miss May O. Fulper, a former resident here, visited friends in town, yesterday.

Lud Frazee is painting the house occupied by Mr. Coriell, of Jackson avenue.

Miss Bessie Milliken, of Belle Meade, has been visiting relatives in town.

Prayer meeting will be held in the local churches at 7:30 this evening.

NEW MARKET.

Quite a number from here attended the meeting of the Literary Circle in Dunellen, last evening.

Regular prayer meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 in the First Baptist church.

The Republican primary will be held this afternoon in Friendship Hall.

The Democrats will hold their primary this evening at the Hotel Nelson.

Rev. L. E. Livermore has recovered from his illness sufficiently to be out.

Only a few names were added to the registry list, yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Jacob V. Coles, who died at her home on Saturday, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the house. The house was filled with the sorrowing relatives and friends who gathered to pay loving tribute to the one they had known and loved for so many years. Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks had charge of the services. Interment was made in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

The Democratic primary will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Bucket and Engine Company's rooms. As usual with the Democrats in town perfect harmony prevails, and there is no doubt but the retiring officeholders, who are all Democrats, will receive a renomination. They are: Township committeeman, T. J. Nicholl; collector, John L. Darby; assessor, Chas. H. French.

Rev. J. S. Braker, a former pastor of the Baptist church, but for several years pastor of the First Baptist church, of Waltham, Mass., has accepted a call to the Lynn Baptist church. Mr. Braker will begin his new field of labor next week.

Miss Louise Robison, who has been spending the winter in Brooklyn, has taken up her residence at home again and will commute back and forth to New York each day.

Miss Lopez, a native Porto Rican, who is taking a course of study at Peddie Institute, has been visiting at "The Manse," as the guest of Miss Alice Shott.

The electric light service in town has been very poor of late. Hardly a night passes but some complaint is heard of some street being in darkness.

The Registry Board met in the Township Rooms to prepare the registry list for the spring election. Several new names were added to the list.

Chas. N. Flanders, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, suffering with rheumatism, is improving slowly.

Floyd Hull, who has been making an extended visit with friends in Metuchen, has returned home.

The Boys' Club, of the Methodist church, meets in the church, tonight.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The township registration committee was in session yesterday at the Norman Hotel. A number of new voters took advantage of the opportunity to have their names recorded on the book.

The Woman's Missionary Society, of the Baptist church, will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Ida Harris.

Mrs. L. Ayers and daughter, Edith, were entertained yesterday at dinner by Mrs. T. C. Laing.

The monthly meeting of the women's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein will be held in Saengerbund Hall, this evening. Reports will be read and other matters of importance will be brought up for discussion. Tomorrow evening the men's section will meet.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

James R. Blair, the Park avenue haberdasher, has received some of the spring styles of hats and neckwear and has them arranged in an attractive display in his store.

M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, is preparing for a large spring and summer trade. He proposes to carry one of the best stocks of men's and boys' clothing in the State.

Smalley Brothers, the North avenue butchers, have always made a specialty of securing the best of meats. For excellence in delivery system no other butcher in the city can surpass them.

Harry Dreier, the popular sporting goods man, is already fitting out several local baseball teams. He carries the genuine Spalding goods and is quoting prices that cannot be beaten in New York.

Intending builders will find that the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company on Front street can furnish all necessary materials in its line at low prices. The firm carries only the best goods and satisfaction is guaranteed.

W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, always has some of the finest fruits and vegetables on hand at his store at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street. His groceries are always to be depended upon for their freshness, as well as quality.

In a short time it will be safe for the children to play out-of-doors and if in need of toys of any kind go to A. M. Harper on Park avenue, proprietor of the "doll's hospital." His line of toys is large and well calculated to please the young folks.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, is showing a very attractive line of watches, diamonds, clocks and silverware, all of the best manufacture. It will pay you to inspect this stock before purchasing elsewhere. Mr. Doane also is a practical optician and has had much success in this line.

Warnock's specialties for the coming week will be delicious charlotte russe, angel cake and the finest of confectionery. All of Warnock's goods are guaranteed to be absolutely fresh every day and to be made only of the best materials by experienced workmen. That accounts for their superiority.

Charles Conover & Company, of Elmwood place, are prepared to give estimates for painting and papering. The firm has lately secured several large contracts showing that the season will be a busy one. Samples of the finest wall papers made have been received and will be shown to all persons interested.

There will be no trouble over the selection of a wedding gift after a visit to Gavett's West Front street store. In the large display of silverware, cut glass and china there are hundreds of suggestions. It is a delight to look at them as the designs are constantly changing. Some new ones received this week.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are constantly receiving shipments of spring and summer goods which they ask their patrons to inspect. The firm always keeps in a stock of a staple line of dry goods and the men's furnishing goods department is complete with shirts, ties, socks, handkerchiefs, etc.

It will soon be time to take a tonic as a spring bracer and L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, keeps just the right article. His stock of drugs and medicines is the best money can buy and Mr. Randolph always endeavors to give prompt service. A strong feature at this store is the soda water fountain where all the best drinks are dispensed.

William Lindsay & Son, the Mountain avenue dairymen, report a constant increase in their business. This is undoubtedly the result of the entire satisfaction given in the serving of milk and cream. Only the most approved methods are used in the production and serving of milk and a Board of Health certificate is a guarantee that the dairy is all right.

WOMEN'S EXCHANGE.

Annual Meeting and Election Was Held Yesterday—New Year Opens Very Auspiciously.

The members of the Woman's Exchange met yesterday in the guild room of Grace Episcopal church in annual session when the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. O. T. Waring; vice presidents, Mrs. Daniel T. VanBuren, Miss Elizabeth R. Cock; recording secretary, Mrs. E. S. Hyatt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. W. Serrell; treasurer, Mrs Carl Pfeiffer; auditors, Mrs. William M. Stillman and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh.

According to the report of the treasurer the consignors last year numbered 141, an increase of over thirty over the preceding year. There were eigthy-eight subscribers last year and during the past thirteen months the receipts were $12,024. A debt of $211 is still being carried and the balance in the treasury is $36. Last year's salaries amounted to $1,212, an increase owing to the necessity of securing additional help. The new year opens most auspiciously for the exchange and it is hoped that last year's record may be broken.

FROM THE 'PLAINS.

John Hunter, Who Told Fake Counterfeit Tale, Was a Resident Here.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 4—John Hunter, who gave the counterfeit story to the New York police, is the son of James Hunter, of this place, and was born and brought up here. He worked for several years for F. K. Clark, when the latter conducted a livery business. After leaving Scotch Plains he seldom returned and little is known about him by the residents in this place.

Repaired Hose Wagon.

Repairs are being made to the hose wagon at the fire headquarters on East Second street. While responding to an alarm of fire at the home of Mr. Townley, of East Fourth street, recently, the rail on the wagon was bent which made it unsafe for the firemen to hang on to unless it was repaired. The repairs were completed late yesterday afternoon.

In Justice Huff's Court.

The case of the American Trading and Publishing Company against Mrs. Rosie Frucht, of this city, which came up before Justice Huff, yesterday afternoon was adjourned for two weeks.

—Neuman Brothers have placed a special price for the remainder of the week upon their entire stock of fruit and vegetables. It is replenished every day.

—The woman's gold watch that was lost and advertised in The Daily Press, yesterday afternoon, was found by Ernest Banks and returned to the owner this morning.

Grace George in One of the Three "Peggy" Pieces

She Is Making a Decided Success in the Historic Play of "Pretty Peggy."

THIS year the name of Peggy seems to have taken fast hold of playwright and of writer of comic opera. We have three "Peggy" pieces, and one more to appear; "Pretty Peggy," the play in which Miss Grace George is starring; George Ade's new opera, "Peggy from Paris;" "My Lady Peggy Goes to Town," wherein Miss Cecil Spooner has made a hit; and in April Anthony Hope's "Intrusions of Peggy" is to be put on at the Prince of Wales theater in London. It is with "Pretty Peggy" we shall concern ourselves to-day.

The play, pseudo-historic, deals with the life and adventures of Mistress Peg Woffington, about whom there has been many a volume written, many a good song sung. Peg, you remember, was a famous Irish commedienne, of the eighteenth century; and withal a generous, genial wit, as clever as beautiful. Of lovers the playwright gives her a score or more, and we are not sure but that the historian does likewise. The wonder was, not that people fell in love with Peggy, but that anyone failed so to do.

The curtain rises, disclosing the circus booth of Mme. Violante, under whom Peg has won much fame as a dancer. A motley crowd is seen on the stage, and we hear extravagant praise of "Pretty Peggy;" of her good qualities, of her dancing, of her beauty. Two of her admirers, the great actor, David Garrick (who is playing a professional engagement in Dublin), and Sir Charles Hanbury Williams, wax quite warm as they discuss the object of their admiration; and the audience sees at once that there is to be rivalry. Now enters Polly, Peg's sister, with a lover, no less a personage than the son of the great earl of Cholmondeley. They engage in a little philandering for our benefit, but suddenly the love-making is brought to an end by reason of the approach of Mother Woffington, who wants her girls to have no fooling with doubtful men.

GRACE GEORGE IN "PRETTY PEGGY."

The mother is irresistibly funny, Irish through and through. Mistress Polly, who had bade her lover climb into a trapeze, does everything possible to keep her suspicious mother's eyes on the ground, and the comical old lady below, the swain very much above, excite considerable mirth. In the meantime, the various members of the circus company make their appearance, and at last in comes Nell, riding on a mule, dividing her attentions with it and the folk about her. She is a charming little witch, saucy and merry as the typical Irish lassie.

She puts a rose in the ear of the "baste," pets it and pats it, much to Sir Charles' disgust. Another would-be lover she promptly sends about his business also, a hanger-on of the circus, a drunken, worthless fellow, a sort of fortune-teller. But presently there enters one she is in no hurry to send from her side, none other than David Garrick.

He tells her of his admiration for her, of his love, and though she listens, she professes herself too humble for him to show such honors; vows she will not allow it until she, too, shall have proven herself great, until she, too, has shown the world that she can act. Garrick offers to take her to London, where, he assures her, a great future awaits her. So Peg bids good-by to the companions of her rollicking days, and the curtain goes down upon cheers and congratulations for the luck that has befallen "Pretty Peggy."

In the next act we are shown the greenroom of Peggy's London theater, in which room we see signs of an approaching feast. Two maids are quarreling; one of them in Peggy's hire, the other in that of a rival actress. The fortune teller is hanging about, hoping to catch a glimpse of his beloved but unapproachable one; and for a moment Peggy looks down upon him from an upper balcony and mischievously makes fun of his adoration. He is angered thereby and quite ready to seek revenge. The rival actress appears and bribes him to try to humiliate "The Woffington" when the party is in progress. All he has to do is to stand behind Garrick's chair, and offer a toast to "Eva." "Eva," it seems, is a French dancer, an earlier love of Garrick's, about whom Peggy knows little or nothing.

The banquet scene is lively with song and toast, and Peggy keeps things moving briskly—save when the loving-cup reaches her mother and the old lady desires to hang on to it rather than pass it along. And there is another halt to the merriment, a more serious one, when the toast to "Eva" is offered. Peg asks who Eva is, but gets no satisfactory answer. Soon the guests leave, and Garrick and she are alone. She tells him she is jealous of this Eva; but he says "nonsense," and trustful Peggy subsides.

In the third act, Polly and a maid are discovered busily packing trunks for Peggy, who is about to be married to Garrick. As they discuss and fold away garments, they speak of Peggy's queer behavior of late, refer to the fact that she does not seem happy. One says she wonders if everything will pass off all right, if the marriage really will take place. Peg and her mother come in soon, and the latter persuades her daughter to grant a farewell interview to "poor Charlie, who always was a favorite" with the elder. But when Garrick is announced, Peggy declares she will not see him until the hour of the wedding.

Garrick awaits, hoping wilful Peggy will relent, and in the meantime a note is brought him; a missive from Eva, bidding him to come to her at once. He replies that he will see her that evening; Peggy enters suddenly, sees the note in his hand, teasingly snatches it away from him, and vows she believes it is from "Eva" and that she must read it. Fearful, David appeals to her honor, asks if she cannot trust him; and at that Peggy tears up the note unread. David leaves her in very happy mood.

She tries on her wedding clothes and preens and prances back and forth, in very joyous mood, indeed. But the happiness soon passes, for in comes the everlasting Eva. She tells the bride-to-be that Garrick has been her lover for the past three years, and that he has promised to see her that very night. David enters, is confronted by the two women, and nothing is left but to acknowledge he has lied to Peggy. She scorns him and sends him away.

In the next, and last, act, a stage is shown upon the stage. We see a theater upon the night of a great benefit performance. "The Woffington" turns what is planned to be her defeat into a victory, but the strain proves too much for her; she forgets her lines, reels, then falls fainting upon the floor. Both Sir Charles and Garrick, who have had places near the stage, spring to her assistance. She turns to the latter, says: "Davy, let's go home," and the curtain descends. Just exactly how she rehabilitates "Davy" we are not informed. THE ASTROLOGER.

EVENING SHADES.

White Very Smart—Novel Hair Decorations.

Ivory and oyster white are what is called safe wear, for they suit nearly every one, while for women who can wear colors the leading evening shades are pale rose pink, delicate green and a peculiarly charming tint of faint pearl gray.

Pale blue, a much softer and fainter tint than the once celebrated turquoise, is still in vogue, but is chiefly employed to provide an artistic touch of color on an ivory or black gown.

An entire gown of this tint could only be worn by a girl who had discovered that blue was emphatically her color.

A jet circlet of light and delicate workmanship is worn on the hair.

BALL GOWN OF BLACK ORIENTAL SATIN.

There are many new designs in hair ornaments, which include jeweled and gilded combs of light or dark tortoise shell or of the less expensive, but scarcely less effective, horn circlets similar to this of jet, but made of real or counterfeit diamonds or pearls or of deftly twisted gauze or ribbon.

The smart ball gown in the picture is of black oriental satin with a bertha of black chiffon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

CLOTH CREATIONS.

Tailor Mades and Broadcloth Evening Gowns.

Embroideries are being revived by the tailors, some of them being very rich and beautiful.

Tailors are utilizing the plainest cloths, the hardest serges and the roughest tweeds in contrast to the elaborate cloths which were used for winter frocks.

Many novel evening gowns are made of pale blue mauve and biscuit cloth.

MORNING COSTUME.

Such a gown requires exquisite cut and should be finished with a soft draping of lace and a cheering touch of contrasting color. A cloth evening gown should not be attempted unless its manipulation is left in competent hands.

All white costumes continue to be the rage, and these are made elaborate with countless beautiful embroideries.

The cut shows a smart morning costume composed of a flannel waist and a tailor made skirt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Knight of the Highway

By CLINTON SCOLLARD,

Author of "A Man at Arms," "The Son of a Tory," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. B. Lippincott Company. All rights reserved.

Rossiter was now weary, and presently a straw-stack in a field adjoining the highway suggested a desirable place of rest. He scaled the fence and approached the stack, becoming conscious, as he did so, of the sound of heavy breathing. Some one, it was evident, had already availed himself of a free night's lodging. Rossiter hesitated an instant and then went forward. Doubtless there would be plenty of accommodation for two. On the eastern side of the stack, revealed distinctly by the moonlight, was the huddled body of a man. There could be no harm, Rossiter thought, in having a closer glance at his fellow-lodger. He advanced cautiously a few paces and peered down, to start back in amazement and dismay, for he had gazed upon the repulsive face of "Whiskers."

Swiftly and silently he retraced his steps to the road, his mind swept by a powerful reaction. Voluntarily he had returned to the level of this detestable creature, had allowed the first disappointment to overthrow every firm resolve of the past weeks, and had gone miserably down once more into the very slough of degeneracy. Out of the realization of his instability, the overwhelming sense of his bitter shame, by some strange and sudden revulsion his spirit rose triumphant. He bowed his head.

"With God's help," he said, "it is the last time!"

He strode downward towards the valley, and a mile from the straw-stack found a sleeping place in a shed. Slumber soon brought its boon of forgetfulness, but before it did so he summoned from the depths of his recollection the lovely contour of Miss Densmore's face.

"After all," he thought, musing upon the sweetness of what might have been, "it is a blessing to have known her!"

When he aroused the following morning the sun had scattered the banked mists above the hills beyond the Merton farm, and as he stood in the door-way of his rude shelter, blinking in the glistening light, a farmer approached driving marketward with a heaped wagon-load of potatoes. The two men exchanged glances and nods.

"Bound for Hintonville?" inquired Rossiter.

"Yep. That's where I'm goin'," was the reply.

"Perhaps you wouldn't mind giving me a lift, then?"

"Mind? Certainly not! Jump right up."

He checked his horses until Rossiter had mounted to the seat beside him. He was of a hearty, big-souled type, had a sandy beard, keen yet kindly blue eyes, and a voice that expanded into a muffled roar at the close of every sentence. His laugh, too, was explosive.

"Been hop-pickin', I s'pose, an' now startin' home?" he ventured.

"Yes," returned Rossiter.

"Like it?"

"Yes, very much."

"Hain't heard, hev ye, what happened to a hop-picker, er a tramp, las' night up to Bob Pankhurst's on the hill?"

"No; what was it?"

"Well, ye see Bob's got—er had, rather—a straw-stack jest across the road from his house that'd ketch the eye o' anybody strollin' by an' in want o' a place to stow themselves till daylight free o' charge. They's plenty o' sech about these days"—this final remark with a sly glance at his companion.

The mention of the straw-stack had stimulated Rossiter's interest to such a degree that he did not heed the attempted pleasantry.

"Yes! yes!" he cried. "What happened!"

"Well," said the farmer, "when Bob got up this mornin' he was minus a straw-stack. The blamed thing burnt in the night, and not a dern soul about the place seen it. When they discovered it, and come to go near to look at it, there was a man's boots stickin' out o' the black, smokin' mass. His upper part was done to a crisp."

"If I recall rightly," said Rossiter, conscious of a sudden awe in his tone which the other did not seem to notice, "there is but one straw-stack for some distance."

"Yep," said the farmer, "that's right! Bob's is the only one for at least three miles, leastwise the only one near the road. The feller, whoever he was, must 'ave been smokin' an' fallen asleep. He's had his las' smoke, that's dead sure, an' a mighty big one it was, by the look o' it."

Rossiter had no comment to make. The horror of the scene kindled in his imagination by the farmer's words silenced him. And yet he could but consider the dreadful doom which had overtaken "Whiskers" as retributive. There was no one, he thought, who would question the justice of this tragic interposition of fate, but the shocking end of Hart Dawson was still heavy on his mind when, an hour later, he stepped upon the platform of the Hintonville station.

CHAPTER XIV.

COMMENCEMENT AT MONROE COLLEGE.

It was the evening of commencement day at Monroe college. Upon the wide veranda of one of the fraternity houses sat Philip Rossiter smoking a cigar and gazing through an opening in the trees at the moonlight-flooded valley. A very different man he was in thought and appearance from the individual who had strolled about the college campus that Sabbath morning more than a year and a half previous. The sky of fortune began to clear for him the day he became a member of the staff of the Evening Star, and there had been no recurrence of cloud. Early in his career upon the paper, in the absence of a more experienced reporter, he had interviewed a distinguished personage with unwonted tact, and thus leaped at a bound into the graces of the editor-in-chief. Inspired by his success, he tried sketch writing, the line of effort in which he had formerly won praise. His vivid pictures of the slums, of tramp life, of unusual police court episodes, quickly attracted attention. From these sketches to fiction was a natural and easy transition, and he suddenly found himself a contributor to one of the best magazines.

Rossiter was again the neatly dressed man of yore, and to the ease of manner which had always been his was added a subtle trace of independence of assurance that was wholly new to him. He bore in his heart but one burden, his love for Sylvia Densmore; and yet he often confessed to himself that the memory of her winsome personality carried with it more of sweetness than of sadness. Her image and the recollection of the hop-field days, more than the importuning of friends, had drawn him back to Hintonville and the reunion with his college classmates.

It was his first holiday since he had begun work upon the Evening Star, and it proved to him a time of restful delight—delight within whose translucent amber he was conscious of but a single flaw. Three of the four days for which he had been granted leave of absence had slipped by. Should he on the morrow drive over to the Merton farm and have a chat with the good people—Jack Parmelee and Mr. and Mrs. Merton and their daughter? Every night since his arrival in Hintonville he had put to himself this question, but the visit was yet to be made. Passionately as he longed for some news of Miss Densmore, he dreaded to hear of what he reflected must, in all probability, have long since taken place—her marriage.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. TO SETTLE OLD DISPUTE.

Governor Murphy Issues a Special Message on State Boundary Case.

TRENTON, N. J., March 4.—Governor Murphy has sent to both houses of the legislature a special message relative to the dispute that has been going on for the past twenty-five years as to the correct boundary line between Delaware and New Jersey. The governor in his message states that Delaware in 1871 passed an act prohibiting fishing within the boundaries of that state without a license. Some New Jersey fishermen who were fishing on the Jersey side of the Delaware bay were arrested for violating this act. Delaware claimed that its boundary line extended to low water mark on the New Jersey side. New Jersey in 1877 carried the case to the supreme court of the United States. For twenty-five years thereafter nothing was done.

Recently Delaware filed an answer to the New Jersey suit. Since then the attorney generals of the two states have been in friendly communication, and within the past month Governor Murphy of New Jersey and Governor Hunn of Delaware had a conference on the subject in Philadelphia.

Governor Murphy in his message expressed the opinion that the dispute be amicably adjusted. He says the Delaware legislature has passed a joint resolution for the appointment of a commission to consult with a similar commission from New Jersey to arbitrate the matter and report their findings to the legislatures of the two states for ratification. Governor Murphy recommends similar action on the part of the New Jersey legislature.

In compliance and under a suspension of the rules a joint resolution was adopted by both houses inside of half an hour naming Governor Murphy, Attorney General McCarter and ex-Senator W. C. Stokes as a commission to treat with the Delaware commission.

STEEL TRUST PLANS.

The Bond Conversion—Improvements to Cost $35,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 4.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation the form of circulars to be sent to stockholders in connection with carrying into effect the bond conversion plan was approved. They will be sent out during this week.

The plan provides for the issuance of $250,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, $200,000,000 of which are to be exchanged for $200,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock. Judge Gary, chairman of the executive committee, gave out an official statement to the effect that plans which have been under consideration and preparation for over a year for harmonizing, extending and rounding out the various plants will be pushed forward with all possible dispatch, the presidents of the various subsidiary companies who have been in session here this week having given their final approval to the plans, which provide for additions and improvements to plants to cost more than $35,000,000. It is estimated that when these expenditures are completed there will be added to the total capacity of the various subsidiary companies 2,700,000 tons of all products.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Park Athletic club will hold a meeting some time this week when it will be decided whether or not to put a baseball team in the field this spring. The club is composed of juvenile athletes.

Warren MacLaughlin, one of the pitchers for the Pittsburg National League Club, has been ordered to report the last of this month at Hot Springs, Ark., for practice. The club will open the season at Cincinnati April 12.

PERSONAL.

Miss Elizabeth Crosby, of East Sixth street, is spending a few days with friends in Elizabeth.

Jacob Beckman, of East Second street, has returned from a three weeks' trip through the southern States.

The Misses Alice and Anna Nolan, of West Seventh street, have returned home after a pleasant visit with friends in Jersey City.

A son arrived at the h0me of Thos. Gough, of 92 Jackson avenue, Saturday. The youngster weighs eight pounds and both mother and son are doing nicely.

Edwin S. Hooley, accompanied by his mother, family and servant, returned home this morning in his private car from Florida, where they have been sojourning for a month.

Annual Sunday-School Meeting.

The regular annual business meeting of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church will be held tomorrow evening in the church parlors. The election of officers will take place at that time and the reports of the superintendent will be read as will be the accounts of the year's work of committees and other officers of the Sunday-school.

Entertained the Men.

The monthly meeting of the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, was held last evening, when the members enjoyed an excellent programme of music presented by W. E. MacClymont and William Jeffrey. Alonzo Weseman was winner in a bean guessing contest.

Some Novel Features.

A social is being arranged by the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, and it will probably be held sometime next week. Some novel features will be a special inducement to a large attendance.

important change was to be made in the running of the trains, and that the Easton local was not to be sidetracked at Cranford as was usually done, but was to be continued on the main track ahead of the fast Philadelphia train. This being known in advance, Engineer Davis, of the Philadelphia train, was not informed before leaving Jersey City of the change in the regular schedule of operating the train.

5. The Grand Jury feel that while Engineer Davis is the one person directly responsible for the collision, the company employing him, the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, upon whose tracks the disaster occurred, should not escape some degree of centure.

First. For the laxity that appears to exist in both railroads in the running condition of the engines.

Second. In the use by the Central Railroad Company of passenger cars of ancient make and such weak construction as to be incapable of resistance in case of collision, and which are heated with stoves.

Third. That when it was known to the proper authorities of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad that Engine No. 27 (being the engine which ran into the Easton local train) had a leaky steam chest and was unfit for high speed, this engine was allowed to be put on a high speed train, not only for the emergency run from Trenton to Jersey City, but also for the return trip from Jersey City to Philadelphia.

The Grand Jury, after patient investigation, respectfully submit these their conclusions.

Prosecutor of Pleas.

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,
ATTENTION!
The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the
NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL,
SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,
With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

FAVORS SMALLEY.

Interview With Former Mayor W. L. Saunders, a Democrat, on Borough Election.

In an interview with William L. Saunders, regarding the coming election in the borough, the former Mayor expressed himself as follows:

"As a tax payer I am glad to have the opportunity of voting for Mayor Smalley. I am a Democrat, but I hold my home and property interests above party and am not willing to try any experiments, when I know that this man has worked day and night for the health and welfare of the borough. Look at Somerset street. He has converted a lane into a boulevard. An honest politician like Mayor Smalley who is willing to serve the people for nothing is to be admired."

MORE NAMES ADDED.

Borough Boards of Registry Sat Yesterday and Received Additions to Voting Lists.

The two Boards of Registry of the borough held meetings yesterday. In the first district ten additional names were added, making the total 682.

In the second district nineteen new names were added, making the number 716.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SISSON.

Services in Charge of Rev. J. O. McKelvey—Held Last Evening.

Funeral services of Mrs. T. A. Sisson were held last evening from her late residence at 41 Somerset street, when Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, conducted the services. The services were held at 7:30 and were attended by a number of friends and relatives of the deceased. Among those who were present from distant points were Mrs. Sisson's sons, A. M. Smith, of Meadeville, Pa.; F. B. Smith, of New Haven, general master mechanic of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, and C. A. Smith, of New Haven.

The interment took place this morning in Hillside cemetery and was private.

M'ALL AUXILIARY.

The Annual Meeting Held at Public Library This Morning.

The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary was held this morning in the Public Library rooms, with an excellent attendance. Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. F. G. Mead; secretary, Mrs. Augustus V. Heeley; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster; vice presidents, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Mrs. William B. Wadsworth, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. I. N. VanSickle, Mrs. Theophilus Bond and Mrs. Frank O. Herring.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Stella M. Lee, showed the total membership now to be 310 and that the past year had been a prosperous one.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

LIBRARY MATTERS.

Board of Directors Appropriated $500 for New Books at Meeting Last Evening.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library, held last evening, the request of $500 from the general fund for the purchase of books was granted. The president reported that the Library Institute held on February 6 was well attended and in every way a success. Letters were read and on motion ordered on file, from the chairman of the New Jersey Library Commission and from the president of the Westfield Library Association, the former thanking the Plainfield Public Library for assistance given in the Institute, and the latter for help received from the same.

Two gifts of importance were noted, one from D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston of the 84 volumes of children's books exhibited by them at the Library Institute; the other from "a friend," of the complete set of the narrative and critical history of America, by Justin Winsor, in 8 volumes. The library was authorized to discontinue the delivery station at the Y. M. C. A., and a recommendation was made by the librarian that a deposit station be made at Hope chapel. It was referred to the library committee with power. Other recommendations of the librarian looking for greater freedom for the public in the securing of books, were also referred to the library committee for their consideration.

Charities Committee Met.

The local charities committee of the Church of the Holy Cross met yesterday for the purpose of making articles for the Childrens Home and Muhlenberg Hospital. During Lent the committee will meet every week for the above purpose. Members of the committee are designated to visit the hospital and Children's Home Home regularly, and besides other charitable work is done in accordance with a systematic plan.

A MISSIONARY SOCIAL.

Young People of Warren Chapel Enjoy a Musical and Literary Programme.

A missionary social was held, last evening, at Warren chapel when a large number of young people spent a most enjoyable hour. The programme was almost entirely a musical one and proved to be interesting. Theodore Mason, president of the Christian Endeavor Society, under whose auspices, the social was held, opened the programme with scripture reading and a prayer.

The Misses Windham favored with piano duets and an extract from Longfellow's "The Old Clock on the Stairs," was recited by Miss Sadie Wilson, after which Miss Petrie entertained with a talk on home missions. Miss Louise Windham gave a piano solo which was followed by an offering being taken for missions. Those having the social in charge comprised the missionary and social committees of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church, and were: Miss May Christofferson, chairman, Miss Margaret Shepherd, Charles Bryan, Mrs. John Schenck, Miss Minnie Kohler, of the social committee and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, chairman, Mrs. Lewis Ely, Miss Hattie Taynor, and Miss Schenck, of the missionary committee.

GAVE TRADING STAMPS.

Unique Feature of a Marriage at Bridgeton Last Week.

A unique feature of the marriage of Wilbur S. Seeley and Miss Rena R. Wilson, at Bridgeton, last Thursday night, was the presentation of Red Star Trading Stamps to the bride by the officiating minister, Rev. D. B. Harris, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. The stamps were valued at $5. Mr. Seeley heard his wife say that she wanted to be married by a minister who would give trading stamps and the scheme was arranged. The presentation was accompanied with a few appropriate remarks about the necessity of enterprise in these days.

THE TWO VERDICTS COMPARED

Findings of Grand Jury and Coroner's Jury As to the Responsibility For the Westfield Disaster.

HOW THE JURIES AGREED AND HOW THEY DIFFERED IN VERDICTS.

The following is the presentment of the Grand Jury brought in yesterday morning:

Union County, ss:

The grand inquest of the State of New Jersey in and for the County of Union,

Present, that in accordance with instructions received from his honor, Judge Vail, they have made careful investigation relative to the disastrous railroad wreck which occurred on the Central Railroad near Westfield in this county, on the evening of January 27, 1903.

In order to get all the facts attainable, the Grand Jury has called to appear before it and has interrogated railroad officials, railroad engineers, operatives and private citizens and from all the evidence adduced, the Grand Jury has arrived at the following conclusions:

1. Engineer Davis of Engine No. 27 is primarily responsible for the railroad wreck, in that he ran his train past five danger signals set against him.

2. That the reason for his doing so was that the signals were obscured from his view by steam escaping from either a faulty injector or a leaking steam chest, either or both of which became out of order between Jersey City and Elizabeth.

3. That after the cab of the engine became so enveloped with steam that signals were invisible to the engineer, he should have shut off steam or stopped his engine until he could have found out whether or not the track ahead of him was clear.

4. We do not think that the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey used sufficient precautions to avert the disaster. Its train despatcher knew before the train left Jersey City that an important change was to be made in the running of the trains, and that the Easton local was not to be sidetracked at Cranford as was usually done, but was to be continued on the main track ahead of the fast Philadelphia train. This being known in advance, Engineer Davis, of the Philadelphia train, was not informed before leaving Jersey City of the change in the regular schedule of operating the train.

5. The Grand Jury feel that while Engineer Davis is the one person directly responsible for the collision, the company employing him, the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, upon whose tracks the disaster occurred, should not escape some degree of centure.

First. For the laxity that appears to exist in both railroads in the running condition of the engines.

Second. In the use by the Central Railroad Company of passenger cars of ancient make and such weak construction as to be incapable of resistance in case of collision, and which are heated with stoves.

Third. That when it was known to the proper authorities of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad that Engine No. 27 (being the engine which ran into the Easton local train) had a leaky steam chest and was unfit for high speed, this engine was allowed to be put on a high speed train, not only for the emergency run from Trenton to Jersey City, but also for the return trip from Jersey City to Philadelphia.

The Grand Jury, after patient investigation, respectfully submit these their conclusions.

N. C. J. English,
Prosecutor of Pleas.

Fraternal Visit.

Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebecca, will be entertained tomorrow evening by Esther Lodge, of Elizabeth. The local members will go down to Elizabeth in a body and will leave here on the 6:45 car. It is hoped that a large delegation will go down from this city.

Democratic Headquarters.

The borough Democrats have secured quarters on Somerset street, near Lincoln place, which they will occupy until after election. Reading matter will be placed in the rooms and everything will be done for the comfort of the borough Democracy.

The following are extracts from the verdict of the coroner's inquest, brought in February 14:

From the evidence brought out at the inquest, we believe that this collision was caused by the failure of the engineer, James N. Davis, of engine No. 27, A. C. R. R., operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, drawing train No. 621, to observe the following signals displayed to warn him of approaching danger:

First. The red lamp set on the ground at Cranford, which notified him to stop for orders.

Second. The distance or cautionary block signal, a green light just west of the Westfield station, which gave warning that the block ahead was occupied.

Third. A red lantern swung back and forth across the track by the flagman at the Broad street crossing, Westfield, 874 feet from the last mentioned block signal.

Fourth. A red lantern swung by the rear brakeman of train No. 13; (this man claims that he was within about thirty yards of the road crossing when train No. 621 passed him,) and finally the home block signal, showing red and green lights, which indicated that he must come to a full stop, as the track ahead was occupied. This signal is located 2,136 feet from the warning signal. Although, from the evidence, we cannot find that the Railroad Company, or any of the officials, can be held criminally responsible, there are certain mitigating circumstances in regard to the action of the engineer which should be taken into consideration. * * * * *

Although this engine appears to have been in good condition on January 27, 1903, an examination of the work books of the company shows that it was in the shop between January 7 and 17, 1903, for the repair of a crack in the steam chest and for various minor repairs.

That after leaving the shop the engine was reported for repairs to piston packing, etc., several times, and, although there is no report against the engine in regard to leaking steam after January 24, there is no doubt that there was an unusual amount of steam escaping from some part of the engine during the run from Jersey City to Westfield the night of the accident. This escaping steam, the engineer claims in his ante-mortem statement, obscured his vision so that he could not see the signals without shutting off steam. As the air was heavy, this steam settling around the engine was probably the cause of his not seeing the train order signal at Cranford, consisting of a red lantern placed on the ground, thus failing to receive the warning from the train despatcher that train No. 13 was on the track ahead. * * * * *

We make this lengthy explanation to show that, although the engineer, James N. Davis, with his great responsibility in caring for the lives under his charge, failed in his duty in not keeping a lookout for the signals, the instances above narrated were against him; namely, the escaping steam, train No. 13 on an unusual track and an accident to No. 13 which caused it to make an unusual stop. * * * * *

After a thorough examination, we believe the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, and the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, to be free from any criminal responsibility for the accident above referred to.

We have carefully considered measures that should be taken to guard against the repetition of accidents of this kind, and would suggest close study of the following questions:

Is the traffic of this railroad greater than can be safely handled, considering the very large amount of high speed service required; if so, what is the remedy?

Should not all stoves be prohibited, and all passenger cars be heated by steam from the locomotive?

Should not the headlights on engines be electric or something safer than a lamp containing a large quantity of oil, which, in cases of accident, is liable to cause fire?

Should railroads be required to pro-

SAFE WORKS EMPLOYES IN PITCHED BATTLE

Attacked While on New York Job by Other Iron Workers and One Injured.

ANDREW GREEN BEATEN

FELLOW EMPLOYES WENT TO HIS ASSISTANCE AND BATTTLE FOLLOWED.

Continued Until Police Arrived—Green Was Not From Plainfield—Had Been Having Considerable Trouble.

This morning's New York papers devote considerable space to the assault upon employes of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company by members of the Iron Workers' Union in the Ansonia apartments at Broadway and Seventy-second street, New York, Tuesday night, as told in yesterday's Daily Press.

Although several of the Plainfielders who were in the safe work's gang were badly cut and bruised, Andrew Green, the one man mentioned in the accounts as being taken to Roosevelt Hospital, was not from this city, as was stated. At the local factory today, it was declared he was taken on in New York. Several of the gang came home yesterday, but the majority remained at work under police protection.

Tuesday night's assault was the culmination of trouble which has existed between the H.-R.-E. men and the Iron Workers' Union from the time the Ansonia job was first started. When Foreman Alex Muir and a gang composed of union and non-union workers began installing the vaults, they were harrassed by the union delegations until the safe works officials, at the solicitation of the Ansonia owners, consented to place representatives of the union in charge. The latter did nothing but look on and draw their pay, which was fixed by the head of the union at $7 a day. When this was increased to $8, the safe works people demurred and cut loose from the union entirely. Almost immediatley the nagging of their men commenced and nearly all the time police were kept within easy reach.

These were withdrawn last week as it was thought all trouble was over, and the union delegates were quick to sieze the opportunity. Twenty-five of them fell upon Green Tuesday night and murderously assaulted him with clubs and bricks. When the remainder of the safe work's gang rushed to his assistance, a pitched battle ensued, which continued until the police arrived in response to a hurry call.

ABOUT TO RETIRE.

When Unexpected Guests Walked in and Gave G. R. Vanderhoef a Surprise Party.

A genuine surprise was given to G. R. Vanderhoef, manager of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, at his home last evening. The affair was arranged by Henry Angerbauer, one of the clerks at the store, and the party consisted of nearly sixty friends and associates of Mr. Vanderhoef. When the party arrived at the home on West Front street, Mr. Vanderhoef was about ready to retire for the night. In response to the ringing of the doorbell he went to the door and found his friends in waiting. The object of the visit was soon made known and the rest of the evening was spent in playing games, dancing, etc. In the donkey game, Mr. Vanderhoef won first prize and J. Bowser received the booby prize. Seymour Van-Blake won in the prize in the ping-pong tournament.

After the playing of games and the dancing, there was a social time and refreshments were served. It was nearly 1 o'clock when the guests departed, and they all extended their best wishes to Mr. Vanderhoef, who by this time had recovered from his surprise.

Swedish Lutheran Services.

GOVERNOR SIGNS ACT; WESTFIELD'S A TOWN

Incorporates a Portion of Westfield Township As the Town of Westfield.

THE NEW GOVERNMENT

ELECTION WILL BE HELD IN APRIL TO CHOOSE TOWN OFFICIALS.

Will be Governed by Council With Councilman-at-Large as Virtual Mayor—An Increase to the Board of Freeholders.

Governor Murphy signed yesterday the measure known as Senate Bill No. 48, making Westfield a town. It legislates all the old officials out of office and an entirely new set will have to be chosen. The act of actual incorporation was introduced by Senator Cross, of Elizabeth, when the session opened and was passed by the Senate Monday night without opposition, was sent to the House and passed and was made a law yesterday morning.

In the future, instead of three township committeemen elected at large the governing body will consist of six or eight councilmen elected by wards and a councilman-at-large, who will be the presiding officer and virtually mayor of the town. The number of councilmen will depend upon whether the town is divided into three or four wards. The regular spring election which was to have taken place next week will be postponed until April when a score of officials will have to be elected instead of six.

Under the new arrangement the remnant of Westfield township, consisting of about 500 people, will have one member of the Board of Freeholders, and the new town will have two; so that the town of Westfield with 5,000 population will have three freeholders while Plainfield, with almost four times that number, has but two. Westfield will have a larger representation in the Board of Freeholders than any other community of larger population in the county.

VETERANS ENTERTAIN.

Antietam Camp Held a Social in Its Rooms Last Evening—Those Who Took Part.

Antietam Camp, U. V. U., held a social last evening in its rooms on East Front street.

An address was made by Colonel Edward E. Townley, in which he welcomed the guests. Those who took part in the programme were: Miss Hattie Edgar, Miss Clara Kliener, John A. Goodwin, Adam Seader, Miss Vina Seader, Miss Mabel Perry, General Albert G. Perry, Miss Hannah Westphal, Miss Lydia Edgar, C. M. Raybert and many of the members of the camp.

Col. John R. Naylor made a few remarks. During the evening, John A. Goodwin presented a handsome gavel to the Women's Relief Corps and the Union Veteran's Union, with a few remarks. The evening's entertainment closed with singing of "America" after refreshments had been served.

The committee which had the affair in charge comprised: Edward E. Townley, Miss Lydia Day, Miss A. G. Perry, John R. Naylor, Eugene Alexander and Edward Vanderweg.

Afternoon Whist Party.

Miss Charlotte Hurley, of 127 East Ninth street, entertained a number of her friends at a whist party Tuesday afternoon. The affair was a most enjoyable one, the play and the social features being prominent. After the play the hostess served refreshments and a social chat followed.

Pocketbook Returned.

Miss Ada G. Higgins, of this city, lost a pocketbook containing $40 in a trolley car Tuesday. She discovered her loss on reaching home and gave it up as gone when she was overjoyed to have it returned to her by Conductor George Jones.

Chance to Register.

A meeting of the Somerset County Board of Registry will be held at Somerville, Saturday, when all those residents of the borough who neglected to register at the meeting of the boards of registry, Tuesday, can do so them.

Some Unique Features.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyteria church will hold a box social and entertainment this evening. The latter will comprise some unique features in addition to an excellent musical programme.

GRAND JURY VERDICT READ WITH INTEREST

But the Evidences of New Light Thrown on the Disaster Were Not Apparent.

EXPECTED NEW FACTS

GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT THERE WAS WIDE DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Presentment, Which Satisfied the Majority, Closes the Subject—No Further Action to be Taken—How the Public Regards It.

So much had been said about the new light which was to be thrown on the Westfield disaster by the investigation conducted by the Grand Jury that the findings of that body were awaited with much interest, particularly here in Plainfield. All sorts of rumors were current and it was even said that the officials of the Jersey Central Railroad were to be indicted. The full text of the presentment, brought in by the Grand Jury yesterday morning, as published exclusively in Plainfield by The Daily Press, was read with great attention. After all that had been said, the findings were somewhat of a surprise as they gave no evidence of any new facts having been learned.

While there were twenty-three members of the Grand Jury, Floyd T. Woodhull, of this city, was excused from serving with that body in the consideration of the question as he had been a member of the coroner's jury. That left twenty-two. Only a majority, twelve, was necessary for a verdict. While the happenings in the Grand Jury room are not known, it is well understood that there was a wide difference of opinion among the Grand Jurors and that the verdict found, while accepted by a majority, did not coincide with the ideas of all. Several of the members had been very outspoken in their denunciation of the railroad and a desire to remove all blame from Engineer Davis.

It will be remembered that the Grand Jury was adjourned several times in order to allow the coroner's jury to complete its investigation and present its verdict to the court. This verdict the Grand Jury refused to accept, and then started an investigation of its own.

"I think," said an officer of the court in speaking of the Grand Jury's action in refusing to accept that verdict and then bringing in one which very similar, "that the Grand Jury misunderstood the directions of the Judge in reference to that verdict. He asked the court to be prepared to take any action that was necessary. I do not think he meant that the Grand Jury should act unless the findings of the coroner's jury warranted it. Some of the members of the Grand Jury, while they did not doubt the honesty of the members of the coroner's jury, were not satisfied to abide by their judgment and so the second investigation followed."

Of course there is much talk about the presentment against the railroad company which some applaud and others condemn. As a matter of fact, however, the giving of the presentment closes the incident. A presentment is really of the nature of a resolution and simply expreses the opinion of the Grand Jury without providing for any future action. An indictment would have brought the case to the attention of the court. As it is, there will be no further action unless some future Grand Jury should decide to reconsider the case which is hardly likely.

All this does not affect the liability of the Jersey Central Railroad. Its agents are now working for the settlement of the various claims and will be kept busy for some time to come. Some of the cases are in the hands of lawyers and, if a satisfactory settlement cannot be reached, they will probably be taken into court as suits for damages.

Paid for His Fun.

August Zeller, of Watchung, was arraigned before Recorder Doud in the borough court, Tuesday evening, on a charge of being drunk. He pleaded guilty and he was fined $2.

Strange People.

Rev. Delos E. Fink will give an illustrated lecture on "Strange People," at Warren chapel this evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

—Neuman Brothers have just received a car load of fancy Puritan Michigan potatoes. The entire lot will be disposed of at a very low price.

ENGINES MEET IN THE FOG

Three Men Injured in Head-On Collision on Port Reading Road This Morning.

NEAR NEW DURHAM

An Engine, Drawing a West Bound Empty Coal Train, Ran Into the Waiting Observation Engine, Carrying Paymaster—Didn't See Order Board in Fog.

Failure to see signals in the dense fog caused a headon collision on the Port Reading Railroad near New Durham this morning at 9:50 o'clock. A Philadelphia and Reading engine, No. 902, drawing a train of forty empty coal cars, collided with the Philadelphia and Reading observation engine No. 100, bearing the paymaster and his clerks to Port Reading to pay off employes. Three men on the observation engine were injured, one seriously. Neither of the locomotives left the track but the sudden applications of the air brakes heaped up eight of the empty coal cars. The injured are:

COOK, John J., of Philadelphia, chief night despatcher of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad; cut about head and back injured, condition serious, taken home.

HOAG, J. R., of Philadelphia, train despatcher of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, cut about head.

DEAL, Frank, of Philadelphia, train despatcher of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, cut about head.

Superintendent C. A Beach, of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, was on the observation engine with seven others, clerks from the Philadelphia office of the Reading acting as paymasters and assistants. It was very foggy during the morning. At New Durham close by the farm house of Alex. Randolph, there is a siding. The observation engine had orders to wait there and allow a west bound extra coal train to take the siding. There was a signal order board at this point and it was set against the coal train." The fog was so dense that Engineer Henry, of Philadelphia, in charge of engine 902, could not see the signal. He was moving slowly. Failing to stop to take the switch to the siding, he crashed into the inspection engine which was standing still. The pilot of the inspection engine was wrecked and the occupants tossed about the compartment but the collision was not severe enough to derail either locomotives.

Engineer Henry applied the air brakes when the other engine loomed up in the fog. The sudden stopping of the front of the train caused the long train to buckle up in the centre and eight cars were heaped about the track, one falling on the order board and demolishing it.

The injured men were the occupants of the observation engine. Chief Night Despatcher John Cook, of Philadelphia, was thrown against the front window and had his head badly cut by glass. He was also injured about the back. His condition is serious. He was subsequently taken home in a special coach.

The other occupants of the observation engine were tossed about and Despatchers Deal and Hoag both had their heads cut by broken glass. Superintendent Beach escaped with only a shaking up. The engineer of the observation engine was Henry Beidler, of Philadelphia.

Bound Brook was notified and Dr. Wilde, of that place, was taken to the scene of the wreck on an engine. He dressed the injuries of the three men. Dr. W. K. Browning, of Plainfield, was notified by telephone from South Plainfield and reached the scene. He was too late to give any assistance.

The wrecking train reached the wreck at 11:30 and began the work of clearing the tracks at once. The Port Reading Railroad is a single track coal road running from Port Reading Junction, a mile west of Bound Brook, to the Port Reading coal yards. It is owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. It will be opened late this afternoon.

Annual Fair and Concert.

The annual fair and concert of Bethel chapel will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, March 25, 26 and 27 at 8 o'clock. Margaret Tate, a clever elocutionist, of New York, will recite

REPEALERS IN SENATE AGAIN

Reported Favorably by Law Revision Committee at Yesterday Morning's Session.

ARE READY FOR ACTION

Bills That Aim to Remove Annexation and Consolidation Acts From Statute Books Passed on Second Reading—May Meet Death in the Assembly Later.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 5—After holding the "repealers" of the Greater Plainfield acts in committee for several weeks, they were favorably reported back to the Senate yesterday morning and were passed on second reading. They will come up for final passage next week and the general impression seems to prevail here that they will be passed.

These bills were introduced by President of the Senate Hutchinson at the request of somebody and were referred to the committee on the revision of laws. A hearing was held and strong arguments were advanced why the annexation and consolidation laws should be allowed to remain on the statute books. While it was recognized that President Hutchinson would use his influence to have the bills reported, it was hoped by the friends of the greater city measures that the "repealers" would die in committee. While the "repealers" may pass the Senate, it is doubtful whether they will ever be able to get through the Assembly where Hutchinson's influence is not so potent.

A number of bills were passed by both houses during yesterday's session, some of which were quite important. The Senate passed the bill for State improvement of the plank road, and the voting machine bill. The House passed bills incorporating the town of Westfield, regulating the use of automobiles, permitting Trenton to build a new City Hall, prohibiting spitting on the floors of cars, to prohibit Philadelphia or any other municipality acquiring Petty Island for pest-house purposes.

Assemblyman Newcorn's army bill, which provides for an armory in Plainfield, has been reported upon favorably by the committee and it will probably come up for its first and second readings Monday evening. The bill was amended to read companies, instead of company, so as to provide for one or more companies in places where there are more than one.

CHARACTERISTIC DANCE.

Will be a Feature of the Hope Y. M. A. Minstrel Show.

Among the novelties to be introduced in the olio of the Hope Y. M. A. minstrels, at each performance next week, is the "Essence of Ole Virginny," a characteristic darkey dance which never fails to get an encore. It will be enacted by five of the Y. M. A. members who have become experts in giving the steps. The dance is one that is generally included in the olio of all professional minstrel organizations.

SALE AT STOCK FARM.

Auction of Personal Property Was Very Successful.

The auction sale of the personal property at the Plainview Stock Farm, Tuesday, was one of the most successful and best attended ever conducted by Auctioneer Wm. N. Pangborn. Good prices were realized and nearly all the stock was disposed of.

The well known trotting mare, Arpansis, was offered for sale but the amount bid was not deemed sufficient. It was afterward sold to a New York party for $400.

Annual Mission Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parlors of the church. Rev. Mr. Craig, synodical missionary for New Mexico and Arizona, will deliver an address and an offering will be received for special objects. Women of the society will serve tea at 5 o'clock.

Whist Party.

Mrs. Frederick Nelson, of Watchung, entertained a number of friends at her home, Monday afternoon, at a whist party. The event was a delightful one and late in the afternoon refreshments were served.

BLOCK SIGNALS FOR RAILROAD TO SHORE

Long Branch Railroad Plans a Number of Improvements That Are Much Needed.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

DRAW BRIDGES ON LINE ARE TO BE AMPLY PROTECTED.

New Stations and Road Bed to be Well Maintained—The Tracks Are Used by Both the Jersey Central and Pennsylvania Railroads.

Authoritative announcement is made that the Long Branch Railroad from Perth Amboy along the Jersey coast is to be thoroughly modernized and improved. Contracts have been made for the installation of an electric block signal system of the best kind; drawbridges are to be amply protected and the bridges put in first-rate condition; several of the stations are to be rebuilt and all put in good order, and the roadbed is to be well maintained.

There was criticism last year and before upon the condition of the Long Branch road, especially on account of their being no block system. The traffic in summer is very heavy, and is divided between the Pennsylvania and Central Railroads, each having the right to run such trains as it chooses. Many of the trains were run at high speed, and, while the public convenience was generally well supplied, there was dread of accident, and railroad men admitted that the equipment was not up to modern requirements. The difficulty of obtaining the improvements desired was considerable, as the Long Branch road is an independent company, and rentals paid by the two trunk lines operating it were used for dividends and the Long Branch management objected to spending money which the Pennsylvania and Central considered necessary.

During the autumn and winter the subject has been under consideration, and it was finally arranged that the cash necessary to effect the improvements should be raised, and the work begun. The final preparations were completed last week, and contracts for the work made. Before the summer outing season opens, when the traffic to the shore becomes heavy, the road will be well equipped, and the requirements of safety secured by the extensive improvements outlined above.

Numbers who use the all-rail route exclusively will rejoice in the good news, which will undoubtedly have an influence in increasing the popularity of the shore routes and the patronage of the railroads leading thither.

ERECTING PUMP.

Damage by Falling Was Small and Work Not Delayed.

The work of erecting the large new pump, which recently arrived from the shops of the Worthington Pump Works at Brooklyn, has begun at the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company near Netherwood. The damage to the pump sustained through the dropping of the heavy piece of iron last Friday, was slight and can be easily repaired at small cost. The contract for erecting the pump, which is valued at $20,000, has been awarded to William Hand & Sons.

Wall Just Missed Him.

While working at a new house which is being erected in Elizabeth, recently, Dennis Carney, formerly of Cottage place, this city, had a narrow escape from being killed. While he was at work a boiler in a factory, next door to the house, exploded and a piece of the brick wall struck near where he was at work. He was not injured, but he was badly frightened.

Extension to Store.

Work was started Tuesday on the extension of the shoe store of John J. Kenney, at the corner of Park avenue and Front street. The two stores in the rear of his place of business will be opened into one, with an entrance on Front street and when completed fifteen feet will be added to the floor space.

Additions to Choir.

Miss Beatrice Miner, alto, and Thomas MacDonald, basso, are the latest additions to the First Baptist church choir. They sang last Sunday for the first.

Work in New Mexico.

Rev. R. M. Craig will address the young people of the Crescent Avenue church Friday evening, telling of his work in New Mexico.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

What finer smoke can be secured anywhere than at Dobbins' cigar store on Park avenue? His Yara cigars and his better grades are unsurpassed by any manufcturer. He also carries a full line of pipes at almost all prices.

The patrons of S. Scheuer & Company, the West Front street grocers, have learned that they can purchase the best quality of goods at the lowest market prices, thus saving considerable money. If you will but trade at this store you will learn the secret of economy.

To some people all jewelry looks alike, but if you examine the large stock at Charles E. Vail's store in Park avenue, you will quickly perceive the difference. Every article in Mr. Vail's store is guaranteed to be just as represented and honest dealing is the principle at this store.

For anything in pure drugs, medicines, toilet articles and confections don't forget that Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, can supply you promptly. His prescription department is a feature of the store, great care being exercised in compounding and only the best drugs used.

A noted physician says ill health is a crime and R. J. Shaw agrees with him. Sickness in nearly every instance can be remedied if taken care of at the proper time. Shaw has the remedies for all the ailments that are small at first and gradually develope. He makes a specialty of prescription work.

With ten years practical experience in the drug business and two years in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, E. S. F. Randolph is thoroughly capable of filling prescriptions. Since he has been in busines at the corner of North and Watchung avenues, he has filled many hundreds of prescriptions.

L. Moraller & Sons, the Park avenue jewelers, have received some new silverware and jewelry for the spring trade. They make a specialty of repairing watches and jewelry and their years of experience qualify them to undertake the repairing of any watch no matter how valuable and intricate the workmanship.

During the past year, the business of the local A. and P. Tea Company store on West Front street has almost doubled. It can be seen plainly that this result has been attained by the superior grade of goods which is handled. All the groceries, teas and coffee sold at the store are fully guaranteed by the firm to be just as represented. Handsome premiums are given with many of the articles.

THEATRICAL.

One of the most substantial hits of the present New York dramatic season, undoubtedly has been scored by Miss Marie Cahill and her supporting company, in the new musical comedy called "Nancy Brown," which is now running at the Bijou Theatre, New York.

So marked has been the success attending this production which is made by Daniel V. Arthur, that Miss Cahill will remain at the Bijou Theatre until hot weather makes it necessary to close the doors of that popular Broadway playhouse. Since the opening night, the house has practically been sold out for each performance, thus testing how gladly New York has welcomed Miss Cahill to stardom.

Williams & Walker, the noted colored comedians, who sprang into fame in a night as entertainers of "The 400," have proved a genuine novelty on Broadway. They have opened a run in their new musical farce, "In Dahomey," at the New York Theatre and scored a notable success. Their play is elaborately mounted and costumed and is a most worthy and pleasing entertainment. Bert Williams is one of the cleverest of comedians, white or black, and when he is on the stage keeps the audience in a roar. He has made a remarkable hit in his comic topical song, "I Am the Jonah-Man," which never fails to receive a dozen encores. Many New York society people purchase boxes and come to the New York especially to hear this song.

Miss May Rodman, of West Seventh street, is visiting friends in Montclair.

There is one rational way to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it.

vide another man in the cab, whose sole duty it would be to look out for signals?

Should not a stricter observance of the rules relating to signals be insisted upon by the railroad officials, this especially in regard to distance or green signals?

While there is no evidence before us that these signals are not regularly observed on the railroads concerned in this collision, there is a general feeling that a laxity prevails in this matter all over the country.

Should not the railroads adopt, in connection with their automatic visual signals, some one of the automatic safety devices that are now in the market, which actually shut off the steam, apply the brakes and stop the train if the track is blocked or out of order?

To arrive at a correct decision in these matters, which require a great deal of serious and expert study, we suggest that the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, now in session, pass a bill providing for a State Railroad Commission, to be appointed by the Governor, composed mainly of disinterested experts or practical railroad men, who shall investigate the above questions, and others of equal importance which may be brought to their attention.

NEW BOLT AT ALBANY

Five Republicans Balk Senate's Programme.

NEW YORK POLICE BILL DID NOT PASS

Commissioner Greene Was In the Senate Expecting to See the Pet Measure Go Through, but He Was Disappointed.

ALBANY, March 5.—Police Commissioner Francis Vinton Greene of New York city sat at the side of Senator John Raines, who presided over the senate yesterday, and received an insight into the way police legislation for New York city is regarded by members of the upper house.

As a compliment to Commissioner Greene it was arranged to take up the Finch bill increasing the number of policemen in New York city by 2,000, 700 to be appointed this year, 700 next year and for each of the succeeding three years 200, until the total number of 2,000 has been attained. The bill was reported last week by the senate cities committee and was advanced to third reading. It was expected to pass yesterday, but the unexpected happened, and instead of being progressed General Greene beheld one of his favorite bills ruthlessly recommitted to the senate cities committee.

This disposition of the bill was a great surprise and shock to the friends of the Low administration, for they had anticipated that the bill would go through the senate without any opposition except from the Democrats, and no one thought for a minute that any Republican senator would follow the lead of Senator Thomas F. Grady in this respect.

Senators Armstrong of Rochester, W. L. Brown of Herkimer, L'Hommedieu of Orleans, Marshall of Brooklyn and Wilcox of Cayuga voted with the Democrats for recommittal of the bill, the motion being carried by a vote of 27 to 21.

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

"In some mad hour the people might elect a poor man to the United States senate, but, gentlemen, it is time that we should measure our senators by some other qualification than the extent of their bank account."

Hon. John S. Crosby in the course of a speech before the senate judiciary committee made this statement, speaking in advocacy of the Dowling amendment urging a constitutional amendment for the election of United States senators by the people.

"What will be the result," asked Senator Edgar T. Brackett, "if there is a change in the mode of electing United States senators? There has been a suspicion that the United States senate is rather a millionaires' club. You don't suppose that the change will put an end to corrupt methods in securing the election?"

"No," replied Mr. Crosby, "but it will be a step in the right direction."

Judge Bulger called the senate an aristocratic, self propagating body and said that no man could be elected to it unless he was a millionaire.

General Amasa J. Parker, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; W. B. Norris of the State Grange and Clarence G. Scheeran of New York also spoke in favor of the resolution.

Bad Wreck In Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 5.—The northbound Seaboard Limited, leaving Jacksonville at 1:10 p. m., was wrecked at Evergreen, two miles south of the Georgia line, fatally injuring Engineer Pierce and his colored fireman and seriously injuring six other members of the crew, one of whom will probably die, and injuring one Pullman passenger. Wrecking trains with physicians were sent from Jacksonville, and the wounded were brought here. The wreck was caused by an open switch.

The Situation at Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 5.—Dr. George H. Soper of New York city has come here at the instance of the state board of health to thoroughly investigate the typhoid fever conditions. Miss Edna Wensley of Albany, Cornell 1904, has been taken to the Cornell infirmary annex with symptoms of typhoid. The situation in the city is improved, and no more deaths have occurred. The committee of one hundred has located two test artesian wells, and work has begun.

New Assistant Secretary of Treasury.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Robert B. Armstrong, who has been private secretary to Secretary Shaw during the last year, yesterday took the oath of office as assistant secretary of the treasury to succeed General O. L. Spalding. The oath was administered in the presence of the chief officials of the department and a large number of Mr. Armstrong's personal friends.

Hobson's Mission.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 5.—Richmond P. Hobson, formerly of the United States navy, addressed the members of the Kansas legislature yesterday. He said his mission is to educate the people of this country that they are the greatest people in the world. It was the great disappointment of his life, said Hobson, that he was obliged to leave the navy.

Troops on Guard at Colorado City.

COLORADO CITY, Colo., March 5.—The troops sent here by Governor Peabody are doing guard duty about the ore reduction mills, which are being operated with nonunion workmen. There has been no disturbance of any kind of late. A petition to the governor to recall the troops is being circulated here and in Colorado Springs.

THE SHAMROCK'S MAST.

Steel Tube of Surprising Lightness For New Yacht.

LONDON, March 5.—The hollow steel mast which has been made for Shamrock III. is declared to be the most remarkable achievement in yacht construction in the United Kingdom. The workmen who built the spars for all three challengers say that the mast for the new boat is fifteen hundredweight lighter than that of Shamrock II., while the whole spar is eighteen hundredweight lighter than the lower mast of Shamrock I. The workmen declare that they do not see how the steel shell is to withstand the enormous strain of a high wind, but they admit that the designer is apparently satisfied with the result since there is no talk of building an extra spar for an emergency.

Preparing For Yacht Races.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 5.—The sloop yacht Constitution has arrived from New London in tow of the tug Argo to be fitted out in racing trim for the season in anticipation of contests with the other sloop yachts of the ninety foot class. The Constitution was anchored off the Herreshoff workshop and will at once have her spars shipped in place and be rigged. Her underbody will also be cleaned. New suits of sails have been made for the boat, and the old ones will be refitted. Ex-Commodore E. D. Morgan of the New York Yacht club has been at the Herreshoff shops consulting with Designer Herreshoff regarding new sails for the Columbia. He is anxious to have the Columbia out as early as the Constitution or the other boats and before that time if possible.

Smathers' Two-Year-Old Won.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—E. E. Smathers, who has invested nearly $40,000 in thoroughbreds in the last few days, tasted the first fruits of victory on the running turf yesterday, when Dick Bernard, his most recent purchase, galloped home eight lengths in front in the Premier stakes. The Smathers color—brown—was carried for the first time by a runner. Dick Bernard went to the front on the first turn and then made a show of his field. He was eased up all through the last sixteenth and came home in a romp. Petunia, who was second, was generally supposed to be the best two-year-old shown here this season. The stake was worth $1,045 to the winner. Witful was the only other winning favorite.

Pennsylvania Defeats Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 5.—The Princeton basketball team was defeated here by the University of Pennsylvania team by the score of 37 to 30. Princeton played a faster and better game than the visitors in the first half, but failed to get as effective team work in the second half.

Racing In the Rain.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—A heavy rain fell during the greater part of the day at Oakland, and the track was sloppy. Favorites or well supported horses were successful.

Williams Won From Dartmouth.

HANOVER, N. H., March 5.—Dartmouth was defeated at basketball here last night by Williams, 18 to 7. The home team was outplayed throughout.

Brown Wins at Basketball.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5.—Brown defeated Massachusetts Institute of Technology at basketball, 28 to 18.

Beef Trust Will Appeal.

CHICAGO, March 5.—The beef trust has decided to stand by its demurrer to the allegations made against it by the federal government when the cases against the combined packers were begun several months ago and will appeal from the decision overruling it. This alternative was chosen in preference to the hearing of testimony of the inner workings of the combine. It is understood that the government has a voluminous supply of testimony of every sort bearing on the case and taken in all parts of the country.

Jealous Husband's Double Crime.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., March 5.—After accusing his wife Cordelia of receiving the attentions of another man during his absence Medard Fiset shot and killed her and then ended his own existence with a bullet from the same weapon. The single witness of this family tragedy, Joseph Garlepy, says that Fiset was actuated by jealousy in committing the deed.

Van Horne to Meet Morgan.

MONTREAL, Que., March 5.—Sir William Van Horne has left for New York to attend a meeting of the directors of the Cuban railway. It is intimated that afterward he will go to Cuba to have a conference with J. Pierpont Morgan about a new steamship service to Cuba.

Novelist Shorthouse Dead.

LONDON, March 5.—Joseph Henry Shorthouse, the author of "John Inglesant" and other novels, is dead in his sixty-ninth year.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Ovation For Retiring Speaker Henderson.

ALL NIGHT SESSION IN THE HOUSE

Angry Protest of Cannon at Tillman's Holdup—Senator Mason's Farewell—Appropriations Increased Over Fifty-sixth Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Fifty-seventh congress of the United States came to an end at noon yesterday. A remarkable demonstration in honor of the retiring speaker, David B. Henderson, marked the adjournment of the house. Members and spectators waved flags and shouted themselves hoarse with applause when Mr. Henderson, showing evidence of great emotion, rose to reply to resolutions of thanks which the house had adopted. A procession marched around the hall, and songs were sung. The newspaper men in the press gallery followed their time honored custom and sang "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow," when the session ended.

The closing scenes in the senate were comparatively tame, all important business having been cleared away before the final session began.

There were crowded galleries to appeal to the vanity of senators who like to talk to appreciative audiences, and several of them took advantage of the occasion.

Senator Hear found opportunity to air his deep seated opposition to the retention of the Philippine Islands. He and Senator Carmack devoted some time to an endeavor to straighten out their controversy of last night, this ending with the usual assurances of mutual good will. Senator Lodge reviewed the status of the Philippine legislation in the light of the action of this congress, claiming credit for the $1,000,000 appropriation and the currency bill and showing that the responsibility for nonaction upon the tariff bill was due to open opposition of a few men on the Democratic side of the chamber.

Then "Billy" Mason was recognized for his senatorial swan song. He criticised the Republican leaders for refusing to pass the statehood bill and then branched off to his favorite theme, that of the necessity for a closure rule. As usual, Mason caught the galleries, especially when he referred to the fact of the impending end of his own official life, which he protested was due to no fault of his own.

President Roosevelt arrived at the capitol shortly after 10 o'clock and was soon joined in the president's room by the members of his cabinet. An informal reception was held, the senators dropping in to shake hands with Mr. Roosevelt.

The number of bills to be signed was less than usual owing to the filibustering in both houses during the last hours of the session. The general deficiency appropriation bill became a law at 11 o'clock, and twenty minutes later the naval bill, the last of the great appropriation carriers, was added to the statutes by the president's signature.

One of the most touching incidents of the closing scenes in the senate was the late arrival in the chamber of the veteran statesman Vest (Mo.), now in feeble health. He was assisted to his seat by a faithful attendant. Upon his desk was a small bunch of yellow jonquils tied with a band of yellow ribbon. It was his last day in the senate, his retirement being entirely voluntary after twenty-four years of continuous service.

LAST HOURS IN THE HOUSE.

The house had sat until 4 o'clock in the morning to dispose of the last of the big appropriation bills, which had been held up for several hours by a threat of Senator Tillman to kill them if an item which he favored were not included among the general deficiencies. Mr. Cannon, who will be speaker of the next house and who had yielded in bitterness of spirit to Tillman's threat, made the incident the text of a speech in which he denounced that sort of "legislative blackmail" and declared that the senate must change its method of procedure or the house would become a "mere bender of the pregnant hinges of the knee."

The decks were clear for the final adjournment at noon when the house reconvened at 10 o'clock.

The veteran chairman of the appropriations committee, Mr. Cannon, with a red carnation in his buttonhole, came into the hall with his arm around Mr. Dalzell just as Speaker Henderson, whose long career in congress was to end in two short hours, ascended the rostrum. The speaker, despite the strain of the last few days, looked smiling and serene as he faced the house, gavel in hand. As soon as his gavel fell he announced that no quorum was present, and thereupon Mr. Payne, the majority leader, moved a call of the house.

As the roll call was concluded an interesting scene occurred. Speaker Henderson yielded the gavel to Mr. Cannon, the incoming speaker. As the latter took the chair the members broke into a burst of applause in which the galleries joined. It was quite as much a compliment to the retiring speaker as to Mr. Cannon. The speaker retired to his room in the rear of the hall. Amid intense silence Mr. Payne, the majority leader, then arose and offered the following resolution of thanks to the retiring speaker:

"Resolved, That the thanks of this house are presented to the Hon. David B. Henderson, speaker of the house of representatives, for the able, impartial and dignified manner in which he has presided over its deliberations and performed the arduous and important duties of the chair during the present term of congress."

As the reading concluded Mr. Cochran (Dem., Mo.) was on his feet demanding recognition, but the chair ruled that Mr. Payne was entitled to the floor. The majority leader faced the minority as he paid a glowing tribute to Speaker Henderson.

As he concluded the Republican side broke into hearty applause, but there was dead silence on the Democratic side. When Mr. Payne demanded the previous question and Speaker Pro Tem. Cannon put the question, there was a second of oppressive silence. All eyes were on the Democratic side. From the rear row Mr. Cochran (Dem., Mo.) arose quickly and in a loud voice cried "Division!" and then "The yeas and nays!"

"The gentleman from Missouri demands the yeas and nays," announced the chair. "As many as are in favor of ordering the yeas and nays will rise and stand until they are counted."

Mr. Cochran was already on his feet. Mr. Burleson (Dem., Tex.), at his side, joined him, and a score of other Democrats also arose. The chair counted and amid intense silence announced that twenty-one had seconded the demand. "Forty-two are necessary to order the yeas and nays," he announced; "not a sufficient number, and the yeas and nays are refused."

Now the question came on the adoption of the resolution. Again Mr. Cochran demanded a record vote. This time only seventeen Democrats joined in the demand.

Before the house adjourned Speaker Henderson delivered his valedictory. He was visibly affected during his address, which was largely an appeal to patriotism. When the house was finally declared adjourned sine die at 12:02 p. m., the whole membership united in singing the national anthem. The members, still singing, then filed down to the speaker's rostrum to bid the speaker farewell.

Among the distinguished men who retired from public life at the close of the Fifty-seventh congress none is held in higher esteem by his colleagues than Galusha A. Grow, representative at large from Pennsylvania. As a token of their regard for him the members of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation at a meeting attended by every member adopted unanimously a resolution setting forth in eulogistic terms the unusual character and duration of Representative Grow's services to his state and to his country and expressing the regret felt by all on account of his retirement from congress.

APPROPRIATIONS INCREASED.

The appropriations made during the session of congress just closed aggregated $753,484,018 as against $800,624,496 for the last session. The total for the entire congress thus footed up $1,554,108,514, or something more than $100,000,000 in excess of the total appropriations for the Fifty-sixth congress, the total for that congress being $1,440,489,438.

The Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—There is a probability that the Cuban reciprocity treaty will be taken up at the extra session of the senate in advance of the Panama canal treaty, but the order of business will not be determined for a day or two. When the senate goes into executive session today, the treaties will be referred to the committee on foreign relations, a proceeding which is made necessary by the expiration of the old congress and the opening of the new.

It is the desire of Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee, to have the senate dispose of as many as possible of the pending treaties. These include not only the Panama and Cuban treaties, but extradition treaties with Mexico and Guatemala, the reciprocity treaties and also some others of minor importance. It is generally believed that the called session will continue for two or three weeks.

Miss Roosevelt Leaves New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and Miss Foot, who have been visiting the city during the past two weeks, have left for Galveston.

INJUNCTION OBEYED.

Wabash Employees Seek to Have Order Dissolved.

PRESIDENT RAMSEY'S STATEMENT.

Explains to Would Be Strikers His Position In Present Crisis—Sympathetic Strike of Two Thousand Trackmen Rumored.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—Everything now hinges on the injunction which the labor leaders will attempt to have dissolved, and until this shall be done away with there can be no strike, for they have agreed to obey the court's order. E. T. Irwin of Peoria and E. V. Penny of Cleveland, attorneys for the trainmen, have been in conference with P. H. Morrissey and S. W. Arnold and other union leaders, examining the injunction and preparing an answer that will be presented in court to secure a dissolution of the restraining order.

President Ramsey said: "Everything has been running smoothly, and there are no indications that our men have gone out or will do so soon. I have not seen any members of the grievance committee today and know nothing of what is transpiring at their headquarters."

Asked as to the effect of a sympathetic strike on the part of the trackmen, 2,000 of whom, Grand Master Wilkins says, are ready to support the trainmen and firemen if they shall go out, President Ramsey said:

"It would have very little effect on the situation. In case of a strike we could get all the men we should need to take the places of strikers in all departments."

A long statement has been issued by President Ramsey addressed to employees of the Wabash Railroad company and others interested, explaining his position in the present crisis.

Michael C. Murphy Dead.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Colonel Michael C. Murphy, long a prominent Tammany politician, former police commissioner, former president of the board of health and civil war veteran, has succumbed to heart disease at his home, 582 Broome street. Though he had been in failing health for more than a week, Colonel Murphy's death was sudden and unexpected. For a time longer than many men prominent in New York politics can remember Colonel Murphy had been a leader in local political affairs and had served his party in many important positions of trust.

Hard Times In Germany.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Reviewing Germany's commercial record for the past year, Consul General Frank H. Mason, at Berlin, in a report to the state department declares that while a few branches of manufacture and trade experienced a partial recovery the year as a whole belonged to the period of overproduction, collapse and panic which began in the summer of 1900 and has caused the condition still prevalent, wherein prices of food and raw materials are above all logical relation to the market values of finished products.

Cuban Opposition to Treaty.

HAVANA, March 5.—The report on the reciprocity treaty with the United States was taken up by the senate yesterday afternoon and went over until Friday after an animated debate occasioned by efforts at filibustering by the few opponents of the treaty. The merits of the treaty were not discussed. It is evident that the ratification will be voted by an ample majority. J. Pierpont Morgan and some of his American and Cuban friends occupied the seats set apart for distinguished visitors at the opening of the session, but did not remain for the debate.

Newfoundland Legislature Opens.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., March 5.—The colonial legislature opened today. The governor's speech announced a varied legislative programme. The measures proposed include a project of cold storage for fish products, the revision of the fishery laws and a new mining policy. A number of members of the legislature are strongly in favor of the exclusion of American fishermen from Newfoundland waters.

Much Live Stock Has Perished.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 5.—Reports received here by the state live stock board indicate that the weather of the last week has been more severe on cattle than any for several years. Thousands of animals have perished on the western plains during the last week. The snow is so deep that the grass is beyond the reach of the animals.

Fatal Texas Wreck.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 5.—The westbound Southern Pacific passenger train was derailed at Alleyton, one coach going over. Tipp Weeds and Clement Cooper, both negro passengers, were killed, and seven others were hurt, none seriously. Engineer Pickern and Fireman Roberts were hurt, but not fatally.

Columbia Fencers Defeat Cornell.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Columbia's fencing team defeated the Cornell team last night by the score of 7 to 2. Columbia was represented by E. Pitou, S. B. Clark and L. E. Mahan and Cornell by M. L. Bowman, H. L. Blount and H. Quneau.

Ohio River Dangerously High.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 5.—The Ohio river marks thirty-seven feet and is still rising. The water is now over two feet above the danger line. The belief is that the forty foot stage is as high as it will go at this time.

THE TWO VERDICTS.

After looking into the circumstances of the Westfield disaster, the Union county Grand Jury has decided that Engineer Davis was primarily to blame but declares that the Jersey Central and Reading Railroads should not escape all censure. A hasty glance at the findings of the Grand Jury might lead one to believe that the verdict was considerably different from that of the coroner's inquest. A careful comparison of the two, however, cannot fail to result in the discovery of a great similarity between the two. The context and the arrangement of the two verdicts differ widely but, as a matter of fact, it is plain that both bodies have been considering identically the same facts and have arrived at the same general conclusion.

Engineer Davis was primarily to blame. So said the coroner's jury, so echoes the Grand Jury. But there were extenuating circumstances, declared the coroner's jury. The railroad companies should not be entirely free from censure, adds the Grand Jury. Then the coroner's jury advanced certain recommendations regarding the service of the railroads and advised that they be carefully considered. The Grand Jury enumerated certain ways wherein it believed that the railroad company had failed to do its entire duty. In a few details, the verdicts may differ but substantially they are the same although told in a different way.

There was no direct statement in the verdict of the coroner's jury which blamed the railroad. It declared that the railroad companies were free from any criminal responsibility but explained, indirectly, that there were existing conditions which it believed should be remedied. The Grand Jury came out directly and blamed the railroads for allowing certain conditions to exist.

A careful perusal of the two verdicts is very interesting and brings home these facts already noted. For the benefit of its readers who are interested in the subject, The Daily Press prints today, side by side, the verdict of the Grand Jury and extracts from the verdict of the coroner's jury, containing all the facts bearing directly on the case and omitting only a few details. If you read them carefully, you will see for yourself that the Grand Jury's investigation and its findings have not changed the situation a single bit. The blame remains where it was originally placed and the railroad companies have pointed out to them certain lines in which citizens of Union county believe their service is deficient.

With its usual enterprise, The Daily Press was the local newspaper to print the complete verdict of the Grand Jury regarding the Westfield disaster.

TROUBLE OVER NEW ROAD

THE FREEHOLDERS WILL EXAMINE THE SITUATION FOR THEMSELVES.

County Engineer Doughty Raised Question That Put Temporary Stop to Awarding Contracts.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 5 — A special meeting of the Somerset county Board of Freeholders was held in the Court House yesterday and all the members were in attendance. This was called for the purpose of awarding the contract for macadamizing Mountain avenue from the Bound Brook borough line to Watchung mountain.

County Engineer Doughty reported that there is much doubt about securing sufficient filling to build the proposed road. Therefore it was decided that the board meet on the road in question Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to examine the same, if possible, and that the board receive bids for the construction on Wednesday afternoon, March 11, from 2 to 3 o'clock, at the Court House.

Richards & Gaston, J. W. Rehill and John McNabb were the bidders present and they kindly consented to the postponement.

PERSONAL.

Miss M. V. Stickle, of East Fifth street, is away on a trip in the south for a few weeks.

Rev. George P Noble has returned from Montclair, where he occupied a Presbyterian pulpit Sunday.

Mrs. Noah Norris and Mrs. Arthur F. Hogan, of New York, have returned home after visiting Mrs. Samuel C. Peck, of West Front street.

Wm. M. Demler, of Watchung, came to this city yesterday and received the congratulations of his friends on the arrival at his home of a little girl. The little stranger arrived Tuesday evening

Wm. G. Evans, of Syracuse, N. Y., was a guest of friends on West Third street Monday. He was one of those who were in line and only a few steps from President McKinley when he was shot down at Buffalo.

NEW OFFICERS.

Elected by the Borough Board of Health Monday Evening.

At the meeting of the Borough Board of Health which was held Monday evening, new officers were elected as follows: Andrew Love, Sr., president; W. E Honeyman, treasurer and secretary, and William N. Pangborn, inspector. John Burke appeared before the meeting for Mrs. Brown and explained in a satisfactory manner why refuse has been dumped outside the limits of the borough dumps. No action was taken by the board.

Going to Play.

Miss Weller, of Craig place, entertained the Duplicate Whist Club, of which she is a member, at her home Tuesday evening. A very pleasant time was had by the club. Instead of awarding prizes, the members have decided to use the money given for prizes in purchasing tickets to the theatre. Tuesday evening it was decided to see "The Sultan of Sulu," and the club will make a trip to New York within a short time for that purpose.

Bowling Prize Awarded.

A social was enjoyed Tuesday afternoon by the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., when the prize for the bowling contest was awarded to the winner, Harry Gilmore, of Westfield. The prize was a bowling ball on which was a silver plate. On the plate was the name of the winner and the year in which the prize was won.

Milk Cases Settled.

Three of the milk cases, which were to have been tried before Justice Smalley on several occasions and which have been adjourned, have been settled out of court. The remaining one has been adjourned until Friday.

—Mrs. A. L. Ransom has removed to 147 East Fifth street.

—At the Congregational Junior meeting Friday afternoon each Junior will receive a picture of a lion. The subject is "Lessons from Lions."

DUNELLEN.

The funeral of Miss Louise Holmes, whose death occurred at Plainfield a few days ago, was held yesterday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. Augustus Sampson, of this place. The service was a very impressive one and was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, Plainfield. A large number of friends and relatives of the deceased was present. During the services Charles Lewis sang, "The Heavenly Summer Land," and "The Homeland," very effectively. There were a number of beautiful floral offerings. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Evidently the fame of the Presbyterian parsonage for a place for wandering couples to get married has spread widely for on Wednesday, Feb. 24, Miss Kate Lornarson and Hardy Vliet, of White House Station, came and asked Rev. N. J. Sproul to make them man and wife. Two witnesses were procured and the nupital knot was quickly tied. The couple departed for their home immediately after the ceremony. This is only one of a number of similar couples that have come to Mr. Sproul in this manner.

John Limepeter, of this place, received a severe injury while at work in Levering & Garrigues factory yesterday. A heavy iron plate became detached and fell on him. His left hip was knocked out of joint and he was otherwise bruised and cut. He was taken to Muhlerburg Hospital at once.

A number of her young friends arranged a surprise party last evening for Miss Elsie Peters, on the occasion of her sixteenth birthday. The young people enjoyed an exceedingly pleasant evening with games and music. Refreshments were served before the guests departed for their homes.

A meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held Tuesday evening at which routine business was considered.

There was only a small attendance in the local churches at prayer meeting last evening.

NEW MARKET.

The following ticket was named at the Republican primary held yesterday afternoon in Friendship Hall:, Assessor, George Bunting; collector, A. A. Parker; commissioner of appeal, C. S. Boice; commissioners of highways, A. Boice and Luther Boice; member of Township Committee, Thomas Brantingham. Six thousand dollars were voted for roads and $1,200 for the poor. The meeting was largely attended and was quite harmonious.

Band practice will be held this evening in the room over Roger's coal office.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Republican voters will hold their primary Friday evening in Excelsior Hall. Contrary to the usual custom there will be no contest for any of the offices to be filled and from the present outlook the leaders of the party will have a hard time to find a candidate to fill the several offices. The township is normally Republican by forty and has always carried at a State or National election but when the spring election is held for township offices, factional fight developes and at the present day it is hard to find candidates who are willing to be put up and be knocked down by their own party. The nomination of T. J. Nicholl, for Town Committee, which will be made by the Democrats, will no doubt be indorsed by the Republican ticket.

The C. B. C. Society, composed of the boys of the Methodist church, held an interesting meeting last tonight in the church. During the evening the members were entertained by Mrs. Elizabeth Sykes, who gave an interesting account of her recent travels in Europe.

The Democratic primary will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Bucket and Engine Company's rooms. As everything seems to be harmonious there is hardly a chance for any contest over the several nominations to be made.

The meeting was well attended and from the present outlook the class, while select, will be quite large. Mrs. Westcott, of Somerville, will have charge of the class. Meetings will be held once a week.

Freeholder John Robison and family, who has been boarding for the past year at the home of Mrs. Chas. N. Flanders, have started housekeeping again, renting the Peter Frazer cottage in the borough.

The young girls' "Amity Club" held a meeting Tuesday evening at the Library room. Readings and recitations from Longfellow's poems, with vocal and instrumental music were the features.

A play will be given at Excelsior Hall in a few weeks, for the benefit of the Scotch Plains Public Library. It will be under the direction of Mrs. VanHansen, of Fanwood.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Whitenack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Whitenack, of Forest avenue, to John Kandelky, of New York.

Frederick Ivamy, who recently sold his hotel busines to Mr. Earl, of Newark, will hold an auction sale of household goods at the hotel Saturday afternoon.

Louis Clark, who is charged by Con O'Donnell, of Plainfield, with threatening his life, will be given a hearing before Judge Clark tonight.

Fanwood Bucket and Engine Company held its regular monthly meeting in its rooms last night. Routine business was transacted.

A number of the younger members of the village and borough society met in Excelsior Hall last night and formed a dancing class.

The teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will be entertained at their weekly meeting tonight by the Misses Hayes, of the borough.

Mrs. Stites M. Parse, of Front street, is improving from a severe illness which has detained her at home for a week.

Miss Evelyn Buckley, who has been visiting her aunt, Miss Susie Parse, has returned to her home in Plainfield.

Miss Cunningham and Miss Reger, both of Westfield, were the guest Wednesday evening of Miss Sadie Reger.

The Board of Education held a regular monthly meeting in the school parlor Tuesday evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

George Steengraff has disposed of a large part of the personal property which he recently bought of F. A. Barnaby.

H. Cathers, township supervisor, visited the local school yesterday afternoon, and brought school supplies.

Mrs. Thomas A. Linnaberry called upon some of her friends in town yesterday afternoon.

A flock of wild ducks were seen circling over the pond just before night yesterday.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at Bethel chapel Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

—At the Plainfield Rescue Mission tonight there will be speaking, singing, music and recitations. A good time is expected.

—A better opportunity to secure potatoes has never been offered. Neuman Brothers have just received a car load of Michigan Puritans that will be sold very low.

—F. N. Bradley, of New York, has rented the pretty cottage house 1216 Putnam avenue, through J. T. Vail's agency, and with his family will become a resident of Plainfield May 1.

—George Conover, Jr., has accepted a position with J. R. Blair, the Park avenue haberdasher. Mr. Conover succeeds Harry Blimm who recently resigned his position there to accept one with Pope, the electrician, of West Fourth street.

G. D. Hallock Made Receiver.

George D. Hallock, of Willow avenue, was yesterday appointed one of the receivers for the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company, which was engaged in the salmon fishing industry from Puget Sound to Alaska. The appointment was made by Judge Kirkpatrick in the United States Circuit Court, the application being made by the Colonial Trust Company of New York.

Mrs. Joseph Schulthies and children, of Jersey City, are spending a week with her mother, Mrs. John A. Goodwin, of Manning avenue.

REFORM CLUB FORMS AN ATHLETIC CLUB

Reform Athletic Association Organized to Promote Baseball and Other Athletics.

FORTY-FIVE MEMBERS

TEMPORARY OFFICERS WERE CHOSEN AT MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Committee Appointed to Look After Baseball Team—Other Committees Named—Meets Again Next Wednesday Evening.

Formal steps were taken, last evening to bring the young men who have been participating in the social privileges of the Reform Club into a substantial organization for the fostering and promotion of athletics. Forty-five young men met in the hall and on being called to order by Edward P. T. Smith, secretary of the Reform Club, began what is to be known as the Reform Athletic Association. Temporary officers were elected as follows: President, Thomas Mack; secretary, Bernard Brady; treasurer, William O'Loughlin. Dues were fixed at twenty-five cents a month and the age limit for membership at seventeen years.

Baseball will be made a feature during the coming season and this branch of the organization will be in charge of a committee consisting of Edward Taylor, William Lawlor and Joseph Barry. Among the charter members there are a number of good all round players and no doubt a strong team will be placed in the field.

Other committees were appointed as follows: By-laws, Joseph Galbraith, Harry Montross and E. P. T. Smith; subscription, E. P. T. Smith, Joseph Higgins and Clarence Pope. The members adjourned for one week when it is expected the membership list will be greatly increased.

Services at Holy Cross.

Services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Cross. The special preacher will be Rev. H. E. Gilchrist, rector of St. Luke's church, Roselle. Tomorrow there will be morning prayer and litany at 10 o'clock, evening prayer and address at 4:30; Saturday, evening prayer at 4:30.

M. J. Cashin, of West Fifth street, is detained at home by an attack of grip.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 8—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from the sermon on the mount: What Christ teaches about heart righteousness.—Matt. v, 20-48; vi, 16-18.

Christianity is a religion of grace, but this does not mean that it is a religion of license. Sin is not to abound in the Christian life that grace may much more abound. Christ came not to destroy the law, but to fulfill it. The grace of Christ "is not a pardon of the past with indifference as regards the future. It is forgiveness as a foundation and preparation for a new and better life. More is expected of the Christian than of the Jew, of the convert than of the sinner." No one realized this fact more than Christ, and He took particular pains to lay stress upon it in the sermon on the mount. He demands a superior righteousness of His followers to that of Judaism, what our topic well calls "heart righteousness." What does He teach about it?

1. Christ teaches that Christian righteousness begins in the heart. The righteousness of the Jews was external rather than internal. It consisted too much in the deeds of the hand rather than in a right heart condition. But Christ wanted this order reversed in Christianity; hence He said, "Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." In fasting they disfigured their faces that men might see their pretended devotion. In praying they stood upon the street corners that men might witness their supposed piety. Though guiltless perhaps of overt acts of sin, they were not guiltless of malice and hate and lust within. But Christ demands inward righteousness, internal good will toward brethren and purity of heart as well as of life.

2. Christ teaches that heart righteousness should be cultivated at any sacrifice. To rid the heart as well as the life of sin may require heroic treatment. Actions are much easier controlled than thoughts and imaginations. The hands may be kept clean while the heart is far from pure, but clean hands and pure hearts are both required of those who would find acceptance with God in Christ; hence at any cost heart righteousness should be developed. It should be valued above any physical organ, such as an eye or a hand. God's Spirit alone can create in us clean hearts, and we should depend upon Him to keep us in inward righteousness.

3. Christ teaches that heart righteousness should manifest itself in the life. Reconciliation is to precede the consecration of gifts at God's altar; adversaries are to be agreed with speedily; for any wrong done full retribution is to be made; personal and social oaths are to be avoided; vengeance is to give place to meekness, and in the various relations of life more is to be given than can be legally demanded—for one coat two are to be given; for one mile two miles—that is, Christians who are righteous at heart must also be so in their lives, and not only so, but they must exceed in their lives what can be justly expected of them. They must "love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you and pray for them that despitefully use you." The standard is high, but by the grace of God we should strive toward it.

BIBLE READINGS.

I Sam. xvi, 7; Ps. ii, 10; Prov. iv, 23; Jer. xvii, 10, 11; Ezek. xi, 17-20; xviii, 31, 32; Matt. v, 8; xi, 28-30; Eph. iii, 14-19; Phil. iv, 6, 7.

The Greatest Man.

The Ram's Horn recently asked and solicited answers to these questions: "Who is the greatest man in the world at this moment and why?" The following is one of the answers submitted, paying a tribute to the founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D.:

Not he is great whose hand is red
With blood in mighty conquest shed
Till victory marks all his ways
And nations sing aloud his praise.
Far greater he who opes the door
Where Knowledge keeps her treasure store
Or seeks to banish greed and strife
By teaching men high aims in life,
But greatest he whose voice and pen
Have drawn to God his fellow men
And welded in one giant band
The Christian souls of every land.
—John R. Clements.

Its Spiritual Machinery.

When people object to the pledge and say there is too much machinery about the Endeavor idea, let us show them it is spiritual machinery and that there is prayer behind it all.—Heard In a Convention.

God's Right.

Pleading for self surrender in a recent quiet hour service Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark said, "God has a right to have a chance at us."

Quiz Box.

[Any question may be asked that pertains to any phase of Christian Endeavor work. Address Lock Box 674, Binghamton, N. Y.]

41. O., Detroit, Mich.—All who are interested in systematic, devotional Bible study should read "Bible Study For Personal Spiritual Growth," an address by Mr. John R. Mott. Daily Bible, the official devotional calendar of the New York State Christian Endeavor union, has reprinted this address, together with an address on the Bible by President Roosevelt. A copy of the issue containing these two valuable addresses will be sent free on request. Address Daily Bible, Clifton Springs, N. Y.

42. F., Ithaca, N. Y.—The Binghamton (N. Y.) City Union has secured a dozen copies of "Individual Work For Individuals," by Rev. H. Clay Trumbull, and is circulating them among the various societies to be read by not less than ten persons in each; this as a preliminary step to an aggressive campaign of personal work.

Proposals for Furnishing Crushed Stone and Material for Culverts and Crosswalks.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, at the regular adjourned meeting held February 24, 1903, notice is hereby given that the Committee on Streets and Sewers will meet at the office of the Committee, No. 151 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, on Thursday, March 12, 1903, at 8 o'clock p. m., at which time and place said Committee on Streets and Sewers will receive sealed proposals for furnishing crushed stone, and for furnishing material for culverts and crosswalks as follows:

For crushed stone for the remainder of the year 1903, the bids to state the price per ton of 2,000 lbs, for furnishing the following sizes, viz:

Fine screenings, ½ inch clean stone, 1½ inch stone and 2½ inch stone, in such quantities, and delivered at such places in the City as the Street Commissioner may direct.

The above must be of the very best quality of trap rock, free from weathered stone, dirt, clay or other foreign matter, and in every way acceptable to the said Street Commissioner.

The stone must be weighed on such scales as the Street Commissioner may direct, and a voucher or weigh bill must be delivered with every load to the said Street Commissioner or his authorized representative.

Also for furnishing the following materials for culverts and crosswalks:

Cover stone for culverts not larger than 4 ft by 3 ft. by not less than 3½ inches in thickness, per square foot.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 8, "The Sabbath Day For Worship and Rest"—Text, Ex. xxxi, 15-17; Mark ii, 27.

"The Sabbath was made for man."

The Sabbath rest is first of all and chiefly a religious institution. It is based on the moral needs of man's nature. Rest is needed for the body and mind, and no other period seems to meet the requirements of the case so well as one day in seven. Why this should be so no one has discovered, but that it is a fact is well established by observation of the most extended and critical character. Close examination in a great number of cases, extending over a long period of time, has demonstrated that in all kinds of business the rest of one day in seven is of greatest advantage and secures a larger amount of work well done than is possible with any other arrangement.

Nightly rest and sleep do not always fully recuperate the physical system. To maintain the height of vigor and effectiveness this needs to be supplemented by the weekly Sabbath.

But we are something other and better than machines for doing work. Other considerations are to be taken into account besides making us the best developed animals that may be possible. Bodies are of value as instruments of the soul. Spirit is the essential thing in life. What we are cannot be wholly told by weight on the scales. The man is not measured in feet and inches. Cultivation of physical strength is desirable. Growth of soul is absolutely essential. Our worth to ourselves and our value in the world of being can be estimated only in spiritual terms. Character counts, and character only does count. Get all the world, its knowledge and wealth and be worthless in soul, it will be like books and coins in the hands of a corpse.

But manhood and womanhood grow only as connected with Godhood. "Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word which proceedeth out of the mouth of God." To secure bodily life time and toil are needed. Time and toil are needed to get bread from the natural world. God sustains nature and man works to get food from it. Man and God meet and co-operate in this physical realm. It is equally necessary in all soul life and moral nature that men draw supplies from the Divine One. There must be time for this. There must be a period of release from physical labor and weariness so that the mind can rest on the truths of spirit and cultivate the faculties which cannot get the attention they require in the ordinary toil of life.

To know God and enter into right relations with Him in thought, feeling and will take time. The Sabbath is needed and is given for this. Whatever best helps one to attain this end is proper for the Sabbath. All that hinders the highest realization of this soul union with God is improper.

No rigid system of rules for conduct can be laid down as binding upon any one for the proper keeping of the day.

On the other hand, no indulgence of anything which benumbs the conscience or hinders the most perfect confidence in God or chills the most ardent love for Him and His service can be tolerated without injury.

The Kingdom of God.

Heaven, as we all know, is not some special place or external condition. Heaven is where love and truth are and where they are being realized in life. Heaven is a state of man's thought and love. It is therefore something that may come into existence with any one at any time in which love and truth can come into existence in his heart. With any person, therefore, the "kingdom of heaven is at hand" whenever the state of love and truth and life, which constitute the kingdom of heaven, is at hand. But, as the Lord is always present with every one and is ever seeking with His divine love and wisdom to enter each one's heart, heaven is always in this way at hand.—Rev. C. H. Mann.

Working Together With Him.

It is assuming with gladness the other end of Christ's yoke and working together with Him in blessed fellowship. The yoke thus taken will not chafe; the burden will prove not burdensome. There will be no discouragement, no disturbance, but meekness, quietness and perpetual peace. Blessed are they who find this rest and grow therein!—Zion's Herald.

Honoring God.

Go to your knees and cry to God in prayer, and crooked things shall be made straight. Be willing to be guided, and you shall be guided. If you blunder on in your self sufficiency, you will soon be in a slough, but if you will wait upon God your steps shall be ordered of the Lord. We honor God by taking counsel of Him.—Spurgeon.

Not Unmanly.

It is not unmanly to be religious. True manhood is always religious, for religion cultivates the sturdy elements of character, prepares a man for the efforts of everyday life and gives him insight into his present relations to the spiritual world.—Bishop Vincent.

God's Angels.

God's angels drop like grains of gold
Our duties 'midst life's shining sands,
And from them, one by one, we mold
Our own bright crowns with patient hands.
From dust and dross we gather them;
We toil and stoop, for love's sweet sake,
To find each worthy act a gem
In glory's kingly diadem,
Which we may daily richer make.

For nearly an hour carriages had been passing, conveying students and young ladies and their chaperones to the gymnasium, where the senior ball was that night to be held. Rossiter's special friends were making calls in town, and within the fraternity house the under-classmen were entertaining several prospective freshmen. Rossiter was hence left quite to himself, yet he was in no wise lonely, his thoughts being very agreeable company. Presently strains of music floated down to him across the campus. For a while he listened to them dreamily, then it occurred to him that it might be interesting to see what an up-to-date college ball was like, so he rose and sauntered towards the gymnasium.

As he emerged from the maple shadow, he found the combination of music and moonlight so beguiling that he was in no hurry to venture farther, so he seated himself upon the steps of the chapel, which adjoined the gymnasium, directly beneath the symmetrical finger of the spire.

To the north he could mark the spasmodic twinkling of the electric towers of Illica, and there, in the vague purple distance to the southeast, lay the Merton farm.

His face was set in this direction when an unusually lively air from the orchestra stirred him from his reverie. With something like a sigh he turned towards the gymnasium, and was soon climbing to the third floor. As he wheeled about to survey the room, on reaching the top stair, a gay spectacle met his eye. Great streamers of old gold and blue—the college colors—were festooned from beam to beam above the whirling dancers, and at intervals flags and trophies captured at intercollegiate meets were suspended. There was a general flutter of gauzy fabrics and a blending of talk and laughter that ever and anon surged above a dip in the music.

Among the patronesses, sitting not far from where he stood, Rossiter espied the wife of one of the professors, a lady who had formerly shown him many kindnesses, and he crossed to speak with her. He then found a seat about half way down the room in one of the deep windows. Could anything be more blithesome, more full of debonair life, he thought, than the scene before him? They were draining the clearest wine of the cup of youth, these gay dancers!

For an instant the floor at his right was nearly clear, and as his eyes traversed this space they fell upon a woman of middle age and a young lady sitting upon an improvised divan on the opposite side of the room. He started as though touched by an electric current. Was it—could it be? Did his vision not deceive him? He sprang up, but at that instant two dancers swept between him and the face on which he had suddenly become strenuously intent.

The dancers passed. Yes, he was not mistaken. It was the girl he had known as Sylvia Densmore. His heart gave a throb. One of the ball committee was hastening by, a student whom Rossiter had spoken with that day at the fraternity house. Rossiter seized him by the arm.

"Can you tell me," said he, "who that girl is yonder?" indicating the place with a nod. "The one upon the divan."

The student leaned forward so that he could see between the spinning couples.

"That's Miss Densmore, of Illica," he answered. "Would you like to be introduced to her? She's——" He stopped, amazed. Rossiter had caught only his first words, and was already making his way around the edge of the gyrating throng.

She was Miss Densmore still! A new hope sang in his brain, and his heart began dancing in rhythm to the violins. He was perhaps 20 feet distant when Miss Densmore realized that some one was approaching and glanced towards him, casually at first, then with a quick, amazed intentness. He saw the color (she had more than formerly) recede from her cheeks and then flood back again. She rose a little unsteadily.

"Is it—is it possible?" she exclaimed. "Mr. Rossiter!"

"Yes," he answered, beaming upon her as he clasped the hand which she extended.

One surveyed at a glance his trimly clad figure.

"Then you deceived us, after all," she said, with a shade of reproach in her tone. "You were masquerading!"

"No! no!" cried Rossiter. "If you will permit me, I will—"

Miss Densmore seemed suddenly to recollect herself, and presented Rossiter to the lady with whom she had been chatting—her mother. With Mrs. Densmore (a refined, low-spoken woman) Rossiter exchanged a few polite words, and then, at the daughter's suggestion, seated himself by the side of the latter upon the divan. He could but realize that the girl was agitated, and as for himself, his wits seemed all at once to have flown to the four corners of the earth.

SPORTING NEWS

INDOOR SPORTS.

A five-week athletic meet will be started at the Y. M. C. A., this coming Saturday, among the members of the junior department. There will be two events run off every Saturday and this week the features of the meet will be the quarter-mile walk and the standing broad jump. A silver badge winner will be presented to the winner of all the contests, and a bronze medal will be presented to the one making the highest score, providing no one gets the first place in all the events.

BASKET BALL.

A basket ball game will be played Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium between the team representing Leal's School and the City High School. This will be the last game of the season between these two teams. The game will be called at 8:15 o'clock sharp.

WHIST AT PARK CLUB.

First of a Series of Whist Evenings at That Club.

The first of a series of whist evenings, which are to be played at the Park Club during the month, was held last night. The tournament will be for a silver cup. The playing last night resulted in A. L. Freeman and L. M. Daniels winning on the north and south tables, and J. L. Webster and S. St. John McCutchen on the east and west tables. The scores:

North and South—A. L. Freeman and L. M. Daniels, 8 plus; Dr. Thiers and H. S. Boice, 3 minus; J. H. Howell and C. A. Reed, 5 minus.

East and West—S. St. John McCutchen and J. L. Webster, 6 plus; H. D. Hibbard and W. Dudley, average; Dr. Frank French and Leon Thurlow, 6 minus.

Business and Social.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the German Lutheran church, met last evening at the home of Mrs. John Koch when a very delightful time was enjoyed at a social gathering. It was a combination of a business meeting and a social and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Two D. and D.'s.

In the city court this morning Robert Nelson and James Glenfield were arraigned on separate charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They were arrested yesterday at different times by Patrolmen Higgins and Flynn. Sentence in each case was suspended.

Coal Stealers Fined.

Seven Italian women, residing in the vicinity of North and Johnston avenues, were arraigned in the city court this morning charged with stealing coal from New Jersey Central trains. A $2 fine was imposed in each case. Several more are to be arraigned tomorrow.

PICTURED MRS. WIGGS AND HER CHILDREN

Series of Tableaux Illustrated Famous Story at a Christian Endeavor Social.

SOME OTHER FEATURES

MOST REMARKABLE OF THE CHARACTERS IN TABLEAUX WAS A HORSE.

Built by Members of the Endeavor Society It Won the Admiration of All—Music and Recitations Completed the Programme.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was the chief attraction at the sociable of the Endeavorers of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, held in the parlors of the church last evening. She appeared in a series of tableaux which illustrated portions of that famous book and was accompanied by all her remarkable family and the altogether wonderful horse, "Cuba."

While "Mrs. Wiggs" may have occupied the leading role, it was this horse which quite took the house by storm. It was the result of a combination of the master minds of the society and was by far the most realistic equine that ever appeared in Plainfield. The pathetic droop to one ear was positively touching. The first few tableaux were devoted to the resustication of this remarkable creature and its entry in the Wiggs household. Then was pictured the visit of the Wiggs family to the theatre and the dinner given by "Mr. Bob," which followed. The story was read by Miss Ernestine Smith while the parts were filled as follows: "Mrs. Wiggs," Mrs. J. G. Miller; "Billie Wiggs," Boardman Mosher; "Asia," Miss Nellie Williams; "Australia," Miss Frances Mosher; "Europena," Miss Ruth Morris; "Mr. Bob," George L. Babcock.

Previous to the tableaux, there was a piano duet by the Misses Eva Rogers and Bessie Dunham. After the departure of the Wiggs, Wendell Mosher, Paul Whitford, George Clark, George L. Babcock and Lawrence Miller appeared together and each recited a different selection at the same time. The effect was somewhat startling. A sorpano solo by Mrs. George Homan, accompanied by Miss Jessie Utter, concluded the programme.

Refreshments were served by Paul Whitford, Rolland Williams, Nathan Wardner, Hermann Bakker, Lawrence Miller, George Clark and George L. Babcock and then the guests departed. The affair was arranged by the social committee of the Endeavor Society which includes Dr. Martha R. Stillman, Miss Myra L. Clark, Miss Nancy Randolph, Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis and Sydney R. Titsworth.

First M. E. Meetings Continue.

Great interest continues to be manifested in the meeting at the First M. E. church. The leader, last evening, Rev. John H. Howard, Ph.D., of Rahway, gave one of the best sermons yet heard. Tonight the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. Jonathan M. Meeker, D. D., of Paterson, who was a pastor in Plainfield for a brief term twenty years ago.

MISSION SOCIETIES IN JOINT SESSION

Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of First Presbyterian Church Meet.

BOTH ELECT OFFICERS

AFTER REPORTS SHORT ADDRESSES WERE HEARD.

Morning Session Was Devoted to Home Missions—In the Afternoon Foreign Missionary Society Met—Luncheon Served Between.

According to the custom begun three years ago, the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies, of the First Presbyterian church, combined their annual meetings into a joint session, yesterday morning and afternoon. The attendance was large and the result of combining again met with general approval.

The morning session, which began at 11:30, was devoted to the Home Society and officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. H. A. Pope; vice president, Mrs. George Karner; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Hoagland; treasurer, Mrs. E. M. Shotwell; secretary of literature, Mrs. John Johnson; secretary of sewing department, Mrs. Kendall.

Reports were read by the various officers and it showed that the society had fulfilled all its pledges, a noteworthy fact being that it had collected and sent away seven barrels of materials useful to isolated missions. The session closed with an address on missions in Porto Rico, given by Mrs. H. R. Halloway, of LaGrande avenue, which proved very interesting.

Adjournment was taken at 1:30 for lunch which was served in charge of a committee consisting of Miss Helen Burroughs, Miss Jennie Abbott, Mrs. Howard Martin and Miss Bertha Wilcox. The Misses Marion Englehart, Bertha Townley, Mildred Ulrich and Helen Martin acted as waitresses. Decorations of calla lilies and carnations were used with pretty effect.

Matters pertaining to the Foreign Missionary Society occupied the afternoon meeting which began at 3 o'clock. Officers for this branch were also elected as follows: President, Miss Julia Noll; vice president, Mrs. J. M. Petrie; secetary, Mrs. Russell Bond; treasurer, Miss Addie Dietrich; secretary of literature, Miss Helen Burroughs.

The reports read were gratifying and revealed the same activity displayed by the sister society. An excess of $40 which was in the treasury was voted to be used for the work being carried on in Persia. A talk on missions in the latter place, given by Mrs. Potter, who is in this country for her health, brought the meeting to a close.

RENEWED LIFE.

Robin Hood Camp of Woodmen Elected Officers and New Members.

Robin Hood Camp, No. 7, Woodmen of the World, met last evening in the Sons of Temperance Hall. Thirty-two new candidates were admitted to membership in the Camp. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Past Council Commander, A. Foss; council, H. J. Martin; clerk, Chas. Holstein; banker, A. R. Vail; escort, Wm. Kolb; watchman, J. Beeman; sentry, W. E. Cranston; managers, three years, W. B. Heidloff; two years, A. J. Stiglitz; one year, Henry DeMott; camp physician, Dr. A. H. Dundon.

Deputy Supreme Commander A. C. Garvin installed the officers. The next meeting of the Camp will be held Wednesday evening, March 18, when a large delegation from Elisabeth Camp, together with the initiatory team is expected to confer the degrees on a number of new applicants.

REMARKABLE RECORD.

Of Chief Entertainer Who is to Appear at Y. M. C. A. Monday.

Ten times on the Baltimore course; ten seasons at the Chautauqua Assembly; eleven engagements at the Brooklyn course, and ten evenings at the Philadelphia course, which is considered one of the strongest Y. THE BOROUGH'S NEXT MAYOR

How the Campaign is Going in North Plainfield—Looks Like a Victory for Mayor Smalley.

Who will be the next mayor of North Plainfield? An impartial survey of the situation in the borough today points to the re-election of Mayor Newton B. Smalley. His Republican friends claim that his victory is assured. The Democratic leaders assert that the election will not be as one sided as some believe and that their candidate will come out on top. So there you are.

WILLIAM J. CONROY,
Democratic Candidate for Mayor of North Plainfield.

Meanwhile all the borough is interested in the election and its result. By far the most prominent figure in the fight is Mayor Smalley himself. It is he and his administration that form the chief issue of the campagin. He has on his side the Republican organization in North Plainfield. There are certain Republicans in the borough who have been more or less prominent in the borough affairs in the past and who do not favor the candidacy of Mayor Smalley. They are by no means in the majority but still they have their influence. It remains to be seen to what extent they will use it.

Opposition to Mayor Smalley is sure to come from the Republican organization at Somerville. That faction will undoubtedly use every means possible to defeat Mr. Smalley. So far its work has been conducted very quietly but it is going forward nevertheless surely. With certain "anti" Republicans in the borough, it will work to bring about the election of the Democratic candidate.

MAYOR N. B. SMALLEY.

There is one important fact which is going to figure very largely in the fight and, if Mayor Smalley is elected, his election will be largely due to that fact. Mayor Smalley is one of the most popular men in that municipality and his past administration has been one calculated to increase his popularity. The Democrats are counting that the great bulk of those who voted against annexation are going to oppose Mayor Smalley. In that they err. There are many Republicans and Democrats who voted against annexation who are going to support Mayor Smalley, simply because they believe that he has done his duty as chief executive and they desire to see a continuance of the present administration. That is the reason why it is stated that the endorsement of the present administration and not annexation is going to be the chief issue.

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind," declared a prominent resident of North Plainfield who is well acquainted with conditions there," that Mayor Smalley is going to be elected next Tuesday. The lines are not drawn the same as they were in the annexation election. I voted against annexation then but I expect to vote for Mayor Smalley now. Why? Simply because I think he is the man we want at the head of affairs. Even if he is an annexationist, he has governed the borough well and I am perfectly willing to take my chances as to the annexation question and keep him in power. I haven't a thing against Mr. Conroy but I do not think he is the man for the place that Newt Smalley is."

"Some people are going to be awfully fooled next Tuesday," remarked a well-known borough Democrat yesterday afternoon. "We are going to elect Mr. Conroy. Didn't we beat Mayor Smalley[at the annexation election last fall? Just you watch. We are going to do it again. Not only are we going to elect Mr. Conory but I shouldn't be surprised if we elected at least one member of the Borough Council as well."

A host of other interviews would give just as widely different views as these two just quoted which are a fair sample. An impartial view, however, cannot but show that the campaign as it stands today is in favor of Mayor Smalley. There is no telling, of course, what the next few days may bring forth. There may be something happening which will put an entirely different aspect on affairs.

Test Was Gratifying.

A test was held Wednesday in the Borough High School for the purpose of ascertaining the extent of the Latin vocabulary of the higher grade pupils. The result was very gratifying and was one of the best tests which has been given the pupils this year.

Planning for Social.

Miss May E. Howlet, superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion, is planning to have an interesting programme and a social at the meeting next week Tuesday.

LAST NIGHT'S SERMON.

Rev. J. M. Meeker Preached at First M. E. Church Last Night.

The sermon preached by Rev. Jonathan M. Meeker, of Paterson, in the First M. E. church, last evening, was greatly enjoyed by a large congregation which profited by his lessons. He was warmly welcomed as he is quite well known in this city.

The meeting this evening will be in charge of Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, pastor of St. James' church, of Elizabeth. Dr. Wilding is of Welsh birth and is known throughout the Church as a unique preacher, original, humorous, tender and persuasive.

POLICEMAN LAID AT REST

FUNERAL OF PATRICK J. FLANAGAN HELD THIS MORNING.

Casket Bore by Six Policeman—City's Force Turned Out for Services at St. Mary's Church.

Plainfield's regular police force turned out almost in its entirety at the funeral of the late Patrolman Patrick J. Flanagan, which was held from St. Mary's church, this morning. Six brother officers acted as pall bearers and a platoon of sixteen patrolmen in charge of Chief Kiely formed as an escort to the funeral cortege. The edifice was filled with other relatives and friends.

Rev. Father Egan was in charge and conducted a solemn requiem mass. There was special singing by the regular choir and the flowers were especially numerous. Among the tributes was a handsome pillow from the police officers. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

The casket was borne by Roundsman John Flynn, and Patrolmen James Saunders, Thomas McCue, Martin Vanderweg, James Totten and Nicholas Myers.

NEW EDITORS.

Will be Chosen for the City High School Oracle by High School Pupils Today.

The term of the present board of directors of the City High School Oracle will end with the publication of the March issue which appears today. The succeeding board will be balloted for today from a list of candidates proposed jointly by Principal Travell and the retiring board.

Two editors will be chosen from each of the classes, excluding the seniors, and a business manager and and assistant business manager will be selected from a separate list. All candidates for the board must have a certain standing in school work and the editors are chosen largely with respect to their proficiency in English.

DR. HURLBUT CALLED.

Former Plainfielder Asked to Remain in Morristown for Third Year.

Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, and now completing his second year as pastor of the M. E. church at Morristown, has been given a call to serve a third year in Morristown. In extending the call, Dr. Hurlbut's people express much pleasure and gratification over his work in the past.

During his pastorate in Morristown, Dr. Hurlbut has accomplished considerable. He found the church in debt and that he has cleared away. Many little differences in the church he succeeded in harmonizing and his strong preaching has increased the membership of the church, as well as the attendance at all of the services. The appointment will be made at the annual conference in April.

WESTFIELD RESIDENT.

Funeral of Geo. R. Hanford Held From Westfield M. E. Church.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 6—The funeral services of the late George Rusmore Hanford, who died on Tuesday, after a ten days' illness with pneumonia, were held yesterday afternoon from the M. E. church. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Greene, of Cranford, conducted the services. The interment was in Fairview cemetery.

Mr. Hanford was forty-nine years old and was treasurer of the Epworth League, of the M. E. church. He had always been active in church work.

Operation Was Successful.

Dr. G. W. Endicott, assisted by Dr. D. C. Adams, yesterday afternoon, successfully performed a delicate operation on Miss Madeline Blair, a young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Blair, at her home, 78 Duer street, removing a growth in the nose and throat. Today she is doing nicely.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORK REVIEWED FOR YEAR

At Annual Meeting of Sunday-School of First Baptist Church Last Evening.

EXCELLENT CONDITION

REPORTS FOR THE YEAR WERE PRESENTED GIVING INTERESTING FACTS.

Election of Officers Was Held and George H. Batchelor Was Chosen Superintendent—The Other Officers—Substance of Reports.

Matters chiefly of a routine character were transacted at the annual business meeting of the First Baptist church Sunday-school held last evening in the church. Superintendent George H. Batchelor occupied the chair and the secretary, C. B. Rittenhouse, was in his place.

After the devotional exercises, the chairman of the missionary committee, C. W. McCutchen, presented the report for the committee. This showed a balance at last report of $72.62, and collections during the year of $510.42. The disbursements were $377, leaving a balance of $133.42.

Miss Ida Yerkes, chairman of the benevolent committee, reported a balance of $8 after the payment of bills. B. J. Shreve, librarian, submitted a brief report in which he stated that the library is in need of new books, as less than 100 members made use of the library during last year. This is due to the fact that nearly all of the books have been read. G. A. Chapman, as chairman of the finance committee, reported that the envelope system for the school introduced last year had thus far been very successful, increasing the receipts about 25 per cent.

Frank W. Jones, treasurer, showed a total balance of $176.61 at last report. The disbursements during the year amounted to $554.39, leaving a balance of $4.74 and all bills paid.

Miss Laura J. Runyon, home department superintendent and Sunday-school visitor, presented an interesting report. It showed the present membership of the home department to be 112 and the collections for the year, $62.92. Forty-six members studied the lesson every Sunday during the year.

C. W. McCutchen, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the names of the following persons for election and the choice was unanimous: Superintendent, George H. Batchelor; secretary, C. B. Rittenhouse; treasurer, Samuel Case; librarian, Benjamin J. Shreve.

Mr. Jones, who has served as treasurer for seven years, asked to be relieved and his request was granted reluctantly. At the suggestion of N. Douglass Drake, the superintendent was empowered to appoint an assistant to help Mr. Shreve in the library.

Under new business the resignation of Miss Laura J. Runyon, as superintendent of the home department and Sunday-school visitor, was received. Miss Runyon was prevailed upon to continue in her position for awhile.

In the absence of M. C. Dobbins, superintendent of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school, the secretary, Raymond Carver, presented the report for the school. It was as follows: Officers and teachers, 11; adult scholars, 92; intermediate, 56; primary, 56, total, 215; average attendance since last Easter, 91; largest attendance, 151; smallest, 28; balance in treasury at last report, $24.77; receipts, $84.64; disbursements, $85.90; present balance, $23.31. The report also stated that since the last meeting a library with 172 books therein was purchased at a cost of $49.64. Of this amount the First Baptist church Sunday-school contributed $15. M. C. Dobbins was unanimously re-elected superintendent and Raymond Carver secretary, treasurer and librarian.

Daniel R. Douglass gave notice that at the May meeting he would propose an amendment to the by-laws to have the summer sessions this year continue the same as last year. It was unanimously decided to have an excursion next summer and the superintendent was empowered to appoint a committee to secure a date and take charge of the outing.

In response to a request from Miss Edith Cairns, superintendent of the intermediate department, the name of the department was changed to junior department so as to conform with similar departments in other schools. It is the plan of those in charge of the younger scholars to work toward a graded school, that is have scholars from 3 to 6 years of age in the primary department, from 6 to 12 years in the junior department, and from 13 to 16 years in the intermediate department, when such a department is established.

SECURED RELEASE.

Chris. Sorensen, Jr., Will Play With Orchestra at Drum Corps Ball.

Through communication with G. E. Collins, superintendent of music for F. F. Proctor, the theatrical manager, Prof. Charles M. Suhr, of this city, has secured the release of Chris. Sorensen, Jr., trombonist for the past two years in the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and a former Plainfielder. Mr. Sorensen will play with the Imperial Orchestra at the Fife and Drum Corps ball this evening, and will continue as part of the organization. He will again take up his residence in this city.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED

ADAM WAGLOW HELD UP AT NEW MARKET LAST NIGHT.

Choked Into Insensibility and $23 Taken From His Clothes—No Clew to Thieves.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, March 6—Adam Waglow, a well-known and respected citizen of this place, was held up last evening on the bridge near the Lehigh Valley Railroad by two men and robbed of $27 in cash.

Mr. Waglow was on his way home, when the men approached him and without any warning attacked him. He was thrown down and choked almost into insensibility. While in this condition the money was taken from his clothes.

Mr. Waglow was left on the bridge and in a short time he recovered consciousness and was able to return home. He did not know either one of the two men who attacked him and there is no clew upon which the officials can work.

CITIZENS' TICKET.

Nominated at a Primary Held at Nelson's Hotel, North Plainfield, Last Night.

The citizens of North Plainfield township, at a primary held in Nelson's Hotel, last night, nominated the following ticket: Freeholder, W. M. Demler; town clerk, John Clark; collector, E. S. Ackor; township committeeman, — ; overseer of the poor, Michael Duffy; commissioners of appeal, Daniel Ackor, William Titus and J. W. Codington; surveyors of highway, H. Texier and Goldson Smalley; constables, Francis Bartle and Emil Clemenz; poundkeepers, Earl Rubenstein and Charles Willis. The appropriations were fixed at $1,500 for roads and $600 for poor. The township committeemen's salary was fixed at $50 per year.

The Republicans of the township will hold their primary, this evening, in H. Texier's mill.

Installing New Towers.

The work of installing new and improved signal towers on the New Jersey Central, in this city, is gradually nearing completion. The towers are of iron and the signal arms are a little different from the old style in that the end is more of a fan shape and possibly a little more easily seen, either close by or from a distance. Three of these towers are being installed on the road in this city.

Prof. Griggs' Lecture.

The third lecture in the course being given by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs was delivered yesterday afternoon at Vincent chapel. The subject was "The Inner and the Outer World in the Faust Problem," embracing scenes one, two and three of the poem. The fourth lecture in the course will be delivered next Thursday afternoon.

To Drum Corps Ball.

The Liberty Fife and Drum Corps, of Elizabeth, will attend the ball of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps which will be held in Saengerbund Hall this evening. Central Hook and Ladder Company, of Somerville and Warren Engine Company will attend the ball in a body. The Union Social Club, of Elizabeth, will also be present.

Received Into Membership.

At the meeting of the Women's Section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, which was held Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Weaver were received into membership. The meeting was the monthly one and reports were read.

To Manage a Hotel.

John D. Bailey, formerly manager of the Park Avenue Hotel, expects to complete his summer plans in a few days. He has two or three hotels in view and he will know soon which one he will manage next season.

—The first strawberries of the season will be on sale at Neuman Brothers, tomorrow. Place your orders early.

BUILDING TRADES ARE BOOMING WITH SPRING

Many Permits Being Issued From the Office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane.

SOME NEW BUILDINGS

THEN THERE ARE LOTS OF IMPORTANT REPAIRS BEING PLANNED.

Among the Permits Just Issued is One for a Greenhouse for Chas. L. Stanley—Other Buildings and Several Alterations.

With the first signs of approaching spring the building industry in this city, which has been somewhat during the winter months, is picking up and although the month has hardly begun there have been a number of permits for additions to buildings and new structures granted.

A permit was granted yesterday afternoon to Charles L. Stanley, the florist, to erect a greenhouse on South street near Leland avenue. The structure will be an extensive one and he will grow many of his plants sold at his North avenue store at the new hothouse. He will be his own architect, mason and builder.

Frank Halenbeck, of 847 North avenue, was granted permission to erect a storage building on Johnson avenue near St. Mary's avenue. The building will 16x16x30 feet. He will be his own mason, architect and builder.

Alterations will be made to the house of William Nevius, of Elmwood place. The alterations will be in the form of an addition 6x6x12 feet. He will be his own architect and William Kinney will be the contracting carpenter.

C. A. Kane, of 312 Filmore street, applied yesterday for a permit to build a house 18x18x42 feet at 314 Filmore street. The architect will be William Clum, the mason, D. Laughlin, and the carpenter, C. A. Kane.

General changes will be made to the house of B. Frank Coriell, of 211 West Fifth street, during the next few weeks. The alterations will be on the inside and will, when completed, alter the interior appearance of the house greatly. Charles M. Wilson is the carpenter who will do the work.

Application has been received from Michael F. Watson, of 213 Grant avenue, for a permit to make some important changes in his house. The carpentering work will be done by John A. McNalley.

A FIXED STAR.

Words of Praise for Chas. F. Underhill Who Appears Here Monday.

Chas. H. Wevill, manager of one of the strongest entertainment courses in the country, that of the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A., says: "Chas. F. Underhill is one of the fixed stars in the association course. His appearances on our course have been so numerous that we have lost the count; and we hope to have him many times in the future. He is an accomplished reader of remarkable versatility and a genial man and a general favorite."

Mr. Underhill will be heard Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course entertainment in Sheridan's great comedy, "The Rivals," with Miss Bianca Holley, of New York, as soprano soloist.

SRETSAT CIRCLE.

New Organization Formed to Do Many Interesting Things.

"The Sretsat Circle" was organized last evening at the home of Mrs. Nelson Runyon, of East Ninth street. This circle, consisting of eight members, is planning many interesting things of a combined intellectual and social nature, for the near future. The circle will meet at regular intervals at the homes of the members, and many delightful evenings are anticipated.

Following the transaction of business last evening, games and music were enjoyed by the circle until a late hour, when supper was served by the hostess.

MRS. APGAR ILL.

So the Case in Justice Moffett's Court Was Laid Over.

The landlord and tenant case of Hand against Apgar, over which a twelve-man jury in Justice Moffett's court disagreed last week, was again postponed yesterday. Constable Peter Weaver had twelve new jurymen ready but when it was learned that Mrs. Apgar was too ill to leave her bed they were discharged. The case is now set for one week from Saturday.

CITY HAS NO DEATH TRAPS

But One Grade Crossing, Seldom Used Now, Remains in the City Limits.

OTHERS IN THE VICINITY

Newark's Recent Disaster Has Attracted Public Attention to Subject—Rock Avenue Still Crosses at Grade—Fatality There Thirteen Years Ago—Not Protected.

Newark's recent grade crossing horror, in which nine young lives were blotted out, serves as a reminder to Plainfielders to congratulate themselves upon the almost total abolition within the city limits of railroad death traps. Twenty-eight years ago, the far seeing citizens realized the traffic that would some day pass over the New Jersey Central and began a movement which resulted in the elevation of the tracks. For many years this city was looked upon and envied for the absence within its borders of the "stop, look and listen" sign, requesting all to beware of the deadly crossing.

When the Central officials decided to raise the roadbed, but two grade crossings were left, one at Church street, which was closed entirely but a short time ago, and the other at Rock avenue. Traffic over the former never amounted to anything and finally, to relieve all chance of accident, the Common Council ordered the thoroughfare closed from East Third street, south. The other crossing still remains but is in the extreme western part of the city and the number of vehicles or pedestrians passing over it are easily counted. For all that it is a menace to travel as it is not protected by gates or flagman.

Thirteen years ago it was the scene of a fatality when a butcher wagon driven by Benjamin Leidy was struck by a train late one Saturday night and he, together with his helper, William Cannon, and the horse, were instantly killed. The publicity given the accident resulted in a demand for the better protection of the crossing but it remained unheeded.

Near Plainfield, there are many streets which cross at grade but the majority of them are well protected. At Dunellen and Westfield on the New Jersey Central they are carefully guarded but one on Park avenue crossing the Lehigh Valley is considered a menace to life and limb. There is no flagman at the point during the night and there have been many narrow escapes from loss of life. The avenue descends at a steep decline both ways and there is a great temptation on the part of wheelman to cross over without first taking proper precautions. Recently a rule has gone into effect whereby the gates are kept down continuously in the day time and only raised when someone wishes to pass over.

There is a steady movement on foot, however, to gradually do away with these evidences of other days in railroading and with their removal Plainfielders will be almost immune from grade crossing horrors within their immediate vicinity.

TO EXCELL ANYTHING.

First Part of Hope Y. M. A. Minstrels Will Break All Records.

The opening first part of the Hope Y. M. A. minstrels, which give three performances next week, it is anticipated, will eclipse any previous effort in local amateur minstelsy by any organization. It will comprise twenty numbers, embracing sentimental ballads by sweet-voiced tenors, the latest "coon" songs by the end men, buck and wing dancing, medleys, quartettes and the essence of wit and humor in the way of spicy gags and jokes. Forty members will take part all of whom, with the exception of the end men, will be attired in an original outing costume.

Regaining His Health.

Recent letters received from Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, who is at Southern Pines, N. C., for his health, states that he is rapidly regaining his strength and enjoying the fine weather in the south.

Sunday's Offering.

The offering at the Crescent Avenue church Sunday morning will be for the Board of Foreign Missions.

GRAND LODGE OF WORKMEN

WILL MEET AT TRENTON THURSDAY AND FRIDAY OF NEXT WEEK.

Grand Master Workman is Vincent W. Nash, of This City—Substance of Reports.

The Grand Lodge of New Jersey, Ancient Order of United Workmen, will hold its annual session in Trenton Thursday and Friday of next week. The meeting will be held in the Ribsam building.

The session will be called to order Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The important question of the classified assessment was settled at the annual session last year after a hard fight, and this year the main business will be routine legislation and the election of the grand officers.

The present grand officers are: Grand master workman, Vincent W. Nash, of Plainfield; grand foreman, Edwin Cadmus, Bayonne; grand overseer, A. Y. Tomlinson, Elizabeth; grand recorder, J. H. Lippincott, Camden; grand receiver, Goldson Test, Camden; grand guide, Charles W. Wood, Camden; grand inside watchman, George P. Sutton, Collingswood; grand outside watchman, Fred P. Towle, Irvington; grand medical examiner, Dr. Elmer Barwis, 211 Hamilton avenue, Trenton.

The reports to be presented will show that the membership in the State February 1, was 7,190. The same date the balance in the beneficiary fund was $20,204.66, and in the general fund $8,804.09.

The total membership in the United States is 447,090.

There are 78 lodges in New Jersey and the representation is based on one delegate for each 100 members or fraction thereof. A new lodge will be organized in East Orange next Wednesday.

The order is prospering in this State and no assessment will be levied for March.

AFTER WILLIAMS.

Charged With Having Terrorized Parts of Somerset County—Still at Large.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 6—Despite the persistent efforts of the police authorities, Charley Williams, colored, who has been terrorizing this neighborhood during the past two weeks, is still at large. The officials feel confident that they will yet arrest Williams and put an end to his daring acts.

Two weeks ago, it is alleged, Williams attacked John Giles, a storekeeper, at South Bound Brook, and for a time it was not known whether he would live or not. A little later Williams, it is said, broke into a local Chinese laundry and took all the money out of the cash drawer. He then disappeared and went to Orange.

While there, Detective Totten sent word to a police official at Orange and an attempt was made to arrest the outlaw. A serious encounter followed and the officer was slashed in the face and about the body with a razor. Williams escaped and is still at large. It is said that his whereabouts are known by the local police officials.

UP IN WARREN.

Going to be a Lively Time at the Democratic Primary There on Saturday Night.

Much interest centers in the primary which will be held in Warren township, Saturday night. There is a lively time expected as there are a number of prominent politicians among the list of those who have said that they would run who are striving for the same offices.

Those who are mentioned for freeholders are, W. H. Rogers, Joel Codington, and Aaron Spencer. For collector, Lemuel Tunison and John D. Borman, and for assessor, Dedrick Ellen and Edward Sage. George Bowers and James Ralph are slated for the poormaster and Israel Adams and William Mernagh are mentioned for town committeemen.

The Republican primary will be held Saturday night when they will nominate their ticket. Warren is so overwhelmingly Democratic that the candidates of that party are practically sure of victory.

Change of Place.

Thomas O. Cole has been appointed superintendent of the car service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, with office at South Bethlehem, Pa. The office of car accountant, formerly held by Mr. Cole, has been abolished.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

"Florodora," merry and tuneful as ever, is comfortably installed in the Academy of Music, New York, and is duplicating the success that attended it throughout its record breaking run at the Casino and the New York Theatre. In Fisher & Ryley's revival of this tuneful musical play, all the well known favorites who appeared in the original production and who assisted in making Owen Hall and Leslie Stuart's masterwork the most popular and successful comedy produced in years are to be seen with the company now appearing at the Academy of Music and they are as popular on 14th street as they were on Broadway for upwards of a year and a half. Though each of the principals has appeared in the same song for over two years, the performance goes with the same snap and vim as it did during the first weeks of this tuneful play. No visit to the Metropolis, whether on business or pleasure, can be complete without witnessing a performance of this evergreen musical comedy.

Probably no other event in vaudeville this season has attractived so much attention as the announcement that Roland Burnham Molineaux has written a play, and that this play has been secured by F. F. Proctor for his vaudeville houses. On Monday it will be seen for the first time on any stage at Mr. Proctor's Twenty-third Street house. "A Gold Mine," a rip roaring comedy drama in three acts by George H. Jessop and Brander Matthews will be the offering in which Proctor's 125th Street stock company will appear next week. Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre next week will turn to classic comedy, and will offer "The School for Scandal" as an attraction. Minnie Seligman and William Bramwell will assume the principal parts. Proctor's Theatre at Newark next week will have a stupendous bill headed by James J. Corbett, the well known pugilist, in a brilliant monologue, in which he tells of his professional life; Arthur and Jennie Dunn, in "The Messenger Boy," (their first appearance in Newark); Kline, Ott Brothers and Nickerson; Sydney Grant; Genery and Theol and many others will complete the show.

OLD POINT COMFORT, RICHMOND AND WASHINGTON.

Six-Day Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The first personally-conducted tour to Old Point Comfort, Richmond and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad for the present season will leave New York and Philadelphia on Saturday, March 14.

ROAD TO WATCHUNG SPRING

THE TRUCKS NOW TRAVEL HUB DEEP IN THE MUD.

The Improvements Planned by the Watchung Spring Water Company This Year.

Many important changes will shortly be made at the water bottling works of the Watchung Spring Water Company in order to facilitate handling the rush of business which has been experienced by the company during the past few months. This announcement was made at the annual meeting of the directors and stockholders which was held Tuesday evening.

Recently the company has supplied coolers and its spring water to the State House and other buildings at Trenton.

The improvements which are contemplated are extensive. At present, the roadway is some distance from the bottling station in the mountains and some times it is necessary to drive the teams hub deep from the main road, up a steep incline. One of the improvements contemplated is to lay a macadam road to the bottling works or to remove the works from the present site to a location near the road and to pipe from the spring to the proposed site of the works. Machinery will also be installed to facilitate the filling of retainers and for carbonating purposes.

It was reported at the meeting that agencies have been opened in Jersey City, New York, Brooklyn, Morristown, Trenton, Philadelphia, Easton, Allentown and Hoboken.

Building for New Firm.

The work of raising the house and store addition of William Debele, on Somerset street, has been started and in a month the store will be ready for occupancy. The store when completed will be occupied by the new firm of Debele & Stahl. The substation of the local postoffice will be located there.

Will Not be Responsible.

Commencing March 1, the railroads in the Central Passenger Association will not be responsible for losses due to the alteration of skeleton tickets. It has been the practice of a road honoring or altering a ticket to stand the loss, but this will be no longer done by the western roads.

New Headlights for Central.

After several trials with various means of lighting headlights on their locomotives, the New Jersey Central have decided to equip all their engines with the lens mirror acetylene light.

Additions to Pennsy.

With the issuance of the $50,000,000 worth of bonds the Pennsylvania Railroad will begin the work of adding 19,000 freight cars and 260 new locomotives to its rolling stock.

SENATE IN SESSION.

Upper Branch of Fifty-eighth Congress Convenes.

TEN NEW MEMBERS TAKE THE OATH

Smoot of Utah Seated Without Opposition—An Ovation to Gorman. Morgan Likely to Continue Opposition to Canal Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—In obedience to the president's proclamation the senate of the Fifty-eighth congress convened in extraordinary session at noon yesterday. An immense crowd witnessed the interesting ceremony. Echoes of the Fifty-seventh congress had not died away when President Pro Tem. Frye called the body to order, and soon thereafter the senators who were re-elected and those who were to take their seats for the first time, with the exception of Mr. Gorman, who had seen long service in the senate, were sworn in. Friends and admirers of the senators loaded down their desks with beautiful floral tributes. One of the features of the opening ceremony was the ovation accorded Mr. Gorman.

The oath was administered to twenty-six senators who take office for six years. Of these the following were re-elected: Allison (Ia.), Clay (Ga.), Dillingham (Vt.), Fairbanks (Ind.), Foraker (O.), Hansbrough (N. D.), Kittredge (S. D.), McEnery (La.), Mallory (Fla.), serving on appointment until the legislature meets; Penrose (Pa.), Perkins (Cal.), Pettus (Ala.), Platt (Conn.), Platt (N. Y.), Spooner (Wis.) and Teller (Colo.).

The oath was administered to ten new senators, although one, Mr. Gorman, had previously served eighteen years in the senate. The new senators sworn in are: Fulton (Ore.), Gorman (Md.), Heyburn (Ida.), Hopkins (Ill.), Latimer (S. C.), Long (Kan.), McCreary (Ky.), Newlands (Nev.), Overman (N. C.) and Smoot (Utah.).

Mr. Cannon's speech in the house of representatives early Thursday morning in presenting the conference report on the general deficiency bill, in which he charged that the senate conferees had resorted to legislative blackmail and attacked the rules of the senate, formed the subject of some fervid remarks by Mr. Tillman and by the senate conferees, Messrs. Hale, Allison and Teller.

The senate at 3:15 adjourned until Monday.

The Republican senators will make a united effort to secure action on the Panama canal treaty and the Cuban reciprocity treaty as speedily as possible. A meeting of the Republican steering committee of the senate was held after adjournment, and this course was decided on. The situation was discussed at some length and the conclusion reached that business might be greatly facilitated by keeping as many senators as possible in the city and in their seats, and the individual members of the steering committee agreed to devote their energies to this end. No one in the committee had any definite information as to the time that may be consumed in debating the treaties, but it was stated as a rumor that Senator Morgan had said that as there were a number of new members of the senate he would feel it incumbent on himself to go over the ground again completely.

Court Sustains Legislature.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 6.—Five of the supreme court judges met here to consider the legality of the minority of the Delaware legislature in adjourning the session of the house from Tuesday until Thursday. Their decision, which was announced last night, was that as the state constitution gives a minority the right only to adjourn the assembly from day to day there was no adjournment of the body Tuesday, the legislature technically remaining in session until legally adjourned by the majority.

Paying Civil War Claims.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The secretary of the treasury has drawn warrants in favor of several of the states in payment of old claims for money advanced for raising volunteers in the civil war and for interest on loans negotiated by the states for this purpose. Those paid are as follows: Kentucky, $1,323,999; Maine, $228,186; New Jersey, $479,833; Rhode Island, $31,289, and Wisconsin, $458,077.

Storm Caused High Water.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., March 6.—Heavy snow, followed by rain, has increased the swollen condition of local streams. The high water in the country districts has washed out many roads, interfering with the rural delivery and traffic in general.

AGAINST UNCLE SAM.

Seamen Gain a Point In Suit For Salvage.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—In the fight of Howard Reese, first mate of the naval collier Justin, and twenty members of the crew to recover at least $20,000 salvage from the government Judge Dehaven has given a decision which overrules the government's demurrer to the libel of the United States steamer.

In November, 1900, the men of the naval collier Justin saved $60,000 worth of treasure and guns from the sinking cruiser Yosemite off the island of Guam.

The men of the Justin applied to the comptroller of the treasury for salvage. He denied their request on the ground that as members of the naval force and government employees they did only their duty in saving the Yosemite and the treasure. The district attorney contended that the court had no jurisdiction except where salvage of less than $1,000 was asked for, and, while the crew of the Justin asked for less than $1,000 apiece, the aggregate for the salvage demanded was greater than the court has jurisdiction to consider.

Judge Dehaven sets aside and dismisses both of these contentions and thus enables the seamen to score an important point in their suit.

The case will be appealed by the government and carried to the United States court of appeals.

Valuable Jewels Stolen.

BOSTON, March 6.—Jewels valued by the owner at over $3,000 are reported to have been stolen from Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Pigeon of this city, who left on the steamer Farragut for Jamaica. The only information given to the police is contained in a note brought up the harbor by a tugboat captain. It appears that Mr. Pigeon on boarding the steamer at noon placed his handbag containing the jewels, considerable cash and valuable papers in his stateroom, returning to the deck, where, with Mrs. Pigeon, he bade goodby to friends. After the steamer left the wharf Mr. Pigeon went to his stateroom, finding that it had been entered and his handbag taken. A tugboat captain was hailed and given a letter notifying the police of the loss and describing the property.

Lords Hold Long Debate.

LONDON, March 6.—In the house of lords yesterday a motion presented by Earl Carrington to reconsider the government's plan of military organization was debated for five hours, this being the longest sitting of the session. The motion was defeated by 53 votes to 15. The debate brought out severe criticism of the government's conduct of the Boer war by Earl Carrington, who predicted that the army scheme might end in a ghastly tragedy and "easily produce a democratic revolution." The Prince of Wales, Earl Roberts and Lord Methuen listened to the debate from the gallery.

Wild Day In Cotton.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Amid wild excitement on the Cotton Exchange Daniel Sully, the bull leader, walked the floor at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the closing of the market a hero in the eyes of his followers. In the six hours of seesawing on the prices for March and May cotton Sully won back the $1,500,000 which he lost Thursday in the fearful onslaught made by the bear forces under the leadership of Theodore Price. The market closed seven points above the final quotations of the previous day, which is a decided victory for Sully.

French Deputies May Fight.

PARIS, March 6.—The chamber of deputies sat until a late hour last night in order to finish with the budget, which was adopted by 371 votes to 82. Shortly before the adjournment Deputies Loque and Bagnol got into a heated discussion, ending by the latter slapping his colleague's face. M. Loque subsequently sent his seconds to arrange a duel.

Notion Dealer Died a Millionaire.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Joel J. Bailey, one of the best known men in the notion trade in the country, is dead here. Mr. Bailey was in his seventy-seventh year and was a pioneer in the wholesale notion business. He retired a few years ago, having amassed a fortune of several million dollars.

Gold Mining In East Africa.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Gold mining will be undertaken by Germans in German East Africa this year, according to a report to the state department from United States Consul Winter. Travelers visiting the east shore of Lake Victoria have reported the presence of gold there.

Heavy Coal Shipment.

PITTSBURG, March 6.—There were 2,140,000 bushels of coal started south from the Pittsburg harbor yesterday. The fleet contained 26 coalboats, 86 barges, 20 flats, 6 model barges of rails and 2 model barges of iron produce.

SEEK SKINNER'S HEAD

New Move In Educators' Fight at Albany.

THE REGENTS' SWEEPING MEASURE

Bill Introduced to Abolish Public Instruction Department—Present State Superintendent Says It Cannot Become a Law.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 6.—Superintendent Skinner believes that the Skinner regents' bill to abolish the state department of public instruction cannot possibly pass.

While Governor Odell declines to be interviewed on this subject, it is learned that he disapproves of the dissension between the departments, favors unification and believes the legislature will accomplish it. His friends say that he believes the only way it can be effected is through the board of regents; that he believes that despite their life tenure of office the legislature can restrict possible abuses of their power by withholding appropriations.

Senator Brown said that he regretted the regents had not made concessions; that the attempt by the regents to show that the constitutional convention favored any such bill as this was unwarranted, as that convention refused to turn the common school system over to the regents. He criticised them because of their life tenure of office, as a warring faction, because they do not represent geographical divisions of the state, six being from New York city and four from Albany; that the board is too numerous to be effective; that they are not in touch with the common school system and that public opinion is opposed to intrusting it to them.

The bill introduced by Senator Stevens abolishes the state department of public instruction and vests its duties in the board of regents. The bill provides that immediately on the act becoming a law the office of the present superintendent, Hon. Charles R. Skinner, will be abolished, but he and his deputies will continue to be paid their present salaries for such service as the regents designate until the expiration of their present terms.

Miles Talks With Hay.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Lieutenant General Miles had a long talk yesterday with Secretary Hay about his recent trip around the world. In the course of that tour General Miles had occasion to visit many United States embassies and legations. Moreover, he had an opportunity during his stay in China to take close note of the situation in that country, a subject of peculiar interest to Secretary Hay just now in view of the troubled state of the Chinese empire. General Miles paid a tribute to the uniform courtesy and consideration which had been shown him abroad.

Stamping Out Ithaca's Plague.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 6.—In accordance with recommendations made by Dr. Soper, who came to Ithaca at the instance of the state board of health, the common council voted to place unlimited means at the disposal of Dr. Soper for the purpose of stamping out the typhoid epidemic. A force of twenty men immediately visited all the houses in which fever has appeared and thoroughly disinfected them. The attitude of the university authorities toward the water question is that Cornell is in favor of any plan which promises to give the city pure water in short order.

Columbia Welcomes Cornell Men.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Many students of Cornell university who live in and near New York and who have left Ithaca because of the typhoid epidemic have applied to the authorities of Columbia university for an opportunity to keep up with their work during their enforced absence. President Butler has directed that these Cornell students be treated as the guests of the university and given every facility to carry on their studies. About twenty-five of the Cornell students have already taken advantage of this offer.

Knoxville Undertaker Bailed.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 6.—W. C. McCoy, a prominent undertaker, who is charged with false pretense and defrauding Knox county by fake pauper burials, waived examination and gave bail in $1,000. The arrest of McCoy is one of the outcomes of the investigation and opening of graves that has been going on at the county cemetery here for ten days.

Death of Dr. Getman.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., March 6.—Dr. Norman Getman, president of the Oneonta, Cooperstown and Richfield Springs Railway company, is dead, aged seventy-two years. He had been president of the Richfield Springs National bank since its organization, was twice supervisor of the town and was appointed postmaster in 1891.

Names For New Battleships.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Secretary Moody has reached a decision as to the states after which the five battleships provided for in the new naval law shall be named. The three 16,000 ton battleships are to be named Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota and the two 13,000 ton vessels Mississippi and Idaho.

Switz Conde Mills Sold.

OSWEGO, N. Y., March 6.—The Conde Knitting mills and the Standard Yarn company's mill, which comprised the property of the Switz Conde company, have been sold at public auction at receiver's sale. They were bought by the Kendall Knitting company of Utica for $73,500.

THE BOROUGH ELECTION.

Only a few days now before the borough election and the situation has not changed to any appreciable extent. A careful review of the situation as it stands today points toward the election of Mayor Smalley. He has a strong political organization and possesses a host of friends. This combination cannot be beaten unless the unexpected happens. The unexpected is always possible but not probable. So, unless the unforseen occurs, it looks as if the present municipal administration would be continued in the borough.

It is altogether pleasant to note that neither candidate is indulging in any mud slinging. W. J. Conroy has made the statement that Mayor Smalley was a good mayor and that he has nothing against the Mayor personally, but that he intends winning if he can. That is a perfectly fair position to take. Mayor Smalley is free to say that his opponent is a good man and an excellent citizen. If the people want him, it is for them to say so, says Mayor Smalley. They are both reputable men, respected in the community and in the hands of neither is the community likely to suffer.

The issue of the campaign is really the question of the endorsement of the present administration. Mayor Smalley has been frank in his advocacy of certain measures. He has opposed others. There has never been any question as to where the Mayor was to be found. He was either for or against. His opinions are known. If the people of the borough believe in him and the way he has filled the office for the last four years, he is going to be elected. The questions of annexation and consolidation are not going to play any important part in the campaign. A few of the more bitter of the "antis" have been trying to drag these issues into the fight but without success. The fight is on the administration of Mayor Smalley and the voters will line up on election day as either his friends or his political enemies.

There's a fight in sight of unusual importance to Warren township and the rest of Somerset county as well. The Democrats of that township have divided on the question of progress. One faction will support Joel Coddington for renomination to the Board of Freeholders and a continuation of the present policy of that board. The other faction has W. H. Rogers as its candidate for the freeholder nomination and advocates the building of good roads and a general advance in the affairs of the county. There are some hard headed men up in Warren who haven't failed to see how their county has suffered by the present methods of their freeholders and they are now on the warpath to see if Somerset can't get into line and keep pace with the rest of civilization.

Two locomotives crashed together in the fog on the Port Reading Railroad yesterday morning. The accident occurred a considerable distance from any settlement. It was impossible to get any authentic information by wire. The Daily Press and The Newark News had the only reporters on the scene and The Daily Press was the only newspaper in Plainfield to tell of the wreck and its details.

Westfield has finally secured a local government. It has seemed rather strange that such a sprightly place should exist so long as merely a part of a township. Several futile attempts were made to incorporate it before but a vote of the citizens rejected them on every occasion. The town project seemed to meet with general favor and went through both houses of the Legislature with bells on.

In considering the verdicts of the coroner's jury and the Grand Jury, it is well to remember that the verdict of the first was the unanimous opinion of six men and there was no minority report; the verdict of the Grand Jury was the opinion of a majority of twenty-three men while the opinion of the minority is never made public.

What between the baseball microbe, which the recent warm weather has developed wonderfully, and the thoughts of the coming minstrels at Hope chapel, the small boy of the West End is torn with conflicting emotions. Shall he juggle with jokes or Brit Martin's hot grounders, that's the question which is troubling him.

The Senate committee on the revision of laws has reported favorably on the bill to repeal the annexation act and it will probably be considered by the upper house next week. The "repealer" for the consolidation act is still in committee. It was not reported back with the other as was stated yesterday.

That comparison of the two verdicts in yesterday's Daily Press showed a wonderful similarity between the two.

THE FLEXIBILITY OF A "DOROTHY DODD" EASY FEET.

It is said that the woman who goes to church with squeaky shoes goes to the right place, for her sole needs attention. There is really a good deal about the sole of a woman's shoe that needs attention. You realize it if you stop to think how much you relieve the discomfort and "hardness" of shoes by making their soles flexible.

You can tell the difference as soon as a few steps have been taken. It means comfort, and a flexible sole, as a rule, will outlast any rigid sole. Don't overlook that.

They Cost $3.00.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

That Dunellen is growing is proved by the fact that application has been made at New Brunswick for a license for another saloon for this town. The person who made the application is said to be actuated by rumors of the building of another large new factory here. The factory had not before been heard of and the citizens are of the opinion that another saloon is not needed. If the license is granted the saloon will be placed in the western part of the town.

There is an amusing side to everything and one has come to light in the recent improvements to the Presbyterian church. When the new carpet came the regular men could not be secured to put it down so the church members took the matter in hand. After their wives had sewed during the day the church fathers went and plied the needle in the evening so that the carpet would be ready on time.

County Superintendent of Schools H. Brewster Willis made a visit to the local schools Tuesday, and was much pleased with existing conditions. He said that he was looking to the time where Dunellen could have twelve grades and other improvements.

The name of Lewis Schneider is now placed among those who have been mentioned as Democratic candidates for mayor.

The Dunellen Orchestra will meet for practice at the home of Miss Emma Nelson, this evening.

Alfred Osmun is still detained at home as the result of injuries sustained in the wreck.

Adam Dealaman remains in about the same condition now showing little change either way.

A number of young people from here attended a dance held in Plainfield last evening.

Quite an attendance is looked for this evening at the social in the Presbyterian chapel.

Mayor Swackhamer is now able to sit up and talk to some extent.

Robert Craig has taken a position in Plainfield.

NEW MARKET.

The G. E. Club held a very pleasant meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Ward. There were the usual features.

A dime sociable will be held next Thursday evening in the hall under the auspices of Lakeside Council.

Practice will be started soon by the baseball team. The line-up this year will be about the same as last.

Mrs. Hannah Nelson, who is ill at Union, does not improve and her condition is quite serious.

Mrs. Charles Morton has been confined to her home lately by illness.

Stanley Day was in Plainfield on business yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Democratic voters met in Bucket and Engine Company's rooms last night to nominate their ticket for the township election to be held Tuesday. The meeting was a very harmonious one in every way. All the retiring officials were renominated, the ticket being as follows: Township committee, T. J. Nicholl; assessor, Chas. H. French; collector, John L. Darby.

Judge Clark and Overseer of the Poor August Klemser went to Muhlenberg Hospital, Wednesday, to inquire in the circumstances of John Sowden, a resident of the township, who is a patient at the hospital. Necessary steps were taken to pay $5 per week toward the patient's support for the present.

An unknown automobile driver, while speeding along Front street, Thursday, ran over a valuable pet dog, belonging to George Stillger, killing the poor beast. No attempt was made to even stop the machine to see what damage had been done.

The citizens' primary for the annual borough election will be held in the Fanwood fire house Saturday night. A mayor and several councilmen are to be nominated.

Fish are biting well at the several ponds through the valley. Nearly every day good catches are being made by the followers of Izak Walton.

D. F. W. Westcott, of the borough, has returned from a pleasant visit with his daughter, Miss May, at Peddie Institute, Hightstown.

The house committee of the Library Association is arranging for an entertainment in the near future for the benefit of the library.

Former Chief of Police George Allen, who now resides in Plainfield, was the guest Thursday evening of friends in town.

The regular monthly meeting of the Farther Light Society was held in the parlors of the Baptist church this afternoon.

The C. B. Club, composed of the boys of the Methodist church, has donated $5 to the Public Library Association.

The members of the Brooksides will enjoy their regular weekly shoot on their grounds, Saturday afternoon.

Several from the village attended the Rutgers College Glee Club concert held last night at Rahway.

Richard Hart, of New York, has been spending a few days with relatives and friends in town.

Rev. Mr. Shott will lead the weekly prayer meeting at the Baptist church tonight.

The Republican primary will be held in Excelsior Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Township Committee will meet in the Township rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met in weekly session last night.

Mrs. Warren Ackerman is sojourning at Lakewood for a time.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Specialties at T. L. Walsh's North avenue market, this week, will be strictly fresh vegetables. A new line every day. Walsh's is the place to buy oranges at the right price.

A laundry which makes a specialty of washing the finest fabrics with the greatest care is the one which makes the greatest success. Such a laundry is that of G. Meissner at 432 Watchung avenue.

A choice line of fancy and staple groceries are carried at the store of F. H. Firstbrook, on Liberty street. He has received during the past few days a large shipment of Florida and California oranges.

The pianos sold by G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street, have given entire satisfaction, as guaranteed. Mr. Kenyon will be pleased to show you the various makes handled by him and explain his plan of easy payments in making purchases.

The warm weather of the last few days denotes an early spring. Apropos of this, the Belleview nursery management announces that it is ready to deliver anything in the tree, plant or shrubbery line, for residential grounds. Don't delay, as every week means a great deal.

The season of the year will soon be here when light weight goods will be in demand. In fact the women folks are already making their selection from the attractive stock at Peck's store. The usual fine line of laces, embroideries and linens are being shown in great variety.

Nowhere in the city is there to be found a better line of fresh fish or oysters than at Rogers' old established seafood market on West Second street. Men who have been in the business for years make selections of stock every day, and their experience always benefits the customers. Early mornining deliveries a specialty.

A complete stock of the latest weaves in dress goods for spring and summer wear are being shown at Woodhull & Martin's store and at prices that will compare with those in New York. There is also an attractive line of wash goods, silks, etc., to select from. If you are in need of new carpets you will find an exceptional stock in the carpet department. The new stock of men's furnishing goods is arriving every day and there is a pretty showing of shirts, ties, etc.

Date for Field Day.

At a meeting of the officers of the Plainfield High School battalion held Wednesday, it was decided to hold the annual field day of the battalion on Thursday, June 4. A programme for the occasion has been arranged and it will be at this time that the annual company and individual competitive drill will take place.

Peculiar Injury.

Samuel Hedden, of Duer street, is confined to his home by a peculiar injury to his leg. Some time ago he was walking along the street when he felt a peculiar twinge in his left leg. He paid little attention to the member, but recently it has given him much pain and he is now obliged to remain indoors.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

—Neuman Brothers are headquarters for fruits and vegetables. Specialties are made of California and Florida oranges. Low prices prevail.

—The collectors of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church are requested to make their collections as soon as possible and hand the same to Mrs. D. N. Groendyke, superintendent of collections.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Hoagland, of Duer street, expect to move to the corner of Duer street and Linden avenue within a short time.

—"What Christ Teaches About Blessedness," will be the subject of the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Crescent Avenue church this evening

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Conkey, of Somerset street, have moved to Elizabeth, where Mr. Conkey has recently secured a position with the Elizabeth Hardware Company.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Ellis W. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, left today for California, where her mother is quite ill.

John Hamilton, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, of East Millstone, was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital on Tuesday to have his tonsils removed. In the operation Dr. S. O. B. Taylor, of East Millstone, assisted. The little fellow was taken home yesterday and his speedy recovery is assured.

TALKED OF MISSIONS.

Rev. D. E. Fink, of Presbyterian Board, Lectured at Warren Chapel.

Rev. D. E. Fink, of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, lectured last evening at Warren chapel on missions. The topic was primarily Alaska and during the course of his remarks he told of that country about which much interest has centered recently. The difficulty experienced in re ching the Indians of that country and the hardships endured while at work among them, were portrayed by word and picture. The lecture was illustrated by a hundred stereopticon views of the land and of some of the missionary stations. The lecture was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Warren chapel.

Anniversary Meeting.

The anniversary meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held Friday afternoon, March 27, in the church. There will be several interesting speakers on the programme. This society will elect officers at the first meeting to be held in April.

Council Meeting.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Common Council Monday evening, March 23, when the business for the month will be concluded and a public hearing will be given on the proposed ordinance for extending the city sewage system in the southwestern and southeastern parts of the city.

HAS THE CUP LIFTED

Lipton Considers His Shamrock III. a Winner.

TO BE LAUNCHED ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Designer Watson Also Confident That New Boat Will Prove Faster Than Any Yet Produced—Coming Across In June.

GLASGOW, March 6.—Sir Thomas Lipton in an interview after he had made an inspection of the America's cup challenger said that everything was practically ready to launch Shamrock III. at half past 1 o'clock on the afternoon of St. Patrick's day, when a general holiday would be declared in Dumbarton.

Sir Thomas said his conviction that he had the cup "lifted" grows and increases every time he sees the Shamrock III., and he was pleased to find that his opinion was shared by those who were considered to be good judges.

Designer Watson said that he was satisfied that the new boat will prove a decided advance on anything they had yet produced and will be able to give a considerable time allowance to Shamrock II. Designer Fife, who is generally reticent in his opinions, admitted that the Shamrock III. would be the prettiest boat ever sent across the Atlantic.

The first trial spin of the challenger is set for March 27. There will be preliminary trials on the Clyde and then in the Solent. Later she will race at Belfast and possibly at Kingstown, Ireland, where special matches will be arranged. Shamrock III. will leave this side about the middle of June, and it is hoped that she will arrive at New York in the first week of July.

BASEBALL MEETINGS.

National and American Magnates Prepare For Season's Games.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Two big baseball meetings, those of the American and National, were in session in this city yesterday. At the Fifth Avenue hotel Ban Johnson and his colleagues were in conclave preparatory to giving the local rooters that information they have been anxiously watching for for months—the location of the playing grounds.

This came last evening in the following announcement;

"The American league baseball grounds are located on Manhattan Island. We have not purchased them, but have secured them on a long lease. They are in a position where no street can be put through them. You can state with my authority that our organization will play baseball on Manhattan Island and that the location of our grounds will be made public on Saturday."

The meeting of the National Baseball league at the Victoria hotel was a love-feast. Every magnate, young and old, was on hand to do his share toward making things go smoothly, and they played their parts to perfection. The most important action during the meeting was the adoption of a playing schedule for the coming season.

Corbett and Delaney Sign For Fight.

BALTIMORE, March 6.—James J. Corbett and Billy Delaney, the latter representing James J. Jeffries, met here last night and signed articles for a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. It was agreed that the contest take place in California in July or August, 1903, under the auspices of the athletic club offering the largest purse. The men are to spar twenty rounds to a decision, the winner to receive 75 per cent of the purse and the loser to take 25 per cent. Bids are to be sent to Harry Corbett in San Francisco, accompanied by a certified check for $5,000, duplicate bids to be sent to Tom O'Rourke in New York. Bids for the contest are to be opened April 1, 1903.

Big Sale of Trotters.

RICHMOND, Ind., March 6.—At the Lackey horse sale at Cambridge City yesterday ninety-two head brought $29,090, an average of about $316. The chief sales were the following: R. Ontime, pacer, 2:14½, to J. H. Gadbury of Springfield, O., $1,250; Extra Morgan mare, to John Pender of Johnstown, Pa., $1,850; Fanny Riley, trotter, 2:19¼, to F. H. Harrison of Chicago, $3,450; Tuscola and Arcola, trotter, to John Pender of Johnstown, Pa., $1,125; Pine Bush, pacer, 2:17½, to Edward Straus of New York city, $1,000.

Rush Work on Cup Defender.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 6.—Work on the new syndicate ninety foot yacht at the Herreshoffs is being rushed to the extreme limit, and the launching, it is now believed, is scheduled for April 11. Early in the year the steel workers were informed that each man would receive a bonus of 5 per cent of his wages provided the yacht was completed before April 15, but yesterday they were told that the amount would be increased to 15 per cent if the work was finished a few days earlier.

England Will Try For Tennis Cup.

BOSTON, March 6.—Another international cup contest is assured for next summer through the announcement by Secretary Presbrey of the United States National Lawn Tennis association that Great Britain had formally challenged for the Davis trophy, emblematic of international lawn tennis supremacy. This is the third attempt of Great Britain to secure this trophy.

Jockey Minder Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—The stewards have suspended Jockey Minder for his ride on Evander and several other efforts recently, among them that on Matt Hogan Wednesday. The track was sloppy, but fine weather prevailed. Favorites won three races.

FASHION NOTES.

Black Picture Hats—Zibeline For Skirts.

The all black picture hat is never out of style, and jet is being used upon it.

Fur toques are very large, mostly adorned with floral decorations and chiffon, while many of the picture hats for dressy wear are entirely of white tucked chiffon veiled with chantilly incrusted with jet and silver. Worn with these are large flat stoles of white marabou, ermine or black chiffon.

Some pretty pale blue cloth costumes have full gauged skirts worn with boleros and toques of chinchilla and chemisettes made of jabots of old lace.

Zibeline continues in high favor for skirts worn with fur boleros and toques to match trimmed with red berries and white camellias. Panne is being still used as a trimming, but velvet is now considered smarter.

Velvet gowns are mostly trimmed with chinchilla, ermine or sable.

The picture gown shown in the cut is of perpendicular insertions of black chantilly and velvet ribbon. The front and underdress are of plaited white chiffon.

WHAT IS WORN.

Sable and Chinchilla on Pale Fabrics—Walking Skirts.

There is no doubt that it is on pale shades that sable, mink and chinchilla look their best, and at the smartest Parisian gatherings of late stoles and muffs of lace and fur have been seen worn with crepe de chine or some soft fabric in pale shades.

Lace will be worn more than ever. Irish crochet and thick Italian lace are the favorite trimmings on cloth and velvet frocks. Velvet will be worn all through March, for one advantage of a velvet frock is that it can be used without a wrap.

For everyday use skirts are decidedly fuller and trains are no more. The really short skirt is never smart in town, but the new walking skirts can hardly come under this head, as they just escape the ground.

The picture shows a costume of brown cloth flecked with white. The vest is formed of embroidered galloon

SMART COLORS.

Gray and Blue Popular In Paris. Heavy White Goods.

The craze for black and white is increasing instead of abating. Rough serges, cream cloths, zibelines and beavers are tremendously in demand. The vivid green we have admired for so long has given place to other tones. Purples and mauves are gaining ground and will have a longer run of popularity than the new claret red.

Gray is always a favorite shade in Paris. The deep blue note of color which has been so conspicuous in Paris for some time has not yet disappeared, but its popularity is a matter of days. Parisians are proverbially fickle in the matter of color, though for day wear they are faithful to browns and grays.

Pastel shades are again coming into favor and they are very beautiful.

The picture shows an up to date costume of blue cheviot.

USEFUL BARGAINS.

Coats Long and Short—Odd Lengths of Silk and Their Uses.

The long cloth and bengaline coats, lined with silk and trimmed with lace and strappings, are useful for day and evening wear if selected in gray or neutral tints, and the prices are invariably reduced at this time of the year.

Smart little sack coats in black or fawn are useful for spring wear, particularly those of an ornamental type which are handy to slip over a dark gown. Tucked and plaited goods make pretty fronts, yokes and frills for sleeves, and a little coffee coat is quite easy to produce and requires only two and a quarter or even two yards of tucked net or chiffon if completed by deep frills of lace or plaited chiffon.

Remnants of velvet are useful for trimmings, millinery or a bolero, and from one and a half to two yards is a desirable length.

A silk petticoat requires six yards to make close at the top or with a full flounce finished with two bias gathered frills or quite fussy trimmings seven to eight yards of silk.

The illustration shows a coffee coat of brocade and lace.

Precocious German Children.

Herr A. Boer, a well known German schoolmaster, has recently published some interesting statistics regarding the practice of smoking among German school children. Taking his own school as a general example, he found that in the lower classes, consisting of boys from five to seven years old, nine pupils habitually smoked pipes and cigars. In the two higher classes—boys between seven and ten years old—eleven smokers were found, and in the two highest classes—boys between ten and thirteen—nine used tobacco. In other words, exactly half of the boys in his school between the ages of five and thirteen were smokers.

A KNIGHT OF THE HIGHWAY

By CLINTON SCOLLARD,

Author of "A Man at Arms," "The Son of a Tory," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by J. B. Lippincott Co

"Monroe was my college," he after a little heard himself saying; "that's how it happens that I'm here. There was a class reunion, you know. I'm not in array, as you see, but it's so long since I've been at a college ball that I couldn't resist when I heard the music. I didn't dream of meeting you."

"I haven't attended the college parties for a year or two," Miss Densmore replied, "and it's quite by chance that I'm here to-night. Mamma and I drove out with a cousin of mine from Buffaland who is engaged to Mr. Wolffe, an old Illica friend."

Wolffe! That was the name of Miss Densmore's visitor the last night at the Mertons'. It was burned deeply into Rossiter's memory. But how strangely mistaken he had been! An intoxicating elation seized him, and then the music ceased! He glanced eagerly at Miss Densmore's card, which she was nervously fingering, and noted that all save one of the remaining dances were taken. She caught his look, and there was something assuring in her smile.

"May I have that?" he said, pointing to the unengaged dance.

"Yes," she replied softly, still smiling, and then an exuberant senior rushed up and bore her away.

Rossiter's eyes followed her with a gleam of rapture. For a brief space lights, music, whirling figures were as naught to him. He saw only the delicate contour of her face; heard only the low cadence of her voice. With a violent effort he shook off this waking spell and turned towards Mrs. Densmore, but someone had engaged her in conversation and he was free. He slipped into a vacant window-seat and watched for Miss Densmore's reappearance. Presently she floated by (or so it seemed to him), and after that only for an occasional instant did he lose sight of her.

So pleasurable was his occupation that he was not inclined to rail at time as a laggard. Could he not possess his soul in patience for a few moments when so short a period before he had thought to wait at the gate of the court of love, a poor, starving mendicant, for a lifetime? Doubt never assailed his heart; what he should say never entered his mind. He did not try to reason out this or that, to analyze his joy. He felt a wonderful thrill go through him, and realized that at last he had risen to a complete mastery of himself. Love, working through one of the sweetest of womankind, had wrought the miracle.

The music was silent when Miss Densmore placed her hand upon Rossiter's arm, but there were several couples promenading, with whom they fell into line. As they passed an open window a gentle breeze touched their faces and lifted ever so lightly the lace about Miss Densmore's throat. She glanced out into the night, and Rossiter's gaze followed hers.

"How like the evening of the hop-dance!" she exclaimed,—"the moonlight and the whispering of the leaves! Do you remember?"

"Remember!" echoed Rossiter; "indeed I do. There are some seats upon the campus," he continued; "shall we not go out for a little as we did then?"

"Yes, if you wish it," she said.

In an ash cluster, a few yards across the sward and directly opposite the gymnasium, they discovered an unoccupied bench reaching from tree to tree.

Rossiter did not hesitate, did not now hang back, did not trifle with his fate. He had done with indecision forever.

"I wonder if you ever dreamed," he began, as they seated themselves, "that your cousin once interrupted me when I was on the point of telling you the story of my life—and something else?"

Miss Densmore did not reply.

"I would like to tell you the story now," continued Rossiter—"that if I may, and then——"

"But suppose I know," interrupted Miss Densmore, "since you have assured me you were not masquerading when I met you? Suppose I have guessed it?"

With her fine sensitiveness, she thought to save him from what might be a humiliating confession. He was not, however, in a mood to spare himself.

"Not at all!" he cried. "Why, I was an outcast, a common vagabond!"

"Never quite that!" she remonstrated. "But whatever you were, you are your better self again. You have conquered."

"Conquered!" he repeated fervently; "yes, thanks to you, my love, to you! Can you," he went on, his voice growing husky with emotion, "will you help me to be the conqueror still?"

"I will," she answered simply, and there was an infinite trust and tenderness in her tone.

Their hands met and their lips. Within the music burst into a jubilant air; above, there was a rythmical rustle among the leaves as the breeze swept them aside and let the moonlight crown the final scene in Rossiter's regeneration.

[THE END.]

ON SOUFRIERE'S SUMMIT.

Two Scientists and a Woman Visit Volcano in Eruption.

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent, March 6.—The American scientist, Edmund Hovey, and Professor Lacroix, who was sent out by the French government to investigate the recent eruptions, accompanied by Mme. Lacroix, the first lady visitor to La Soufriere since the eruptions, ascended the volcano and visited both craters of La Soufriere on March 2 in spite of the geyserlike eruptions which took place at close intervals during their ascension.

When halfway up the mountain the party met with a large puff of dust charged with steam which, after rising to a height of 8,000 feet, fell and besmeared them. The party halted, but encouraged by the pluck displayed by Mme. Lacroix, who urged them to continue the ascent, the scientists proceeded and reached the summit.

Immediately after beginning the descent more serious eruptions occurred, and the party was overtaken by a downpour of mud and had a narrow escape. The scientists are still in the volcanic region.

The Wabash Situation.

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—No change in the Wabash situation has developed. President Ramsey has nothing new to report, saying that all his force is at work as usual and that the matter of a strike is now up to the United States courts. Some progress was made by the union leaders, who have secured as associate counsel F. N. Judson, a prominent attorney of this city, to aid their lawyers, Messrs. Penny and Irwin, in the preparation of the motion and affidavits to be filed in Judge Adams' court to secure the dissolution of his sweeping injunction. These formal papers, which will be carefully prepared, will not be ready for presentation for several days.

Boy Opened the Switch.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 6.—It has been developed by officials of the Seaboard Air line that a boy named Birdie Ryals, eight years old, opened the switch at Evergreen, Fla., which caused the wreck there of the Seaboard's limited from Jacksonville to New York. No reason is assigned except that the child wanted to see "what would happen." Thirty minutes before the arrival of the train the boy told Postmaster A. Herring of Evergreen that he intended to open the switch, but the postmaster, though he lives within 150 feet of the switch, took no notice of the boy's threat.

Will Remove Judge Campbell.

RICHMOND, Va., March 6.—The legislative committee which had been investigating the charges against Judge Campbell of Amherst county, growing out of the horse whipping by the judge of Rev. Dr. Crawford of the Antisaloon league, has reached a conclusion, deciding to report unanimously in favor of the judge's removal from the bench.

Fire In Geneva, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 6.—Fire which caused a loss of $40,000 broke out in the Huntington block, Geneva, and burned for several hours. The building was old and filled with inflammable material and used as a warehouse for the wholesale grocery firm of White, Ford & Thompson, whose stock was damaged $30,000.

Cargo of Oats For Finlanders.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—The Elder-Dempster steamer Montauk, which has just sailed for Hango, Finland, carried the largest cargo of oats ever taken out of this port, about 300,000 bushels. This cargo goes to Hango-Udde for the relief of the starving Finlanders.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make an application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

STRIKE BOARD HEARING.

Representatives of Both Sides Before the Commission.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Representatives of both sides of the coal strike question appeared before the anthracite coal strike commission yesterday. All the members of the commission were present. Judge Gray, the chairman, presided. The session was held in the hearing room of the interstate commerce commission.

The main question discussed was that of determining the best method of payment for coal mined, and it hinged upon the point as to whether settlement shall be made with the men according to weight or measure.

The hearing foreshadows an early report of the commission to President Roosevelt, as it involves practically the only issue which remains unsettled in the minds of the commission. It was intended that this meeting of the commission should be a secret one, and strenuous efforts were put forth to attain this end.

There were two sessions during the day. The first session adjourned shortly before 1 o'clock, and the commission reassembled an hour later.

The proceedings were in the nature of a general consultation regarding the matter of payment for coal mined, and all of those present expressed their views in response to questions propounded by members of the commission.

Mr. Mitchell, of course, was among those who talked at considerable length.

Mike Cronin Calls on President.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Among the president's callers yesterday was Mike Cronin, the guide who drove the president the last twenty miles of his famous ride from the Adirondack mountains to the railroad station at North Creek when he was notified of the death of President McKinley. The president met Cronin in New York last week and in addition to giving him a seat on the stage of Carnegie hall at the Wesley bicentenary celebration invited him to call on him here. President Roosevelt presented Cronin a handsome autograph photograph of himself.

A Million Dollar Gift to Barnard.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Trustees of Barnard college, the women's department of Columbia university, announce that they have received from some person whose name is known only to President Butler and to Treasurer George A. Plimpton a gift of a fund sufficient to enable the trustees to purchase the three blocks south of the present Barnard college. The cost is approximately fixed at $1,000,000. This magnificent site, nearly three and a half acres in extent, will provide for the growth of the college for many years to come.

Did Not Know the Humberts.

PARIS, March 6.—The Matin this morning states that Mme. Therese Humbert during her interrogatory yesterday asserted that she and other members of her family frequently met the French ambassador, Patenotre, while in Madrid. The ambassador knew them well, as he had often been at parties given at their house about the year 1880. The Matin has interviewed M. Patenotre, who emphatically denies ever seeing the Humberts in Madrid, that he knew any of the family in Paris or that he ever attended parties at their house.

Michigan Republican Convention.

DETROIT, March 6.—Eight names will be presented to the Republican state convention today when nominations for justice of the supreme court to succeed Justice Frank A. Hooker are called for. The convention will also nominate two candidates for regent of the state university. The indications are that the fight for the judicial nomination will be protracted and bitter.

Alleged Murderer Captured.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—The police authorities claim to have captured the murderer of Archibald McCurdy, who was shot and killed on the night of Feb. 20. Harry Sifton, aged nineteen years, is the suspect. He will be arraigned for a hearing, and the police say they have sufficient evidence to warrant his commitment to prison for the action of the coroner.

Aged Man Leaps to His Death.

PITTSBURG, March 6.—Hugh Dixon, aged seventy years, committed suicide by jumping from the Forward avenue bridge to the ground below, a distance of 135 feet. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, and he was dead when picked up. Ill health and the recent death of his wife are assigned as the causes for the deed.

Korea to Get Belgian Funds.

BRUSSELS, March 6.—The Korean government is negotiating with Belgian bankers for a loan of $30,000,000, secured on the import duties. Several important railway concessions in Korea will also be granted to the Belgian bankers.

Inventor of Paper Car Wheel Dead.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., March 6.—Josiah Muir, the inventor of the paper car wheels now in use on railroads, is dead here at the age of ninety-one years. He was formerly a large manufacturer of paper and pasteboard.

SPORTING NEWS

WHIST.

The New Jersey Whist Association will meet at the Forest Hill Whist Club, Friday evening. The event will be a contest for pairs, but teams of four are expected to compete for the New Jersey trophy, which will be surrendered by the club holding it.

The first match for the New Jersey whist trophy was played last week between the Jersey City team, who won it at the congress, and the Forest Hill team, challengers. The match was very close and interesting. The Jersey City team assumed the lead at the start and held it until the finish, when Forest Hill passed them and won out by two tricks. The final score was 8 tricks to 6.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Plainfielders will be interested to learn that F. M. P. Taylor, formerly of Washington Park, holds the Colorado State three-game record in bowling. Mr. Taylor made his record December 8, as a member of the Town and Gown team in the three-man tournament then being rolled at the Antlers alleys, making a total of 670 pins in three consecutive games. This makes an average of 223 1-3 pins per game.

BASKET BALL.

A good game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League is promised for this evening when the fives of the Hope Y. M. A. and the I. C. T. Club will meet in the latter's rooms. The game is called for 8:15 o'clock. Messrs. Myers and Brown, of the Newark Y. M. C. A., will act as officials. Special arrangements have been made for the women who desire to attend the game.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Charles Tallman's well-known trotter, Queen, which has been in training during the winter months at Beeching's stock farm, was brought to this city, Saturday, for the spring racing. The animal is in splendid condition and has increased her speed considerably.

Snapped a Bone.

While working about his store this morning Jerry Foss, the fish dealer, of Park avenue, turned suddenly on his heel and broke the bone of his leg. He was taken to the office of Dr. Long who set the bone. He was able to continue at work.

Tearing Down Roundhouse.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company are tearing down the roundhouse which has for years been located at Mt. Airy.

LENTEN TALKS.

Arranged by Executive Committee of the City Union of King's Daughters.

The executive committee of the City Union of King's Daughters was held yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., when a number of matters of importance were discussed.

It was decided to have several Lenten talks during the next few weeks at the homes of the different members. These talks will be given by Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, corresponding secretary of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, who is spending the winter in this city. The first talk will be given at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead on East Front street, Tuesday, March 17. The dates for the other talks will be announced later. The talks will be of a spiritual character, tending to lead the members into a deeper consciousness of their personal duty.

The president, Miss Lillian A. Force, appointed Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, Miss Susie Rafferty and Miss Kathryn Glen a nominating committee to select officers to be elected at the semi-annual meeting in May.

TOOK PLEDGE.

So City Judge Runyon Gave Him a Chance to Behave Himself in the Future.

In the city court, this morning, Mrs. Maggie McGuigan was charged by her neighbor, Mrs. Mary McCann, with disorderly conduct. The case was continued.

Henry Haberman was arraigned on a charge preferred by his wife that he was continually drunk and disorderly. He agreed to take the pledge and City Judge Runyon suspended sentence to give him another chance.

Lewis Levine was brought up on a charge of violating the junk ordinance, preferred by Patrolman Mc Carthy. Sentence was suspended.

YOUNG MEN ORGANIZE.

Young Men's Brotherhood Started at Warren Chapel.

The young men of Warren chapel are organizing a club. They held a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of William H. B. Drake, of Orchard place, when by-laws and a constitution were partially drawn up. The name of the club will be the Young Men's Brotherhood of Warren chapel. The organization will be completed at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Charles Calloway, of Netherwood avenue, next Thursday evening.

Epworth League Meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church will be held this evening. Monthly reports will be made at that time.

School Meeting.

The annual school meeting of the schools of Somerset county will be held March 17. At that time matters of importance to the borough schools will be brought up for discussion.

Miss Mae MacDonald, of New York, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrigan, of East Fourth street.

PALE PEOPLE

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,

ATTENTION!

The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the

NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL, SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,

With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

THE JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS OF TRINITY CHURCH GAVE AN ENTERTAINMENT.

Programme Consisted of Recitations, Vocal and Instrumental Music—Those Who Took Part.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church entertained its friends yesterday afternoon, when a programme of recitations, vocal and instrumental music was given in a clever manner by the young folks in the Sunday-school room of the church. Miss Ida Tier, as president of the society, took charge.

There were recitations by Russell Hoagland, Miss Mildred Priemer, Miss Adelaide Cole, Miss Beulah Van Winkle, Edson Day, Miss Elsie Tier, Miss Ethel Vail, Miss Helen Woolley and Ralph Martin. A feature was the first appearance of Miss Beatrice Tier, who sang two popular selections. There were also piano solos by Miss Edna Cole, Miss Emily Remson and Miss Elsie Dunavan.

After the rendition of the programme, a collection was taken and this together with the proceeds from the sale of fudge, which was in charge of the Misses Elsie and Myra Dunavan, will be used for both home and foreign missions. The social committee having charge of the serving of cocoa and cake after the entertainment consisted of Miss Ida Tier, Miss Bessie Reighton, Miss Louella Day, Miss Edna Force, Miss Delia Dufford, Miss Ethel Lorton, Fred Smith, Jr., and Christopher Mobus.

The Christian Endeavor Society colors were used to decorate the room, crepe streamers and shades for the electric lights being prettily arranged about the room.

CRITERION DANCE.

Postponed Event Held at Casino Proved a Great Success—Another to Follow Next Month.

The Criterion Club held its postponed dance last evening. It was a very successful one and to the committee which had charge of the arrangements much credit is due for the delightful evening enjoyed by almost two hundred people. The dance was postponed from January 29, on account of the death of one of the committee. The music by Westervelt, of Newark, was exceptionally fine.

So successful was last night's event that the committee has decided to give another dance sometime during the early part of next month. The committee which had the arrangements in charge comprised: Albert Clark, James Pope, F. M. Slater, Jr., John Hall, Harry DeMeza, Clarence Brokaw, and William Kenneth. Chas. Titsworth was the floor manager.

There were large delegations present from Somerville, Elizabeth, Rahway, New York and Metuchen.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

At Monthly Meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein Last Night.

The reading of reports and the initiating of new members constituted the principal features of the monthly meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein which was held last evening in Saengerbund Hall. Three new members were received and three propositions for membership were considered. One member was dropped from the rolls. It was reported that the recent masquerade ball netted the society $150.

Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments were served and bowling was enjoyed.

ORACLE APPEARS.

March Number of City High School Publication Out Today.

The March number of the City High School Oracle appeared today. It is unusually well gotten up and each editor has worked to make his or her department surpass former efforts. This is the last number to be issued by the original board elected in December and the efforts along all lines in former issues deserve much credit. The new board, as soon as elected, will start work on the April issue.

MUSICALE AND SOCIAL.

Aid and Endeavor Societies United for a Pleasant Evening at First Presbyterian Church Chapel.

The Ladies' Aid and the Christian Endeavor Societies, of the First Presbyterian church, united in conducting an enjoyable musicale and box social, last evening.

Features of the programme were an instrumental trio composed of the Misses Clara VanFleet, Alberta E. Waterbury and Letitia Remsen, vocal selections by Joseph Moon, piano solos by the Misses VanFleet and Waterbury and duets by the same. Afterward boxes of lunch were auctioned off and the remainder of the evening was spent in a social way.

The committee in charge was Mrs. W. W. Dunn, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. LeRoy H. Gates and Mrs. H. A. Pope, from the Ladies' Aid Society, and Mr. and Mrs. Edson Burroughs, Rev. C. E. Herring, the Misses Beatrice Miner, Mildred Ulrich and Fanny Mills, M. A. Korff and Mrs. Charles Hazeltine.

SAFE MEN ORGANIZE.

Employes of Hibbard-Redman-Ely Safe Co., Form Benefit Association.

The employes of the Hibbard-Redman-Ely Safe Company met in Democratic headquarters, last evening, and formed a mutual benefit organization which will be conducted on lines similar to those in the other local shops. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Walter Gaston; president, E. P. Gaston; vice president, Henry Klein; treasurer, William C. Peck; secretary, George Gray; financial secretary, Roger Eriksen; trustees, James Derby, Willard Henry Miner and Samuel Clouston; stenographer, Miss Elizabeth C. Bourke.

Meetings will be held at regular intervals. John Enright acted as clerk at last night's gathering.

EVENING OF WHIST.

Fortnightly Whist Club Entertained by Miss Mabel Maxson.

The Fortnightly Whist Club was entertained last evening by Miss Mabel Maxson at the home of William M. Runyon, of East Front street. Mr. and Mrs. H. Sloat Potter were to have entertained but the plans were changed at the request of Miss Maxson. Mrs. Samuel Hollingsworth was presented with the first prize for the women, while John Steiner, a substitute, secured the first prize for the men. C. Berry Egan, also a substitute, won the consolation prize. Miss May MacLaughlin, of Somerset street, will entertain the club Thursday evening, March 12.

IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

Husband and Brother of Mrs. Clark Had Trouble—Aired in Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 6—In Justice Clark's court, last evening, Louis Clark, of Graceland, was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his brother-in-law, Con O'Donnell, of Plainfield. Trouble has been brooding in the Clark domicile for some time and the alleged assault was committed when O'Donnell tried to take Mrs. Clark's belongings away from the house and get her to leave her husband. Clark entered a general denial of the charges but was held in $300 bail for the Grand Jury.

SEVEN NEW SOCETIES.

Union's Share in C. E. Movement to Place Jersey in Coveted Rank.

The secretary of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union has sent to each district secretary a statement of the number of societies which his or her county is expected to organize in order to place this State in the ranks of those eligible to recognition at the international convention, to be held in June, as having made a 10 per cent. increase. Union county's quota in this special effort is seven, and the district secretary has forwarded circular letters to all societies urging cooperation in this advance movement.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

It was suggested yesterday by a person who was talking about the change in the operation of the local trolley cars, that it might be well for people who use horses and carriages to be a little careful how they drive through Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street. It was cited that trolley cars are given equal rights and that people driving horses have no more right to drive at a reckless speed than the trolley cars have to travel at a high rate of speed. A little extra care on the part of both trolleys and people in carriages, it was believed, would result in general satisfaction.

When Rev. Dr. D. G. Wylie, of the Scotch Presbyterian church, New York, rebuked his flock last Sunday morning for indifference to church duties, he said no more than most pastors could truthfully say to their congregations Does not the following rebuke fit most of our churches in city and country alike? "One hour and a qurrter a week is not enough for a strong man or woman to devote to spiritual welfare. There are not enough members of this church who attend the Sunday night services or the Wednesday evening prayer meetings. You are not always tired. You are not always ill. You do not always have friends come in. It is a sin and a shame for strong men and women to absent themselves from the Sunday night services and the Wednesday prayer meetings."

NEW GAME.

Finds Much Favor With Members of the Y. M. C. A.

A new game has been introduced for the first time in this city, at the Y. M. C. A., which is known as "Charlie Horse." It is a combination of polo and hockey and the men and juniors of the association have entered into the game with much interest. At some of the practice games, which were played Tuesday night for the first time, some good scores were made.

There are five players in the lineup and it is a foul to raise the sticks, which are small hockey clubs, above the knee. The game promises to be very popular, as it will keep the hockey teams in practice all summer.

INTERCHANGABLE MILEAGE.

Nearly All Trunk Lines Agree to Arrangement Soon to Take Effect.

The trunk line railroads have several changes in the ticket system, the most important being the interchangeable mileage arrangement, which goes into effect April 1. This affects all roads except the New York Central, West Shore, New Jersey Central and Reading. Travelling men who make use of several roads have been made happy by this announcement, as one mileage book will be good for passage on the Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna, Erie, Ontario and Western and several smaller roads east of Pittsburg.

Grip in Borough Schools.

In speaking of school attendance during the winter months, Superintendent Homer J. Wightman, of the borough schools, said that during the recent siege of grip in this locality, 150 pupils were detained at home during the short period of ten days. This is unusual and never before has such a large number of pupils been on the absent list at one time for the the same illness.

Killed Fox With An Ax.

While James Totten, of Fountain Green, a small village near Watchung, was cutting some kindling wood, Monday, he saw a silver fox in the woodpile and he killed it with his ax. The fox measured four feet and ten inches from the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose.

COUNCILMEN PRAISE MAYOR

General Desire Expressed to See Mayor Smalley Returned to Office.

LAST COUNCIL MEETING

After a Little Routine Business Was Finished, There Was an Exchange of Compliments Between the Mayor and the Members of the Borough Council.

The Borough Council met last evening for the purpose of closing up the business of the fiscal year. There was a full representation of the members present except Councilman Codington. The session, proper, lasted only half an hour but in that short time much business was transacted.

The report of E. L. Suffren, who has been examining the books of the tax collector, was received and placed on file; claims amounting to about $2,700 were approved by the auditing committee and ordered paid and the annual report of the treasurer was read. That report follows: The receipts amounted to $2,148.62, and the disbursements, $1,281.10, leaving a balance on hand of $867.50. The largest items among the receipts outside of the taxes and interest, were: the special school tax of $328.81, the Gas and Electric Light Company franchise tax, of $261.85, and the Plainfield Water Supply Company franchise tax of $242.11.

Mayor Smalley appointed Harry Schearer as special marshal for ten days, which was confirmed by the police committee. Chairman James K. Arnold, of the street committee, reported that $585.76 had been spent in cleaning and repairing the thoroughfares of the borough. Chairman Nichols, of the finance committee, offered a resolution that as the borough was short of funds that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to borrow $2,000 in order to pay the bills. This was carried. Mr. Nichols also offered a resolution that the lease of the Council chambers for five years, which expires this month, be renewed for one year at the same terms. This was also carried. The Mayor and Clerk were authorized to make the renewal. Chairman Lee, of the police committee, reported that seventeen arrests had been made the past month and that $26 had been received from fines. Two prisoners were sent to Somerville.

Chairman Northrup, of the laws and taxation committee, offered a resolution to the effect that the Collector be authorized to collect the unpaid taxes of 1901. Councilman Nichols submitted a resolution to the effect that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to draw up a warrant for the payment of the six months' interest on the Somerset street bonds, of $3,000 at 4 per cent.

Before the meeting came to a close Mayor Smalley stepped down from the chair and addressing the Councilmen, said:

"My term is about to expire and you are threatened with another and a new victim. All of us may have an opinion of the result of the coming election but no one of us knows what the result will be. To the Council as it is today. I wish to say that I appreciate your services. I speak for those whom you serve and for myself, for I appreciate the able manner in which you have looked after the interest of the borough during your term as Councilmen. I have felt proud of being with you at the Council meetings and I feel that you have done your work faithfully and, no matter who occupies that chair, I will feel safe in leaving the business of the borough in your hands.'

"I have been honored by the people of North Plainfield with two terms in office. I have appreciated the honor and have tried to serve them faithfully. What the result of the election on Tuesday will be I do not know and I may say I do not care. I feel that it will be a victory either way. Whatever the result may be I will fulfil my duties the best I can. A new man may be chosen to relieve me of my duties. New matters of importance may come up, such as the street widening, sewerage questions and other schemes, and if I am not here I hope you will continue to look after the interests of the people.

"I have said that this is my last night. I leave with many regrets and

MR. CONROY'S POSITION

HE SAYS THAT HE HAS MADE NO APPOINTMENT YET.

Declares That He Has Support of Number of Republicans—A Few Final Words.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I have read in a Plainfield newspaper an interview with Mayor Smalley concerning campaign matters. Will you allow me a little space for a few final words at this, the close of the campaign.

I said in the beginning that I knew I had a hard man to beat, but that I would undertake the task; and I would now say that I still have my eye fixed on the prize. I will use the plural and say that I have both eyes fixed on the prize, and am pressing forward with all patience, and hope to continue onward until the polls are closed on election day.

Having inside information on the subject I can say to my friends in the borough that there have been no appointments made. If I am elected mayor of the borough I expect to share such appointments with my associates in the Council.

Finally I am glad that Mayor Smalley can boast of the support of a few very excellent Democrats and that he is able to use their names for advertising purposes. It would have been a pleasure to me to have had their support, but I may say that I am not lacking in the support of a large number of very excellent Republicans, but think it rather delicate to publish their names, although I am proud of their support; and in the event of my election I will endeavor to conduct my part of the responsibility of the affairs of the borough in a manner that will prove that my supporters did not make a mistake.

Yours very truly,
W. J. Conroy.

IS HELPING HOME MISSIONS

ANNUAL MEETING OF W. H. M. S. OF CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

The Old Officers Re-Elected and Address by Rev. R. E. Craig—$1,900 Raised During the Year.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, held yesterday afternoon, the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. I. C. Pearson; vice presidents, Mrs. William E. Honeyman and Mrs. Townsend Rushmore; secretary, Miss Mary Ketcham; treasurer, Mrs. William E. Meyers; secretary of literature, Mrs. H. R. Halloway.

The report of the treasurer showed that about $1,900 had been raised during the year, all of which had been expended for mission work in the southern States among the Indians and Alaska. Most of it was expended direct for the support of schools.

Following the transaction of business the members listened to an address on mission work among the natives and Indians in New Mexico and Arizona, by Rev. Robert E. Craig, synodical missionary for those two territories. The part dealing with the Indians was very interesting.

PULPIT SUPPLIES.

Those to Preach at First Baptist Church Next Three Sundays.

The pulpit supply committee of the First Baptist church has secured supplies for the next three Sundays. Tomorrow, Rev. William T. Dorwood, of the Baptist church, Stelton, will preach morning and evening. Sunday, March 15, Rev. Dr. Rhoades, of New York, will preach. This will be missionary Sunday and in the evening Dr. Rhoades will give an illustrated talk on missions. Sunday, March 22, Rev. Dr. Luther, formerly of Newark, but now of Orange, will preach morning and evening. Dr. Luther is one of the strongest divines in the Baptist denomination of the State.

Inspecting New Pump.

W. J. Sando, a representative of the Worthington Pump Company, of Brooklyn, accompanied by Mr. Walker, of Pennsylvania, was in this city yesterday inspecting the new five-million gallon pump which is being erected at the Plainfield Water Supply Company pumping station.

Grading Exercises.

The boys' athletic grading exercises were held this morning at the Y. M. C. A. There was a large attendance and the showing made by the boys was very good. The scores will be made known and the promotions will take place the first of next week.

NO LEAGUE CONTEST; BUT TEAMS PLAYED

Exhibition Game Won by Hope Y. M. A., Defeating the I. C. T. Club.

FIRST HALF WAS CLOSE

AFTER THAT THE HOPE BOYS HAD THINGS THEIR OWN WAY.

Officials From Newark Failed to Appear and League Game Was Postponed—Played An Exhibition Game Instead.

Failure of the officials from Newark to appear resulted in the postponement of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League game between Hope Y. M. A. and the I. C. T. Club, set for last night. An exhibition game between the teams was arranged, however, and played in the I. C. T. rooms. The Hope boys won by a score of 25 to 6.

The first half was decidedly exciting. The play quite close and both sides guarded exceptionally well. But the greatest part of the game was the meeting of the brothers, John and George Cose, on opposing teams. They played against each other and supplied the crowd with much to applaud. The first half ended with the score 9 to 5 in favor of Hope.

Everything went Hope's way in the second half and goals followed each other in rapid succession. The I. C. T. Club boys put up a brave defence but some clever goal throwing decided it. Overbaugh was left unguarded a moment and landed one from the field That was the only score I. C. T. made in that half.

The teams lined up as follows:

HOPE Y. M. A.		I. C. T. CLUB.
Porter	right forward	Sherwin, Overbaugh
Chamberlain	left forward	Caleen
J.Cose, Whitley	centre	G. Cose
Whitley, Roseberry	right guard	Overbaugh; Sherwin

Score—Hope Y. M. A., 25; I. C. T. Club, 6. Goals from the field—Porter (2), Chamberlain (4), J. Cose, Whitley (3), Duckworth (2), Sherwin, Caleen, Overbaugh. Goals on fouls—J. Cose. Fouls—Hope Y. M. A., 2; I. C. T. Club, 3. Referee—Charles B. Morse, of Hope Y. M. A. and I. C. T. Club. Umpires—George McCombe, of Hope Y. M. A., and Harry Blimm, of the I. C. T. Club. Timekeepers—J. Fred Wharton, of Hope Y. M. A., and George Apgar, of I. C. T. Club Scorers—George E. Firstbrook, of Hope Y.M.A. and V. W. Nash, Jr., of I. C. T. Club.

NEW EDITORS.

Chosen Yesterday for the City High School Oracle.

At the election yesterday at the City High School for the second board of governors of the Oracle, four editors were chosen from the student body. Those who were elected were Miss Mae Batchelor, 1904; Miss Edith L. Jarvis, 1905; Miss Lillian Snodgrass, 1905, and VanWyck Brooks, 1904. Five editors were balloted for but no majority was obtained from the freshman class. The freshman representative of the board, together with the business manager and assistant business manager will be balloted for next week.

Looking Over Trolleys.

Col E. W. Hine, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, was in this city, yesterday, and made a partial tour of the trolley lines. It is believed that the trip was made for the purpose of ascertaining the exact condition of the local trolley system, and of seeing what repairs were necessary.

Engagement Announced.

Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement just made by Rev. and Mr. E. S. Jamison, formerly of Dunellen, but now of Raritan, of the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Eloise, to Frederick William DeHart, of Pittsburg, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. DeHart.

Masque Ball.

The masquerade ball of the women's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, will be held at Saengerbung Hall, March 23. It will be the fifth annual event of its kind given by the women's section and it promises to be a very brilliant affair.

Informal Luncheon.

Mrs. Harry Depew, of Hillside avenue, gave an informal luncheon yesterday at her home. Covers were laid for ten and the affair was a most pleasant one in every respect.

Announcement of Engagement.

Former Mayor and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, announcement of their daughter, Miss Caroline Randolph, to Dr. Charles Tarfitt, of Toronto, Can.

DENIES THAT HE SOLD OUT

Mr. Reed Vigorously Repeats Denial of Story That He Sold Out in Annexation Fight.

IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE

Plain Words for the Men Who Made the Charge, and Now Say That He Failed to Deny It—Made a Denial of It at the Hearing at Trenton.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The Weekly Review this morning declares that because I opposed annexation until it was agreed that a clause submitting the question to the people of the borough should be inserted in the bill, and then favored it, I was publicly charged with having sold out for a consideration and failed to deny it.

There are people who are incapable of understanding the language of gentlemen and those responsible for this charge seem to be among them. The charge is absolutely false as will be testified to by any of the large delegation of representative citizens who were present. I not only denied the statement, but stated that it was unworthy of belief anywhere. In order that no one may make any further mistake in this regard let me put it in a way that will not fail to be understood.

When Howland made that statement, he stated what was absolutely false. When his editor Webb reported it with the addition that I had not denied it, he also stated what was absolutely false. Charles A. Reed.

MAYOR WILL MAKE REPLY

ASKS PUBLIC TO WITHHOLD JUDGMENT UNTIL THEN.

Will Tell in Monday's Daily Press the Facts Regarding The Review's Attacks.

To the Public:—Having read the various articles in The Review this morning written by Webb and his coterie of well-known assistants. I will ask that portion of our people who are unacquainted with the facts to withhold judgment until they read my reply Monday in this paper.

Miss Holley will be heard Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course entertainment in connection with Chas. F. Underhill who will then present Sheridan's great comedy "The Rivals."

SECURED GROUNDS.

City High School Nine Will Play on Cuban Giants' Diamond.

The management of the City High School baseball team has made arrangements with the Cuban Giants Baseball Club for the use of the field at the end of Arlington avenue. As soon as the frost is out of the ground, work will be started on the field which will be smoothed off and rolled. The High School management will erect a backstop and grandstand.

PARK'S VETERANS WON FROM CAMERA CLUB

After Three Years Absence From Whist, Parks Show They Haven't Forgotten.

WON BY SINGLE TRICK

STOPPED VICTORIOUS CAREER OF THE PLAINFIELD CAMERA CLUB.

It Was Expected That Camera Club Would Win, and Park Club Team Was Rather Disappointed at Its Own Victory.

It is the unexpected that always happens and, when it became known last evening that the well-known whist four from the Plainfield Camera Club lost the match with the famous veteran "four" from the Park Club, in the contest for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, there was disappointment on both sides. While the Parks had no intention of giving the game to their fellow Plainfielders, there was a general feeling that the Camera Club team would score a victory, making it the sixth consecutive win for the trophy. This was not to be for the veteran Parks played superior whist and won the match by one trick, the final score being 13 to 12.

It is nearly three years since the Park four has played togetehr, but its work last evening showed that the members are very much in the game.

The Forest Hill Whist Club team is the next challenger and this match will be played at the Park Club next Thursday evening. The veterans are now in possession of the trophy and it will be their duty to defend it with their acknowledged skill. It is admitted that next week's game may be easy, but after that the Knickerbocker Whist Club and the Brooklyn Whist Club teams will be after the trophy, in case it remains here.

Last evening the first round ended with a score of 5 to 8 in favor of the Camera Club. The second round was won by the Parks by a score of 6 to 2, and the third round went to the holders of the trophy by a score of 5 to 4.

The Park Club veterans were Samuel Townsend, S. St. John Mc Cutchen, Joseph H. Howell and George T. Rogers, while A. F. Freeman, F. H. Freeman, Ralph T. Willis and W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., represented the Camera Club.

DRUM CORPS BALL.

Many Guests Spent a Pleasant Evening at Dance and Reception of Independent Drum Corps.

The initial reception and ball of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, held in Saengerbund Hall, last evening, was a success from every point of view.

Among the many out-of-town guests who were present were delegations from the Union Pleasure Club and the Liberty Fife and Drum Corps, of Elizabeth. The grand march was led by Drum Major John Shepherd, of the latter, and Miss Annie Frank, of Elizabeth.

The committee of arrangements was as follows: Samuel C. Terry, chairman; Horace G. Adams, secretary; J. Henry Adams, treasurer; J. V. Boekman and Frank L. Manchester. The reception committee consisted of J. V. Beekman, M. H. Brokaw, F. L. Manchester and J. H. Adams. Horace G. Adams and Charles Pawson acted as floor managers.

District Deputy Named.

Charles L. Holstein has been appointed district deputy of the I. O. R. M., for district No. 47. The appointment was made about a week ago and he will soon take up his new duties of visiting different tribes in this district.

Increase in Membership.

INTER-CLASS BASKET BALL

LOWER CLASS TEAM OF BOROUGH HIGH DEFEATS UPPER CLASS PLAYERS.

Classes of '05 and '06 Won From Seniors and Juniors by Score of 15 to 2—At Reform Hall.

Interclass basket ball among the boys of the North Plainfield High School was started at Reform Hall, yesterday afternoon, when the Sophomore-Freshmen five defeated the Senior-Junior combination by a score of 15 to 2. Superior accuracy in passing and in goal throwing decided the game. The lower class team had better team play and despite the fact that most of its players were smaller and lighter, led from the start.

Never during the game were the upper class players able to land a goal from the field. When the opportunity did come, the tries went wide of the mark. The score at the end of the first half was 7 to 2 in favor of the lower classes. The defeated team failed to score at all in the second half. The play throughout was clean.

The teams lined up as follows:

'03 and '04.		'05 and '06.
Humble	right forward	Mundy
Adams	left forward	Niachwitz
Armstrong	centre	Webster
George	right guard	Mueck, Ovens
Martin, Powlison	left guard	McCullough

Score—'05-6, 15; '03-4, 2. Goals from the field—Mundy (2), Niachwitz (3), Webster. Goals on fouls—Adams, Armstrong, Mundy (3). Fouls—'05-6, 5; '03-4, 4. Referee—Charles B. Morse. Umpires—A. L. Clark and H. C. Brose. Timekeeper—Leonard Mantz.

REPUBLICANS WOULDN'T RUN

SO THE TICKET IN FANWOON TOWNSHIP WAS LEFT INCOMPLETE.

No Candidates Would Accept Nominations in Republican Primary Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 7—After one of the longest sessions on record, the Republican voters of Fanwood township adjourned from a primary in Excelsior Hall, last evening, without placing a ticket in the field. When nominations were called for declinations were in order in nearly every instance and repeated attempts met with no better success. The only acceptances were Thomas S. Whitenack, for commissioner of appeal, Andrew Schaffer and W. Jamison for commissioners of highway.

In the way of appropriations, those recommended in the township report by the Township Committee were endorsed with the exception of $300 for poor which was increased to $400.

The constant cutting of the ticket is said to be responsible for the refusals to accept nominations.

AT BADMINTON.

Prizes Won at Friday Night Club by Mrs. Calkins and H. Huntington.

Badminton was the principal game played last evening at the Friday Night Club at the Casino. The pool and bowling tournament will come to a close next week and at the same time the women's bowling contest will start.

The badminton contest was won last evening by Mrs. Leighton Calkins and Howard Huntington, who defeated Miss Pierson and Thomas R. VanBoskerck by a score of 15 to 11 in the first game and 50 to 9 in the second.

During the evening, C. Westley Abbott was presented with the silver cup which was won by him in the pool tournament.

Spring Cleaning Begun.

Street Commissioner Gavett has placed the usual number of street cleaners at work upon the city streets and the spring cleaning began yesterday. The streets of the business section of the town will receive attention first and then the streets of the residential part of the town will be cleaned.

WHY TAX RATE WAS INCREASED

Collector G. F. Brown Explains That the School Board and Not Council is to Blame.

BOROUGH TAX REDUCED

While Borough Tax Went Down Two Points, Special School Tax Was Increased Nineteen Points—Finances in Better Condition Than Ever Before.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In my position as Collector, I come constantly in contact with taxpayers and find that among many a great misapprehension as to the reason for the increase of this year's taxes over those of last year.

The tax rate is made up of various items and anyone who will examine his tax bills for the past two years and compare them will find the following:

County tax	.61
State School tax	.71
Borough tax	.84
Board of Health	.02
Special School	.78
Total tax	$2.42

1902.

County tax	.59
State School tax	.17
Borough tax	.82
Board of Health	.03
Special School	.97
Total tax	$2.58

Thus it appears that the borough tax, which is the only one over which the Mayor and Council have any control, was 84 cents on the $100 in 1901 and 82 cents in 1902.

The special school tax rate is based on money spent by the Board of Education. The Mayor has no power at all over this school fund. The special school tax rate in 1901 was 78 cents, while in 1902 it was 97 cents on the $100, an increase in school tax of 19 cents.

Mayor Smalley and the Council by economy and careful management decreased the borough tax rate 20 cents on the 1,000, while in the same time the rate of the department presided over by the Board of Education was raised $1.90. These are the facts as shown by the tax books.

My books show the finances to be in better shape than at any time for a number of years, at the close of fiscal year, Feb. 10, 1903, a balance of $127.88, with outstanding notes of $3,000 but the Mayor and Council paid $3,500 for a lot for the new fire house. Had not this purchase been made, the report would have shown a balance of $627.88 without a note unpaid.

George F. Brown,
Collector and Treasurer of the Borough and custodian of school funds.

BABCOCK FIRE.

Friday Was Anniversary of Greatest Fire Plainfield Has Known.

It was just one year ago yesterday that the Babcock building, then regarded as the handsomest office building in the State, was almost entirely destroyed by fire, together with the complete demolition of the Sebring building, by falling walls. The new Babcock building, an exact duplicate of the old in outward appearance, is now almost completed and with the erection of the Sebring building, all evidences of the greatest fire Plainfield had in years will have been removed.

Won't Allow Sign.

When the Postal Telegraph office moved into their new quarters on North avenue a large wooden sign was sent out from New York to be placed upon the top of the structure. When a permit was applied for at the office of the building inspector, he would not grant it, and the sign will be sent back to New York and will be replaced by an iron one.

New Man on Duty.

Special Patrolman W. C. Messler, recently appointed, was on duty yesterday morning in the business section of the city, while the regular officer, Charles Flynn, with other reguiars, attended the funeral services of the late Patrolman Flanagan.

WORK OF M'ALL AUXILIARY

AS OUTLINED IN THE REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

Full Text of Report of Mrs. Chas. S. Lee, Secretary of the Local Auxiliary.

The annual report of the McAll Auxiliary for the past year, as prepared by the secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Lee, gives a clear and concise idea of the work accomplished by this worthy organization in this city. The report follows:

The seventeenth year of the McAll Auxiliary of Plainfield has been on the whole satisfactory. The number of subscribers is 310, with one new life member. The total contributions this year are $1,500.32, with $100 given to general fund. The amount of contributions sent to Limoges is $852. A legacy of $500 from the Miss Roome estate yields $30 a year after the first year.

Five delegates attended the New Jersey State meeting at New Brunswick and reported and discussed much that was new and interesting.

The memorial or anniversary of Dr. McAll's initial meeting was held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on January 17 and was addressed by Mrs. Haines, president of the McAll Auxiliary of Elizabeth, also by Mrs. Kelley, of the same place. Numerous visitors were present and much interest was evinced.

At Limoges Mr. Greig formally opened the new hall last autumn, though it had actually been in use six weeks. There is also a new play hall for the children at which are held regular classes. Mr. Rerair has been recently transferred from there and a new man trained in the work has been sent from Paris to take charge.

To the observant, as well as to those especially interested in mission work it is patent that the present marks a crisis in religious movements in France. There is a ferment in the Catholic church which is felt by all classes. There is a new spiritual germ working amongst the husks and formalism of old creeds and ideas, and an unrest and dissatisfaction is manifest in the relations of Church and State. This is naturally reflected in the minds of the working people. Asking for bread and receiving a stone from their traditional religion, they the more readily respond to the simple evangelical teaching of the McAll Mission. Here indeed they find a safe haven from unbelief and learn for the first time that "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free"—free with the "Glorious liberty of the Sons of God."

The suggestion of a McAll Mission study class made at the New Jersey State meeting (and I believe by one of our Plainfield delegates, Mrs. Marsh,) is such a splendid idea that it ought to be more thoroughly discussed and understood. Nothing could be of greater interest just at this transition period in French history than a fuller understanding of the conditions and causes that have culminated in the wide spread school movement and other reforms throughout France, which may finally result in disestablishment or the separation of Church and State. Such a study could not fail to bring a greater realization of the present crisis, and the importance of the McAll work in France, supplying—as it does in such large degree—the fatal lack of spiritual teaching; proving—as it has done in thousands of instances—the saving grace of redemption from ignorance, sorrow and despair.

Mr. Rerair, our late evangelist at Limoges, writes most feelingly of frequent and regular meetings with a number of young anarchists for argument and discussion, whom he is gradually influencing toward a more enlightened and spiritual attitude. Important as this fact is when multiplied by all the mission stations, it is nevertheless but a fraction of the good being accomplished. Can we then find it in our hearts to abate one jot or tittle of our interest in this noble work for humanity? Let us rather be fired to greater enthusiasm by the spiritual poverty of the sons and daughters of that fair land which succored our forefathers in their time of great need and proved a tried and true friend when foes menaced our dear liberty. Fain would we render back, individually, to the heirs of our once benefactors, somewhat of that spiritual heritage grown and nurtured in the freedom of religious liberty.

To this firm resolve may we indeed fix our minds and hearts in the year now before us.

Once more we wish to thank the Board of Managers of the Public Library for the use of this room and also The Press for its many courtesies.

Respectfully submitted,
Stella M. Lee, Secretary.

ALL FACTORIES TO CLOSE.

Sensational Move by American Window Glass Company.

PITTSBURG, March 7.—One of the most sensational moves made by the American Window Glass company was inaugurated when the executive committee of the corporation issued a formal notice to its workmen that after a lapse of seven days and on March 14 all of the factories of the American Window Glass company will close for the season, irrespective of what other companies will do.

The moment the factories are closed the company has arranged that a large force of men will be put to work to equip them with the new glass blowing machines. It is said that all of the factories of the company will be equipped with the new machines, which will do the work of the skilled labor by machinery and remove from the glass factory the highest priced skilled labor known in the country. It will give the company glass production at a cost of less than one-third of the cost under the hand labor.

President James A. Chambers of the American Window Glass company in discussing the latest action of his corporation said that the blowing machines would be installed in all of the company's plants as rapidly as possible. The shutdown, however, will be for a considerable length of time.

The action of the American Window Glass company in closing its factories and installing its machines is said to be its answer to the independents, who have refused to come to any agreement concerning a uniform closing of plants this spring.

BRIDGEMEN ON STRIKE.

Thousands of Workmen Affected by the Order.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—A general strike against the American Bridge company has been called by the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers. This general order includes all construction work in the hands of the company throughout the United States and Canada and involves thousands of men in all sections.

The American Bridge company is said to have large construction contracts at many points. It is stated here that in New York 1,500 men are idle, while Pittsburg, Albany, Buffalo and St. Louis are said to be seriously affected.

The union has taken steps to prevent if possible the subletting of construction contracts.

Ensign Wortmen on Trial.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 7.—The court martial for the trial of Ensign Ward K. Wortmen for alleged neglect of duty resulting in the death of eight men of the battleship Massachusetts has convened at the navy yard, with Rear Admiral William C. Wise as president and Lieutenant Commander Cameron Winslow of the bureau of navigation as judge advocate. Ensign Wortmen pleaded not guilty to all the charges and specifications and asked permission of the court, which was granted, to have Lieutenant Wiley R. M. Field and Lieutenant Henry C. Muster act as counsel for him. The court then proceeded to examine witnesses.

Old Mystery Cleared Up.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., March 7.—The mystery surrounding the strange disappearance four years ago of Joseph Trimborne, a wealthy brewer of this city, who it was thought met with foul play, has been cleared up by the discovery that he is alive in Tasmania, Australia, where he has been living since he dropped out of sight in New York city. He left for New York to close a business deal. He disappeared from the Grand hotel, where he was staying, and all efforts to locate him failed. A reward of $500 was offered for information about him.

Desperate Highway Robbers Foiled.

JOHANNESBURG, March 7.—A desperate attempt at highway robbery in the center of Johannesburg was made yesterday. A couple of men attacked two customs officers conveying $25,000 to the bank and, throwing pepper in their eyes, secured the money bags, which they threw to a horseman, who galloped off. The horseman in his flight knocked down the manager of Peycke & Co., named Brandon, who was fatally injured and soon expired. Subsequently the horse bolted and unseated its rider, who was then arrested and the money recovered.

Mrs. Manson Indicted For Murder.

PUTNAM, Conn., March 7.—After devoting two days to the examination of witnesses the grand jury in the superior court brought in a true bill against Mrs. Mary Lillian Manson, charging her with the murder of Mrs. Julia Wilson of Ashford on Dec. 13, 1902. Mrs. Manson's trial will begin here next Tuesday. The jury found no indictment against George Wilson, a son of the dead woman, who since the coroner's preliminary hearing has been held in jail with Mrs. Manson. It is expected that he will be released at once.

Tarkington For Mayor.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 7.—A movement has started here by Republican business men looking to the nomination of Representative Booth Tarkington for mayor. The men who are back of the movement say they have been attracted to Tarkington as much by his legislative record as by the fact that they believe Mayor Bookwalter is building up a political machine and that it will require a popular Republican candidate to carry the city this fall.

Boston to Entertain Miles.

BOSTON, March 7.—The state and the city will unite in the observance of Evacuation day, March 17, and will jointly entertain as the principal guest Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles.

The Hawaiian as a Diver.

The working crews of the islands were quartered in suitable camps near their field of labor. They were native Hawaiians, good fellows, willing workers, admirably adapted to the duty required of them, which was largely in boats and in the water. I well remember one who excelled in diving. On a certain occasion, when the placing of a deep-water mooring had just been accomplished, it became necessary to detach under water the end of a hawser, which had been made fast to the submerged part of a spar-buoy, about 40 or 50 feet below the surface of the sea. The man was told to take his sheath-knife down with him and cut the hawser as near its end as he could, so as to lose as little as possible of the valuable cable. Taking his knife in his teeth, he disappeared beneath the water, and remained out of sight so long that he was almost given up for lost, when he suddenly reappeared, and, on being asked if he had cut the hawser as he had been told to, reported that he had unbent it without cutting off any part of it whatever.

The Chinese Language.

It has long been the popular impression that the Chinese language, like the Chinese people themselves, was a curious compound and almost beyond the comprehension of an occidentalist. But it is a matter of interest to know what some of its peculiar difficulties are, as they were stated by Prof. Herbert Allen Giles, the English orientalist, in a recent lecture before Columbia university. It seems, according to this authority, that there are really two distinct Chinese languages, the spoken and the written. The former may be easily acquired, but the latter, the "book language," is a study of a lifetime. Few people can read a Chinese book or write a Chinese letter, and women in particular seem to fail in this. The Chinese never possessed a grammar. —Chicago Chronicle.

Arm in Arm with a Tigress.

It is related of Sir Edward Bradford, the chief police commissioner of London, that he once walked arm in arm, so to speak, with a tigress. He was out shooting, and, always a fearless sportsman, had come to close quarters with his quarry. He fired, and either the ball failed to take effect or but slightly wounded the animal. She sprang at him, and seized his left arm above the elbow. The pain must have been terrible, but Sir Edward kept cool, and, realizing that it would be death to drag his mangled arm away and allow her to spring afresh at him, he deliberately walked a few agonizing paces until his comrade was able to take aim and kill the brute. Thus his courage saved his life, though the amputation of his arm at the shoulder proved necessary. —London Globe.

Fleas Called "Wild Animals."

A custom house decision on fleas has been rendered in Switzerland. A package marked "Trained Fleas" reached Geneva. The nearest analogy the collector could find was that of June bugs, which had been ruled to be "edibles." The case went from one official to another, till it reached headquarters at Berne, whence, after much investigation and deliberation, the conclusion was reached that the fleas came under the head of "wild animals in a menagerie."—Toledo Times.

MYSTERY UNSOLVED

Little Prospect of Finding Burdick's Slayer.

BUFFALO POLICE STILL BAFFLED.

Murder Committed a Week Ago, and Many Clews Have Been Followed, but the Evidence Does Not Warrant an Arrest.

BUFFALO, March 7.—That the murderer of Edwin L. Burdick will never be brought to justice is becoming a general belief. During the last thirty-six hours of hard work on the mysterious tragedy not an iota of information of sufficient importance to be termed evidence has been unearthed by the police.

The one woman who has been under strong suspicion and who has become known as the "police suspect" is believed to be guiltless so far as the crime is concerned by some of the officials of the police department and the district attorney's office, and they are convinced that all efforts to fasten the crime upon her will be unavailing. They do not pretend to have any clear idea who the murderer is. They simply say that the right trail has not been struck. The probability of an immediate arrest being made in the case grows slighter every hour.

Other officials are as sanguine as ever that an arrest will be made. They will not predict when. It may be made at any moment. It may not be for a week. Among those who remain unshaken in this belief is Superintendent Bull of the police department. He was asked last evening if he suspected the same person now as being the slayer of Burdick as he did earlier in the week.

"I do," he replied emphatically.

"And do you believe a woman killed Burdick?"

"I do; that is my opinion."

"Will an arrest be made?"

"I am confident there will be," replied the superintendent.

"Will the woman be taken into custody tonight?"

"Probably not. She will not be arrested tonight unless something new turns up."

"Are you expecting something new tonight?"

"It may come any minute."

"Has the clew furnished by Policeman Meyer regarding the woman met on Ashland avenue on the night of the murder been abandoned?"

"By no means."

An interesting development of the day was the statement made by Chief of Detectives Cusack that the golf stick theory had been abandoned. He is satisfied that the putter was not used in committing the murder. He also expressed the conviction that the weapon used was carried away from the house. He is sure of that, but he is not so sure that it was carried to the house by the murderer. Neither will he venture an opinion as to the kind of weapon used.

Pensions For Cornell Professors.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 7.—Announcement is made of a scheme for the pensioning of Cornell university professors who, in accordance with the rule adopted by the board of trustees last fall, will be retired after attaining the age of seventy years. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been given the university for this purpose, and this amount will be placed at compound interest until 1914, when it will amount to $250,000. Each professor retired will receive an annual pension of $1,500, three-fourths of which will be paid from the pension fund and one-fourth of which will be contributed by the professors. It is expected, however, that professors who reach the age limit before 1914 will also receive the benefits of the pension scheme.

Ice Gorges Block the Hudson.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 7.—Two steamers from Rondout have succeeded in opening the channel of the Hudson river as far north as Coeymans, where a big series of gorges exists for four miles from Van Wie's point to North Coeymans. The ice in the largest of the gorges extends fifteen feet above the water and from bank to bank. Steamers have been engaged for two days in breaking up the fourteen inch ice below the gorge in order to give the accumulated water and ice a clear passage down the river when the gorge is broken.

Fishing Vessels Still Fast In the Ice.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 7.—A dispatch from the Bay of Islands, N. F., states that the ice has come down again and blocked up the bay, and the Gloucester fishing vessels are again imprisoned hard and fast. The crews of the vessels had previously sawed channels through the ice and had succeeded in getting their craft moved to a position behind Woody island. At one time they had two vessels in clear water, although they were inside the ice floe.

A Scratch Killed Him.

DENVER, March 7.—James Stettauer, a prominent clubman and financier of Chicago, has died at Mercy hospital in this city of blood poisoning, resulting from a scratch inflicted while shaving. The injury was received a week ago. A day or so later erysipelas set in and was followed by a complication of kidney trouble. Mr. Stettauer left a fortune estimated at $5,000,000. He came to Denver two weeks ago to transact private business.

Turf Company's Property Seized.

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—United States Marshal Morsey has taken possession of $246,000 in cash and the offices and furniture of John J. Ryan & Co., the turf investment company, and will hold the entire amount for distribution among the creditors.

RENOMINATE HOOKER

Michigan Republicans Hold a Stormy Convention.

EIGHT CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD.

Supreme Court Position Lasting Ten Years an Alluring Bait—President Roosevelt's Policy Indorsed.

DETROIT, Mich., March 7.—Judge Frank A. Hooker of Charlotte was last night renominated for justice of the supreme court of this state for a term of ten years by the Republican state convention at the stormiest convention held in this state since the Grand Rapids convention that nominated Governor Bliss in 1898. Seven candidates were in the field against Judge Hooker, and the convention was stampeded during the taking of the sixth ballot in the interest of Judge Edward D. Kinne of Ann Arbor, but the seventh ballot gave a large majority to Judge Hooker. For regents of the University of Michigan the convention nominated Peter White of Marquette and Loyal E. Knappen of Grand Rapids.

The following platform was adopted: "We, the Republicans of Michigan in judicial convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the principles and policies of the Republican party. We cordially indorse the patriotic, courageous and wise policy of the president, Theodore Roosevelt, and hereby renew our pledge of support and our expression of confidence in him and his administration. We congratulate the people of Michigan on the election of the entire Republican state ticket last fall and on the economical administration of state affairs under Governor Aaron T. Bliss.

"We glory in the national fame of Michigan's supreme court and in its continued strength and probity.

"We commend our great state university to the continued support, confidence and esteem of the people.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that a general primary election law should be enacted for the entire state of Michigan."

Blind Made to See.

PARIS, March 7.—Dr. Caza publishes in the Revue des Revues, under the title "And the Blind Shall See," a marvelous discovery of Professor Peter Stiens, who claims to have found the secret of restoring sight to the blind by an apparatus of his invention. It not only restores the sight of those who have lost it, but also to those born blind. Professor Stiens shows that man sees with his brain, not his eye. The latter only serves to receive the image which the optical nerve transmits to the seat of perception. Professor Stiens' apparatus has the same scientific basis as the telephone, and in it the transmission of light plays a part identical with that performed by the telephone in the transmission of sound waves.

Helen Keller Addressed Legislature.

BOSTON, March 7.—Miss Helen Keller, who, although deaf, dumb and blind, is a student at Radcliffe college, addressed through an attendant the legislative committee on education in behalf of a bill for the relief of the adult blind. Her message to the committee was a feeling one, and she urged all possible aid to her fellow unfortunates. She said that the blind did not need the higher education, but did require help in order to take their places in the industrial world.

Another Gain For Minister Powell.

SANTO DOMINGO, March 7.—United States Minister Powell has achieved another success in obtaining from the Dominican government the withdrawal of the decree lowering the port charges, which seriously affected the interests of the Clyde Steamship line. Minister Powell has steadfastly maintained that injustice was being shown to American interests, and he demanded that the government should faithfully keep its engagements.

Amherst Won Debate With Bowdoin.

AMHERST, Mass., March 7.—Amherst won the second annual debate with Bowdoin last night in a contest in which the arguments were characterized as "very acute and intelligent on both sides." Bowdoin took the affirmative and Amherst the negative of the proposition, "Resolved, That it is for the public interest that employers recognize trades unions in the arrangement of wage schedules."

Over Forty Years' Naval Service.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Captain Abraham B. H. Lillie, captain of the navy yard at League island, Philadelphia, has made application for retirement and by virtue of his long and honorable service, dating from September, 1862, and including twenty years at sea, he will be placed on the retired list with the rank of rear admiral. He was appointed from New York.

Better Conditions at Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 7.—There is now a marked decrease in the number of new typhoid fever cases in Ithaca, and the general situation is very much improved. Physicians agree that the chief danger at present lies in secondary infection. Miss Julia McClune, junior in Cornell, has been discharged from Cornell infirmary. Miss McClune's was the second case of typhoid fever to be discharged cured.

Adventist Editor Dead.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 7.—Elder Uriah Smith, for fifty-five years continuously the editor of the Adventist Review and Herald and an author who is known all over the world among that denomination, has just died suddenly at his home here.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

New Trotting Course In New York. Fitzsimmons to Fight O'Brien.

NEW YORK, March 7.—New York city is soon to have another fine trotting track for gentlemen drivers. It is to be a half mile course and is to be located close to the upper end of the Harlem speedway. Several prominent owners and noted road drivers, including C. K. Billings, former Mayor Hugh J. Grant and Frederick Gerken, it is said on high authority, have secured a plot of land in the neighborhood of Two Hundred and Twelfth street, near the Harlem river, at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, and it is their intention to construct one of the finest gentlemen's tracks in the country.

The spot is said to be midway between Inwood and Kingsbridge and well situated for drivers to reach by way of the speedway. The track, it is understood, will be completed in time for the early fall racing. Mr. Billings has recently erected some of the handsomest private stables in this city on Washington Heights, and the new track would be most convenient for his famous string of trotters to work on daily.

Wrestling Contests.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The annual wrestling championship contests of the Amateur Athletic union were begun last evening at the New Polo association's gymnasium. In the 158 pound class A. Mellinger, St. Bartholomew's A. C., New York, defeated J. Schunker, Verner A. C., Pittsburg; time, 4:55. In the 115 pound class, between George Owen, Verner A. C., Pittsburg, and W. L. Nelson, St. George's A. C., New York, the bout went the limit of time and was awarded to Nelson for aggressiveness. C. Noll, New Haven A. C., won the 135 pound class bout from A. Menzer, Jersey City A. C., in forty-eight seconds. The finals will be pulled off this evening.

Fitzsimmons and O'Brien to Fight.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., March 7.—Bob Fitzsimmons, who is in this city with the Jim Jeffries show, has received and accepted "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien's challenge to fight for the middleweight championship of the world. Fitz challenged Tommy Ryan last Sunday to fight him at 158 pounds, the middleweight limit, but Ryan sidestepped him. Then Kid McCoy offered to fight Fitz at catch weights, but Fitz did not seem to like the McCoy game. Now O'Brien challenges and is promptly accepted.

Chicago's Collie Show.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Because of the desire on the part of collie breeders in the west to break away from the Collie Club of America and start a new organization more national in character, with centrally located headquarters, unusual interest has developed in the collie exhibit for the Chicago dog show, which will begin March 25. During the show the new club will be created, and the collie cup, valued at $300, will be competed for.

Oakland Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Close finishes marked the racing at Oakland. The weather was fine and the track heavy. In the six and a half furlongs handicap Deutschal, at 40 to 1, led most of the way and was beaten only a head by Princess Titania, the favorite. The Waterhouse cup, at two and a quarter miles, will be the feature of today's sport. Nones, Cunard, Siddons and Colonel Ballantyne will go to the post.

Yale Basketball Champion.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 7.—Yale won the championship series game of basketball with Harvard last night before a company of 500 spectators in the Yale gymnasium. The score was: Yale, 22; Harvard, 10. The game was not brilliant, but was close through the first half. The Yale five played more consistently and in the second half especially showed good scoring ability.

One Favorite Won.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—Bondage was the only winning favorite yesterday. The weather was clear and the track heavy.

Harvard Fencers Defeat Cornell.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 7.—The Harvard fencing team won the match with Cornell, scoring 6 points to Cornell's 3.

Once Famous Jockey Dead.

BUTTE, Mont., March 7.—George MacCauley, once a famous jockey, is dead here in destitute circumstances.

Roosevelt to Attend Y. M. C. A.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 7.—President Roosevelt will be present at the international convention of the Railway Y. M. C. A. which will be held in this city from April 30 to May 3. He has not designated the date of his visit. An effort will be made to have him officiate at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Railroad Y. M. C. A. building, the money for which was furnished mainly by President Ripley of the Santa Fe. Miss Helen Gould and other well known people will attend the conference. Delegates will be present from all parts of the world.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Earth shocks were felt in Saxony.

A murderer was hanged in the same courtroom at Duluth in which he was convicted.

The Canadian government introduced a bill increasing the poll tax on Chinese from $100 to $500.

The Canadian Pacific strike was reported spreading, other unions acting in sympathy, and Vancouver's business is tied up.

Fire at Fair Haven, Wash., destroyed the plant of the Bellingham Lumber and Shingle company and scorched the Northern Pacific depot and several cars standing on the tracks.

Hay's HAIR-HEALTH Keeps You Looking Young Test Its Hair Growing Powers FREE

A BOTTLE FREE.

To prove what this great Hair Beautifier will do for you, every reader of this paper who is troubled with dandruff or with the appearance of gray or faded hair or bald spots may have by mail a FREE sample bottle. (See Free Bottle Offer below.)

Don't Look Old.
A feeling of regret comes with the first gray hairs. They stand in the way of business and social advancement. Hay's Hair-Health affords a sure means of restoring to the hair the beauty of youth.

Stops Falling Hair.
"My hair is now restored to its youthful color. I have not a gray hair left. My husband says I look 20 years younger, and my hair ceases to fall, while before I was in danger of becoming bald."

A Public Boon.
Hay's Hair-Health has earned this title, and thousands are enjoying fine heads of hair produced by this preparation. It quickly cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff, stops falling and breaking of the hair, and changes it if gray to its youthful color and luxuriance.

Stains Nothing.
It is not greasy or sticky; not a dye; does not rub off. Never soils anything. It is made from absolutely pure ingredients and may be safely used by old or young. Hay's Hair-Health is a clean, creamy dressing, delicately perfumed and highly desirable in every way.

In 1900-1901 this preparation was tested to the extent of over five million bottles in the United States and British possessions. It is highly endorsed by the nobility.

One Bottle Does It.
That is the expression of many who have had their gray hairs restored to youthful color and their bald spot covered with hair after using one bottle of Hay's Hair-Health.

No More Gray Hair. should you live to advanced age, if you use Hay's Hair-Health occasionally. It is a vital hair food.

Guaranteed
TO QUICKLY RESTORE FADED, BLEACHED or WHITE HAIR to youthful color without staining the skin. An occasional application keeps the hair soft, glossy, of silken texture and disposed to remain in any desired position. Every lady needs a bottle on her dresser.

Harfina Soap.
Nothing like it for keeping the scalp free from dandruff, the hair silken, and the skin clear and rosy. Dandruff causes baldness. To keep the hair, scalp and beard in healthy condition, make a strong lather of Harfina Soap and shampoo freely. If it is desired to restore gray hair to youthful color, apply Hay's Hair-Health after shampoo. The grayness will disappear and the hair grow forth in its youthful color and beauty.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Fewer February Failures Than In 1902—Iron and Steel Outlook.

NEW YORK, March 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Failures were fewer in February and smaller in amount of defaulted liabilities than in the corresponding month last year—1,030 comparing with 1,104 and $10,907,454 with $11,302,029. But for a few large defaults in real estate and other similar lines the exhibit was strikingly satisfactory, and in manufacturing lines the decrease in liabilities was over a million dollars, or more than 20 per cent.

Further improvement in the movement of freight and fuel makes the general situation more favorable, although shippers are still constantly complaining and pig iron furnaces are not able to run steadily. Numerous labor struggles also interrupt manufacturing, yet mills and shops are producing freely, as a rule. Jobbers and wholesalers are busy, while spring retail trade has opened very well in many lines, notably wearing apparel. Permits for building operations show large gains over last year's figures, giving additional strength to lumber and other materials.

Conditions in the iron and steel industry need no other elucidation than the plans announced by the United States Steel corporation. Preparations to expend $36,000,000 in increasing the facilities of plants under the control of this company suggest that prospects are bright for enlarged business, and the country's previous records of production will be far surpassed.

Cotton is still the chief feature in the markets for farm staples.

Cotton Supply Small.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton shows the total visible to be 3,875,695 against 3,920,952 last week and 4,356,750 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,768,695 against 2,863,952 last week and 3,274,750 last year.

The Action of La Soufriere.

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent, March 7.—Ernest Howe of the United States geological survey, after a personal inspection of La Soufriere, gives this description of the slight eruptions now frequently occurring: Without warning big puffs of steam rise constantly, and countless rockets of black mud and stones are shot up from the crater and spread outward. Then the mud and stones fall back into the lake with a loud roar. Other clouds of steam charged with dust rise and drift over the country. Another interesting feature of the region is the deposit of ashes. The Wallibou river is still hot enough to cause the water in the stream to evaporate in huge columns laden with dust.

Shoe Workers' Union Orders Strike.

HAVERHILL, Mass., March 7.—The Independent Shoe Workers' Protective union has ordered a strike affecting the turned department of the Chesley & Rugg factory. Fifty-six men are ordered out, but some of these are expected to disobey the order, as they belong to the Boot and Shoe Workers' union. The Independent union officials have notified the firm that its factory has been placed on the unfair list. The firm is the largest here, making a specialty of turned work. It was just seven weeks ago yesterday that the first strike was inaugurated, and from this time out, it is asserted by the Independent union officials, a strike will be declared in every union factory in Haverhill.

LOYALTY IS ADVISED

Wabash Firemen and Trainmen Not to Strike.

MEETING OF BROTHERHOOD OFFICIALS

President Ramsey Says a Strike Is Probable In Case the Injunction Is Dissolved, but It Would Not Tie Up the System.

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—The general officers of the brotherhoods of firemen and trainmen and committees here in relation to the impending strike situation of the Wabash have issued a statement addressed to their members on the Wabash railroad giving a resume of the situation and advising them to continue loyal to the railroad company and to their respective organizations and to pay no attention to the statements or threats of any person nor to any rumors that may be put in circulation.

An all day conference was held by Grand Masters Hannahan and Morrissey of the brotherhoods of firemen and trainmen with their attorneys. This answer, with affidavits, will be filed in court Monday.

John H. Murphy, chief counsel of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, who reached here from Denver, joined the conference.

There were no developments at Wabash headquarters. President Ramsey says that the service throughout the system was proceeding without anything unusual to interrupt it. He reviewed his action of last Monday when the injunction was served to prevent a strike, going into the details, which have not before been made public.

Regarding the probabilities of a strike President Ramsey said:

"In case the injunction shall be dissolved I think a strike is quite likely. In case of the dissolution it probably will be ordered at once by the leaders. The Wabash employees will not go out until ordered to do so.

"A strike may inconvenience the Wabash for some time, but it will not tie up the system to any serious extent unless a boycott should be ordered at the different terminals and adjacent points."

A Victory For Beckham.

VERSAILLES, Ky., March 7.—Judge Cantrill in the Woodford circuit court has overruled the demurrer of State Democratic Chairman Young to the petition of Governor Beckham for a mandamus to compel Young and the Democratic committee to place his name on the ballot to be voted for at the Democratic state primary on May 9 as a candidate for governor. Young had refused to place Governor Beckham's name on the ballot because of the question raised as to his eligibility. The attorneys for the defendants immediately entered exceptions and an appeal to the court of appeals. The purpose of the procedure is to establish Governor Beckham's eligibility to succeed himself as governor.

Captain Winder Dead.

OMAHA, Neb., March 7.—Captain William A. Winder, one of the most prominent government officials in the west, is dead of cancer at the Millard hotel, aged eighty years. Captain Winder won fame on the battlefields of the Mexican and civil wars and for eighteen years had been allotting agent of the land department at Rosebud agency, S. D. He was a brother-in-law of Admiral George Dewey and has a son, William Winder, who is commander of the Michigan, now stationed at Erie, Pa. He leaves a widow, who was a daughter of ex-Governor Goodwin of New Hampshire. The body will be taken to Portsmouth, N. H., for interment.

Orders For Projectiles.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—General Crozier, chief of ordnance, has made contracts with the Tredegar Iron works of Richmond, Va., and the Cowdrey company of Massachusetts for 300 cast iron projectiles, model of 1903, including five, six and ten inch shot, twelve inch rifle shot and twelve inch mortar shot. The larger ones will be made by the Richmond company and the smaller ones by the Massachusetts company.

The Worden Made Good Showing.

NORFOLK, Va., March 7.—The official trial trip of the torpedo boat destroyer Worden over the Cape Henry course resulted in the craft exceeding by a very good margin the thirty knots required of her in the building contract. No official report of the test has yet been made, but the statement that the Worden had time to spare was made.

The Pope's Health Good.

ROME, March 7.—All the sensational reports circulated regarding the health of the pope are unfounded. Although his holiness is not yet restored to his normal condition, he is, however, better today than he was yesterday; so much so that he gave his usual audience to Cardinal Rampolla and later had a conference with the subsecretary of state.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New Jersey—Delair, Benjamin F. Rossell; New York, Felts Mills, C. A. Drake; Melville, Elizabeth Schneider; Pennsylvania, Gebhart, Laura B. Weller; Hoytdale, Thomas White; Sunnyburn, C. W. Gemmill.

Injunction to Stop Divorce.

TRENTON, N. J., March 7.—New use has been found for the power of the court of chancery to issue injunctions. Edward L. Miller of Millville, N. J., applied for a writ to restrain his wife from securing a divorce in South Dakota. This order is returnable March 30 at Camden, N. J.

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED.

It looks as if the members of the Senate committee on the revision of laws had seen the justice of the claim that the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield be allowed to settle the question of consolidation when and how they desired without any outside interference. It is to be regretted, however, that the committee felt called upon to report back the "repealer" which would strike the annexation act from the statute books.

That question of annexation came up at the polls and was defeated. There were reasons why one can honestly believe that the question was not settled on its merits and that, when the people of the borough have had a fair opportunity to look into the question, the decision would be reversed. As long as there is a question as to the real feeling of the community on an important subject like that, would it be well to remove the opportunity of allowing the people to settle it for themselves? That is the question which the members of the State Senate should consider when the "repealer" comes before them Tuesday night.

There remain but two more days before the election in North Plainfield and the contest there is growing more and more exciting. It is sincerely to be hoped that all bitterness and personal animosities will be dropped and that the citizens of the borough will vote for the best interests of the community. There are some troublesome problems which will soon confront that municipality and it is well to place in power men who will meet and solve those problems to the best interest of all.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

That of Ulrich Baumann, German Farm Hand—Supposed to Have Taken His Life While Intoxicated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 7—Through portions of the clothing and a description furnished, a Mrs. Vogel, who resides near Dewey Park, declared yesterday the body of the man found in a brook near Lincoln, Monday, as that of Ulrich Baumann, a German farmhand, who boarded at her home.

She said he had been morose ever since a recent trip to Germany, where he leaves four children. He was a heavy drinker at times and evidently committed suicide while inebriated. The remains have already been interred.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

B. J. Schreiner, the Park avenue druggist, has placed on sale for the spring season some of his well known blood purifier. He is also the agent for Lownies celebrated candies.

With the approach of spring comes the attacks of spring fever. At T. S. Armstrong's apothecary store at the corner of Park avenue and North avenue, iron tablets for spring fever are to be secured, also some of Armstrong's celebrated grip tablets.

Before you decide about your spring or summer hat consult with Bonn, the West Front street milliner. He will have one of the most attractive lines of hats for both young and old to be found in this vicinity and the quality, style and price will be sure to please you.

It is not too early to think about having your spring and summer suit made and you can have this work done at the Paris Cloak Store on West Front street, promptly and reasonable in price. There is also a fine showing of suitings, separate skirts and all kinds of waists, worth your inspection.

Ever alive to provide their patrons with all the best and most sought for fruits and vegetables, Neuman Brothers have increased their stock by the addition of strawberries, the first of the season. They are now arriving at the store daily and are beauties. Despite their scarceness they are being sold at a very low figure.

With the first touches of mild weather, the apparent need of paint on many residence exteriors becomes visible. It is the purpose of James C. Hansen, one of the city's best contracting painters, to improve outside as well as inside whenever possible. A postal addressed to the office on East Front street will bring a representative.

H. J. Wierenga, the popular expressman and truckman, owing to the enormous increase in his business, has just purchased a new team of horses to use in his business. Mr. Wierenga attends promptly to all kinds of express and truck business and also to moving pianos and organs. Orders left at Sattles, 108 North avenue, will receive immediate attention. His charges are very reasonable.

PERSONAL.

Letter-carrier William Demarest is a victim of the grip and is detained at home.

Mrs. C. S. Meyers, of East Sixth street, entertained her sister, Mrs. S. L. Cummings, of Bayonne, yesterday.

Letter-carrier C. B. Stephens has returned to duty after being detained at home with a severe attack of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Runyon, of Madison avenue, left today for Atlantic City, where they will remain for a time.

Mrs. Garrett Eick, of East Third street, was taken ill yesterday with the grip and she is now detained to her room.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brady, of Central avenue, leave today for Mexico, where they will remain for some time.

Miss Kitty Dufficy, of 328 East Fourth street, left Plainfield yesterday for Omaha, where she will make her home in the future.

Manager Schermerhorn, of the Western Union Telegraph office, is a sufferer with the grip. He still remains at his post, although hardly able to.

Miss Carrie Pangborn, of Linden avenue, started this morning for Alfred, N. Y., where she will spend two months at the home of Mrs. Ellis.

Endorsed Citizens' Ticket.

The Republicans of North Plainfield township held their primary yesterday evening and endorsed the citizens' nominations, except that the appropriation for roads was made $2,000 instead of $1,500 by a vote of 46 to 11.

—Miss Elizabeth C. Mathewson, daughter of the late Dr. William B. Mathewson, has taken up her residence with her uncle, Dr. Charles Mathewson, of West Fourth street.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The Democratic party held its primary in the Borough Hall last evening. The primary was very peaceful, although there were a number of surprises in nominations. There was a large attendance of Democrats. Geo. W. Day was elected chairman of the meeting and Robert Carpenter, secretary. The following ticket was nominated: Mayor, William Wyckoff; councilmen, John Moynihan, Lewis Schneider, and Cory Ryno; assessor, John H. L. Peters; collector, Geo. W. Day; freeholder, Peter C. Staats. $100 was voted for the poor and $3,000 for borough purposes. There was no extra appropriation. The name of Wm. Wyckoff, for mayor, had only been mentioned within the last few days and his nomination was something of a surprise. Except for councilman the other nominations were expected.

Skin grafting is still being done on Wilson Fredericks and a couple of evenings ago twenty-five pieces of skin were taken off one man; thirty-two were taken the next evening from the same man. A large patch of skin has appeared upon one knee where it was thought the cuticle would have to be grafted.

There was a large attendance at the question social, held last evening in the Presbyterian chapel. All the words called for had to end in "age," and some of those given were weird inventions. Ten cents was received at the door and quite a sum was gathered in. Refreshments were served during the evening.

A social was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. George Giles, of Front street. During the evening musical selections were enjoyed and a good time had in other ways.

J. Hazelwood Craig, junior partner in the Craig Manufacturing Company, cut his hand quite badly in the factory yesterday. The injuries were quite painful and will put him out of business for some time.

The body of the man who was found in the brook near Lincoln has been identified as that of Hermann Baumann, of Lincoln.

Services were held in Holy Innocent's church last evening at 8 o'clock. There was preaching by Rev. A. A. Phelps.

Miss Mamie Higgins has recovered from her illness and will return to her duties in Lincoln School next week.

A meeting of the Willing Workers will be held this afternoon in the Holy Innocents' church guild room.

Regular services will be held in the Presbyterian church, tomorrow, Rev. N. J. Sproul preaching.

Miss Ellen Smith, of West Eighth street, has been spending a few days in town on business.

Eugene Runyon spent this morning in Plainfield on business.

A. A. Lake is improving still further from his illness.

NEW MARKET.

The following is the Democratic ticket in Piscataway township: For assessor, J. Y. Rupple; collector, Dr. William J. Nelson; township committeemen, Albert Soper, of South Plainfield; constable, Abram Gulick, Lincoln. The following is the Republican ticket in Piscataway township: Assessor, Geo. Bunting; collector, A. A. Parker; township committeemen, Thomas Brantingham.

The local authorities are quite perplexed as to who waylaid and robbed Adam Waglow on Thursday night. The act was committed almost in the center of the town and was of unprecedented boldness.

A hot fight for honors is now on between the candidates named to represent the Republicans and Democrats at the coming election.

Rev. L. E. Livermore will occupy his pulpit in the Seventh-Day Baptist church today after an illness. Services will be regular.

Mrs. Hannah Nelson, who lies ill at Union, does not show any improvement. Members of her family are constantly with her.

A. H. Burdick, of this place, is erecting a house in Plainfield on Front street, near DeKalb avenue.

Work will soon be begun soon in grading the diamond which the baseball club will use this year.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Bryant Johnston, captain of the school baseball team, has Wednesdays in May open, with the exception of the 20th, and all Wednesday dates in June open. He would like to hear from the Plainfield High School second team or any other school teams through this section.

Richard Peniston has been appointed a member of the registry board, to take the place of Chas. H. French, who is a candidate for assessor at the election Tuesday.

A regular meeting of the Township Committee was held in the Town rooms last night. A number of bills were paid and other routine business was transacted.

The corner hotel, which has been conducted the past year by Frederick Ivamy, changes hand tonight. Mr. Earl, of Newark, is to be the new landlord.

Services will be as usual at the Baptist church tomorrow: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7; evening preaching, 7:45.

The members of the Farther Light Society held one of their enjoyable monthly meetings in the parlors of the Baptist church yesterday afternoon.

Now that the weather has become settled the stone crusher in the valley is being pushed to its fullest capacity to meet the spring orders on hand.

George W. Marsh, who has been detained at home suffering for a week with a severe attack of quincy sore throat, is able to be around again.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will have as its guest at the Tuesday evening meeting Grand Vice Regent Washburn.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., is arranging to pay a fraternal visit to Westfield Council Friday evening next.

Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr., is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gere, of Brooklyn.

Chas. Wade was the guest yesterday of Elizabpeth friends.

Roy Day spent Friday with friends in New Providence.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The communion will be administered at the Baptist church, tomorrow at the morning service. The pastor will speak on "The Nobleman's Faith." The evening subject will be: "The Spiritual Atmosphere of the Home."

Henry Meeker has the distinction of being the tallest member of the City High School at Plainfield.

Marjorie Voorhees, of Metuchen, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Manning.

Miss Imogene Smith was not able to attend to her school duties yesterday on account of illness.

Earl Darlington has commenced a course of lessons on the piano under Miss Emma Nelson.

Thomas Linaberry expects to move into the McDonough residence opposite the church.

Mrs. Oscar Thorn and daughter, are visiting their uncle, Ira Ward at West Orange.

Miss Lizzie Dayton has returned from a visit with friends in Plainfield.

Philip Smith entertained a few friends at his home, last evening.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The sewing circle of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Johnson, of Manning avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Guilford, of Mercer avenue, will soon move into Mrs. Morgan Taylor's house on Rockview terrace, having taken it for the year.

—Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of New York, will speak and Charles L. Lewis, baritone, of the Lotus Glee Club, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Auten, of East Fifth street, will move April 1 to the corner of East Front street and Elm place, where they will occupy one half of Mrs. VanArsdale's house.

—The entire stock of paints, oils, white lead, glasses, brushes, etc., contained in store, formerly occupied by E. M. Ayers, at 331 Watchung avenue, will be sold at auction Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Doing the Right Thing.

The trouble begins with a tickling in the throat and a nagging little cough. Soreness in the chest follows and the patient wonders if he is going to have an all winter cold. Probably, if he does the wrong thing or nothing. Certainly not if he uses Perry Davis' Painkiller, the staunch old remedy that cures a cold in twenty-four hours. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Robert Eick, of East Third street, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

S. H. Peer, of West Front street, is convalescing from a relapse of an attack of the grip.

Percy Giles, of Church street, who has been ill at his home is now able to be about again.

Miss Gertrude Smith, of Raritan, has been spending a few days with relatives in Plainfield.

Mrs. James F. McDonald, of East Front street, who has been ill with the grip, is recovering.

Miss May VanFleet, of East Third street, is being entertained by friends in Trenton for a few days.

A. E. LaPorte, mailing clerk at the postoffice, has recovered from the grip and returned to his position.

Mrs. DeWitt Smith, of Somerville, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. H. Rugg, of West Fifth street.

Miss Alice Walters, of Richmond street, who has been visiting friends in Passaic, has returned home.

Charles Abel, of this city, has returned from New Hampton, where he has been spending a week with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dufford, of Somerset place, have been visiting relatives at Middle Valley, their former home.

Miss Anna H. Prescott, formerly a teacher in the City High School, is spending a few days as the guest of friends at Truell Court.

Mr. and Mrs F. L. Smalley, of New York, were guests of friends in Plainfied yesterday. They may decide to take up their residence in this city.

William T. Waterson, of Brooklyn, formerly employed at the Scott Printing Press Works, this city, was in this city yesterday and was entertained by friends on East Sixth street.

Miss Mabel Hare, of the North Plainfield High School, who has been away on leave of absence for a week, on account of the death of her father at Georgetown, N. Y., has returned to her duties.

EVERY CHURCH or institution supported by voluntary contribution will be given a liberal quantity of the Longman & Martinez Pure Paints whenever they paint.

NOTE: Have done so for twenty-seven years. Sales: Tens of millions of gallons; painted nearly two million houses under guarantee to repaint if not satisfactory. The paint wears for periods up to eighteen years. Linseed Oil must be added to the paint, (done in two minutes). Actual cost then about $1.25 a gallon. Samples free. Sold by our Agents—

Throwing Power of Monkeys.

An explanation of the origin of stories which attribute to monkeys the power of throwing stones may be found in the account of their habits given by trained and competent observers. Sir James Brooke says, with reference to the orangs, that he never observed the slightest attempt at defense, and that the wood which sometimes rattled about his ears was broken by their weight, "and not thrown, as some persons represent." Mr. Wallace, also talking of the orang, declares that he has seen him throw down branches when pursued. "It is true, he does not throw them at a person, but casts them down vertically; for it is evident that a bough cannot be thrown to any distance from the top of a lofty tree. In one case a female mias, on a durian tree, kept up for at least ten minutes a continuous shower of branches and of the heavy spined fruits, as large as 32-pounders, which most effectually kept us clear of the tree she was on. She could be seen breaking them off and throwing them down with every appearance of rage, uttering at intervals a loud, pumping grunt, and evidently meaning mischief."—London Chronicle.

Hebridean Justice.

When King Edward landed at Portree, in the Hebrides, the only person in sight was the local policeman, with whom his majesty entered into conversation. A correspondent, writing about the peculiar methods of these guardians of Hebridean law and order, says: "Some years ago it transpired that a constable who had a prisoner in custody waiting for the next steamboat to take him to the sheriff followed a singular plan. Knowing that his prisoner could not very well escape from the island by swimming, he was in the habit of letting the man free of a morning, with injunctions to fish for his subsistence and to collect enough wreckage to cook it. The penalty, should the culprit abuse his parole, was to lock him out for the night. This, in the stormy times of the year, was no slight threat, as the policeman well knew; and no liberty was taken with him by any prisoner in his charge."—London Chronicle.

How Snakes Spend the Winter.

The snakes are retiring for the winter now, but they make little preparation for their long sleep. They simply crawl into holes in the ground, fissures in rocks or beneath the roots of trees, and there remain in a torpid condition until the warmth of spring awakens them. Sometimes a lot of them gather in a hole some distance from the surface of the ground, roll themselves into one large ball and thus pass the winter. Such a ball is sometimes composed of hundreds of snakes so closely interwoven as to be quite difficult to separate.—Woman's Home Companion.

Uncolonial Dames.

Mrs. Pincy—I don't see how you can manage to go to church three times on Sunday.

Mrs. Bland—I do it simply by doing no work of any kind on the Sabbath. I think it positively wicked for women to stay home and cook dinners for their husbands on Sunday.

"I suppose, then, you have a cold lunch at noon?"

"Oh, dear, no. I always take dinner at Mr. Bland's sister's. She's a splendid cook, and she always tries to do her best on Sundays."—Boston Transcript.

Poor Memory.

Towne—Rather absent-minded, isn't he?

Browne—Extremely so. Why, the other night when he got home he knew there was something he wanted to do, but he couldn't remember what it was until he had sat up over an hour trying to think.

"And did he finally remember it?"

"Yes, he discovered that he had wanted to go to bed early."—Philadelphia Press.

Clergyman's Slip of the Tongue.

A clergyman hurriedly entered a railway station to pursue a journey, and, hearing the bells ringing to announce the departure of the train, hastily handed his bag and a rug to a porter near by. He rushed to get his ticket and then ran on to the platform.

"Any luggage, sir?" inquired the guard.

"Only a bug and a rag," breathlessly replied the clergyman.—N. Y. Times.

Dormant.

Mrs. Malaprop—He's got to be a real novel writer all of a sudden.

Mrs. McCall—Yes; and it's quite surprising that he should never have displayed his talent until so late in life.

"Yes; it's been lying doormat all this time."—Philadelphia Press.

An Awful Jolt.

Softleigh—I've—aw—got a beastly cold in me head, doncher know. What would you—aw—advise me to do foh it?

Miss— Cutting—Oh, let it alone; it will soon die of ennui.—Chicago Daily News.

Irishmen in London.

It is said that there are more Irishmen in London than there are in Dublin, more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, that half of Soho is French, and the whole of Saffron hill Italian.—N. Y. Sun.

EVENING GOWNS.

The Color Is Left to the Taste of the Individual.

There is something very smart about a cloth evening frock, and a recent model in a bright shade of sapphire blue seemed to be cut princess, the draping caught up to one side with some Greek embroidery. The low square decolletage and elbow sleeves were finished with tuckers of lace.

It is a curious fact that there is no rule about color at all. A dark brown tulle frock is often the most successful in the ballroom, and so sometimes is a bright shade of navy blue. Some women look best in dull colors, which seem to enhance the brilliancy of their own coloring, while again others look their best in a distinctly bizarre style of dress. This is a matter in which one must use individual judgment unless one can afford to trust to the hands of the best costumers.

EARLY SPRING FASHIONS.

Picture Hats of Tulle and Chiffon. Demitoilets.

Floral wreaths are less in evidence for evening wear than at the commencement of the season.

Mittens of real lace or of the finest silk net, either black or ivory, are increasingly fashionable, but they are only permissible for dinner or theater wear. For dances gloves reaching above the elbow are correct.

Entire picture hats of jet mounted on billowy folds of chiffon are worn, and tulle will come in again very shortly.

A favorite demitoilet is of cream crepe de chine trimmed with chantilly lace or an entire simple frock of white chiffon with no decoration beyond a jabot of cream lace worn in company with a big black hat.

Hats, however quiet they may be, for morning wear are always of the smartest shapes of pale felt trimmed with black or white plumage or little sailors of moire trimmed with heavy lace.

The cut shows a visiting toilet of pale mastic cloth.

Why She Never Succeeded In Anything

SHE was an intellectual girl, uncommonly so. She expected great things of herself. She easily surpassed her classmates in school studies, looking with contempt on those who were duller than herself. She had, in childhood even, a sneer and a criticism for those who were different from herself.

She left school and went out to conquer the world. She began with bookkeeping. She learned it quickly. She obtained place after place. None was equal to her merits, she thought. Other girls rose at 6, took their places at their desks at 8 sharp, worked till 6 and did not consider themselves abused. She rose at 7, went to work at 8:30, wrought with account book and ledger till 5:30 or 6 and considered herself the most abused martyr in a city of a million people. She, mind you, did exactly what thousands of other girls do daily in the business world and are thankful they have the work to do; she wailed and grumbled all the time. She came home at night whining thus:

"I don't know why I have everything so much harder than other people just because I am not strong and well. Today they put enough work on me to kill a horse and the office boy was so impudent I had to report him. I made just a little mistake in my work and had to do six pages over again, and nobody felt sorry for me in the least. It made me so tired I couldn't eat any dinner and what I did eat just lies on my stomach, and I know I'll be sick in the night and not sleep a wink. My nerves are all of a frazzle and I'm wearing out with this dreadful life as fast as I can. I'm so discouraged!"

She had antagonized the office boy by walking roughshod over him and speaking harshly and authoritatively to him in the beginning. Thus she got his confirmed ill will, and office boys have ways of making things unpleasant for lady bookkeepers. Tact, gentleness, politeness, remembering that God created office boys of the same flesh and blood as herself would have made the youth her friend instead of her enemy.

"I'M SO DISCOURAGED."

She resigned and tried something else, with the like result; then another trade, then another. In every one "luck," as she called it, was against her. She was a whiner and kicker. Meantime, year by year, she grew more self conceited and "sot" in her ways. There was nothing in her mental horizon but herself; consequently she assumed to herself the proportions of the universe, and whatever difficulty came in her path was exaggerated in proportion. Molehills others stepped over cheerfully and went on their way rejoicing that they were alive became to her distorted imagination mountains which "bad luck" had purposely placed in her way. She coddled herself and drugged herself night and day with the poison of self pity, because, you see, she night and day thought of nothing but herself, her clothes, her prospects, her own superior ideas and actions. She seemed at length to have no human feeling toward any creature but herself.

She had not many real friends, although she was brilliant intellectually. Because she thought her ideas so superior to other people's she meddled with other persons' business. She tried to impose her ways on them. It became finally her habit to criticise, antagonize, claw and kick her way through the world. From one occupation to another she went, dabbling in half a dozen, succeeding in none.

The grumbling, fault finding habit grew constantly. The habit of whining always over her "bad luck" intensified till at length she began to have now and then a stroke of what really might be called ill fortune. What wonder it overtook her! She had been saying all her life that failure was her fate, so what wonder destiny took her at her word! She got what she declared for herself, did she not? Invariably, sooner or later, we really get what we persist in declaring we have, whether it is good or evil.

The only way to obtain permanent good luck is to earn it. The only way to earn it is through thick and thin to be brave, sweet tempered and persevering, to persistently put out good will to everything that lives, to be always ready to learn, to do our best in every situation in life without grumbling, kicking or fault finding.

TALK ABOUT GHOSTS.

Prof. C. W. Leadbeater Has Seen Many of Them.

According to His Observations They Appear in Seven Distinct Forms —A Few of His Startling Experiences.

[Special New York Letter.]

OUTSPOKEN believers in ghosts are hard to find nowadays, but just at present a distinguished Englishman is visiting New York who not only believes in their existence, but claims that he has seen and conversed with them. The gentleman who makes these remarkable assertions is C. W. Leadbeater, of London, one of the leaders of the International Theosophical society, who was a close friend of Mme. Blavatsky during the lifetime of that remarkable woman.

According to the English theosophist ghosts are classified in seven types, which he described to a friend, who is a member of the editorial staff of the Chicago Inter Ocean, as thought forms, elves, churchyard ghosts, astral impressions, double of living man, animal apparations and the genuine ghost.

"The astral impression is the most common kind of ghost," Mr. Leadbeater said. "It may be either seen or heard. Visible, it may be the specter of a ship or train wreck, a holocaust, a destructive volcanic eruption, or any scene in which great stress of emotion has existed.

"The genuine ghost is a thing that must be reckoned with in his haunt. He rarely appears to more than one person at a time. He has the power of speech, strength, the will to do good or evil, just as a living man has. He haunts the scene of his murder or some wrong that has been done him. But that is not always true. This real ghost more often appears when he is in great misery, and we do it a great wrong when we flee from it. It desires to offer aid or ask for it, or else it would not appear. I have talked and shaken hands with these ghosts and have learned more or less about their habits. They are not always visible, but sometimes appear as speaking ghosts.

"I visit every haunted house I can locate, and on one occasion had a terrifying experience with an obstreperous spirit. This ghost had driven the family from the house and made life a terror in the vicinity. No one ever saw it, but its unearthly yells and its insane actions struck terror into the hearts of all who heard it. I did not fear it, and went into the house. It was a lonely cottage, far from other habitation. The environment was 'spooky,' the owls screeched and hooted in the trees, and the night was as black as Erebus.

"When I reached the door I pushed it open and stepped into the room. A chill struck me and I felt faintly sick, but I was resolved to stick out the night, to see or talk with the ghost. I sat by a window and waited. Ten minutes passed and I heard nothing. I felt reassured. I waited an hour and still no ghost came, and I began to doubt the stories.

"I will never forget how long and fearful that hour seemed, although I was really not afraid, but I felt the chill again as midnight approached. At 12 o'clock the hush of deathly silence fell upon the room. I heard the faint rustling of a garment and an instant later felt two cold and clammy hands close upon my throat.

"I jumped from the seat and strove to free myself. I clutched at the hands, but they were not material. The ghost was throttling me. I felt my breath going and I was heartsick. I fought around and around the room and all the time those clammy fingers held me in a viselike grip.

"I tried to cry out. My hands beat at the ghostly hands at my throat; and I was rapidly becoming exhausted. Every second seemed an age. I lived an eternity every minute, and yet I had no hope of being able to release myself. My whole frame shook like an aspen leaf, my temples throbbed, and my heart grew heavy as lead. Yet the only sound to break the unearthly stillness of the night was my own scuffling and gasping.

"This fight against an invisible spirit kept up until I reached the open door. With one terrific lunge I threw myself at the opening and carried myself and my ghostly adversary into the open air. As I passed through the door the fingers slipped from my throat. I had won the fight, but I never shall forget it nor be entirely able, I fear, to determine why I was attacked.

"During my life I have seen two animal apparitions. They were as real as a human ghost. One was the specter of a favorite dog I had owned. It appeared to me, and I recognized it just as if it were living. These mystic animals are drawn to men and are always endeavoring to take some visible form. I doubt not they follow their former masters about, and the reason they are not seen is because the man has not developed the senses of his own finer, etheric body that dwells within his body of flesh and bone.

"The other animal apparition I saw was that of a cat. The animal had been a pet in the family of a friend of mine, and I once beheld it as a ghost.

"The thought form is as truly a ghost as any one of the other six. It is visible, which is proof enough of its existence. The manner by which it makes its form is peculiar. I may desire greatly to be in some other place. My mind is striving to place me there, and in itself does project my other self to any distance. The other self takes visible form, and there I am seen, not as a misty, white-robed specter, but as a living, breathing body.

"The elves, fairies and pixies are seen only in lonely places. Like the ghost of a dead man they choose wild, unreal surroundings. A shepherd playing his reed pipe, a child lost in the woods, or, sometimes, if they be in utmost sympathy, a pair of lovers will have visions of these little beings, which never existed in living form, but appear as spirits.

"The most frightful of all the ghosts, the one about which more weird stories are told and which gives to death a horror, is the churchyard ghost. This ghost is harmless. It has neither a message to deliver nor a request to ask. It rises as a luminous vapor from the grave, hovers shivering above the mound, and then vanishes. Unknowing persons, seeing these things, are horrified. For the instant they are pinned to the spot, and then have an uncontrollable impulse to flee. By that time the ghost has disappeared and could in no wise harm a person.

"It is merely the ethereal body of the dead person, and may or may not be endowed with the senses of the spirit. It is the fear of the sight of this ghost that hurries a man fleet-footed past a cemetery. That kind of a spirit could not chase a man nor do him bodily harm.

"A ghost is a fine hypnotist and can work upon any human being. In this way the specter sometimes makes us see by influencing our finer senses. It never seeks to harm a person by hypnotizing him. To understand all this, we must understand just what the finer body is. We are dual creatures with two living bodies. Death lays aside one, the other lasts. The dead are just as much alive as we are but until we develop our psychic sense we cannot see them. When we do develop those finer senses we can see and talk with them. This amounts to a clairvoyance of the ideal kind, and even at the beginning of this great science enables us to see beyond the grave.

"Ghosts take on material form by gathering to their spirit bodies the physical substances surrounding them. A ghost in great anxiety, such as the spirit of a miser worrying over his hoarded gold, or a man who misplaced his will, is anxious to speak out, and in two ways he may make himself visible. One way is to produce materialization by his own will without human assistance, the other is to hypnotize a person and act upon his psychic sense.

"Dead men are very reasonable and listen to argument. They will not do a thing they are asked not to do. It is quite silly to be afraid of them, though I know by experience they may be obstreperous."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

DR. PRICE'S TRYABITA FOOD

THE ONLY CELERY WHEAT FLAKE

Sulu Sweetness.

A naval officer writing from the Philippines tells of an interesting visit he made to the town of Jolo, where he was introduced to several of the wives of the sultan of Sulu, who are domiciled at that place. The Army and Navy Journal has had their names translated into English. Here they are:

"Scent of Lilies."
"Heart's Desire."
"Honey of Life."
"Dancing Sunbeam."
"Blush of Morning."
"Oasis in the Desert."
"Moon Upon the Waters."
"Song of the Nightingales."
"Whisper of the West Winds."
"Rose in Bloom."

The officer intimated that there were others, but did not give their names.—N. Y. Times.

Little Freddie Knew.

The class in reading in a Brooklyn school had come to the phrase "a slender birch tree," and the teacher, not quite sure that the children fully comprehended the meaning of "slender," sought to develop it from familiar words. "You all know what 'stout' means, do you not?" she asked. "Yes'm." "Have you ever seen a stout woman?" "Oh, yes'm; Mrs. Brown is very stout," said one girl. "Right," said the teacher. "Now, look at me! I am not stout, am I?" "No'm," came the chorus of voices. "Well, if I am not stout, what am I?" A perplexed look overspread the faces. Finally one little fellow ventured to raise his hand. "Well Freddie, do you think I'm stout?" "No'm." "Well, then, what would you call me?" "Skinny."—N. Y. Tribune.

A True Billville Incident.

The mean man had taken all the effects of the old couple to satisfy the mortgage. In the back of his buggy he had tied and stowed away three hogs and 30 chickens, while the only cow they possessed was following at a rope's end, hitched behind the vehicle. Touched by the tears of the woman, the mean man stopped, and gazing thoughtfully on the chickens, handed back a pair of fat pullets, with the remark: "Sister Jinkins, I hain't got the heart to leave you with nuthin' 'tall. To-morrer'll be Sunday. Take these here pullets, an' cook 'em brown an' juicy, an' I'll stop by and take dinner with you, an' have a word o' prayer, an' ax the good Lord to temper the wind to the shorn lamb!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Invisible Artillery.

The experiment has been made at Aldershot of painting guns and limbers with the three primary colors, red, blue, and yellow, as it has been found that guns thus painted harmonize with any kind of background so well that at a short distance they are difficult to locate. Six guns so painted were placed on the Fox Hills, and the artillery officers at Aldershot were invited to try to locate them at about 3,000 yards with field glasses, but although the officers knew the direction, none was able to locate them all. Some horse artillery sent forward to engage the guns advanced to within 1,000 yards before they located them. The painting on the guns is seen at close quarters to be in daubs and streaks.—London Times.

Curious Royal Custom.

When any Spanish sovereign dies the body is at once submitted to the process of fossilization, nor can it be placed in the royal pantheon until the body has been absolutely turned into stone. Curiously enough, the period required for fossilization varies considerably. Some royal bodies have become solidified in a very short period, while others have taken years before the fossilization took place. It took exactly 13 years to convert the body of the father of the present young king of Spain into stone.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Boy Felt Safe.

A Brooklyn school-teacher whose scene of labor is not on the "aristocratic Park Slope," recently told one of his boy pupils, who was insubordinate, that he must behave.

"If you do not do better," said the teacher, "I shall go see your father."

"Huh," said the boy, who was only three feet high, "yer will have to take a pick an' shovel to see him. He's dead."—N. Y. Times.

Couldn't Have Been.

Howes—I saw your Uncle Harry riding past in his automobile yesterday. At least I supposed it was he. He has an auto, hasn't he?

Barnes—Yes, but if he were riding past it couldn't have been Uncle Harry. Had it been he, he would have been under the machine tinkering at the machinery.—Boston Transcript.

Force of Habit.

Stubb—There is something funny about this old plug. He stops at every pump and yet he doesn't want to drink.

WANTED HERE.

George Smith Arrested in Newark—Had Been Operating All Through This State.

The Newark police arrested Wednesday, a man giving the name of George Smith, who is wanted in nearly every city in northern New Jersey for sneak thieving. His capture was effected mainly through information given by Chief Kiely, of the local force, who was after him for a robbery committed in this city.

He departed from a South Second street boarding house taking with him a watch and considerable money, belonging to James Hogan, an employe of the Pond Tool Works. He is known to have robbed four houses in Newark and he will in all probability get a long term from the Essex county authorities.

Realty Transfers.

I hope that the change will be for the better."

Hardly had the Mayor taken his seat when Councilman Nichols was on his feet and, addressing the chair and his fellow Councilmen, said:

"I think that the thanks and congratulations are due to Mayor Smalley more than to us, for the careful manner in which he has presided over the meetings here and for the favors which have been shown to me and to all." He hoped again to have the pleasure of sitting in the Council with Mayor Smalley as a presiding officer.

Councilman Northrup arose at his desk and said:

"The keynote of Mayor Smalley's address was individuality. Individuality in the master means a corresponding individuality in the man. Such an example is before us; one who, first and last and at all times has the interest of the borough at heart. His keynote was that and he lived up to it. I know that those of opposite views who came into the Council, opposing Mayor Smalley, were like the small boys, who came to jeer but stayed to pray. We are under the domination of a master mind and in my opinion, it will be a detriment to the borough not to allow that same master mind to have the chance to pursue his plans for another year, so as to give an opportunity to allow those plans now partially carried out, a chance to mature, under another period of his administration."

Councilman Lee took advantage of a pause and addressing the chair said:

"This is my last opportunity, perhaps, to extend to the Mayor thanks for the many kindnesses extended to me and to all the members of the Council. My one regret that I am about to leave you is the severance of assocciations here. I can testify to the earnest manner in which the Mayor has served us and my best wishes are for the future and all success to him and to the borough."

Mayor Smalley was about to call the meeting to a close when Councilman Clark asked for permission to speak and he said:

"One would think from the tenor of the remarks just made that this meeting had resolved itself into a 'miserere' meeting but it seems to me that it is more of a 'jubilate' meeting as our Mayor has been nominated for a second term. Four years ago I came into this room and previous to that time I had never met the then newly elected Mayor, nor did I know of him. During the four years in this Council I have been led to believe that if ever there was a man who occupied the Mayor's chair and who had the interests of the borough thoroughly at heart, Mayor Smalley did it the best. He knows the wants and needs of the borough, he lives here, he is in touch with the people, and he sees for himself what is wanted. It is therefore my earnest wish that he be re-elected. He has guided the affairs of the borough well for four years and what he has left undone two more years will give him an opportunity of doing, and I hope to have the pleasure of serving under Mayor Smalley again."

After a short recess, during which matters relating to the payment of Architect Smith's bill, for drawing up the specifications of new fire house, were discussed, the meeting adjourned.

An Original Dance.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I noticed in your article last evening in reference to the Hope chapel minstrels that the "Essence of Ole Virginny" is generally included in the olio of all professional minstrel organizations. I will be compelled to contradict this statement, as this dance has never been executed on any stage whatever as it will be next week at the Y. M. A. minstrels. W. L. Holbert, coach.

In City Court.

In the city court, this morning, M. F. Duffy, who was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Arthur Kyle, was fined $10. Jas. Donovan, who was arrested for drunkenness by Patrolman Saunders, last night, was released under a suspended sentence.

FOULS DECIDE GAME BETWEEN TWO SCHOOLS

Monro's Goals on Fouls Won for City High School in Game With Leal's.

WON BY SINGLE POINT

EXCITING BASKET BALL GAME PLAYED AT Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM.

Robert Abbott Did Scoring for Leal's—Some Fast Play—Schools Have Now Played Three Games In All—The Line Ups.

The honors in basket ball are now more evenly divided between the City High School team and the team from Leal's School, the former team having won one game and the other team two. In the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, last evening, these two teams met and the High School five won their first contest with Leal's by a score of 8 to 7. The game throughout was very interesting and both teams played very fast.

The guard work of both teams showed improvement, that of the winning five being superior. In the first half it looked as though the Leal players would win easily, but soon their opponents got in some fine work and prevented them from running up a high score, in fact it was only by the most persistent effort that they were able to score seven points.

The scoring for Leal's team was done by Robert Abbott. He threw three goals from fouls and two from the field in the first half, but the team failed to score in the second half. For the High School team, Monro threw four goals from fouls, two in each half, while Thompson threw two goals from fouls and one from the field in the first half. Monro's two goals in the second half won the game for his team.

The teams lined up as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL.		LEAL'S SCHOOL.
Monroe	left forward	R. Abbott
Thompson	right forward	Doane
Collier	centre	Biglow
Miner	right guard	Robert
Anderson	left guard	Schoonmaker

Score—High School, 8; Leal's School, 7. Goals from the field—Abbott (2), Thompson (1). Goals on fouls—Monroe (4), Thompson (2), Aqbott (3). Fouls—High School, 6; Leal's School, 10. Referee—Walter Long. Umpires—Ray Smith and Edward Neal. Timer—Prof. Fowler. Scorers—John H. Doane and Ralph Lane.

PROMINENT MEN FAVOR SMALLEY

Interviews With Leading Citizens of North Plainfield in Which They Commend Him.

AND ADMINISTRATION

Believe That He Will be Elected on the Splendid Record He Has Made During His Two Terms as the Mayor of the Borough—What They Have to Say.

With an idea of ascertaining how the representative people of the Park feel in regard to Mayor Smalley's chances an interview was secured with four of them Saturday.

Edwin S. Hooley said that he believed that Mayor Smalley's chances for reelection were very good indeed. His record of four years as mayor of the borough was guarantee enough of his reelection. He said that he has served the borough well and that his administration could not be improved upon. He declared that Mayor Smalley was deserving of his vote and would get it.

W. O. Worth, of Washington avenue, was interviewed and to the reporter said that irrespective of politics Mayor Smalley's chances of reelection were excellent. He said that he has made a good mayor, serving the borough well all during his two years of office and as mayor he has never been surpassed. With a four years' record behind him and one which the people of North Plainfield should be proud of, his reelection seems almost assured. Mr. Worth said that with such a record Mayor Smalley would receive his vote.

H. P. Reynolds, of Washington avenue, is a well known resident of the Park. When asked what he thought of Mayor Smalley's chances he said:

"Mayor Smalley's excellent administration has been progressive and active. I think he has done his level best for North Plainfield and I would be glad to see him reelected. I have a high opinion of Mr. Smalley because he has done as much for the town as any man that could have been elected. I approve of the plans he has in mind for the benefit of the borough and for another term it is desirable that Mayor Smalley shall be reelected in order that the plans now partially completed may be carried through without a break. He is better able to control the projects which have been started than a new man.

"I consider his chances for reelection remarkably good and I have little doubt that he will win. It is purely a business proposition for the borough and I do not look upon it as a party measure. It is not because he is a Republican that I will vote for him for I would vote for him just as quickly if he was a Democrat.

"The progress of the borough began with the election of Colonel John Wilson and I would have been glad to have seen Colonel Wilson reelected but I feel that Smalley will continue the progress started by Colonel Wilson as he has done in his two past terms."

Martin I. Cooley was seen at his home, Glencoran, and when asked regarding his views on the subject of Smalley's reelection, said:

"Mayor Smalley has made a good mayor. He is wide awake and aggressive. His opinions are strong and he backs them up on the right side. He has been an A 1 man for mayor and while we can not predict what the result will be I believe he will win.

"He has made many strong expressions on the annexation question and consequently he has made some enemies and that same element will strive to defeat him at the polls but the best people of North Plainfield will vote for him. I do not see how we could get a better man for the office. If we cannot consolidate with Plainfield we want as good a man as we can get. With such first class records as Mayor Smalley has I do not see but that his chances are very good.

"He has good judgment and first class executive ability. He is a man that will go out of his way to do anybody a kindness and what is more he knows the town and lives here and what are the interests of the town are his interests. I think he has excellent chances for reelection next Tuesday."

J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, has practically recovered from a two week's illness from grip.

MAYOR MAKES STRONG REPLY

His Answer to Critics Who Hide Behind Anonymous Names to Attack Him.

THEIR CHARGES FALSE

Has Been Careful and Economical, and Yet Has Made Noticeable Improvements—What Does Opponent Promise?—His Aim Has Been to Best Serve Borough.

To the People of North Plainfield:—The last issue of The Weekly Review, containing communications from correspondents who have not the courage to sign their names has been brought to my attention. I have demanded the names of the authors, but they have been refused.

An enemy who will come out in the open and strike when he can be seen is to be respected, but one who sneaks about in the dark and strikes only when he feels certain that neither his identity nor his biding place can be discovered, deserves the contempt of every decent man.

If the people of North Plainfield were to be influenced into voting against any man by such sneaking and cowardly attacks as those contained in that mercenary sheet, then I would not wish to be their mayor, but I do not believe they are of that stripe.

Having lived all my life among them and knowing well that I have many faults, I challenge any man to say openly that I have been a coward, a sneak, or a liar.

Will the anonymous writers of the articles in The Review say as much for themselves? If so let them come out into the open where they can be identified and then let the public decide between us.

That the charges made by opponents relative to the discharge of my duties as mayor are in the main false will appear from examination of the borough reports published and distributed among the taxpayers annually, also from the books of the borough which are audited by expert accountants every year.

That we have always been careful and economical in the expenditure of public money will be testified to by every member of the Council who has served during my terms as mayor.

The increase in the total tax rate has been shown to be chargeable to the expenditures for borough schools, whether the assessor made any mistakes or not, and in nowise chargeable to the mayor and Council; although we have had many improvements which cost money, such as sprinkling the streets at public expense, opening and improvement of streets, widening Somerset street and building storm sewer, increasing numbers of street lights and hydrants and meeting all the new requirements of a growing municipality.

What more could be reasonably expected of men who give their time and best endeavors to the public service without a dollar's compensation? What more does my opponent promise?

That have sometimes aided Democratic candidates when it seemed to me that the borough's interests would be best served by them I will not deny. Is that a crime? If so, why is the newspaper started in the borough by Republican charity, and now backed by Republicans, guilty of the same offense? Why are L. A. Thompson and other Somerville Republicans aiding and assisting Conroy?

CAUGHT THE THIEF.

Trap for Chicken Thieves Resulted in Capture of Fox.

William S. Jones, who lives between this city and Scotch Plains, has been annoyed recently by having his chickens stolen and so he decided to place a trap for the culprit. Friday evening he loaded a gun and placed it near the entrance to the chicken roost. About midnight he heard a noise and the next instant the gun went off. He went out to investigate and found that a large fox had been killed. He has preserved the skin which is a handsome one.

CLINTON KNIGHTS EXPECTED.

Visitors From Brooklyn Expected at Trinity Commandery Conclave.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17. K. T., will hold a regular conclave this evening at which time the members of Clinton Commandery, No. 14, K. T., of Brooklyn, will be guests. After the meeting the Knights will adjourn to the Hotel Kensington for supper. The committee has arranged for a sumptuous repast and, as an enjoyable adjunct, vocal selections will be rendered by Clinton Commandery's famous quartette, followed by toasts to which responses will be made by well-known fraters of both commanderies. The committee in charge consists of Jacob Kirkner, F. K. VanAuken, H. S. Cowins, J. A. Stafford and L. I. VanAlstyne.

Lost Overcoat at Dance.

Francis J. Blatz, representing George Baldwin, of this city, has brought suit against the Jolly Ten Social Club, of Garwood, for the recovery of an overcoat. Baldwin attended a dance given two weeks ago by the club and he checked his overcoat. After the dance he could not find it, hence the action. The case will be tried before Justice Huff Thursday afternoon, March 12.

Banquets for Democrats.

The Democratic Club as well as the Board of Trade are planning to hold banquets in the near future. The feasts will probably be held at the Hotel Kensington. The dates have not yet been fixed.

Opening Performance Will be Given at Hope Chapel Tomorrow Night—Lots of Music in First Part—The Olio and Its Attractions—Promise of a Good Show.

After many weeks of patient rehearsal and preparation for the event, the members of the Hope Y. M. A. minstrel troupe are in readiness and anxious for their second attempt at entertaining their friends as black face artists. When the curtain arises tomorrow evening for the first performance of three to be given at Hope chapel, it will find them fully determined to surpass last years' effort which until now has held the record in the way of attendances and success over all other local amateur minstrel shows. The chorus is larger, the artists more proficient than ever and last season's experience has enabled them to do away with the more crude appearance of amateurishness.

The oft repeated remark after last year's two shows was "It was excellent, but there was not enough singing in the first part" and this is one feature that City Judge Wm. N. Runyon, who has general charge of the troupe, has sought to make a specialty. Of the twenty numbers comprising the opening, nearly half will be solos, embracing a wide variety of sentimental balads and the catchiest of "coon" melodies.

An original song, "Things Are Different Now," written and composed by Coach Runyon, is sure to make a hit. It deals with local subjects in a humorous way and is on the same lines as "If I Only Had Been Born a Millionaire," which caught the audiences of the first show and is still whistled on the street stoday.

Among the soloists will be Lewis V. Tallamy, George B. Cose, Henry W. Williams, Augustus Feiring, Charles W. Leland, Matthew Sweeney, Bertram Firstbrook, Thomas Muir and Edward J. Shortman. Other numbers in the first part will be buck and wing dancing by the favorites, Lusardi and Bowers, laugh producers by the end men and quartette selections by the Tallamy brothers, Bert, William, Fred and Lewis.

The olio, or second part, is to consist of five numbers as follows: Scientific bag punching by Harry Dilts, who is considered one of America's experts; monologues, by Will Holbert, banjo and ocarina selections by Joseph Loughead, who is a local favorite; an eccentric dance, "Essence of Ole Virginny," by George Cose, Matthew Sweeney, "Teddy" Shortman, Thomas Muir and Bert Firstbrook; and illustrated songs by Elmer D. Cutting, tenor soloist for the Euterpean Glee Club.

Concluding the performance will be a laughable after-piece entitled, "The Night Clerk," written for the Y. M. A. show. It deals with the trials and tribulations of a colored clerk in a hotel infested with cranks and is said to be one of the best sketches ever written. The characters are to be assumed by Will Holbert, John H. Cose, Thomas Muir, Matthew Sweeney and Edward Shortman.

With but few exceptions every one of the young men appearing in the show is a member of the association and, when it is considered that most of them are employes in the West End machine shops, it is surprising what they are able to accomplish in the way of entertainment as was evi-

WAS A REMARKABLE WOMAN

MRS. RACHEL PENFIELD HAD AN ACTIVE CAREER.

One of First Woman Publishers in the Country—An Originator of Home for Friendless.

Mrs. Rachel Penfield, widow of Edward Starr Penfield, who died last Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stephen R. Struthers, of West Front street, was the last of eleven children. She was born in Newark, March 24, 1815, and up to a few years ago her life was an exceedingly active one. She was one of the originators of the idea of establishing the Home for the Friendless in New York, and for over thirty years she was children's secretary. It is believed that she was the first or one of the first women publishers in this country, being editor of the Advocate of Moral Reform, which has since been changed to the Advocate and Guardian. In this work for the friendless she travelled considerably and kept in personal touch with a great many children.

Mrs. Penfield was a sincere and devoted Christian and greatly interested in temperance work, especially along the line followed by the W. C. T. U. She was a member of the Crescent Avenue church and attended there until unable to do so by physical infirmities. She was married in 1845 and three children, two daughters and one son was born to her. The son died about a year ago. She also had nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The funeral services were held from the home of Mrs. Struthers yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, who is now moderator of the Session of the Crescent Avenue church. He read appropriate Scripture selections and offered prayer. There were two selections, favorite hymns of the deceased, "Jesus I My Cross Have Taken," and "Sun of My Soul," by a trio, consisting of Mrs. J. K. Myers, E. E. Runyon and A. J. Gavett, who were members of the old choir in the Crescent Avenue church. The interment took place this morning in Hillside cemetery.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

How Miss Marjorie Burtis Celebrated Her Fifth Birthday.

Miss Marjorie Burtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, celebrated the fifth anniversary of her birthday Saturday afternoon with a party. The time was spent in playing all kinds of games. During the afternoon a bountiful collation was served.

The guests present were the Misses Florence Burkham, Bernice McClintock, Margaret Woolston, Margaret Uwart, Marion Phillips, Ruth Murphey, Dorothy Neil, Hazel Hyatt, Lucile Uwart, Margaret Burkham and Edmund Kenney, Harold Woolston, Eddie Wyndham, Arthur Woodruff, Willie Woodruff, Franklyn Lowe and Jack Harper.

Building Storm Sewer.

Work was commenced Saturday on the installation of the Albert street storm sewer. The work is in charge of Contractor Mabie and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

TROLLEY TO METUCHEN NOW

Superintendent Radel, of the Middlesex Co., Says It Will be Built in Near Future.

AFTER CONSENTS NOW

Authoritative Announcement Made That Trolley Line From Metuchen to Plainfield Will Soon be Built—Result of Report Going Out From Metuchen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, March 9—"Authoritative announcement was made Saturday afternoon that the lines of the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company would be extended from Metuchen to Plainfield. Edward H. Radel, superintendent of that company, declared Saturday afternoon that the work would be begun as soon as the proper consents were secured from the Township Committee. Most of the property owners' consents have been secured.

News regarding this latest move of the Middlesex and Somerset Company was given publicity through the following report from Metuchen which was received by the New Brunswick Home News:

"A representative of some trolley road was in Metuchen this week trying to secure consents for a new trolley line. The proposed road is to start from Bound Brook and pass through Plainfield to South Plainfield. From this point to Metuchen it will run in almost a straight line. The right of way will be purchased and will extend over private property all the way to the borough. Here, according to the company's representative, it will extend its line along Central avenue to the Pennsylvania Railroad, thence along Lake street to LeGrande avenue, thence along LeGrande avenue to Main street, where it will connect with the New Brunswick line. Opposition is feared on Lake avenue and the next route considered is to continue south on Lake avenue to Spring street, then along Spring to Main street. Here, it is said, the cars will run on the Middlesex and Somerset line to Bonhamtown, where they will continue to Perth Amboy over the tracks the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company propose to construct.

"It is claimed that the company eventually intends to cross the new bridge and continue to the shore resorts over other lines. The people here are in the dark concerning the company. No one seems to know who is backing the company or what its name is. Its representative has only been in town once, but the people whom he saw are convinced he meant business. The Raritan Traction Company contemplated extending its line to Plainfield, and, it is said made several surveys of different routes. This company, as far as can be learned, has no connection with the Raritan company."

POTATO EXPLODED.

Mrs. Wm. L. Smalley, Jr., Badly Burned in An Unusual Way.

Mrs. William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, met with a painful accident a few days ago. She was engaged in baking potatoes for dinner and in handling one of the tubers to ascertain whether is was sufficiently baked, was almost blinded by having it explode in her hands. The heated contents of the potato flew in her face and the cuticle on one eyelid was entirely burned off. As soon as Mrs. Smalley could recover from fright she called her husband, who was at home. He hastened to the kitchen, where he caught up a handful of flour and threw it in his wife's face. This served to take the inflammation out of the burns and there will be no serious consequences.

Canal Opens Today.

The Delaware and Raritan canal will be opened to navigation today, thereby releasing a number of boats that have been tied up during the winter season.

To Remain Open.

The order discontinuing the postoffice at Royenfield, Somerset county, has been rescinded by the postal authorities at Washington.

ASK TO KILL THE REPEALERS

Petition Being Circulated and Signed by Anti-Annexationists in the Borough.

THE REASONS FOR IT

Captain Wm. C. Smith Tells Why They Should Not Pass—Would Leave North Plainfield at the Mercy of the Freeholders—Many Are Signing It.

Captain William C. Smith, of the borough, has been circulating a petition among the prominent anti-annexationists in which he sets forth that while the signers voted against annexation when it was referred to a vote of the people recently, they are in favor of allowing the bill to remain on the statute books. He has already secured the names of fifty men in the borough who were decidedly opposed to annexation and voted against it. The names of those who voted for the greater city scheme do not appear on the petition.

In speaking of the petition and the reasons why he started it Mr. Smith said that it is for the welfare of the borough to have the bill remain as it is, that is, not to have it repealed. If the bill should be repealed it would place the borough of North Plainfield at the mercy of the Freeholders. They could give the borough just what they pleased or nothing at all, depending entirely upon their fancy.

With the bill on the books North Plainfield always has the opportunity open to vote for the measure again without the necessary formality of having the matter run through the various legal gauntlets, or the political powers that be at Trenton. If it is not repealed the Freeholders cannot help but realize that at any time North Plainfield, upon becoming dissatisfied with the way matters are going in Somerset county, can depart and be received with open arms into Union county.

The petition has met with approval among many of the "antis" and Mr. Smith assured his interviewer that only one man had refused to sign his name to the paper.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT.

Hot Primary Held at Bridgewater Township Saturday Evening—The Ticket Chosen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 9—The Democratic primary of Bridgewater township, which was held here Saturday afternoon, was a very lively affair. The principal fight, however, was over the naming of a candidate for assessor. Charles L. Voorhees, the present incumbent, and Frank Ross were the opponents for the place on the tickets and had about an equal number of supporters out. Ross won by 145 ballots to 138 for Voorhees.

The caucus was held in the Court House and William J. DeMond, the surrogate, was elected chairman. John L. Anderson was secretary.

The following is the balance of the ticket named: For collector, Ferdinand VanderVeer; town committee, Bernard Meyer; justice of the peace, Patrick Cain; constables, Peter Conboy, Dennis Wyckoff; surveyors of highways, John VanderVeer and Henry Peiners; commissioner of appeals, James J. Quick, pound keepers, Wm. J. Sisser, Henry T. Opdycke, Ellis M. Handville.

For roads $12,000 will be voted and for the poor $3,500.

Mission Society Her Guest.

The members of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, were entertained Friday afternoon by the president, Miss Pauline Denton, at her home on Washington avenue. The afternoon was spent in playing games, and listening to vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served.

Home Mission Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society, of the Crescent Avenue church, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. An address will be given by Mrs. Calvin Mateer, a returned Chinese missionary. An invitation is extended to all who feel interested.

In Justice Smalley's Court.

Suit on contract has been instituted by Charles C. Graves against Henry Guinard. The case will be brought up for trial before Justice Smalley, on Thursday, March 12.

TO CONNECT CEMENT WORKS

COMPANIES AIM TO GIVE OUTLET TO A TRUNK LINE.

J. P. Northrup, of This City, is One of the Incorporators of the New Companies.

The New Jersey and Delaware River Railroad Company, capital $100,000; the Delaware and Northampton Railroad Company, capital $5,000,000; and the Quaker Portland Cement Company, capital $5,000,000, were incorporated at Trenton a few days ago with largely the same incorporators.

The New Jersey and Delaware River Company is to construct a railroad three-quarters of a mile in length from Martin's Creek, on the Belvidere division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to a point in the middle of the Delaware River. The Delaware and Northampton Railroad Company is authorized to construct and operate a railroad outside the State. Among the incorporators of these companies, some of whose names appear on two or more certificates, are John R. Hageman, Frederick H. Ecker, Silas B. Dutcher, Clifford W. Lyons, all of New York; James P. Northrop, Plainfield, and George L. Dayton and Howard C. Griffiths, of Jersey City.

The interests back of these projects are supposed to be the owners of the Quaker Portland Cement Works, who have large interests in the Northampton county cement belt. These works are located on the line of the Lehigh and New England Railroad, which passes directly through the property. The question of building a railroad to provide an outlet in some trunk line for its product other than the present facilities has been under consideration for a year or more.

THEATRICAL.

Prosperity marks the run of "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" at the Princess Theatre, New York, and the brisk playing of Amelia Bingham, Wilton Lakkaye, W. L. Abingdon and Minne Dupree find favor with the partisans of Clyde Fitch.

Many big productions of musical comedy and musical extravaganza have been seen in New York during the past few seasons, but the dazzling magnificence of "The Silver Slipper" has caused this delightful musical play to be singled out as the most stupendous and gorgeous production of its kind that New Yorkers have been called upon in years to pass judgment on. That their judgment has been most favorable is attested by the fact that "The Silver Slipper" has played to crowded houses at the Broadway Theatre for upwards of 100 performances.

Captain George W. McClusky, the famous former chief of the New York detective bureau, is not only an ardent admirer of both Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon as artists of the highest type, but he was positively fascinated with the Conan Doyle Gillette play, "Sherlock Holmes." The scenic surroundings of this production, as well as the electrical equipment, (which latter plays a most important part in the performance) are the same as were used in the memorable ten-months' run of the play at the Lyceum Theatre in London. Mr. Kelcey and Miss Shannon will present "Sherlock Holmes" at the Grand Opera House, New York for the week starting Monday. The indications are that the house will be taxed to its utmost limit.

TO NAME COMMISSION.

Will Arrange for Change Accompanying Incorporation of Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 9—In accordance with the provision of the new law making Westfield a town, Judge Vail, of the Union county court, will be called upon to appoint a commission to arrange for the change. This commission will undoubtedly be suggested by citizens of this place and will be composed of Democrats and Republicans. It has been definitely decided that the town will be divided into four wards. Steps to take advantage of the new law will be taken at once.

Miss Apgar, of East Front street, is detained at home with an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, is still detained at her room, there being no impovement in her condition.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Mayor Smalley, the most aggressive annexationist of them all, was last week unanimously renominated for mayor by the Republicans of North Plainfield. That he will be elected is unquestioned. This shows the new and revised sentiment in that town on the question of annexation.—Elizabeth Journal.

"Some of the newspapers of the State," says the Trenton Times, "are disposed to regard President Hutchinson's Plainfield consolidation repealer as an intermeddling on the part of the Mercer Senator. They evidently overlook the fact that North Plainfield is a part of this congressional district. Senator Hutchinson, as one of the Republican leaders of the district, is merely performing a political duty. The district is a close one, and there should be no local squabbles to complicate an election in which national issues are involved." The papers do not overlook the fact that North Plainfield is now a part of the congressional district to which Mercer county belongs. But the esteemed Trenton Times seems to overlook the fact that when the law was enacted providing for the new congressional districts in New Jersey, it was also imperatively fixed that there should be no change in the congressional lines for ten years to come. If this means what it distinctly says, then North Plainfield must, for nine years to come, remain a part of the Fourth congressional district, and its consolidation with North Plainfield will not remove it from this district. But the simple fact is that the people of Greater Plainfield should be permitted to exercise their own judgment in the matter, and Senator Hutchinson should not deprive them of this opportunity. —Elizabeth Journal.

In spite of the popular impression that there have been many disastrous railroad wrecks in New Jersey, causing great loss of life, this State has been remarkably free from such horrifying disasters when the volume of railroad travel here is considered and the congested conditions of transportation are borne in mind. In the past twenty-five years there have been but ten wrecks in New Jersey which have resulted in many deaths or the injury of a large number of passengers. The most disastrous of these occurrences was in 1896, when, on July 31, forty-seven people were killed and several injured by a collision on the Reading road near Atlantic City, an excursion train being telescoped. The other disasters of a similar character during the last quarter century were: August 9, 1877, when a train fell through a bridge at Oceanport, injuring sixty people, General Grant being among the passengers; October 18, 1885, wreck at Hackensack, nine killed; June 24, 1893, wreck near Paterson, five killed; January 15, 1894, collision on the Newark meadows in Harrison, thirteen killed; 1898, accident near Trenton, eleven killed and twenty injured; January 9, 1899, collision on the Lehigh Valley at West Dunellen, seventeen killed; November 29, 1899, collision on the Lackawanna at Paterson, six killed and twenty-three injured; February 21, 1901, collision on the Pennsylvania road (the wreck of the Nellie Bly), near Bordentown, ten killed and forty wounded; October 8, 1902, collision on the Pennsylvania road at Menlo Park, one killed and twenty wounded.—Newark News.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

"I noticed that many people on Lincoln's and Washington's birthday, placed their flags at half mast in front of their houses," said a well known G. A. R. man, recently. "They are wrong. All flags should have been at full mast. Those holidays are to honor the birth of the two men, not to mourn over their death and the rule of displaying the flag should be well fixed."

Mrs. W. B. Heidloff, of Duer street, is convalescing from an attack of grip.

Mrs. Sarah H. Stone, of Washington, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Yardley Brown, of Summit avenue, has returned home.

Mrs. Laura Coyle, of Washington, N. J., and Mrs. F. M. Chittenden, of Flemington, have home after a very pleasant visit with P. M. VanCleef, of Watchung avenue.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. WERE KILLED IN BED

Colored Miners Shot by Deputies Without Warning.

ATKINSVILLE AFFAIR INVESTIGATED.

Official Report of Chris Evans to the United Mine Workers Puts the West Virginia Officials In a Bad Light.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 9.—The official report of Chris Evans, who was sent to the West Virginia coalfields to investigate the killing of the colored miners at Atkinsville, has been received at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers.

The report says that General St. Clair, the attorney for the coal companies, created an agitation to have the men arrested and taken to Charleston and that immediately afterward arrangements were made with the United States marshal by the mine workers' officials to give bond for all who were arrested, but that later, on account of the agitation created by Deputy Marshal Cunningham, the agreement with the marshal was broken, and Cunningham was sent to arrest the men.

According to the report, there was great feeling against Cunningham, and the men decided not to allow him to arrest them, and he was driven away. Mr. Evans says that he sent a telegram to the men to submit quietly, but that the coal companies, who own all the telegraph and telephone lines into the town, refused to deliver it, and before he could get any message to the men Cunningham and his deputies, who, he says, were the worst characters he could collect, went to the town a second time and killed the miners in their beds at night.

Mr. Evans says that he went to the scene of the trouble the next morning and that forty-eight men had been arrested for conspiracy to kill Cunningham. He found in a house occupied by a colored man called "Stonewall" Jackson the dead bodies of William Dodson, William Clark and Richard Clayton, all negroes. The report continues:

"We found that the wife of Jackson and her four children, with eight negroes, were in the house and that about daybreak all were awakened by shots fired into the house from the outside. This shooting took place without warning, and the three colored men were found dead on the floor.

"We next went to the house of Lucien Lawson, who was considered mortally wounded. I understand that after the shooting referred to this man, with others, returned the fire of the posse, and this is the only instance where any attempt at resistance was made by the miners.

Mr. Evans says that the coroner's jury has returned a verdict of felonious killing against Cunningham for the killing of William Dodson.

General Franklin Dead.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 9.—Major General William Buel Franklin is dead at his home in this city, aged eighty years. He had been in failing health for several years and had failed perceptibly since the death of his wife three years ago. He was born in Franklin, Pa. General Franklin was graduated from West Point in 1843 and was a classmate of General U. S. Grant. He served in the Mexican war and was brevetted first lieutenant for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Buena Vista in 1847. In May, 1861, he was appointed colonel of the Twelfth United States infantry and was immediately made brigadier general of volunteers. He served throughout the war with honor. General Franklin resigned from the army in 1866, with the rank of major general of volunteers and brevet major general of the United States army, and came to this city to live.

Colombia Elections.

PANAMA, Colombia, March 9.—The election of congressmen took place yesterday. The official candidates, Alejandro Orillac, Angel Herrera, Julio Fabrega, Gerardo Lewis, Oscar Teran and Luis Maria Calvo, were elected for the six provinces of the isthmus. Nearly all the Liberals abstained from voting, claiming that the government would not respect the popular vote. Had the Liberals voted they could have won easily in three provinces. The elected congressmen intend to fight in favor of the Panama canal treaty.

Protocols Coldly Received.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 9.—The text of the protocols with the allied powers has been published in the Official Gazette. The protocols are coldly received by the Venezuelans, who say that congress is not favorable to their approval. The government has issued a decree prohibiting navigation on the Orinoco and declaring a blockade of the ports of Barcelona and Carupano, now occupied by the rebels. The revolutionist forces have returned to Guatire.

General Corbin In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general, U. S. A., who is to be grand marshal of the world's fair dedication parade here next month, has arrived from Washington. He will meet with the local committees on ceremonies to complete the details of the dedication ceremonies. Major General John C. Bates, who will command the troops in this parade, is expected from Omaha.

Six Perish In Hotel Fire.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 9.—Six persons were burned to death and one was fatally injured as the result of a fire in a small hotel at Leiter, a mining town near Elkins, W. Va. Several persons escaped with minor injuries by jumping from a second story window.

SHOT IN THE DARK

A Fierce Outbreak of Waterbury Strikers.

OFFICER DEAD; MOTORMAN MISSING

Conductor of the Fated Car Brutally Beaten—Entire Detective Force of the City Searches In Vain For the Guilty Parties.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 9.—Violence in its worst form has broken out anew in Waterbury as a result of the high feeling in connection with the strike of the motormen and conductors of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company. This time it is murder, and Supernumerary Policeman Paul Mendlesohn is the victim. John W. Chambers, a nonunion motorman, is shot, and his whereabouts are unknown, and his conductor, George Weberndorfer, was pounded almost into insensibility.

The scene of the crime was at Forest Park, the terminus of the North Main street line. The spot is an isolated one, and when the car reached the end of the line the crew made preparations for the return trip. Immediately after the conductor turned the trolley and the motorman reversed his levers five masked men sprang from the bushes by the roadside, entered the car and discharged their revolvers, every man being armed. Officer Mendlesohn fell at the first report and, as a later examination showed, the first shot was fatal, having clipped off the top of his heart.

The motorman was also hit and leaped from his car with a cry of pain. Some of the men followed him while the remainder turned their attention to the conductor. He was thrown to the floor of the car and pounded and kicked until he was almost unconscious. The men then left him and joined their companions outside.

The conductor regained his feet with difficulty and went to the side of the wounded officer to render whatever assistance might be necessary. A brief examination showed that the officer was dead, and Weberndorfer, suffering from the severe beating he received and hardly able to stand, went to the controller and started the car back toward the city with the dead officer. On the way he met another car, the crew of which relieved the injured man and hurried to the city for assistance.

The body of the dead officer was carried into police headquarters, and Weberndorfer was also taken there. Dr. Graves attended the man and found him badly used up.

An alarm was immediately sent around the city by the police, and in a few moments the entire detective department, accompanied by thirteen policemen, went to the scene of the murder. A thorough search was made for Chambers, but he could not be found. Despite the diligent search of the policemen and detectives not a clew could be found as to the perpetrators of the cold blooded murder.

The car when it reached the city showed that there had been a perfect volley of shots fired at the three defenseless men.

Fighting the Typhoid.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 9.—Dr. Soper, the typhoid specialist from New York city, who has been here several days to assist the authorities in stamping out the epidemic, addressed the physicians of Ithaca at the Business Men's association rooms. He outlined the course of procedure, laying great stress on means to prevent secondary infection. The greatest care will be taken in thoroughly disinfecting every house in which typhoid has developed.

Jailer's Murderer Captured.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 9.—Chris Benson, the murderer of Jailer Merrill, has been captured by Sheriff Mills and a posse a few miles from this city. He was hiding in a deserted mill. He offered no resistance and was brought to Olympia and lodged in jail. For the past week Benson had spent most of his time in the brush. He declares that a general jail break had been planned and that he did not intend to kill Jailer Merrill.

Pope Receives Pilgrims.

ROME, March 9.—The pope yesterday morning declared that he felt so well that he ought not to make those who had come considerable distances to pay him homage to wait, and accordingly, in spite of Dr. Lapponi's advice, his holiness received 5,000 pilgrims from Berlin, Vienna and Belgium and bestowed his blessing on them. No speeches were made. Pope Leo was loudly acclaimed by the pilgrims.

A Generous Gift.

LOWELL, Mass., March 9.—Frederick F. Ayer of New York has made a gift of $100,000 to Lowell general hospital and will give $5,000 additional toward the floating debt, with the proviso that this debt be immediately raised. Mr. Ayer on many previous occasions has contributed very generously to charitable institutions here.

Steamer Brought Soldier Dead.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The steamer Coamo of the New York and Porto Rico line has arrived from San Juan with the bodies of fifteen United States soldiers who had died in Porto Rico. The Coamo also brought a large list of passengers.

Dominica Shaken.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., March 9.—The island of Dominica, British West Indies, is experiencing a series of disquieting seismic disturbances. A severe and prolonged shock of earthquake was felt Saturday afternoon. Uneasiness is felt.

CANAL LEGISLATION.

One Hundred Million Scheme to Be Aired at Albany.

ALBANY, March 9.—The Davis-Bostwick canal bill is likely to be taken up in earnest during the coming week perhaps in both houses. The report of State Engineer Bond to the effect that the estimate of cost of the thousand ton barge canal, including enlargement of the Champlain canal to Whitehall, should be increased from $82,000,000 to nearly $101,000,000 has been accepted in good faith by the canal committees of both houses, and the bill, amended to this effect and in some minor particulars, is likely to be reported in identical form to both houses. The problem now under consideration is the question of what rate of interest the bonds shall bear.

The main fight on the bill will be made and perhaps its fate decided in the senate in committee of the whole. It is expected that there will be strong opposition, though who will be its leader has not been decided. In the assembly the opposition will probably be led by Assemblymen Rodgers and Burnett, and it is known that Speaker Nixon is not in sympathy with the canal enlargement proposition. In both houses party lines will be broken up on the question. But the friends of the project profess themselves very confident of victory and that Governor Odell will sign the bill when it reaches him.

The tax bills known as the governor's will probably come in for a goodly share of attention this week.

PERRY DIED IN JAIL.

Negro Indicted For Murders Near Boston Did Not Confess.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 9.—George L. O. Perry, the negro lad indicted for the murder of Agnes McPhee at Somerville and Clara Morton at Waverly, commonly referred to as the "Jack the Slugger" cases, is dead at the Cambridge jail of nervous exhaustion. Perry survived an attack of typhoid fever, and death is announced to have resulted indirectly from worry, which prevented a complete physical restoration from the weakened condition in which the fever left him.

Though he was persuaded Friday that his end was near, it is not known that he made any formal statement, and it is believed that he protested his innocence to the last.

Perry was taken ill Jan. 18 and passed safely through a run of fever. His predicament, however, preyed upon his mind continually, and, although he had made a show of keeping up his spirits, he failed to regain his strength and gradually wasted away. A week ago he was told that he could not live, but he insisted that he would and did not give up until Friday afternoon.

Bavarian Abbess Sent to Prison.

BERLIN, March 9.—A published dispatch from Munich announces that the lady abbess, Elizabeth von Haeussler, of the Old Women's asylum, who was on trial for attempting to poison a servant girl, has been sentenced to six years' detention in a penitentiary. According to the testimony given at the trial, the servant girl, Emma Wagner, was for eight years the intimate friend and confidant of the abbess, who told her many alleged slanders against members of the Bavarian royal family. A few weeks ago the abbess and the servant quarreled, and then it was feared she might divulge the secrets, and the servant was given poison.

Macedonian Revolution Likely.

LONDON, March 9.—The special commissioner whom the Daily News has sent to travel in the Balkans and investigate the conditions there in a dispatch published in the Daily News this morning says the Macedonian leaders are inclined to give the Austro-Russian reforms a trial if they are honestly and promptly put into operation, but he considers it doubtful if the leaders can prevent a revolutionary outbreak. The correspondent estimates that the Macedonians have 60,000 armed men at their call.

Has Seen Three Centuries.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—Mrs. Myrsalla Keith has just celebrated her one hundred and sixteenth birthday with religious services at her home. Mrs. Keith was born in South Carolina, but has been living in Alabama since a child. She has lived in three centuries and has vivid recollections of incidents before the war of 1812. Though in ill health for six years, her faculties are not in the least impaired.

Fatal Railway Accident.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 9.—A northbound passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville, the Cincinnati limited, was wrecked twenty-two miles south of this city. Information from Siluria, near the scene of the wreck, says a mail clerk has been killed. It is said spreading of the rails caused by recent washouts was the cause of the wreck. A relief train has left this city with physicians.

To Paint Henderson's Portrait.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Colonel Freeman Thorp has been commissioned to paint the portrait of ex-Speaker Henderson to be hung in the lobby of the house of representatives. It is customary to have the portrait of each speaker added to the collection already in the lobby of previous presiding officers of the house.

Fire at Williamsport, Pa.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 9.—Fire here gutted the old Ulmans Opera House building, burning out Michael Levi's Buffalo Clothing House, George Loder's general store, the armory of Companies D, Gand I of the Twelfth regiment, N. G. P., and half a dozen other occupants. The total loss is estimated at $75,000.

BUILDING THE YACHT.

Sherlock's New Cup Candidate Is Nearing Completion.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 9.—The work of overhauling the rigging and blocks of the Constitution has begun. It is expected that the entire crew will be here in about two weeks.

The progress of the riveting on the new cup defender is most rapid, and there seems little doubt but that the launching will take place by the middle of April or before, so that the steelworkers are practically sure of earning their bonus. The top sides will be completely covered the coming week with steel plates.

In the north shop operations are going on toward telescoping the topmast into the new mainmast.

The latter spar is to be painted a straw color. Four new bowsprits have been shaped out at the shops, two to be used for the new boat and one each for the Columbia and the Constitution.

A part of the rigging for the shrouds for the new boat has arrived from New York, and word was received that the blocks ordered some time ago of Coleman of Providence have been completed. They are to be sent to the shops in a day or two and will be subjected to the usual tests.

Wants Corbett-Jeffries Fight.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 9.—The Vancouver Baseball club has offered a purse of $25,000 for a twenty round contest between J. J. Corbett and J. J. Jeffries. The club's manager declares he has assurances of the civil officials that a twenty round contest will be permitted in this city.

AN ICY PLUNGE.

Roof Collapses at Montreal With Fatal Results.

MONTREAL, March 9.—It is feared four of the persons crushed in the collapse of the Allan line shed will die. It is estimated that fully 500 persons were on top of the long low building watching the steamer Montreal burn at midnight, when the structure collapsed. Only one was killed. Fifty-seven persons were treated at the hospitals, and a large number were treated by their own physicians.

The dead man is N. Gioulli, an Italian laborer, who died an hour after admission to the General hospital with a fractured skull. There are twenty-six cases in Notre Dame hospital, twenty-four in the General, six in the Royal Victoria and one in the Western hospital. Many others went to their homes in cabs.

A large number of the other cases are fractured limbs. The Montreal when burned was still in possession of the Bertram Shipbuilding company of Toronto, the builders. They had received $325,000 from the Richelieu company on the contract price, the latter holding £87,000 of insurance as security. This, it is believed, fully covers the loss.

Armour to Test Wireless System.

CHICAGO, March 9.—It is stated that Armour & Co. have arranged for a test of the wireless telegraph as applied to communication between the cities where they have packing plants and important offices. If preliminary experiments between the Chicago stockyards and the company's downtown offices shall prove successful, plants will be installed to test the system between Chicago and one of the four western cities. Officials of the company estimate that if the wireless system can be worked successfully between the important cities in which the company maintains its largest offices an annual saving of at least $100,000 will be effected.

Five Burned to Death.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 9.—A special from Dawson says that five people were burned to death in the Aurora Road House on Hunker creek at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. Charles Bernsie, who owned the house, his wife and two children and Thomas Baird, who was in charge of one of the government road houses, were burned to a crisp. Neighbors who saw the burning building were unable to enter on account of the smoke. The entire family came from Portland, Ore. Baird was from Ontario.

Hay's Answer Satisfactory.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentine Republic, March 9.—The Nacion publishes an interview with Foreign Minister Drago, in which the minister declares that Senor Garcia Meron, the Argentina minister at Washington, has telegraphed to him announcing that the response of Secretary Hay to an Argentina note setting forth the Argentine government's ideas regarding Venezuela and Monroeism is satisfactory.

New Railroad Projected.

JOPLIN, Mo., March 9.—Bonds for the building of a new railroad from Chanute, Kan., to Memphis, Tenn., have been placed. The new line will be 400 miles long and will cost approximately $12,000,000. The road, which is said to be a Santa Fe project, will be known as the Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas railroad.

Pittsburg Linemen Plan a Fight.

PITTSBURG, March 9.—Telephone and telegraph linemen who were defeated a year ago in their strike for an advance in wages are again preparing to fight for recognition of their union and an established rate of pay of $2.75 per day for nine hours. The scale is effective April 1, and a second strike is expected.

Woolen Mills Burned.

TO HONOR BEECHER

Mass Meeting In Brooklyn to Raise Funds.

MANY THOUSAND DOLLARS PLEDGED

Plan to Erect Memorial to Founder of Plymouth Church Meets a Hearty Response—Addresses by Cleveland and Brewer.

NEW YORK, March 9.—A great mass meeting was held in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last night for the purpose of raising funds to erect a memorial in honor of Henry Ward Beecher, the founder of Plymouth church and for forty years its pastor. Many hundreds who were turned away from the doors gathered at an overflow meeting in Plymouth church.

Mayor Seth Low presided, and among the prominent persons who paid tribute to the memory of the great preacher were former President Grover Cleveland, Justice D. J. Brewer of the United States supreme court, the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis of Plymouth church and the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Chicago.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Reese of Macon, Ga., and the Rev. Dr. Dickey of the American church in Berlin. Favorite hymns were rendered by the Plymouth choir.

Dr. Gunsaulus, who followed Dr. Hillis, said in part:

"I bring the heartiest concurrence of the middle west in this movement for a memorial to Mr. Beecher. They rejoice that Henry Ward Beecher belonged to no east or west, but to all the people. I saw him once out west, and he said, 'There is something out here that widens and strengthens and deepens me.' We believe in him in the west as an immortal son of God.

"It is the west of John Brown that stood shudderingly before the curse and blight of slavery that stretches its warm hand to you tonight and says let us get to work and build this memorial to Mr. Beecher. All nature must open before this shrine, because it was he that gave us impulse toward the study of nature. Mr. Beecher's sermons carried all the sweet incense of the sanctuary. Let us make this memorial a continuous sermon.

"Mr. Beecher's political notions had such root in religious ideals that they can never fade away. This tomb will be at once a hope and a history. Here at this shrine civil liberty will be ever perpetuated."

At the conclusion of the addresses a subscription for the Beecher memorial fund was started by Mrs. W. C. Wallace with a contribution of $10,000. Other contributors were Henry W. Phipps, $1,000; Dr. Rossiter W. Raymond, $2,500, and John Arbuckle, $5,000. The total amount of the subscriptions was not announced.

Some Congressional Figures.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Mr. Alexander McDowell, clerk of the house of representatives, yesterday made public an official compilation made by Tally Clerk Wakefield showing the work done by the house during the Fifty-seventh congress. It shows that the longest day of the session lasted, with recesses, 144 hours, during which eighty roll calls were taken. The number of bills and resolutions introduced in the house during the two sessions of the congress was 18,420, on which reports were made on 2,810 bills and resolutions. The senate sent to the house 1,639 senate bills and resolutions. The house disposed of 2,418 of the measures originating with it and of 1,012 of the senate bills and resolutions, making a total of 3,430 bills and resolutions acted on. Fifteen of the members of the house died during the congress, seven resigned, and Messrs. Rhea of Kentucky and Butler of Missouri were unseated, the latter twice.

Wild Weather In Russia.

LONDON, March 9.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs that terrible snowstorms have been raging during the past week in the government of Samara and have caused hundreds of deaths. Horses drawing sledges have returned to villages with the passengers frozen to death. The village bells are rung nightly to enable travelers to find their way to shelter. Many persons have been frozen to death within the villages while searching for the doors of their own homes.

Honduras Rebels Victorious.

PANAMA, March 9.—A cablegram from San Salvador states that the Honduran government forces under the command of General Exequiel Ferrera and General Lopez have been defeated at Talgua by the revolutionaries supporting Senor Bonilla. General Ferrera was killed, and General Lopez and his staff were taken prisoners.

Bourke Cockran Improving.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 9.—W. Bourke Cockran, who is lying ill at Assouan with bronchial pneumonia, is progressing favorably. His strength is well maintained, and the mental exhaustion from which he was suffering has left him since he has been able to sleep.

Funston Called to Washington.

DENVER, March 9.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, U. S. A., commanding the department of Colorado, has received unexpected orders calling him to Washington for a conference with Assistant Secretary of War Sanger. No reason was given for the summons.

Miners Vote to Strike.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 9.—Three hundred miners on the Upper Twelfth hole have voted to inaugurate a strike. Their demand is for 10 cents more on the ton.

OUR EXPERIENCE.

It has been our privilege in the past to entertain visitors who have carefully explained to us how our business should be conducted. The fact that all our time and energy is devoted to the newspaper business while they have never happened to actually fill a position on the staff does not prevent them from believing they know exactly how a newspaper should be run and wherein we are in error.

The New Jersey Central Railroad and the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad are now enjoying a somewhat similar experience. The Grand Jury, composed of men who have no practical knowledge of railroading, has been pointing out the mistake which the railroad companies have been making. Now the Legislature, which also lacks any experience in the art of running a railroad, is preparing to compel the companies to follow out its own ideas.

It is right and proper to safeguard the interests of the public and no railroad company should be allowed to expose its patrons to unnecessary risk. It would seem, however, as if the wisest plan was to allow a commission of practical men of experience to look into the situation and then recommend to the lawmakers the proper course of action to pursue. The coroner's jury did not attempt to dictate to the railroad companies regarding subjects about which it was unacquainted. The Westfield disaster brought to its attention certain important questions which it recommended be referred to a commission, fitted by experience to deal with such subjects.

We are always glad to listen to any suggestions of our friends which may improve or better our work but sometimes we cannot but feel that the man who has never sat in an editorial chair in his life is not always better qualified to run a newspaper than is the man who makes it his life work. And no one can blame the railroad officials if they take a similar view regarding their own business. They may be wrong, sometimes, but it is the expert and not the novice who is going to see the error and point out the proper remedy.

THE CAMPAIGN.

For a time it looked as if the campaign, preceding the election in North Plainfield, would be free from mud slinging and such unpleasant incidents. Unfortunately, however, that undesirable feature has been introduced. The North Plainfield Review and its writers, who hide their identity under anonymous titles, made some bitter and uncalled for attacks on Mayor Smalley and his friends in its issue of Saturday. In today's Daily Press Mayor Smalley makes reply in honest and straightforward fashion and corrects some of their gross misstatements.

W. J. Conroy, the Democratic nominee, is a reputable citizen and personally has made a fair fight. No one blames his friends for supporting him. It is too bad, however, that the honest efforts of Mr. Conroy and his friends have to be handicapped by others who, in their personal opposition to Mayor Smalley and some of his friends, have indulged in villification and misstatements of fact which have no place in any political campaign, no matter how hotly contested.

Such conduct cannot make votes for any candidate. The people of North Plainfield are tired of being dragged into attempts to settle personal grudges. The election tomorrow is to select the best men to govern the borough for the next year and not to satisfy personal animosities. The citizens will vote for the men who they know, from what they have done in the past or from personal acquaintance, will best serve the interests of the community.

It is to be hoped that Assemblyman Newcorn's armory bill will be well treated by the Legislature. If the militia companies are worth having at all, it seems as if they ought to be properly housed. With a permanent home, there can be no doubt that the efficiency and worth of the companies would be greatly increased and the members of them would be encouraged to expend even greater effort in their betterment. Plainfield's company stands at the head of the State militia and is certainly deserving of fair treatment. If it can accomplish what it has under the present conditions, how much more efficient would it be with an armory of its own of which it could be proud.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The Republican party held its primary Saturday evening in the borough hall and nominated its ticket for the coming election. The meeting was quite an exciting one and was very well attended. The ticket nominated was, Mayor, W. J. Hamilton; councilmen, J. N. Apgar and L. T. Titsworth, for three years, Fowler Vail for two years; assessor, W. L. Larrabee; collector, Isaac Stites; freeholder, Eugene Staats; justice of the peace, A. W. Warden; commissioner of appeals, W. L. Larkin; appropriations, $100 for the poor and $3,000 for borough purposes.

A daring robbery took place here on Saturday night when the residence of John Moynihan, of North avenue, was entered. Entrance was made through a window in the lower floor. The would-be thieves were evidently frightened away as all they took was an overcoat belonging to Mr. Moynihan. There is no clue as who they were but an effort will be made to find out and bring them to justice as these robberies have been happening too freely of late.

Henry Garretson is nursing a sore hand received in a fall from a car last week. His foot slipped and he fell some distance, cutting quite a gash in his head. Dr. Brakeley dressed his injuries.

Regular services were held in the Presbyterian church yesterday. In the evening Mr. Farley, of Princeton University, assisted with the services.

A meeting of the Sunday-school board of the Methodist church will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Peter Apgar.

Frank Wynkoop, of Front street, is having some improvements made to the interior of his home.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle preached at both services in the Methodist church, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Gray entertained relatives from out-of-town yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Farley, of Princeton University, spent Sunday with Rev. N. J. Sproul.

Mrs. J. Newton Apgar is quite ill at her home under care of Dr. Brakeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at home.

A meeting of the banjo club will be held this evening for practice.

Mrs. Daniel Gulick is confined to her home by illness.

J. H. Craig spent Saturday in New York on business.

NEW MARKET.

"Who will be eleted?" is the question that local politicians are asking about the election now. The polling place in the coming election will be in the Hotel Nelson as usual.

Regular services were held yesterday in the First Baptist church. Rev. Frank Fletcher preaching at both services.

G. W. Crandall will remove the first of the month to Dunellen where he has purchased a residence.

The location of the postoffice in a larger building has greatly added to the facility of the work.

W. V. Smalley spent yesterday with friends in Brooklyn.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The citizens of the borough held their primary in the Fire House Saturday evening. The following ticket was named: Mayor, Frank D. Warren; councilmen, Afred McKeown, Harry Christianson and Harry P. Robison; collector, Chas. Sheelen; assessor, Alfred D. Beekon. The appearance of another ticket in opposition to the "Citizens" would not be a surprise to the boroughite. It is generally customary for the residents to meet in a general primary. The opposition, which developes then, generally goes out and holds a primary of its own just to make it interesting.

An unknown young woman, who was recovering from a bad case of too much of the cup that cheers, was arrested Sunday afternoon by Officer Pangborn. The woman was first noticed early in the morning standing about the streets. At that time she was accompanied by a man. Later on in the day she appeared in town alone and began making a house to house canvass along Park avenue and Front street, annoying the residents by insisting upon entering their homes and smoking cigarettes. Officer Pangborn was sent for and the woman was taken care of.

A meeting of the baseball association is to be held tomorrow night for the purpose of arranging for the coming season's play. George Johnston, who managed the club last season, and Arthur Haskard, who has been secretary and treasurer since the organization of the team, will no doubt be elected to the same offices for the coming season. Both have made excellent officials and much of the success of the club in the past is due to their efforts.

For the first time in the history of the township, the Republican party will not have a ticket in the field for the township election. With a safe Republican majority of about forty, factional fight has disrupted the party so badly that candidates have grown tired of being put up for office only for the purpose of being knocked down by their own party.

The voters in town will hold their spring election in the Town Hall tomorrow. Polls will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock in the evening. As there is only one ticket in the field, the day promises to be an unusually quiet one for election day.

The auction sale of the household goods of Frederick Ivamy, who recently sold his hotel business, was held Saturday afternoon. Wm. N. Pangborn had charge of the sale and the price realized were very good.

Tuesday night's meeting of Fanwood Council, R. A., is to be application night. A visit from the Grand Officers is expected. Several applications are looked for.

The B. Y. P. U. weekly meeting was held last night in the parlors of the Baptist church. "Lessons from the Sermon on the Mount" was the topic discussed.

The Saturday afternoon shoot of the Brooksides developed a new expert at trap work, James Johnston making a record of twenty-four breaks out of twenty-five.

An interesting weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

John Anderson, formerly of the village but now of Jersey City, has been visiting friends in town.

The storm of yesterday interferred materially with the attendance at the church services in town.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. George H. Johnston.

Harry Messler, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with relatives and friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. Mr. Tulp, pastor of the Marconnier chapel, was present and participated in the services at the Baptist church yesterday morning.

Fred. Latourette has returned to his residence after an absence of about two months spent in Jersey City.

The Home Circle prayer meeting in town tomorrow evening will be held with Mrs. William H. Manning.

Elmer Teeple, of Bernardsville, visited his parents in town yesterday.

Tea for Mrs. Tremaine.

A very delightful informal tea was given Saturday afternoon by Miss VanDeventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, of Washington avenue, in honor of Mrs. Morris Tremaine, formerly Miss Middledith, of Mercer avenue.

The Misses Cahoone's Tea.

Saturday afternoon, the Misses Cahoone, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, of Putnam avenue, gave a very charming tea to introduce Mrs. Phillips, of Netherwood.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Plants for the sick room, the parlor and the hallway are to be secured at C. L. Stanley's florist store on North avenue. He always has a choice line of selected cut flowers which are grown in his own greenhouses.

John H. Doane, the West Front street shoe dealers, reports a large increase in the sale of shoes for men and women. He handles the celebrated Sorosis shoe for women and the Ralston shoe for men. There are none better.

For candies that are made of pure materials and sold at a reasonable price, no place in town can compete with Fowler's candy kitchen. All the confections sold in the place are made on the premises and the workshop is open to visitors at all times.

Before buying the furniture for the spring replenishing of the house, consult Powlison & Jones. From their large display of everything in the furniture line, it is possible to select just the things needed. Their designs are the latest and the prices compare with the largest New York houses.

Harry Werner, the West Front street clothing man, calls attention to his March suit sale, which is now going on. It comprises a fine lot of men's business and dress suits that are beauties in the way of design and workmanship. Their equal for the money cannot be produced in the city.

And now that spring has arrived, with the changes in climatic conditions it behooves the people of this city to look to their health. Colds are easily contracted at this time of the year but if Powers' Honey and Coltsfoot and Tar is used it will prove to be the cunce of preventative which is worth a pound of cure.

P. G. Dubois, of West Front street, has just received at the Oriental Tea Store a line of Merut and Java pillow tops and table covers, Lahore couch covers and Farrakabad hangings and they will surely interest all persons who have a fancy for these things. Mr. Dubois also carries a complete line of Oriental goods at low prices.

Experience teaches the patrons of Hill & Shupp's store that money-saving prices are the rule and whether a purchase is made in one or many departments the buyer is always able to save money and at the same time get the best quality of goods. By reading the firm's advertisement in The Daily Press every day you can keep in touch with the many bargains offered.

FOUND HIM DEAD.

Boarder at Lee's Hotel Died While Thought to be Sleeping.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 9—While supposedly quietly sleeping in his room at Lee's Hotel, Henry Bainbridge, who has been making that hostelry his home since last June, passed away Saturday. He had been dead some time when discovered by an employe of the hotel. Bainbridge had been ill for some time but it was not considered serious. The body was removed Saturday night to Cole's undertaking parlors, Plainfield.

Freeholders Meets.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet in regular session at Somerville, Wednesday, March 11.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' MUSICALE

GIVEN AT HOME OF MRS. JOHN V. BEEKMAN, WEST EIGHTH STREET.

Advance Circle Gave Musicale and Tea Saturday Afternoon—Those Who Assisted.

A delightful musicale and tea was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John V. Beekman, of West Eighth street. The affair was in charge of the members of Advance Circle of King's Daughters, and was a great success. There were fifty people present and it was said that the affair netted the society $15.

The rooms were very tastefully decorated with palms and potted plants, many of which were secured from Mrs. Beekman's green house. The guests were received by Mrs. Beekman, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Pope, Mrs. Herbert Langford. The Misses Glen served the tea with Mrs. Rausach presiding. Mrs. J. B. Groendyke had charge of the candy table while Miss McIntosh acted as cashier. The refreshment table was in charge of Miss Katherine Glen and Mrs. George Schoonmaker.

Miss Julia Ketcham, of Westfield, a pupil of Pierre Conde, favored with several selections upon the violin accompanied by Miss Lillian A. Force upon the piano. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Katherine Glen and Miss Lillian Glen accompanied by Miss Moore, of Clifton. Morley Briggs rendered mandolin solos accompanied by Miss Lillian Glen.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Justus H. Cooley, of Westervelt avenue, is confined to his home by illness.

A. C. Hoagland, of Park avenue, entertained his brother from Asbury Park, over Sunday.

Lewis DeCamp, West Sixth street, who has been very ill with pneumonia, has so far recovered as to be able to sit up.

Mrs. L. K. Prescott, of Brooklyn, is spending today and tomorrow with her mother, Mrs. Mary L. Force, 203 Watchung avenue.

Rev. W. T. Dorward, of Stelton, who preached sermons full of interest yesterday morning and evening in the First Baptist church, was entertained at the home of Isaac Giles, of Grove street. He was accompanied by his wife.

Social by the Women.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a social in the church, Thursday evening, to which all the members and church are cordially invited. Earlier in the season the society planned to give a turkey supper but this was postponed indefinitely. Now the church social will be held.

Honors for Miss Kuhl.

Miss Angie S. Kuhl, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and now a student at Wellesley College, was recently the recipient of high honors by the unusual success of the concerts given in the college hall chapel. She is the leader of the glee club at college and the concert this year was considered the best yet given.

Justice Mattison at Hospital.

Wm. E. Mattison, the justice of the peace and druggist, of Somerset street, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital Friday suffering with a complication of pneumonia and chronic heart trouble. It was said that while his condition is not dangerous it is serious. He is being attended by Dr. P. J. Zeglio.

Tonight's Programme.

To the lovers of fine musical and literary programme, a rich treat is in store at the Chas. F. Underhill recital at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. Mr. Underhill will be heard in "The Rivals," with Bianca Holley, soprano.

Annual Meeting of Park Golf Club.

The annual meting of the Park Golf Club will be held this evening at the Park Club house on Washington avenue. Reports will be held and seven trustees will be elected.

SEVENTEEN DROWN.

Boat Carrying Sixty Capsized In Angry Flood.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED ON THE HUDSON

Workmen on the Spiers Falls Dam Were Being Ferried Across the River—Heavy Rains Cause Dangerous Conditions.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., March 9.—But two bodies of the victims of the Spiers Falls tragedy of Saturday have been recovered, those of Fred Kerron and Pasquale Caferelli. A gang of trained river men are searching the river below the dam and are breaking up ice and log jams. This work will be kept up as long as there is any hope.

Two of the sixteen men not accounted for have turned up, and the latest information given out by the officials of the company fixes the number of dead and missing at seventeen. Many of the Italians employed on the works have left their jobs, and a stampede is feared. A heavy rain has again fallen, and the river is rising. The gorge at the Glen, which for weeks has been a menace to property, has become so honeycombed that a channel has been worn through the center. A temporary bridge laid across the ice at this point was washed away.

The accident was caused by the capsizing of a ferryboat which is operated by a stout cable extending from shore to shore. A crowd composed of fellow workmen of the victims witnessed the disaster.

Spiers Falls is ten miles west of this place. More than a thousand men are employed there in the construction of the mammoth dam of the Hudson River Power company. The laborers and many of the skilled masons are Italians, and these live in shanties on the north side of the river provided by the company. They are frequently required to cross the river, using the ferryboat for this purpose and also for transporting supplies, tools, etc. It was while the boat was making one of these trips that the catastrophe occurred.

It is understood that there were more than sixty men in the boat. All of them are said to have been employees of the Hudson River Water Power company, which has under way at Spiers Falls what is destined to be one of the greatest dams in the world.

Floods In Michigan.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 9.—Grand river is out of its banks and nearing the high water mark record. The temporary superstructure of the new steel bridge of the street railway company at North Park has been carried away, and later three sections of the North Park wagon bridge gave way and were carried down in the rushing torrent. Lowlands on the west side in the south part of the city are under water, and a number of houses are isolated. Basements of business houses along the river are flooded by water backing up in the sewers. Reports from points up the river are of flooded lands and basements and partly submerged houses. A number of dams have been carried out.

Flood Warnings Along Mississippi.

CAIRO, Ill., March 9.—The observer at the weather bureau has sent out warnings to places south of Cairo to prepare for at least fifty feet of water. Rain has fallen over the watersheds of the Ohio, Wabash, Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, and in many places where the rivers were falling they are now rising again. A vast territory around and below Cairo is covered with water, and many families have been forced to abandon their homes. While there is no immediate danger at Cairo there is danger in the lowlands between Cairo and Memphis. The Cairo levees are expected to stand a stage of fifty-five feet, as they have been raised and strengthened during the last few years.

Lower Ohio Valley Flooded.

OWENSBORO, Ky., March 9.—The heaviest rain for many years has fallen here. The river is still rising, and it is over all previous marks except the record of 1884. The Wabash, Cumberland, Tennessee and other tributaries are also flooding the country, and the situation from here to Cairo is the worst that it has been known for nineteen years.

Heavy Rains In Northern New York.

SARATOGA, N. Y., March 9.—The heavy rainstorm of the past thirty-six hours has released an immense volume of water, and rivers, lakes and streams are rapidly rising. Freshets of a destructive character are feared in the Upper Adirondacks.

Mrs. Boutwell Dead.

LOWELL, Mass., March 9.—Mrs. Sarah Adelia Boutwell, wife of former Governor George S. Boutwell, is dead at her home here in her eighty-ninth year, her death being primarily due to old age, although she had been an invalid for a long time. Her distinguished husband and their two children, Francis Marion Boutwell and Miss Georgiana Boutwell, were with her at the end.

Socialists Riot In Budapest.

BUDAPEST, March 9.—Street demonstrations by 10,000 socialists to protest against the government's military bill took place here yesterday and led to collisions with the police and breaking of windows. Many arrests were made and the police had finally to charge the demonstrators and disperse them.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Schepflein Clothing Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. 320 West Front Street, in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, (Wallace M. Brown being agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations (Revision of 1896)," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, therefore, I, S. D. Dickinson, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, Do Hereby Certify that the said corporation did, on the Twenty-eighth day of February, 1903, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Twenty-eighth day of February, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and three.

FOR CHURCH FAIRS.

Little Things Which Do Not Cost Much and Are Useful.

The winter months are the favorite season for church fairs, and many are the little articles which may be contrived by clever fingers at small cost.

For instance, the blotter in the illustration is made of two remnants of bright blue linen left over from a summer gown. These are ornamented with a coarse embroidery done in white and gold cord. The leaves of blotting paper are buff and blue.

Pincushions made to represent flowers and vegetables always sell readily and are easily contrived by those the least bit skillful with their paintbrush.

Odd sofa cushions are made by appliqueing large cretonne cut out flowers on a plain linen ground. These are stitched flat and the edges concealed under cord of the same shade.

Picture frames are decorated with small representations of pipes, playing cards and beer steins for the men and powder puffs, love letters, Cupids and bunches of flowers for the girls. These can be cut out from magazine illustrations pasted and then colored, or they can be sketched in lightly with pen and ink and then tinted with water color.

Fancy pocket handkerchiefs combined with loops of fancy ribbon make a dainty pincushion covering.

Plain wooden boxes covered with cretonne are always acceptable for handkerchiefs, and so are boxes decorated in burned designs.

Anything pretty while at the same time useful is bound to sell.

GRACE ADAMS.

MAKING HOUSEWORK EASY.

Hints Both For the City and the Country Woman.

This article applies both to women living in the cities and to those whose homes are in the country, although the latter have many more inconveniences to deal with.

Certain women who have large houses to keep in order and large families to take care of never seem to need help and, furthermore, have time to read, attend clubs and, in general, improve their minds. Others with not half the cares are continually at it from morning till night. Why is this?

It is simply a question of method.

Women do not realize that in housework one must make one's brains save one's heels and that method is as necessary as in other occupations. One of the most thorough housekeepers I know spends twenty minutes every morning planning the work of the day. She says that by so doing she more than saves the twenty minutes twenty times over. Before getting a meal stop and think how mang things you will need from the cellar and try to get them all at once. Have the stove as near as possible to the sink and cupboards. Have the mixing table high enough so that you will not have to bend over it, and have a high chair that you can sit in when mixing dough, peeling potatoes, etc.

BUILD THE WASHTUBS HIGH.

Why keep the flour barrel a quarter of a mile away from the pastry table? Why not have a little cupboard over the pastry table containing the necessary spices and ingredients?

Drop shelves are a great advantage, especially where room is limited, and zinc covered tables are also very useful.

The farmer's wife will find her work ten times easier if her tubs are placed in the kitchen proper instead of in the shed adjoining; also if there is a drain through which she can pour the waste water without having to go through an outside door and some distance from the house with her heavy burden. This can be erected at slight cost and is important on the ground of health also. Build the washtubs high enough to avoid that backache.

A refrigerator will save many weary trips down cellar, and so will a window box in the winter time.

Place things where they are most convenient, and keep them there. Have a different day for each phase of your work, and eliminate all of it which is not necessary. HELEN CLIFTON.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Lovers of Their Country Need Not Long for Their Return.

More Intellectual Giants in United States Senate To-Day Than Ever Before — The Case Proved.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"I HAD only been here two days, when it became very apparent to me that the statehood bill would not be passed," said Mr. Frank H. Greer, of Guthrie, Okla.

"You cannot imagine the feverish expectation with which all of our people have been reading the press dispatches concerning the legislative situation on that matter of statehood. It has been talked of in church and Sunday school, as well as in public schools and all public places. Our little children know that our people are anxious for their rights of citizenship, and are taught what it all means to us.

"I have been greatly impressed with the United States senate," continued this observant business man of the southwest. "The more I have seen of that body the more of an optimist I have become, and I do not long for 'the good old days,' of which so many modern pessimists speak; and speak thoughtlessly as well as imperiously and dogmatically.

"Ever since the organization of the federal government the senate has been composed of great men. Of every decade we may emphatically say: 'There were giants in those days.' But that should not carry with it the implication that there are not giants in these days also. Glance over them with hasty memory, and take up the men whose names stand out like promontories. John Quincy Adams, in the house of representatives, hammering away continuously and diligently until he secured recognition of the right of petition.

"John C. Calhoun was the brightest intellect of his day on one thing, the right of secession; the extreme conclusion of the doctrine of state sovereignty. He was a specialist. Daniel Webster is eminent both as an orator and a constitutional lawyer, another specialist. Henry Clay you think of as the great compromiser, another specialist. Justin S. Morrill, the promoter of the tariff act of the civil war, a specialist. John A. Logan, the mouthpiece of the veterans of the union armies, another specialist. Senator Doolittle, of Wisconsin, famous as opponent of reconstruction, another specialist.

"There are scores of others, all great men, but these names come up first in memory. Now look at our modern senate. Where are the specialists? I cannot see even one. They are all big, broad-minded men; scholars, orators, lawyers, constitutional lawyers, international lawyers. Listen to them in debate, and their range of knowledge covers every field of investigation and research. Specialists are not broad men, however great they may be in their particular fields.

"I do not believe there ever was in the senate a greater orator than Spooner, of Wisconsin, nor a better reasoner, Senator Depew, of New York, is one of the most pleasing speakers ever seen in the senate or on any platform or in any forum. These men speak readily on all subjects, and their audiences are not only entertained, but instructed.

"Our statehood bill has been defeated by Senator Beveridge, of Indiana; but I must give him the meed of praise due him when great men in the senate are mentioned. He is an orator of great power, and one of the most ready debaters the senate has ever known. He is learned, and yet always learning. He is a hard worker, and his literary efforts bring him in more than $20,000 every year. This work is all done, somehow, without interfering with his senatorial work. Prejudice against him for defeating the statehood bill cannot blind one's eyes to his great intellectual gifts.

"Senator Hoar is as great as Webster was, if not greater, because he is not a specialist. He is one of the most polished gentlemen in public life, a profound scholar, an orator, a man of absolute fearlessness in the utterance of his views, well versed in the laws of nations, as well as the constitution and laws of our own land; a well-rounded statesman without a superior in this or any other country. So long as such a man is sent to and retained in the senate there is no need for sighing about the 'good old days,' and intimating thereby that statesmanship is deteriorating, or becoming a thing of the remote past. There were giants in those days, and there are giants in these days also."

By these reflections the writer was reminded of a story told not long ago to the narrator, by Senator Clark, of Wyoming. He said: "I visited Senator Davis, of Minnesota, one morning in the room of the committee on foreign relations to obtain some information from that lovable statesman, and he gave me freely of his knowledge, but added: 'You'd better wait for Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who is to be here this morning. He knows more about this subject than I do. In fact, he knows more about more things than any member of the senate. Of this fact I will convince you.'

"Senator Davis then took a volume of an encyclopedia from the shelf, opened it at random and pointed to a paragraph about an obscure island in the Pacific ocean. He said that after I had obtained exhaustive information on the topic which most interested me he would ask Senator Morgan about that obscure island, and he would tell all about it. Well, in a few minutes the Alabama statesman entered the room. I stated my case to him, and he talked for half an hour, giving me full details of an intricate legal subject. Then Senator Davis asked him about that obscure island; and the dear old senator told us all about it; when it was discovered, its inhabitants, its products, and a great deal more than we had learned from the encyclopedia."

HON. NELSON W. ALDRICH.
(Rhode Island Senator Famed as a Parliamentary Tactician.)

During the period of our contention with Chili, about 11 years ago, the secretary of state, James G. Blaine, went to the capitol, called on Senator Sherman, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and stated that he wanted information on a certain point of international law. He said that he knew he was right, but he could not prove it. Senator Davis, of Minnesota, was sent for, and he instantly said: "Calvo wrote that point clearly. You will find it in such and such a book." But word was sent from the congressional library that the only copy of that book was in French, and Mr. Blaine exclaimed, helplessly: "It might as well be in Choctaw, for I can't read French."

Senator Davis said: "Take the book to the department, and have one of your translators fix it up for you." To this Mr. Blaine replied: "I am in contention with President Harrison on this point, and if one of my translators had this book in his possession, the translation would get to Harrison as soon as it would to me." Then Senator Davis agreed to make the translation himself. During the following night the statesman from Minnesota sat up and translated a whole chapter into exquisite English, and took it to Mr. Blaine at his residence about eight o'clock the next morning.

Mr. Blaine scored such a triumph over President Harrison in his brilliant interpretation of international law, covering all of the points in issue, that the breach between Harrison and Blaine was so widened as to culminate ultimately in Blaine's dramatic withdrawal from the cabinet while the republican convention at Minneapolis was in session.

Following the substantial and appropriate views expressed by the visitor from Oklahoma, one must make mention of the great senior senator from Iowa, Mr. Allison; the marvelous parliamentary tactician from Rhode Island, Mr. Aldrich; the almost incomparable orator and tariff statistician from Michigan, Mr. Burrows; the great political general, Mr. Quay, of Pennsylvania; the shrewd business man and political organizer, Mr. Hanna, of Ohio; the authority on interstate commerce, Mr. Cullom, of Illinois; the watch dog of the treasury, Mr. Cockrell, of Missouri.

And there are others. Mr. Allison and Mr. Cockrell have served together on the committee on appropriations for so many years that they probably know more substantive facts about the workings of the executive departments of the government than any of their colleagues. They know exactly, to a penny, how much ought to be appropriated for each department, and they insistently oppose all appropriations which seem to them to be in the least degree extravagant.

Yes, there are giants in these days, and an instructive letter might be written concerning each one of those statesmen who serve their country in that august legislative body.

SMITH D. FRY.

A True Canvas-Back.

A good story is told of John Astley, a fellow student with Sir Joshua Reynolds in London and in Rome. While walking in the Campagna Reynolds and some other students took off their coats; but for a long time nothing would persuade young Astley to take his off. At last he was prevailed on to do so, and the cause of his unwillingness to comply with the wishes of his friends was then revealed by an oil sketch of a waterfall painted on the back of the artist's waistcoat.—Youth's Companion.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Sacred Chinese Coin.

One of the coins of the Chinese Emperor Khanghi is very much sought after by the Chinese, who use it in making rings for the finger. It is slightly different from the other cash issued under the same emperor in the form of one of the characters that indicate the regnal period. The Chinese call it "Lo-han-cash," the word Lohan being a transcript in Chinese characters of the Sanscrit word Arnan, "venerable," the name applied to the 18 attendants of the Buddha, who are frequently seen ranged along the two sides of the principal halls in Buddhist temples. The tradition is that while the emperor was intimately associated with European missionaries he became imbued with a feeling of contempt for Buddhism, and illustrated this phase of his faith by having a set of 18 brass Lo-han images melted down and cast into cash. This brass is said to contain a considerable portion of gold; hence the demand for the cash.

Makes a Living by Clapping.

There is a blind man in the west end of London who earns his living in a very novel manner. An American was passing down a street quite recently and heard a curious sound, suggesting rhythmic applause. Half a dozen people stood between him and the place whence the sound came, but he was curious enough to pass them, and he saw an old blind man, with his hands close to his mouth, producing some faint suggestion of a papular air by clapping his hands together. Some little attention was required to find out the tune he meant to express, but as everything chosen was very popular the effort was easy to follow. The blind man's companion explained the work and collected tribute, and from what could be seen there is a living in the business.—London News.

"Like Flish? Call Fliday."

A social observer of humorous sympathies reports to the listener a trait of a Chinese servant employed in a suburban family, which reveals a certain capability for ready assimilation with American methods of dealing with the tramp question. A hungry tramp called one Monday afternoon at the kitchen door, and was promptly challenged by John. To John the tramp told his tale of woe, ending with a humble petition for something to eat.

"Like flish?" asked John, in insinuating tones.

"Yes, I like fish," the tramp answered.

"Call Fliday," said John, as he shut the door, with a smile imperturbable.—Boston Transcript.

New Woman in Japan.

Japanese women hitherto have been expected literally to honor and obey their husbands in everything. Now, for the first time in history, a Japanese wife has challenged this tradition. She refused to perform certain manual work for her husband, who promptly divorced her, but, on appeal the wife's cause was upheld, it being decided that she was not bound to obey the unreasonable demands of her husband." This decision is looked upon as revolutionary to Japanese domestic life.—London Mail.

Women in Sweden Hotels.

At the old-fashioned inns and restaurants in Sweden it is customary to charge less for women than for men, on the theory that they do not eat so much. At some hotels in Sweden a man and a wife are charged as 1½ persons if they occupy the same room. A husband and wife may travel as 1½ persons by railway, and also by the post routes, furnishing their own carriage.—London Mail.

Martha's Bravery.

Kate—Martha has got herself a daisy rainy suit. She's what I call a brave girl.

Edith—A brave girl simply because she is going to wear a short dress in public? I don't see where the bravery comes in; the thing is quite common.

"Guess you have never seen Martha's feet."—Boston Transcript.

Automobile Horse School.

A free school to teach horses not to be afraid of automobiles has been started by the president of the Automobile club at Lenox, Mass. The lessons consist of driving the machine past the horse at different rates of speed, making him follow it, etc., and having the horn blow at him. Three lessons usually suffice.—N. Y. Sun.

A Wee Jap's Attendants.

Few royal children live in greater splendor than the heir presumptive to the throne of Japan. He is now about nine months old, and has no less than a dozen nurses and attendants, and shortly he will have an English and a French governess.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

His Embarrassment.

Beryl — Was Jack much embarrassed when he proposed to Miss Antique Gotrox?

Sibyl—Well, I should say so.

"I supposed he blushed and stammered the way they all do."

"Not at all. His was financial embarrassment."—Baltimore Herald.

At It Again.

Mrs. Homer—What do you think of my new gown?

Mrs. Nextdoor—Oh, it's perfectly lovely. Only last week I bought our cook a dress of the same piece of goods.—Chicago Daily News.

Want Straight Eyes.

Many Japanese women are undergoing the slight surgical operation necessary to straighten the slant of the eyelid, which distinguishes them so unmistakably from Caucasian women.—N. Y. Sun.

SPORTING NEWS

INDOOR SPORTS.

The boys' grading contest at the Y. M. C. A. was held Saturday morning. There were many people there to witness the athletic events and they enjoyed them as was evinced by loud applause at different stages of the contest. The results follow: Freeman was promoted from the fifth class to the sixth, Pond and Vail from fourth to fifth, Laughlin and Alpaugh from third to fourth, Symonds and Feller second to third and Kirkner, Loomis and Renaud, from the first to the second.

BASKET BALL.

The teams of the Y. M. C. A. and the Plainfield Reform Club will meet in a game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League, tonight, at Reform Hall. The game is called for 8:15 o'clock. The Reform Club boys are in good form and may be expected to put up a strong game. George P. Hepbron, secretary of the basket ball committee of the A. A. U., will act as referee.

MEETINGS TO CONTINUE.

Another Week of Special Speakers at First M. E. Church.

The meetings, which have been in progress at the First M. E. church, for the past seven days, will continue the coming week with eminent preachers in charge. The meeting, last evening, despite the disagreeable weather, was an impressive one with a good attendance.

Tonight the pulpit will be occupied by Dr. W. F. Anderson, of Ossining, N. Y., one of the most prominent and popular young preachers in the church. Tomorrow night, Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen, of the Madison Avenue church, New York, will be in charge.

Milk Case Adjourned.

When the case of the Board of Health of North Plainfield against Abram W. TenEyck, of North Branch, came up Saturday for trial in Justice Smalley's court, a motion was made to adjourn it. It was adjourned for one week. This is one of the milk cases which have attracted much attention. All the others have been settled out of court.

Pastor on Vacation.

Rev. L. T. Lindholm, the pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, left for home in North Easton, Mass., after the services yesterday. While he is absent from the city the pulpit will be supplied by Rev. G. Viman, of South Brooklyn; Rev. Mr. Englund, of Perth Amboy, and others. Mr. Lindholm expects to be back in his pulpit the first week in April.

STRICKEN IN THE STREET

EDWARD J. RICHARDS, FORMERLY OF THIS CITY, DIED AT JERSEY CITY.

Was Manager of a Pharmacy There, as Well as Hospital Steward of Fourth Regiment.

Edward J. Richards, who for twelve years was a resident of Plainfield, during which time he was a drug clerk for R. J. Shaw and also proprietor of the Gem Pharmacy, corner of Liberty and West Fourth streets, died of heart disease early Saturday morning in his home, 40 Park street, Jersey City. He was hospital steward of the Fourth Regiment, National Guard, of New Jersey.

He spent Friday evening at the armory, assisting Sergt. Joel, of the hospital corps, in the physical examination of sixty recruits. He was stricken while a block from his home and was carried into the house where he died without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Richards was forty-three years old. He was born in New York City. Later he was a clerk in the pharmacy conducted by Druggist Case, of Somerville. He afterward came to Plainfield, where he made a great many friends. He leaves a wife and three daughters. Three years ago he joined the Fourth Regiment. He was manager for a pharmacy in Jersey City.

The funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Bergen Baptist church, Jersey City, and the interment will be in Cypress Hill cemetery, Brooklyn.

VALUABLE PROPERTY SOLD.

New Street to be Opened and Tract Cut Into Building Lots.

C. Elmer Gulick has purchased the Jonathan Clawson property at the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road and the adjoining Henry Deusenbery tract at the corner of Arlington avenue and Randolph road. This valuable property, some eleven acres in all, adjoins that of E. L. Finch, of Park avenue. As soon as the weather permits, a new street will be opened through the tract, which will be graded and cut up into building lots.

Diamond Jack Coming.

Diamond Jack with his big Comedy Concert and Indian Medicine Company will open a three weeks engagement at the Central Theatre, tonight. The company is composed of twenty-five women and men and they will give one of their big, free shows to adults. An admission of 10 cents will be charged for children every night. Best seats reserved for women free of charge. Diamond Jack (Dr. W. H. Long) comes here highly recommended by the citizens of neighboring cities. The Indian doctors will be in their office, located in the Central Theatre, every day. Consultation and advice free of charge. Dr. Long has secured a lease on the Central Theatre for three weeks and, during his engagement, will use his own ushers, stage hands, ticket sellers and doortenders.

—The union Bible class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

PALE PEOPLE

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,

ATTENTION!

The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the

NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL, SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,

With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

JAG DID IT.

George Latourette Was Sent to Jail for Sixty Days by City Judge Runyon This Morning.

A happy, hilarious jag, which George Latourette took aboard, yesterday, resulted in his arrest and appearance before City Judge Runyon, this morning. He was sent to jail for sixty days.

Orrin Baker was arraigned this morning on complaint of his wife. The testimony showed it to be a little family quarrel and Baker was discharged with a warning to behave himself.

Thomas Joyce was arraigned for peddling without a license. He was released on his promising to get out of town.

IN WARREN.

Nominations Were Made at Primaries Held Saturday.

Both the Republican and Democratic voters of Warren township held primaries, Saturday night and nominated the following for the coming election: Democrats, freeholder, Joel Codington; assessor, E. E. Sage; collector, John D. Bornman; township committeeman, John Gunton; Republican, freeholder, John E. Hummer; collector, Jacob Schomp; assessor, W. Howard Toms; township committeeman, Reuben Codington; commissioner of appeals, John L. Mundy; overseer of poor, George Bowers.

Still Settling.

Claims Agent J. K. Large, of the New Jersey Central, is still busily engaged in effecting settlements for damages as a result of the recent wreck at Westfield. Thus far Mr. Large has met with good success. In making settlements in death claims the pecuniary benefits to the next of kin is the basis used in computing the amount which the company believes should be paid.

Scalded by Hot Tea.

While playing about the rooms of his parents' house on Jackson avenue, Friday, Hervey, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanNest, was severely scalded about the head and neck by pulling over on to him a cup full of hot tea. The boy was attended by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan who dressed the burns.

Athletic Contest Started.

The five week athletic contest which will be run off two games a Saturday, was started Saturday evening. The winner in the broad jump was Harry Skull who cleared 8 feet, 6 inches. In the quarter mile walk Richard Tice won in 2 minutes, 14½ seconds, breaking the record of last year by almost five seconds.

Prof. Zueblin's Lecture.

The third of the series of University extension lectures on "Work and Wealth," by Prof. Zueblin, of Chicago University, was given in Y. M. C. A. Hall, Saturday evening. The fourth lecture will be given next Saturday evening.

CARS LEFT TRACK.

Misplaced Switch Derailed Several Cars on the Philadelphia and Reading.

The express train on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, which is due in this city every evening at 5:09 ran off the track seven miles this side of Trenton Junction Saturday afternoon. No one was hurt although nearly all the cars left the track. The accident was due to a misplaced switch. The trucks of the parlor car remained on the tracks while the body of the car rested on the ground. The engine plowed a hole six feet deep in the ground and stood in an upright position.

DEATH OF JAMES BURKE.

Former Plainfielder Passed Away at Harrisburg, P., Saturday.

The death of James Burke, formerly of this city and one time a resident of Dunellen, occurred at Harrisburg, Pa., Saturday after an illness of several weeks of typhoid fever. He was thirty years of age.

The remains were brought to this city Sunday by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Burke, and were taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Theodore Smith, of Allen place, from where the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 8:30 and from St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock.

Reports spread about this morning and yesterday afternoon that Theodore Smith had died but it is believed that this rumor gained credence from the fact that a crape was seen at his door.

Lecture on Palestine.

Dr. Jesse Holmes, of Swarthmore College, gave an interesting illustrated lecture at the Friends meeting-house, Saturday evening, on Palestine. The pictures, which were exceedingly fine, were all taken by Dr. Holmes when he made a trip through the Holy Land. There was a large audience present to enjoy the lecture. Charles E. Vail operated lantern very satisfactorily.

Betting on Election.

The betting in the borough over the possible outcome of the election tomorrow is, in some quarters rather lively. One man offered on Saturday to bet $500 to $100 that Mayor Smalley would be re-elected. Better inducements than these have been made by Smalley men, but the general odds are 10 to 5 in favor of Smalley.

Collector Played Basket Ball.

While playing basket ball in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last Friday, Collector F. H. Smith severely sprained his ankle. The injury detained him at home until this morning, when he succeeded in walking to his office. Dr. O. L. Jenkins has been in attendance.

Sang at Launching.

Miss Rita Faxon, of New York, who was the maid-of-honor and sang "Dixie," at the launching of the "Chattanooga" at Elizabethport, Saturday, is to be soprano soloist of the Crescent Avenue church's new choir. She will assume the position May 1.

Four New Members.

At the communion service yesterday at the Swedish Pilgrim church four new members were received into the church. The subject of the evening's sermon was "The Lord's cure for all our troubles."

Not the Same One.

Mrs. McCann, of North Front street, formerly Miss Mary Peel, desires to say that she was not the Mrs. Mc Cann arraigned before City Judge Runyon a few days ago.

Death of Mrs. Gerber.

Mrs. Abram Gerber, mother of Former Surrogate J. J. Gerber, died Saturday at her home in Elizabeth, following a long illness.

Retail Clerks Anniversary.

The Retail Clerk' Mutual Aid Association will celebrate its anniversary this evening in an appropriate and pleasant manner.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Doane, 423 East Seventh street.

Phonetic Spelling.

The teacher of a country school was "hearing" her spelling class recite.

She had just "given out" the word "Aaron," which, according to her instruction, had been spelled in this fashion: "Big A, little a, r-o-n."

The next word was "gallery." The pupil said:

"G-a-l, gal, g-a-l, gal," two or three times, and halted. Then, after hard thought, he added:

"Big gal, little gal, e-r-y, gallery."—N. Y. Times.

Hungarian Brides.

Brides in Alfoeld, Lower Hungary, have been deprived of their wedding gifts by the government health authorities. It was the custom of the place for brides to wash with soap and to comb the heads of all guests, they in turn throwing coins into the basin. The result, according to the doctors was the spreading of disease, and an epidemic of opthalmia lead the government to put a sudden end to the custom.—Albany Argus.

Too Long "Priming."

A medical paper has discovered a curious drawback incidental to the practice of medicine by women, and that is the long time lady doctors require before they are ready to respond to a night call. A man jumps into his dressing gown, according to my authority, trips lightly downstairs, twisting his moustache into shape as he goes. The woman doctor, on the other hand, has to go through numerous solemn rites before she dare show herself in public. Has she really, now? Well, judging by the appearance of the lady doctors whose acquaintance I have made I should believe those rites to exist in the imagination of the medical journal reporter, and nowhere else. If this were the only drawback to women's practicing medicine, they were happy indeed.—London Lady.

What a Great Telescope Can Do.

The excellence of the Lick 36-inch telescope, and the steadiness of the air when the conditions are good on Mount Hamilton, are attested by the statement of Mr. W. J. Hussey, one of the observers there, that double stars, whose components are nearly equal in brightness, can be measured if the distance between them exceeds one-tenth of a second of arc. What this means in accuracy of definition may be understood by remembering the fact that one-tenth of a second is equal to the apparent diameter of the head of an ordinary pin, viewed by the naked eye—if the eye could see it—at a distance of two miles.—Youth's Companion.

Great Mental Strain.

In the halls of the vast institution of learning they warn us to tread lightly as we pass the seat of the pallid youth who is moodily composing something upon a sheet of pure white paper.

We see his knitted brow; his air of intense thought; his every evidence of great mental struggle.

"Ah," we whisper, "is he preparing some weighty treatise on political economy, or some thesis which shall show the nations of the world the proper system of government?"

"No," whispers the guide in reply. "He is getting up the new class yell."—Baltimore American.

Added Dignity.

A Scotchman had reached the summit of his ambitions, in attaining to the magisterial bench. The honor seemed to him a great one, and he tried to live up to it.

With his head high in the air, he swaggered along till he went bolt up against a cow which had not the manners to get out of the way, but continued to browse by the roadside in mild unconcern.

"Mon," cried the indignant owner, "mind my coo!"

"Woman," he replied, with fine dignity, "I'm no longer a mon. I'm a baillie."—Everybody's Magazine.

GOLF CLUB PREPARING FOR ACTIVE SEASON

Annual Meeting of the Park Golf Club Held Last Evening and Officers Elected.

PLAY STARTS IN APRIL

CLUB IN GOOD FINANCIAL CONDITION WITH 153 MEMBERS.

Chas. W. McCutchen Re-Elected to Presidency—Other Officers—Committees Named—The Course to Open April 1.

With the advent of warmer weather, interest in golf is increasing and the Park Golf Club is preparing for the season of activity now close at hand. At the annual meeting of the club, held at the Park Club house, last evening, officers were elected and the plans for coming season formulated. There are prospects for a season equally as successful as the last.

Reports were presented for the year showing the club in a good financial condition with a balance in the treasury and 156 members of all classes. The election of trustees was held and resulted in the unanimous choice of Charles W. McCutchen, S. St. John McCutchen, Samuel Townsend, Geo. T. Rogers. Frank de L. Hyde, William R. Faber and Charles B. Morse as trustees.

A meeting of the board of trustees for organization followed the club meeting. The following officers were re-elected: President, Charles W. McCutchen; vice president, George T. Rogers; treasurer, William R. Faber; secretary, Charles B. Morse. President C. W. McCutchen announced the following committees: Golf, Samuel Townsend, chairman, S. St. John McCutchen, Charles B. Morse, Wallace M. Brown; greens, George T. Rogers, chairman, Frank de L. Hyde, Charles A. Reed, William R. Faber. The members of the house committee will be announced later. Samuel Townsend, Charles B. Morse and William R. Faber were appointed as the membership committee.

It is expected that the course will be in condition to play on by April 1, although temporary greens will probably have to be used at first. The steward will be installed April 15. It is expected that George Anderson, who filled that post so acceptably last summer, will again be club steward. Some changes will be necessary to the fifth and sixth holes in order to conform with the alterations made by Mr. Hyde but the greens committee has plans under consideration that will make the course better than ever. Already the members are showing a decided interest and it is expected that the club will be more popular than ever as soon as the season starts.

DRESS REHEARSAL.

Hope Y. M. A. Boys Added the Finishing Touches for Their Minstrel Show Which Opens Tonight.

The Hope Y. M. A. minstrel troupe held a dress rehearsal, last evening, and the entire performance was gone through with in a highly satisfactory manner. Nothing now remains to be done before the rise of the curtain to night on the first of the three shows.

All of the reserved seats for the three performances have been sold but the committee announces positively that the capacity of the chapel will not be overtaxed. There are plenty of admission tickets yet remaining and only enough to comfortably fill the building will be disposed of. The doors will be opened very early in order to avoid any crowding.

Just Made Cashier.

Dr. Walter E. Probasco, son of Dr. J. B. Probasco, of East Front street, is meeting with much success in business in Chicago, where he has been living for some time past. He is engaged in a brokerage office and in recognition of his efficient services, has just been made cashier in the office. Dr. Probasco, who formerly practiced denistry in this city, has given up that profession.

Dr. Rhoades to Preach.

Inspection of Company K.

An inspection of Company K will be held at their drill, Monday evening, March 16. Lieutenant Colonel Clime, of Camden, will be present and will conduct the drill.

NO ANNIVERSARY.

But the Retail Clerks' Spent a Pleasant Evening.

A meeting of the Retail Clerks' Association was held last evening when matters of importance were discussed. It was planned to hold an anniversary but owing to the inclement weather, it was postponed for two weeks. One new member, Harry DeMeza, was received into membership and was introduced to the initiatory goat. It was decided to hold a dance at the Casino during the second week of April. After the business meeting had adjourned dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

PLAINFIELDER IN ARIZONA

T. ALBERT RUNYON WRITES OF THE LIFE IN THAT COUNTRY.

Great Difference From Climate of Plainfield—The Statehood Question.

T. Albert Runyon, of East Front street, who is in Phoenix, Ariz., for his health, has written an interesting letter home in which he tells something of affairs in the west. He says that Arizona is a grand country.

When he arrived in that country he says that the oranges were ripe and standing among the orange trees and palms he could look up and see the peaks of surrounding mountains white with snow. Recently, when there was thirteen inches of snow in Plainfield, Mr. Runyon says the temperature at Phoenix was 72. He speaks of an interesting sight, ten miles from where he is stopping. It is that of sheep-shearing by electricity. There are 60,000 sheep in a bunch.

Mr. Runyon says that they expect to be eating strawberries within four weeks. Regarding the admission of Arizona as a State, he says there is considerable feeling and if Arizona becomes a State there will be something "doing." Mr. Runyon says that the people of Arizona are anxious to make the change and see no reason why it should not be made. The people there are well educated, ambitious and hard workers.

He speaks of the fact that there are lots of Mexicans and Indians in Arizona, but they don't help the country much. The Americans, though, he says, are the real thing. He does not consider the country fully developed and predicts that in mineral wealth Arizona will lead the country yet.

DEATH OF MRS. GULICK.

Dunellen Woman Passed Away After a Long Illness.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 10—Mrs. Sarah Gulick, aged seventy-six, died this morning at her home on Main street, after an illness of long duration. She was the wife of William R. Gulick and the mother of Daniel Gulick. She was formerly of Trenton, but had been a resident of this place many years. The funeral services will be held from the late home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Frank Fletcher and Rev. S. K. Doolittle, officiating. The pall-bearers will be Eugene Runyon, Samuel Merrill, Geo. Giles and Mr. Vosseller. The interment will be at Bound Brook.

Was Snowed In.

William Everitt, formerly of the borough, but now travelling through the west, was one of those who was snowed in on a western railroad last week for a great many hours. His brother, Alfred Everitt, received a letter from him a few days ago in which he told of his experience and of the suffering of the passengers who could get nothing to eat.

Professional Minstrels.

The members of Unity Lodge, K. of P., who are planning to celebrate their twentieth anniversary, March 27, are arranging to have a minstrel show given entirely by New York talent. The affair will probably be held in Reform Hall.

ALREADY THERE'S TALK ABOUT NATIONAL GAME

Baseball Cranks Are Planning for Opening of the Season in Plainfield.

MANY TEAMS TALKED OF LOCAL LEAGUE MADE DECIDE NOT TO INCREASE NUMBER OF CLUBS.

All Four League Clubs Are Reported to be Getting Ready, While Several Others Are Desirous of Joining the League.

With the approach of warm weather, baseball cranks, who saw last season's games close with so much reluctance, are already beginning to talk of the coming summer's prospects for the National game in Plainfield and the next few weeks will see much accomplished in the way of organizing teams. Material is more plentiful than before and the enthusiasm awakened last year will undoubtedly result in record breaking attendances and better games than ever.

Nothing definite in the way of representative baseball will be determined upon until the Plainfield Amateur League takes action. At its first meeting to be held the first part of next month, it is anticipated many applications will be made for membership from associations and clubs fostering athletics. The sentiment of members, however, is strongly against more than a four league team and unless one of last year's organizations prefers to drop out, it is hardly likely any one of them will be taken on. The reason is best expressed from attendances at last summer's games, which though extremely gratifying, resulted in comparitively small profit for the managing end. With three games instead of two on Saturday afternoons, to say nothing of the minor contests taking place, everyone of the major organizations would be continued at a loss to say nothing of the scattering of cranks who would be sure to follow favorites.

Some talk has been afloat of the Y. M. C. A. not putting a team in the field, owing to a lack of material, but the chances are very much the other way. The only thing lacking at present is a good battery and a very little effort will result in one being attained.

Thomas Comerford, manager of last season's St. Mary team, has announced his intention of an early reorganization and the entrance of as strong a nine as can be brought together in this city. Several of the former members have become affiliated in a certain sense with other clubs but their places have been acceptably filled and nothing stands in the way.

At its regular meeting to be held in two weeks, the Hope Y. M. A. will take steps for the formation of its 1903 team by electing a captain and manager and asking for applications for the personnel. The aspirants for positions will be selected by merit only and then after a most rigid inspection while in action. The greater portion of last year's team is to be retained including Pitcher James Montross who has almost completely recovered from his severe attack of rheumatism.

The Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works intends remaining in the League and will put up a strong fight for the pennant. The new management has not been selected but it is stated that the team this year will be under the supervision of a baseball committee of three. Aspirants for the position of manager are numerous and this will be decided upon at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Among some of the organizations which will form teams for the purpose of seeking admission to the League, are the Alis Club, the Reform A. A., and the Clinton Avenue A. A. Each one has already taken preliminary steps and has obtained some of the city's best all round amateur men.

To Give Medals at Dinner.

Plans are being matured for the annual dinner of Company K which will be held in this city March 30. The place has not yet been decided upon. Captain Bell, inspector of rifle practice, of the Second Regiment, will be present and will award the medals to those who won them in the recent marksmanship contest.

Young Men's Social.

The young men's class of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will hold a social in the parlors this evening. An invitation is extended to all young men in this city to attend.

IT LOOKS LIKE SMALLEY NOW

Much Interest in the Election Now in Progress in North Plainfield.

BOTH SIDES HUSTLING

Both Candidates Expect to Win—General Belief That the Result is Going to be Close, But Chances in Favor of Mayor Smalley's Re-Election—Many Voting.

Politicians great and small were grouped about in small knots on Somerset street this morning and early afternoon and the principal topic of discussion was whether or not Mayor Smalley would be reelected. There was a noticable majority of Smalley men on the ground but while their numbers were not as great, the Conroy workers were on the spot bright and early and showed much energy in securing votes. Public opinion appears to favor Mayor Smalley's chances although there are some who say that Conroy will be elected by a small majority.

Both candidates say they are confident of winning. William J. Conroy, in speaking this morning with a Daily Press reporter said that he was being supported well, both by Republicans and Democrats and thought he stood a good chance of winning out when the votes were counted.

"I realize," said he, "that I have a large majority to overcome, but such things have been accomplished before."

Mayor Smalley said that everything looked rosy for a reelection and that he was sure of winning.

"I am confident," said he, "that when the votes are counted they will show that I will have a good sized majority."

The voting this early morning was rather brisk but as the morning wore on it became somewhat slack. This was caused by the numbers of commuters who polled their vote before going to their business. Nevertheless the voting kept up at a fair pace until about 10 o'clock when it dropped off perceptably in both polling places. This was caused, no doubt, by the "floaters" holding out as long as possible.

The betting was even this morning. Odds were asked by the Conroy men but the Smalley workers and favorities were not inclined to give heavy odds and consequently there was more talk than placing of bets. One man offered to bet $100 that Smalley would win by 100 majority but he was unable to place his bet.

Four well known Republicans and as many prominent Democrats were asked regarding what they thought the result would be and if there was any likelihood of there being a landslide for either candidate. All seemed to be of the opinion that the election would be a close one and that such a thing as a landslide for either one would be improbable. One man said that he did not think the plurality would be over fifty for either one.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTION.

Opened at St. Mary's Church Sunday Morning With High Mass.

Forty hours of devotion began in St. Mary's church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with a solemn high mass at which Rev. Father Egan officiated, assisted by Rev. Father Smith as deacon and Rev. Father Leonardo, of New York as sub deacon. A very helpful and eloquent sermon on the "Blessed Eucharist" was preached by Rev. Father Smith. In the evening when there was a large attendance, Rev. Father Daley, of the Redemptionist Fathers, of New York, preached an interesting sermon on the "Eucharist."

This morning the services closed when a solemn high mass and the "Reposition of the Sacrament," was celebrated at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Egan officiated at the mass, assisted by Rev. Father Smith as deacon and by Rev. Father Daley as sub-deacon.

One New Militiaman.

John Cashin was received into Company K last night at the meeting after the regular weekly drill. Among other matters of importance discussed was the report that the banquet of the company will be held at the Hotel Rosell on March 30. Final arrangements were made for the dance of Company K which will be held at the Casino April 15.

REFORM CLUB SNOWED UNDER BY Y. M. C. A.

One-Sided Contest Played in Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League Last Night.

THE SCORE WAS 40 TO 1

REFORM CLUB SCORED ONCE ON A THROW FROM A FOUL.

Opening of Game Looked Like a Close One—Then Fast Pace of Y. M. C. A. Overwhelmed the Opposing Team.

By the overwhelming score of 40 to 1, the Reform Club basket ball team was defeated by the Y. M. C. A. team in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League game at Reform Hall, last evening. The game served one purpose, that of showing the skill of the victorious team, the result of much practice. The team work of the Y. M. C. A. boys was fine and they played a clean game throughout. This was also true of the defeated players, but they showed a wonderful lack of something. They were apparently overwhelmed by the fast pace of their opponents. In guard work the Reform Club team was very slow and allowed the opposing team to score at will.

In the opening part of the first half it looked as though the game would be a close one, but soon the home team began to lose ground and at the end of the half the score stood 13 to 1, O'Loughlin being the only one to throw a goal for the Reform Club team and that was from a foul. The winning team threw six goals from the field and one from a foul.

In the second half the home team failed to make a foal, while the Y. M. C. A. boys threw thirteen from the field and one from a foul. Aside from th weak points displayed by the defeated team, the game was an interesting one and caused much excitement among the followers of the two teams.

The teams lined up as follows:

Y. M. C. A.		Reform Club.
Hand	right forward	O'Loughlin
Smith	left forward	Taylor
Cahoone	centre	Galbraith
Scull	right guard	Higgins

Score—Y. M. C. A., 40; Reform Club, 1. Goals from the field—Hand (2), Smith (7), Cahoone (3), Scull (4). Goals on fouls—O'Loughlin (1). Fouls—Y. M. C. A., 8; Reform Club, 2. Referee—George T. Hepbron, of New York. Umpires—Frank McTague, of Newark, and F. L. Gross, of New York. Timekeeper—H. Bauderman, of Newark. Scorer—E. P. T. Smith, of Reform Club.

ENTERS A PROTEST.

Against Granting Letters of Administration Until Dispute is Settled.

A caveat was filed with Surrogate Parrot, February 24, by Mrs. Eleanor F. Read, of this city, as widow of George B. Read, one of the Westfield disaster victims, who died intestate, protesting against the granting of letters of administration until the dispute respecting her rights and claims shall be settled by the Orphans Court.

Shortly after the Westfield disaster, a woman came to Plainfield, claiming to be the rightful wife of George B. Read. She claimed that her maiden name was Mary Alice O'Neill, that she was married to Mr. Read September 29, 1881, at the Church of the Sacred Heart, of New York, and that he left her eight years ago.

It is understood that the claims department of the Jersey Central is awaiting a settlement of the dispute before making a settlement.

BUSINESS MANAGER.

Francis K. Anderson Will Manage High School Oracle Another Year.

Miss Ruth Thompson was elected as the freshman representative on the board of governors of the City High School Oracle, at an election held at the school yesterday. A business manager and assistant business manager were also balloted for and Francis K. Anderson, 1904, was elected to fill the former position. No assistant business manager was elected.

Special Service.

Special services will be conducted this evening in St. Mary's church when Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, will officiate. It is hoped that a large attendance will be present.

Necktie and Apron Social.

A necktie and apron social will be held at the home of Miss Stella Boss, of Somerset street, Thursday evening, March 19, under the auspices of the Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church.

CHANGE IN FACULTY.

Miss Prescott Will Teach at City High School in Absence of Mr. Best.

Lindsey Best, science instructor at the City High School, left Saturday for New York City where he will undergo an operation at the Presbyterian Hospital. This operation will necessitate his absence from duty at the High School for a period of about five weeks, and during this time his classes will be in charge of Principal I. W. Travell and J. D. Macnab. Miss Anna H. Prescott, formerly a teacher at the High School, has returned and will assist the regular faculty by taking charge of several of the classes.

A WILD CAT KILLED HERE

JOHN ENTWISTLE TRAILED IT TO ITS LAIR WITH DOGS.

Wild Cat Fought and Fatally Injured One of the Dogs Before It Was Killed.

Although it seems almost beyond belief, a full grown wildcat was shot by a Plainfielder, last week, within 150 yards of the main thoroughfare of the city. The captor is John Entwistle, of West End avenue, who saw the animal on numerous occasions and only caught it with the aid of several good hunting dogs, one of which had to be killed afterward from the effects of the clawing it received.

Like other residents in the vicinity, Entwistle lost chickens and looking for the thief found strange tracks. Following them up at different times led him to a wild spot on the banks of Green brook, just off West Front street beyond Grant avenue, where the trail was lost.

When he saw a peculiar looking creature pass him several times while in the tangled underbrush he resolved to capture it at all cost and did so by getting the dogs, which trailed it to its lair. The little beast was ferocious and fought hard until Entwisle got a chance to inflict a fatal shot.

SPIRITS TO FIGURE.

In Remarkable Will Case to be Tried at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 10—Another remarkable will case has developed in Somerset county and it is believed that when this is further underway spiritualism will play a prominent part.

The case was begun last Friday in the Orphans' Court and after two witnesses had been examined was adjourned for one week. The matter is in the estate of the late Joseph H. Olcott, of East Millstone. Frank N. Olcott appealed from the probate of the will and the appellee is Josephine H. Olcott, the executrix.

Funeral of Henry Bainbridge.

Funeral services over the remains of Henry Bainbridge, who died Saturday at Scotch Plains, were held this morning from Cole's undertaking parlors. Interment was afterward made at Union. Bainbridge was in the neighborhood of fifty years old and, it is said, had wealthy relatives in England.

Boys' Banquet.

The women's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. met yesterday afternoon and arranged to give a banquet in the Y. M. C. A. for the benefit of the members of the boys' department, March 24. The affair will be a delightful one as elaborate plans are being arranged for the event.

Annual Endeavor Meeting.

The annual business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will be held Friday evening, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected and other important business considered. A full attendance of all members is requested.

Schenck is Improving.

John Schenck, of the borough, who recently was seriously injured by receiving a heavy shock of electricity while engaged in stringing electric wires for the Plainfield Water Supply Company, is steadily improving and in a short time will be able to leave his home.

To Learn About Big Time.

Unity Lodge, No. 103, K. of P., will meet Thursday evening and receive a report from the committee having charge of the arrangements for the twentieth anniversary to be celebrated Thursday evening, March 26, probably at Reform Hall.

BROOKLYN KNIGHTS AT BANQUET OF TRINITY

Local Commandery of Knights Templar Entertained the Clinton Commandery.

AT HOTEL KENSINGTON

TOASTS RESPONDED TO BY MEMBERS OF BOTH COMMANDERIES.

Trinity and Clinton Have Been in the Habit of Frequently Entertaining Each Other—A Hundred Knights Present.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., entertained the members of Clinton Commandery, No. 14, K. T., of Brooklyn, last evening, at a supper given at the Hotel Kensington. Since 1896 these two Commanderies have been fraternizing and each succeeding year brings the members closer together in the bonds of friendship. In all 100 Knights sat down to the festive board and enjoyed the most appetizing menu prepared and served so well by "Mine Host" Staats.

When the visiting Knights reached Plainfield they were escorted to the Trinity Asylum, after which all adjourned to the Hotel Kensington. After the supper came the various toasts and this part of the programme was not the least of the enjoyable features.

The toasts were as follows:

"Our Guests," Eminent Sir Bingaman, Trinity Commandery; "Our Hosts," Eminent Sir Sparrow, Clinton Commandery; "Labor and Refreshment," Very Eminent Sir Adams, Trinity Commandery; "Some Things to be Remembered," Eminent Sir Hubbell, Clinton Commandery; "Our Order: Its Social Side," Sir W. R. Ceddington, Trinity Commandery; "Qualities That Win," Eminent Sir Loudon, Clinton Commandery; "Friendship and Brotherly Love," Rev. Sir E. M. Rodman, Trinity Commandery; "A Friendly Chat With the Fraters," R. E. Sir Nicholson, Clinton Commandery; "Fraternal Relations," Eminent Sir Kirkner, Trinity Commandery.

The committee who arranged and had charge of the affair consited of Samuel Bingaman, commander; Jacob Kirkner, F. K. VanAuken, H. S. Cowins, J. A. Stafford and L. I. VanAlstyne.

PROGRAMME PLEASED.

Mr. Underhill, Reader, and Miss Holley, Soprano, Were Satisfactory.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather a large number of people enjoyed the second of the supplemental course at the Y. M. C. A., last evening. The announcements were made by Dr. B. VanD. Hedges who introduced Miss Bianca Holley, soprano, and Charles T. Underhill, reciter. Miss Holley was very well received. She was accompanied by Miss Alberta Waterbury, of this city. Miss Holley showed that she possesses a remarkable range of voice and had perfect control of it.

Charles T. Underhill, recited "The Rivals" in a masterful manner and during the evening he kept the audience convulsed with laughter. This proved to be the main feature of the evening's entertainment and brought forth much applause.

Visit by Bishop.

Right Rev. Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark diocese, will visit this city tomorrow and will make his regular visitation. In the evening at 8 o'clock a special service will be held at St. Mary's church at which Bishop O'Connor will officiate and will preach a sermon.

Surprised on Birthday.

A birthday surprise party was tendered Mrs. George B. Allen, of Linden avenue, last evening, by her intimate friends. The usual games, interspersed with music and vocal selections passed the hours very pleasantly. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Extra Entrance.

For the additional convenience of the letter-carriers, an entrance to the rear of the postoffice will soon be opened on the Madison avenue side of the Babcock building. This will allow more room through the main hallway of the building.

Fell While Alighting.

Laffe Tuzze, of Somerset street, in alighting from a trolley car on East Front street, last night, fell and received several bruises. He was able to go to his home but this morning he was complaining of pains in the side.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS.

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Plainfield Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Nowadays the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Plainfield reader.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of B. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Co., says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

THEATRICAL.

"The Bishop's Move," a London success, now running at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, is one of the most wholesome, witty and pleasing comedies seen in New York this season. The play has a story and characters suggest the other popular work of Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes), one of its authors, while the development of the drama is characteristic of its other author, Murray Carson, whose work has been applauded both in London and New York. In the play the more prominent and opposing characters are a Bishop, a typical ecclesiastic, yet withal a man of great wordly knowledge, fine humor, and unerring tact, who sets himself against a charming woman of the world, a widowed duchess, in her design to wed the Bishop's nephew. The play is laid in France, and the characters move in a refined and dignified atmosphere.

The refined colored comedians, Williams & Walker, are in their fourth week at the New York Theatre, New York, playing to packed houses. Their vehicle, "In Dahomey," is a very clever and amusing one and is made up of comic incidents and very meritorious musical features. Mr. Williams' song, "I'm a Jonah Man" is in itself a novelty that is drawing crowds to the New York Theatre expressly to hear it. In his rendition of this song, Mr. Williams is inimitable. At the close of Williams & Walker's engagement at the New York Theatre the house will be completely remodelled at a cost of $150,000 and will reopen in September with a great revival of "Ben Hur," in which four chariots and sixteen horses will be seene in the chariot race scene.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on March 12, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Free for the asking.

TO PROMOTE RIFLE PRACTICE.

National Association Takes Steps In That Direction.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Important business was transacted at the meeting of the executive committee of the National Rifle association held yesterday at 99 Cedar street. The members of the committee are: General B. W. Spencer, New Jersey; General George H. Harries, District of Columbia; General John S. Saunders, Maryland; General George W. Wingate, New York; Colonel Leslie C. Bruce, New York; J. A. Haskell, New York, and Lieutenant Albert S. Jones, New York.

The following resulution offered by Lieutenant A. S. Jones was passed:

"Resolved, That the National Rifle Association of America, recognizing the importance of training the young men of the country in rifle shooting, adopt a code for a course of rifle instruction, which code shall be the same as that proposed by the war department for the state militia, and that official score sheets be supplied to all ranges and to rifle clubs throughout the United States for the purpose of enabling citizens not connected with any military establishment an opportunity to qualify and become enrolled in the national marksmen's reserve and that a suitable decoration be given to each person qualifying and that a classified report be made to the war department each year of those who have qualified under the code."

It was also finally resolved to send a military team to Bisley next summer to compete for the Palma trophy, provided the necessary funds can be raised. A public appeal will be sent out at once.

American League Men In Session.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The American league magnates have resumed their session at the Fifth Avenue hotel. They do not, however, hold out any promise of letting the long suffering baseball public into their confidence regarding the location of the New York team's playing grounds. Just what details are standing in the way in the matter of getting the most desirable site the American leaguers will not say. It is admitted, however, that there are three sites in view, the most desirable of which and the one which the newcomers want being the hardest to land.

Ruhlin Won In Second Round.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—Gus Ruhlin and Mexican Pete Everett were scheduled to go six rounds at the Washington club last night. The bout, however, lasted but a few minutes and was a miserable exhibition on the part of Everett. At the beginning of the second round he received a right hand blow on the face, dropped to the floor and took the count.

Tennis at Monte Carlo.

MONTE CARLO, March 10.—The final round in the singles for the international tennis championship and the Monte Carlo challenge cup was won by R. F. Dougherty. His opponent, F. L. Risley, slipped and injured his knee in the first set, which he lost, 6—1. Risley made a game fight and won the next set, 16—14, when he retired.

O'Brien Gets Decision.

PITTSBURG, March 10.—The Pittsburg Athletic club opened its new clubhouse on Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, last night, the main attraction being a ten round bout between Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Jim Jeffords of California. O'Brien was awarded the decision at the end of the tenth round.

Oakland Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—Only one favorite won at Oakland, but well played second choices were successful. Lode Star, in the mile and a quarter race, bolted at the start and, colliding with Goldone, unseated Boland.

To Filter Water For Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 10.—It is announced from President Schurman's office that Cornell university will at once establish a chemical filtration plant for the water supply which is used on the Cornell campus. A contract has been signed with the New York Continental Jewell Filtration company for the installation of a filter at the university reservoir, near Reservoir avenue. The contract allows the company thirty-five days to complete the work of installation. No typhoid cases have been reported of persons who drank only campus water, which is obtained from Fall creek, but as an extra precaution the authorities have decided to filter their supply.

FOREST PRESERVES.

President's Policy Authoritatively Stated.

TREES ON PUBLIC LANDS TO BE SAVED

Settlements to Be Encouraged Under Such Restrictions as Will Prevent Wanton Waste and Destruction.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Commissioner Richards of the general land office, who is the special representative of the president in all matters pertaining to lands, irrigation and forestry and who was formerly for four years governor of Wyoming, has made the following statement respecting the present and future policy of this administration relating to the establishment and control of forest reservations:

"The president's purpose and desire is to protect and preserve the remaining forests upon public lands from the devastations and destruction which has been the fate of those in large portions of the Appalachian mountains and in other forest sections of the country. In doing this a supply of timber will be preserved for future needs, and natural sources of water supply will be so protected as to prevent flooding of the streams during the spring time and the melting of the snows and to insure water for irrigation and other purposes during the dry season. The establishment and proper maintenance of forest reserves is indispensable to any extensive reclamation or cultivation of lands in the arid region under the recent act of congress which appropriates for that purpose the proceeds of the sales of public lands.

"It is and has been the president's consistent policy to encourage the actual settlement of the country by home builders in every way, to see that actual settlers within the forest reserves are accorded every reasonable protection and that those living within the vicinity of these reserves who are dependent upon the reserves for grazing areas for cattle and horses and for necessary timber for building and fuel are accorded access to the reserves for these purposes under such reasonable restrictions as will prevent waste and destruction."

A SCORE BURNED TO DEATH.

Disastrous Fire of Oil Tank Cars at Olean, N. Y.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 10.—An extra freight train on the Erie road broke in two in the yards in this city late last night. The detached parts crashed together, and six tank cars containing oil caught fire.

A large crowd of spectators gathered about the place to look at the flames, when an explosion occurred in one of the tanks. Burning oil was hurled over the crowd, and the consuming heat enmeshed many victims.

The exact number is at present unknown because the intense heat renders it impossible to reach the bodies which are being incinerated. One estimate is fifteen dead and twice that number burned seriously.

A man who returned from the scene of the fire at midnight reports having counted twenty bodies scattered along the track after the fire had somewhat subsided. The burning oil lighted up the sky for miles around.

Harvard Man to Counsel Siam's King

BOSTON, March 10.—The Transcript says that it has become public from authority which cannot be doubted that one and possibly two professors of the Harvard law school have been selected for important positions in the royal court of Siam. One of the positions is that of legal adviser to the king, a place of great influence and responsibility, as the action of Siam in international questions will depend largely upon the advice of the holder of this office. The man who is named for the position is Professor Edward Henry Strobel, A. B., LL. D., Bemis professor of international law. The name of the other man cannot as yet be announced.

Kwangsi Rebellion Spreading.

LONDON, March 10.—The Daily Mail correspondent at Shanghai telegraphs that the rebellion in the Kwangsi province is spreading seriously. Several villages have been captured, and authority of the government in that province is practically at an end. The popular hatred for the Christians, adds the correspondent, is displayed in the Shantung province by the destruction of the churches.

"Uncle Tom" Dead.

LANCASTER, Ky., March 10.—Norman Argo, a negro, who is said to have been the original "Uncle Tom," is dead at Paint Lick, aged 111 years. He was born a slave on the plantation of General Samuel Kennedy in Garrard county, from which plantation most of her material for "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was obtained by Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Powell Completes His Work.

CONSENTS TO A VOTE

Morgan's New Position Regarding Canal Treaty.

FAVORABLE REPORT AGREED UPON.

Alabama Senator's Condition For Yielding Not Likely to Be Accepted by the Senate — The Outlook Considered Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—During the session of the committee on foreign relations yesterday Senator Morgan offered to consent to a vote on the Colombian canal treaty at 2 o'clock on Saturday provided the senate would consent to allow him to print such remarks as he wanted in the Congressional Record or as a public document. Members of the committee later discussed the proposition with other senators, and the consensus of opinion seemed to be against granting the permission. Some of the remarks heretofore made by Senator Morgan reflected rather severely on the Colombian government and especially on the president of Colombia, and senators think it would be inadvisable to give official sanction to such utterances by allowing them to appear in the records of the senate. It also is feared that the Colombian government might take offense and fail to ratify the treaty, and it is asserted that ratification of the treaty can be accomplished even if no agreement is reached.

The committee agreed to favorably report the Colombian canal treaty to the senate. No action was taken on the Cuban or other reciprocity treaties. The Colombian treaty was reported as in the former session without amendment.

When the senate went into executive session, Senator Cullom reported the treaty, and it was read at length, as the rules of the senate required. Under the rules the objection carried the treaty over for one day before it could be considered, and Senator Morgan objected to its consideration.

After the reading of the treaty Senator Morgan stated that he desired to have the Spanish copy of the treaty so as to compare it with the English text. The state department was notified of this request, and it is expected that a draft of the treaty in Spanish will be sent to the senate.

Members of the foreign relations committee express the opinion that there will not be any great delay in the ratification of the treaty, although no understanding has been reached with Senator Morgan on the subject.

Senator Clark (Mont.), who succeeded Senator Bailey as a member of the committee, was present at yesterday's meeting.

Senator Allison, chairman of the Republican steering committee, has sent notices to all Republican senators requesting them to be present at the sessions of the senate in order to maintain a quorum.

KENTUCKY LAND GRANTS.

Judge Decides All Recent Patents For More Than 200 Acres Void.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 10.—Judge Cochran in the federal court has rendered an opinion in the case of Lockard versus the Asher Lumber company of Clarke county.

The case involves the famous Lockard patent of 1873 for 42,400 acres of land in Harlan county. Judge Cochran holds that under the statute of Kentucky of 1852, which provides that a patent for a larger tract than 200 acres shall not be issued, is in effect and invalidates the Lockard patent, which, the court holds, is null and void.

The decision is exhaustive and nullifies every patent for more than 200 acres issued since 1852. It will have a sweeping effect in eastern Kentucky, where extensive patents are held by many companies and persons issued since the 1852 statute. The Kentucky court of appeals has heretofore upheld these patents.

Berg Gets Home From Washington.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 10.—A Swedish machinist of this city named Z. Berg, who recently made a stir at the White House in Washington by asking for a substantial reward for information furnished the government several years ago, has arrived home. Mr. Berg says that an officer of the Spanish navy informed him that an American warship was to be blown up. Berg says he gave the information to the government at the time, but never was rewarded. His trip last week was made for the purpose of requesting a reward. He denies that he had demanded $100,000 and regrets that he had gained so much notoriety.

Troops Recalled From Colorado City

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 10.—President Meyer of the Western Federation of Miners claims that influences were at work which he believes will bring about a peaceable adjustment of the differences between the striking mill men of Colorado City and the mill owners and obviate the necessity of extending the strike to the miners. Governor Peabody has recalled a portion of the troops from Colorado City.

A WOMAN'S FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Struggle With Drunken Husband Related in Court.

NORTH GROSVENORDALE, Conn., March 10.—A remarkable story of a woman's struggle for her life with a drink crazed husband was recited before Judge Tourtelotte in the local court when Hosea Devitt, a woodchopper, aged thirty-five, was fined and sentenced to imprisonment on charges of assault, breach of the peace, use of abusive language and drunkenness.

The Devitts live in Mechanicsville. According to the story told in court, the man drove his wife Ellen out of the house Saturday night, and she took refuge at the home of a neighbor. Sunday afternoon, when she ventured back to her own home, Devitt locked the door and nailed it more securely with spikes. Then he went down cellar and, returning with an ax, announced that he was going to kill her. Mrs. Devitt is a strong woman, and when he struck at her with the ax she seized it and after a hard struggle took it away from him.

He retired to the cellar and came back with another ax and more spikes. This time he said he was going to nail her to the floor and that she would never leave the house except in a six foot box. The woman got possession of the second ax also, but Devitt, according to her story, immediately pulled a revolver and, to show her how well he could shoot, smashed a lamp chimney with a bullet and then shot the family cat. His wife at this juncture managed to open a door leading to another room and was just passing through when Devitt fired at her. The bullet went through the door. Afterward, Mrs. Devitt says, he tried to shoot himself, but his aim was poor. Eventually he was overpowered and locked up by an officer.

WOULD NOT RECEIVE THEM.

Joint Committee of Railway Men Disappointed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 10.—The members of the grievance committees which represent the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors employed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad are much disappointed at their failure to induce the officials of the railroad company to accede to their further requests to be received in conference.

Last evening the grievance committees held another meeting, and, although no announcement was made of what was done, it is learned upon good authority that a statement was being prepared to be sent to the employees. The polling details will be settled upon later. There is evidently among the members of the committees a feeling of disappointment.

President Hall when asked for a statement said he had none to make; that there was no change in the situation so far as he was aware; that he had maintained the position which the railroad had always insisted upon in the treatment of employees. He would be glad to meet any committees from the conductors and from the trainmen, but not any joint committees.

Queer Conscience Contribution.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The secretary of the treasury has received from an unknown person a unique conscience contribution in the shape of a watch with a gold or gold filled case. The watch came in a package postmarked Pittsfield, Mass. The sender says in an accompanying letter: "Such as I have I give unto you for the conscience fund. The money I gave for the watch is more than I consider I owe the government."

Bryan Hard on Eastern People.

TOLEDO, March 10.—Colonel W. J. Bryan while in the city was prevailed upon to discuss politics. He told of his recent visit to New York and added that the people in that state knew less about politics than they do in the west.

HAD HARD STRUGGLE

But Persistence Usually Pays in the Long Run.

If You Don't Believe It, Just Read This Truthful Story—Bill Collector Made Himself at Home and Won Out.

The following story is told by the New York Times of a certain young man in Mount Vernon who has been living rather close to the ground, as the saying goes, and who was badly in need of funds.

The young man went to a friend and told him of his predicament, requesting a loan at the same time. His friend was not "touchable," however, but he told the young man that if he would collect a bill he had against a certain man whose home was in the swell district of the city he might have half of the proceeds.

The fellow accepted and made his way to the home of the debtor. A young lady answered his ring, and he inquired for Mr. B., the man of the house.

"Mr. B. is not at home," replied the young lady.

"O, he isn't?" said the collector. "Well, I'll just step in and wait for him."

Without waiting for an answer he slipped inside the door, took off his coat and hat, and sat down in an easy chair in the parlor. He picked up a paper and made himself as much at home as if the house was his own. He had read about 15 minutes when Mr. B. came into the room and inquired as to the young man's business.

"Well," said that individual, "I have a little bill here that I wish to collect. It is from E. & Co."

"I am very sorry," said Mr. B., "but I am afraid that I cannot meet it just at present."

"O, there's no hurry," said the collector, "I can wait awhile," and he settled back in the chair and resumed reading the paper.

Mr. B. looked at him in surprise, and after a minute's thought, said: "Really, it is dinner time, and I am quite hungry. You must excuse me."

"OH, THERE'S NO HURRY."

"Why, certainly," was the reply. "I am a little hungry myself. I don't mind eating dinner with you at all," and before the astonished man could reply he was through the door and inquiring where his seat would be. Mr. B. did not know what to do, but he was polite, and made a place for him. They ate dinner, and had a cold bottle after it, and by that time it was growing late. They talked of the weather, and one thing and another, and in time the clock struck ten, and Mr. B. began to be worried. As a last resource he remarked:

"It is time that I should retire. While your company has not been anticipated it has been enjoyable. I hope that you will call again."

But the young man was not fazed. He calmly replied: "I have been pleasantly entertained, Mr. B. Now, if you will show me to my room, I shall retire also."

Mr. B. glared at the intruder. That person simply sat and smoked his after-dinner cigar, and looked at peace with the world. This state of affairs continued until early in the morning, when Mr. B. lost all control of himself, pulled out his check book, wrote a check for the amount of the bill and threw it to the young man.

"Now, you blank-blanked lobster," he said, "get out of this house as quick as you can. If you don't there'll be trouble."

The collector got his hat and coat and went out into the street with a smile on his face. It was a hard struggle, but persistence had won.

When the Butterfly Sleeps.

The butterfly invariably goes to sleep head downwards, its eyes looking straight down the stem of the grass. It folds and contracts its wings to the utmost, partly perhaps to wrap the body from the cold. But the effect is to reduce its size and shape to a narrow ridge, making an acute angle with the grass stem, hardly distinguishable in shape and color from the seed heads on thousands of other stems around. The butterfly also sleeps on the top of the stem, which increases its likeness to the natural finial of the grass. In the morning when the sunbeams warm them, all these gray-pied sleepers on the herb tops open their wings, and the colorless bennets (Geumurbanum) are starred with a thousand living flowers.

Rapid Growth of Islam.

Trustworthy statisticians declare that there are 250,000,000 Mohammedans in the world. The Christian population is put at 447,000,000, but the increase of Islam is more rapid than that of the combined Christian denominations.

SILKS.

A Crowning Achievement in Enormous Value Giving.

A SCARCITY OF RAW SILK, and consequent increased cost, is responsible for an advance in the price of all textiles in the manufacture of which silk is employed. Foreseeing what many months ago was believed to be an inevitable condition, and appreciating the fact that by anticipating it we would be able to bring about the greatest retailing sensation in years, we went into the markets and purchased quantities that fairly staggered the trade. In addition to securing immense lines at from ten to fifteen per cent. less than they are being sold for today, previously unheard-of concessions were gained on thousands of yards of high-grade and fashionable fabrics, that will be offered during this sale for from WIDESPREAD FLOODS.

High Water and Great Danger to Property East and West.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—Ice gorges in the Platte river and its tributaries have caused serious floods in central Nebraska, especially in and near the towns of Schuyler, Columbus and Genoa. Aconee, a village on the Loup, is surrounded by water, and many inhabitants have been forced to abandon their homes. Railroad traffic is badly demoralized.

The Union Pacific bridge across the Loup west of Columbus has gone out, and the track for a mile and a half is washed away. Traffic on the Union Pacific west of there is entirely tied up. The Burlington bridge across the Platte two miles east of Columbus is washing away, eight spans having gone out, and twice as much more is expected to go out before morning. All the country between the bridge and the town is under water, and low lying districts of the town itself are inundated. Some stock is reported drowned near Aconee.

In southern Nebraska the Republican river is out of its banks and full of ice. Two big bridges near Superior are damaged. One gorge formed and broke, but another is forming. The bridge at Harry has been swept away. The river is rising steadily.

Destructive Flood Feared.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 10.—The river is forty-three feet and still rising, and there is great suffering in the lowlands and much property floating away. The heavy rains have sent the Cumberland and Tennessee booming, and a destructive flood is feared. Several miles of the Illinois Central railroad are under water between Paducah and Metropolis, Ill., and trains run only with the greatest difficulty.

Ice Gorge Leaves Hudson.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—The ice gorge at North Coeymans, which was formed Dec. 22 and has worried the people of nearby cities and towns, has broken up and gone down the river. It had been loosened by the steamers that attempted to break it last week and went out without damage. The river is now open as far as this city.

The Mississippi at Danger Point.

JACKSON, Miss., March 10.—News from the Mississippi river front is that the situation is alarming. The levee board is in session at Clarksdale, and word has been received here that an overflow is certain. The levees are in better shape, higher and stronger than ever, except in one or two places, and are being carefully guarded.

High Water In Eastern New York.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., March 10.—Continuous rains and melting snow on the mountains are causing the streams in eastern New York to rise to high water mark. Country roads are in an almost impassable condition, and rural mail carriers report great difficulty in making trips.

EVERY CHARGE DENIED.

Wabash Employees File Answer In Injunction Suit.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—A sweeping denial of all the charges made by the Wabash Railway company in its bill of complaint upon which was issued the injunction to prevent a strike among its employees was contained in the answer to the injunction suit filed in the United States district court by counsel for the Wabash firemen and trainmen. In support of the answer were filed the affidavits of all those named in the injunction.

The motion to dissolve the injunction, briefly stated, is based on the grounds that the writ of injunction was improperly granted, that charges of illegal conspiracy contained in the bill of complaint are unfounded and disproved, that there is no equity in the bill of complaint, that the injunction was issued without notice and that all the material charges in the bill are fully denied.

President Ramsey of the Wabash and the company's legal counsel began the preparation of their arguments against the answer immediately after it was filed.

None of the brotherhood officials has left the city. All say they are well satisfied with the answer as filed.

Seeking Waterbury Murderers.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 10.—The local police are hard at work in an effort to run down the men who were concerned in the attack on the trolley car Sunday night, but so far as can be learned they have not been rewarded in their efforts. The board of public safety and the board of aldermen held meetings last night, and the former recommended to the latter that a reward of $200 be offered for the apprehension of the assassin of Policeman Mendlessohn. They also recommended that the state attorney be petitioned to offer a reward of $3,000 for the same purpose, the reward to be paid by the state of Connecticut. Other rewards have been offered.

Consolidation For Boston Companies

BOSTON, March 10.—A recommendation for the consolidation of all the Boston gas companies is made by the state board of gas and electric light commissioners in their eighteenth annual report, just received by the general court. The board holds that the consolidation will safeguard the interests of consumers and investors alike and give assurance of a successful application of the policy of the commonwealth toward its public service corporations.

Tennessee Postoffice Robbed.

ELIZABETH, Tenn., March 10.—The postoffice here was entered by burglars between 1 and 3 o'clock in the morning. The safe was blown open with nitroglycerin, and about $80 in cash and $700 in stamps were stolen.

CUBA FEARS TRUSTS

Sole Beneficiaries of Reciprocity, Says Sanguilly.

TREATY NOT NEEDED BY CUBANS

The Senator Declares That Neither Island Producer Nor United States Consumer Will Be Benefited by the Act.

HAVANA, March 10.—The debate on the reciprocity treaty with the United States was resumed in the senate yesterday. Senor Sanguilly made a lengthy and picturesque speech, in which he contended that reciprocity was not a necessity to Cuba's progress.

His address, while voicing the fear of the domination of Cuba by trusts, was marked by no bitterness toward the United States government or people. Senor Sanguilly denied that the treaty would benefit either the Cuban producer or the United States consumer and said that the trusts would be the sole beneficiaries. He argued that it was a suspicious circumstance that General Tasker H. Bliss, who negotiated the treaty, should have declared before the United States congressional committee that it ought to be the policy of the United States to get hold of the entire Cuban market. The business interests in the United States aspired to control Cuba's economic affairs and make Cuba an economic colony of the United States, and it was surprising to him how so good a friend of Cuba as President Roosevelt should have been led into such an imbroglio.

As a proof of the alleged conspiracy to gain control of the Cuban market the speaker called attention to an article published in an American review by General Wood, in which he held that Cuba was lost unless it secured reciprocity with the United States, whereas, as a matter of fact it was entirely possible for Cuba to exist independent of such aid. The miseries of Cuba, continued Senor Sanguilly, had been overdrawn to influence the reciprocity movement, the Cuban sugar producers being in a better situation than those in the United States, for 82 per cent of the beet sugar factories in the United States were heavily mortgaged. The United States, he continued, would always need Cuban sugar, and the terms of the Brussels convention were certain to benefit Cuba during the coming five years. The reciprocity treaty came at an inopportune time, and the speaker did not believe that the United States would ever coerce Cuba, because he remembered the words of Secretary Root to the commission sent to Washington by the Cuban constitutional convention that the United States would never consider the use of force as an argument to impose its will upon the Cubans.

Senor Sanguilly concluded by saying he believed that only when liberty, as exemplified by the statue in New York harbor, ceases to enlighten the American conscience will the independence of Cuba be lost.

Cuban Treaty Opposed.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The senate committee on foreign relations did not meet today to take up the Cuban treaty, but will do so tomorrow. Quite a number of Democratic senators are opposed to the treaty, and while they say they have no desire to prevent a vote they intend briefly to present their views on the measure.

Delhi Bankers Assign.

DELHI, N. Y., March 10.—Bell Bros., private bankers of this place, have filed a petition in bankruptcy, showing liabilities of $57,996, in which are included $10,714 in mortgages on the firm's real estate, $27,320 in certificates of deposit, $8,681 in promissory notes, $1,355 on accounts and a claim of the National Bank of North America on a check of $3,887.80 of Hathaway & Co. of New York, the indorsement of which is alleged to be a forgery. The assets are placed at $55,983, of which $30,868 is real and $15,382 personal property.

Platt Favors the Regents.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—Verification of the report that Senator Platt had written a letter favoring the control of the school system by the regents, but disapproving of the election of the state superintendent of public instruction by that body, was obtained when it was stated that Chairman Dunn of the Republican state committee had definite instructions from Mr. Platt to favor the regents' side of the controversy. Senator Platt's first letter defining his attitude was written to Superintendent Skinner.

Ticket Scalpers Enjoined.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—In the circuit court Judge Wood has made permanent the temporary injunction granted last October against Bennett Wassermen et al., ticket scalpers, restraining them from buying and selling world's fair excursion tickets. The temporary injunction was granted at the instance of all the railroads entering St. Louis and was argued recently.

Cincinnati Editor Dead.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—James T. Gardiner, assistant city editor of the Enquirer, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease. He was at his desk the night previous as usual. He was formerly telegraph editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, but spent most of his life in newspaper work in Cincinnati.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

Plainfield is being favored at present with two series of university extension lectures. One of these series is Professor Griggs' delightful and popular course on "Faust;" the other, less well known perhaps, but equally valuable series is being given by Professor Zueblin, of Chicago University, on "Work and Wealth." The very titles of these lectures indicate in some degree the aim and scope of university extension. The aim, to be brief, is to place before the people at large some of the advantages usually associated with the great colleges and universities. Lecturers like Professor Griggs and Professor Zueblin may be classed among the very first advantages of those institutions. The scope or breadth of the extension movement is measured by an interest that can include the intellectual masterpiece of the most cultivated German poet and the sociological subject, so near to Hall, chosen by Professor Zueblin.

Edward Howard Griggs is a lecturer well known in Plainfield, and should he elect to discourse on the point of the proverbial needle as an accommodation for angels, there is no doubt a numerous and enthusiastic audience would press to hear him. Professor Zueblin, on the contrary, has never before been in our city. He has lectured through the west on such subjects as "Art and Life" to vast audiences. Accustomed to his hundreds of auditors it must be a matter of wonder to even so modest a man as Professor Zueblin that a city of this size should include so few citizens interested in the great questions of living and culture. His lectures are given Saturday evenings in the Y. M. C. A. building, a convenient time and place, surely, and at a cost which certainly could deter no one wishing to attend.

It is scrarcely possible to say enough of the interest these lectures have, both for their subject matter and the clear and entertaining method of Professor Zueblin's presenting such topics as "The Standard of Living," "Work and Leisure" and "Public Wealth." Here is "food for thought," not merely for the student of sociology but for every serious citizen. Every day we are confronted by such problems as Professor Zueblin treats of. Why should not a great number of us seize this opportunity of hearing what the wisest men of our day are thinking and doing in those very circumstances which to us are so puzzling?

TROLLEY TO METUCHEN.

It is welcome news that the trolley line between Plainfield and Metuchen is soon to be built. The statement is authoritatively made by the superintendent of the company which has the line under consideration. It was only recently that The Daily Press predicted that it was only a question of time before that line would be built but we did not expect at that time to see our words come true so soon.

For such near neighbors, Plainfield and Metuchen are strangely isolated. Unless one drives, it is impossible to reach that place from here without a long trolley ride by the way of New Brunswick or a train ride by the way of Elizabeth. A trolley line, besides bringing the two places much closer together, would open up a section which is now without any means of rapid transit. It would also form an important link between Somerville, Bound Brook, Plainfield and the shore as soon as the line from Metuchen to Perth Amboy is built. Most Plainfielders have regarded Perth Amboy as a place just beyond the edge of the earth. Such a line would bring it into comparatively close proximity.

It was a regrettable fact that the Democrats of Warren township should show themselves so far behind the times as to oppose any movement that will advance the interests of Somerset county and their own township. A faction made the fight on the question of good roads and went down to defeat. The old member of the Board of Freeholders was renominated and, it is said, will probably be re-elected. That means a continuation of the present antiquated policy of the Freeholders as far as Warren is concerned.

Only a few hours after this issue goes to press, it will be known who is to be mayor of North Plainfield. The day has been an exciting one in the borough and the opposition to Mayor Smalley has done everything in its power to encompass his defeat. Much bitterness has prevailed and the work of the Mayor's anonymous enemies has been continued. But the ballots are nearly all cast by this hour and it will not be long before the question will be settled.

Hope chapel boys are to open their minstrel show this evening. They promise some great things and there is reason to believe that they will keep their promise. That the public anticipates a good show may be judged from the remarkable sale of tickets.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Today's election promises to be one of the closest in the history of town and the result is entirely problematical. Both candidates for the mayoralty are well known, W. J. Hamilton being president of the Board of Education and William Wyckoff a well-known railroad man. The rest of the tickets are also well known and some hot fights will come between them. Assessor J. H. L. Peters, who is running for assessor on the Democratic ticket, is probably the strongest candidate of either party as he has served several terms before. A personal canvass has been made by the leaders of both parties and both are confident.

Wilson Fredericks' condition still continues favorable. He is taking a great interest in the borough election, in which he has always been an active participant until now.

Adam Dealaman is somewhat improved from his illness and there was a chance of his getting out to vote today if the weather was considered good enough.

The customary notice has been posted by the Clerk of the Board of Education calling for the annual school meeting March 17.

Mr. Fowlie, of Princeton University, returned to college yesterday after a visit with Rev. N. J. Sproul.

The Afternoon Card Club will meet this afternoon at the home of the Misses Marlow, of Dunellen avenue.

George Vail and family have moved from J. Craig's house on Dunellen avenue to one on the same street.

A practice meeting of the Banjo Club was held last evening at the home of Miss Nelson.

The Juniors will meet this evening of the regular session in Apgar's Hall.

It is rumored that another dance will shortly be given in Apgar's Hall.

Rev. N. J. Sproul spent yesterday with friends in Englishtown.

Lenten services will be held today in Holy Innocent's church.

R. S. Saunders, of Morristown, was here on business yesterday.

Mrs. J. Newton Apgar's condition is slightly improved.

NEW MARKET.

One session was held in the public school yesterday because of the storm. The clerk of the Board of Education has posted a notice calling for the annual school day March 17.

The political leaders here have been working hard to get out a record vote today and seem likely to succeed. The polls are in the Hotel Nelson and the usual ones are in charge.

The pond was unusually high during the rain yesterday and the last remnants of ice have been washed out.

Sheppard Randolph is now staying at his home in Piscataway since Cornell University has been closed.

Aaron Brower, who has been very ill, has shown some improvement.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

All those who are interested in the National game of baseball, and desire to see the village represented on the diamond this coming season with one of the strongest teams the town has ever supported, are invited to attend the meeting to be held at Edw. L. Hand's home, tonight. Last season's work by the locals was one that every resident points to with pride. Out of twenty-six games played with the best semi-professional clubs through this section and the Metropolitan district, the club had a record of twenty-three victories and three defeats. The work of Manager Johnston's "colts" was supported so well that at the end of the season, after an expenditure of about $700, a neat balance was left in the treasury. This will nearly all be used in making improvements about the grounds and buying new uniforms, so as to enable the club to keep apace of the times.

The annual spring election being held today is a novelty in the way of elections for Fanwood township. As there is only one ticket in the field but little interest is being manifested by the citizens. Those who do turn out to vote seem surprised at the absence of the usual party workers who usually begin button holing as soon as the voters arrive in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ryno, of Front street, have returned from Brooklyn, where they have been attending the funeral of their son-in-law, Andrew Rogers, who was buried Sunday. Mr. Rogers was a well-known resident of Brooklyn, being engaged for years in the wholesale drug business. He is survived by a widow and a daughter.

A full attendance of the members of Fanwood Council, R. A., is desired tonight. The meeting will be an interesting one. Business of great importance will be transacted and Regent W. R. Stanbery desires all members to be present and meet and welcome Grand Vice Regent Washburn.

Another primary was held last night in the borough for the purpose of opposing the ticket named at the Republican meeting, Saturday night. But few changes were made in the ticket.

Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr., has returned from a pleasant visit of several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gere, of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Paff, Sr.

Joseph Gray, a former resident of this village, but now of Kearney, has been visiting friends in town.

Miss Hull, of Plainfield, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hull, of Front street.

Rev. G. M. Shott was in New York Monday, attending the weekly conference meeting.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

One of the out of date "New Brooklyn" guide boards has come down. Residents are wishing the other would do likewise.

Watson Payne, of Clinton avenue, expects to move this spring from the place he now occupies.

Adelbert Tappen has sold his hay crop in Plainfield and is having it delivered.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Randolph Saturday morning.

Mr. Voorhees, of Brooklyn, visited Oscar Thorn yesterday afternoon.

More Pay Granted.

The telegraph operators on the Lehigh division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company recently organized and soon afterward asked the company for an increase in wages. The company considered the petition favorably and notified the men that an increase of 10 per cent. would be effective with the February salaries.

LESSER HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Then There Is Mention of Some of the Things That Are Yet to Come.

—Walter Smalley and family moved yesterday from Somerset place to Somerset street, opposite Lincoln place.

—Attention is called to the advertisements of Y. M. C. A. entertainments to be found in the advertising columns.

—The regular business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the Crescent Avenue church, will be held Friday evening.

—Joseph Schulthiess, who worked for Edward Love for five years, has taken a position as foreman in a Jersey City print cutting shop.

—Mr. Jenkins, of Putnam avenue, who recently decided to move to Syracuse, has changed his mind and will probably remain in Plainfield.

—Henry Kaufman, extra freight conductor on the New Jersey division of the New Jersey Central, has resigned to accept a position at Easton.

—The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John H. Doane, of East Seventh street.

—A meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., was held last night when Freeholder Augustus Mobus was received into membership by initiation.

—The regular meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue church, will be held in the chapel of the church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Mocha and Java and Old Government Java is a coffee combination that stands above all others. Neuman Brothers handle both and place their guarantee back of every pound.

—Dr. Thomas C. Hall will have charge of the prayer meeting at the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow evening. The subject will be "The Prophet Preachers of the Eighth Century Before Jesus."

—Frank Story, who has been residing in Orange for the past three months where he has been employed in a drug store, is about to return to this city where he has secured a position with Druggist Nagle, of West Front street.

PERSONAL.

W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, is detained at his home by illness.

Miss Nellie Breen, of Elizabeth, has been the guest for a few days of Miss Connett, of East Fifth street.

J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, has practically recovered from a severe illness of two weeks from grip.

Miss Nellie Barnes, of Lynn, Mass., has returned home after a visit with Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue.

Mrs. Bellis, of Elmwood place, who has been quite ill and who was convalescing, has had a relapse and is again confined to her bed.

Mrs. Joseph Schulthiess and children, of Jersey City Heights, have returned home after spending a week with Mrs. Schulthiess' mother, Mrs. John A. Goodwin, of Manning avenue.

Kingfishers and Cormorants.

I am certainly hearing complaints of the frightful havoc wrought among the young fish in salmon rivers by kingfishers, despite the measures taken against the winged enemies of the fry. Guardians on their way up and down Canadian salmon rivers, in the performance of their duties, are now usually provided with guns, but seldom get near enough to obtain a shot at these exceedingly clever winged anglers, who seemingly know only too well how to avoid the traps set for them on the tops of poles set into the banks of streams overlooking the holes frequented by the young fish. In Tasmania the cormorants are among the worst of the winged enemies of fish, and there the government gives a reward or bounty of a shilling a head for their destruction. Last year this bounty was paid upon 450 cormorants. The killing off of these birds in the southern island is chiefly for the protection of the rainbow trout introduced there from the United States, and of the sockeye salmon, introduced from Canada.—Forest and Stream.

Tim Murphy's Invention.

It is said to be very trying on an actor to be interviewed. It is naturally expected that he will bubble over with wit, humor, reminiscence and information; that he has only to open his mouth for a couple of columns of pearls to drop out. In Washington, not long since, Timothy Murphy, preceded by his reputation for story telling, was called on by a reporter, who began: "Mr. Murphy, I want a couple of columns out of you. Won't you give me your latest?"

Murphy was thoughtful for a moment. "You want to make a hit, don't you?" he asked. Yes; the scribe did.

"Well, I've got a sensation for the reporter that springs it," continued the comedian. The newspaper man was all attention.

"You've heard of the wireless telegraph?"

"Yes."

"Good. You get in line with modern improvements. Write a wordless interview."—Washington Star.

Some Complicated English.

"Speaking of Texas," said a young lawyer who once lived in the Lone Star state, "reminds me of a peculiar conversation I heard in a grocery store a few years ago, in one of the smaller places of the state, and the story will amply illustrate the peculiarities of the vernacular in certain more remote parts of Texas. I happened to be in the grocery store in question when a little girl came in to buy some eggs, and the following conversation was carried on between the girl and the keeper of the place: 'Ain't you got no eggs?' asked the little girl. 'I ain't said I ain't,' the storekeeper replied, whereupon the little girl replied after this fashion: 'I ain't ask you is you ain't you. I ask you is you is you. Ain't you?' That's the way they talk in some sections of the state. The little lassie who used the expression made herself clear, and she got the eggs."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

A Flaming Picture.

With great presence of mind the bare-footed and half-clad young man broke away from the other members of the family, and rushed back into the burning building at the risk of his life.

Presently he emerged, scorched but triumphant. He had rescued his camera.

"Oh, Harold!" they exclaimed, "why did you do that?"

"Do you suppose I'd miss such a chance as this?" he asked, planting the instrument in the snow, adjusting and taking a snapshot of the fire.—Stray Stories.

Mr. and Mrs. George Deering, of East Fifth street, have gone to Paterson for a visit with relatives.

SAVED THE COUNTESS.

Poor Hungarian Laborer Rescued Her from Drowning and Then She Proposed Marriage.

A pretty romance is reported from Temesvar, Hungary, where a couple are now spending the honeymoon after a strangely brought about wedding. While Thomas Weber, a poor Hungarian laborer, was tramping along the shores of Lake Geneva, in Switzerlan, bitterly bemoaning his fate of poverty and lack of work, he saw a carriage drawn by a pair of splendid horses. The horses took fright and ran away. Going too near the shore the carriage was overturned into the lake. The coachman escaped the bath, but a finely-dressed woman was thrown into the water.

She hardly had time to scream before Weber was at the shore line, with his coat stripped off. He plunged in, grasped the woman and brought her safely to land. There the coachman, who had stood by in terror, helped the rescuer to right the carriage. The horses had been caught and the woman rode off to her home, after making Weber promise to call on her.

When Weber kept his promise he found that he had rescued Countess Anna Liebeck, a widow in affluent circumstances, who had a villa near the lake. She thanked Weber for his bravery and said she could not repay him even with her great fortune. Weber told her his circumstances, but would not accept any money for his deed. The result of the meeting was that the countess fell in love with the poor laborer, and in a few weeks she proposed marriage, and he accepted. What was the poor man to do?

Weber is a good looking and fairly intelligent man of 25, while the countess is fair, plump and 40. The couple are spending the honeymoon in the same village where the bridegroom's father was a peddler and his mother a washerwoman. The parents have given up their hard life and every one is happy, the bride the happiest of all.

VICTIM OF BOYCOTT.

Mrs. Spencer Turned Unions Against Her Husband and Forced Him to Quit Business.

Irad A. Spencer, a wealthy resident of Waterbury, Conn., has announced his retirement from the Spencer and Pierpont company, dealers in groceries and provisions. His wife had long urged her husband's retirement from business, but in vain.

At last the trolley strike came along and Mrs. Spencer saw her opportunity. The labor unions of the city placed upon their "unfair" list the establishments of all business men who rode upon trolley cars manned by non-union men or permitted members of their families to ride thereon. In full knowledge of this Mrs. Spencer rode again and again over every line in the city.

At the conclusion of her first ride she entered her husband's store, closely followed by a union picket, who delivered the usual warning. Taking the man aside, Mrs. Spencer said: "My husband knows I am riding. He says he doesn't care. Now, I don't care whether or not you boycott him. It might do him good. At any rate, I shall keep on patronizing the trolley cars."

She continued her rides, says the New York World, the boycott was enforced and business fell off. The stockholders were frightened and urged President Spencer to show his wife the error of her ways. "I can't stop my wife, but I'll sell you my stock and quit the business," he said, and did so.

Corporation Notice.

Public Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, held on Monday, the second day of March, 1903, an ordinance of which the following is a true copy, to wit:—

AN ORDINANCE

to Provide for the Construction of a Further Addition to the System of Sewerage already Constructed in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said City a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the several ordinances of said City relating thereto, and particularly the ordinances respectively entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1897, and "An Ordinance to provide for the improvement of Sewage Disposal Works, Beds and Appurtenances of the City of Plainfield," approved April 4, 1901, to which several ordinances reference is hereby made for greater certainty; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said City under the provisions of the Acts of the Legislature in such case made and provided, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore,

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct an order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed as aforesaid, be constructed in and for said City, under the provisions of the Acts of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, including pumps, motors, boilers, pump well and engine-house, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plan as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights-of-way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance, to wit:

Section 2. That the said Common Council doth hereby determine to acquire by purchase and to take and appropriate the lands and real estate necessary to be taken and appropriated for the construction of said system of sewerage, and to make compensation to the owner or owners thereof by payment of damages therefore in accordance with the provisions of the aforsaid acts" was presented, read and ordered to be considered and acted upon by said Common Council at an adjourned meeting thereof to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in said city of Plainfield on Monday, the 23d day of March, 1903, at the hour of eight o'clock in the evening of that day, and at such meeting ample opportunity will be given to all parties in favor of or opposed to the improvement contemplated by said ordinance to present their views with reference to the same in writing, or otherwise, as the Common Council may at that time direct, and public notice is hereby given of the intention of the said Common Council to cause said improvement set forth in said ordinance to be made, and such persons or corporations as may object thereto are requested to present their objections in writing at the City Clerk's office, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at or before the expiration of ten days from the date of this notice, or to the Common Council at its first meeting held after the expiration of the said ten days, and said Common Council at such meeting to be held on the 23d day of March, 1903, as above stated, or afterward may proceed to consider and pass such ordinance notwithstanding any objection.

By direction of the Common Council.

Movements Of the New Woman

THE New York newspapers have been making a ridiculous to do over the appointment of women inspectors for steerage female passengers on board incoming steamers. These perspicacious journals start out with the general proposition that no woman can climb a ship's ladder; then they cause to be interviewed those persons who are supposed to agree to the proposition. One lady, maybe a member of the Four Hundred, perhaps says it's terrible to think of a woman trying to climb a steamer's side; another individual, perhaps a retired old fogy doctor who never crossed the Atlantic in his life, says it's preposterous to think a woman could possibly do so unladylike a thing. To cap it all, one of the journals represents the women inspectors in a state of distress over devising a costume that will enable them to perform this perilous feat of climbing an iron or rope ladder. Now look here. I give you herewith a few cold, hard facts on this question, and let them settle it. To begin, I myself in ordinary woman's clumsy and inconvenient clothing have boarded a steamer by climbing a ladder dozens of times in almost every quarter of the globe and did not think I was doing anything uncommon. Neither did anybody else. In the tropics and in the orient women passengers board ships in that manner every day, because it is the only way. There are almost no docks built out in the harbors enabling a passenger to walk aboard. The steamers at Hongkong, at Manila, at nearly every one of the Chinese and Japanese ports, at Colombo and Penang—and the list might be extended indefinitely—anchor a mile or two offshore and are reached by lighters and tenders. At Colombo today is a young woman medical inspector with her own rowboat and crew who boards every incoming steamer and examines the women passengers. Along our own Maine coast women passengers go out to sea to catch steamers, and once in Bering sea I heard a steamer captain say, "Well, I can climb a rope ladder as spry as anybody of this ship unless it is Mrs. Blank." So there!

After all, women are queer. An abandoned wife is suing another woman who she says "alienated" her husband's affections. The wife whines and snivels and says: "It's all the fault of that woman, the wretch! Before she got hold of him my husband loved me." Here are two points for the earnest consideration of deserted wives: First, a husband whose affections can be "alienated" by anybody or anything is not worth keeping; second, if, nevertheless, a husband does thus become alienated and his wife must get even, the husband himself is the one to "go for, not the woman. He undoubtedly wanted to be led astray. But the best way of all to get revenge on a delinquent husband is to let him go. Nine times out of ten he will be awfully sorry he went.

Women are proving themselves excellent advertisement writers. A girl only sixteen years old who hit on a new and humorous idea for a good advertisement is getting $1,500 a year out of it. Advertisement writing has become a regular occupation that is now often more lucrative than regular newspaper work, especially if one can be humorous and original. It is a promising field.

* *

Whatever a woman decides to do, if she takes hold of it with pluck and determined perseverance she will win.

* *

Miss Kate E. Griswold, who has become well to do through her own distinguished ability and industry in a field previously occupied by men, had many obstacles to overcome before she succeeded. She says, however, to other women, "There is always plenty of encouragement to go on." So there is.

* *

President Roosevelt, who is so bitter against childless homes, ought to have been for a few years a laborer with a wife and six children to support on a dollar a day. Then he would have been qualified to speak.

I have seen in a newspaper a letter from a high school girl complaining of the strictness of the rules she had to obey and whining over the severity of the examinations. That girl will never amount to anything. The girl that is really worth something rises to every emergency and meets it with a soul equal to it. Difficult achievements strengthen us intellectually.

The president of a great university says that marriage is declining among educated women because their ideals of husbands become too high for men to meet and men feel themselves intellectually inferior to these educated women. Is not this rather hard on the men?

The sun is returning to us again. Spend all the time you can outdoors and get new life. Health and magnetic power are in the sun's rays. Sweet is the light of day!

The middle aged married man thinks he is paying a high compliment to an attractive woman acquaintance when he tells her how he regrets not having met her long ago, because he is sure she would have been his affinity. But it is odd, isn't it, that he never thinks to ask himself whether she would have fancied him?

HORRORS OF PLAGUE

Now Being Experienced by the People of Mazatlan, Mexico.

Business in Prosperous Mining District Paralyzed by Epidemic and Tourist Trade Entirely Cut Off.

[Special El Paso (Tex.) Letter.]

JUST at this time, when the tide of travel is flowing toward the southwest, reports of the plague at Mazatlan have deterred many who had intended to winter in Mexico from visiting that delightful resort. There is no adequate reason, however, for fear, for those in authority have taken such rigid precautions to restrict the disease to its present location that outside of Mazatlan one may be as secure from contagion in Mexico as in any portion of the United States. Quarantine regulations are so strict that no one is now allowed to pass in or out of the city. Infected buildings are being destroyed by fire when practicable. If not composed of combustible materials, a fire built inside is sufficient to destroy disease germs if the heat be confined. It is said that 250 degrees F. is certain death to plague germs, which are not especially tenacious of life. Again, it is stated that exposure to 140 degrees C. for a few minutes or 90 degrees C. for a half hour removes all danger of contagion, also that strong sunlight exposure for a few hours accomplishes the same result. In ordinary warm drinking water the microbe lives three days; in semi-darkness it will exist in sputum 16 days, in mat eight days. It has not, thus far, been demonstrated that any degree of cold will kill it. While it remains dormant in a dry place for some time, given heat and moisture, it at once becomes active and thrives best in undeanly places. Lemon juice or carbolic acid are considered good to destroy it. It grows best at the temperature of the body. It is not as contagious as is generally believed, although it enters the body by several channels, by inhalation, through the mucous membranes, through the alimentary canal or by an abrasion of the skin. A person may carry the germ in the garments or under the finger nail for several days and never become infected, or the contagion may enter the system several days after the exposure. After actual infection, it usually requires from three to six days for the disease to develop.

The plague existed in the time of Dionysius and no one knows how much earlier. The "plague of emerods" mentioned in the Book of Samuel, which occurred 1100 B. C. when the Philistines were smitten after capturing the ark of the covenant from the Israelites, is supposed to be identical with the disease of to-day at Mazatlan, "emerods" being considered as "buboes." The best early account of the "Black Death" is of the epidemic in Egypt, 543 A. D., which finally spread over Europe, covering a period of half a century and depopulating whole towns. It prevailed more or less during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The "Great Plague" in London, in 1665, caused 68,800 deaths in 33 weeks. It gradually receded, Marseilles being the last city visited, where in 36 weeks, in 1720, 39,000 deaths occurred. In 1778, in Constantinople, there was a mortality of 170,000 in 18 weeks. It has always been epidemic and endemic in Egypt, Asia Minor and Syria. It is only recently that the bacillus has been discovered. Yersin, a Frenchman, and Kitasato, a Japanese, found it simultaneously.

The two best-known forms of the disease are the pulmonic and bubonic, the former being more fatal and accompanied by hemorrhages from the lungs. In the latter, the lymphatic glands, those of the armpits and groins most commonly, sometimes of the neck and other portions of the body, swell and suppurate, generally undergoing resolution. Those cases where the buboes are most pronounced are not the most dangerous.

The full pulse increases as the disease progresses. The respiration becomes more rapid. There is great prostration accompanied by thirst and severe headache. The temperature before death sometimes reaches 107 degrees. Occasionally coma, then death, result without a marked increase in temperature. The eyes are red, the tongue dry and swollen, sometimes black, at others covered with a white coat. The whole body is filled with darting pains. Buboes do not appear until the third day in some cases. Their free discharge is considered a favorable symptom. If carbuncles appear over the body, it is a bad sign. The skin is covered with spots which, after death, turn dark. This gave the name "Black Death," by which the plague was known in the fourteenth century when about 25,000,000, or one-fourth the population of the known world at that time, perished.

Another form of the disease is knowmias septicaemic plague. The first symptoms resemble those caused by active poison. Extreme prostration, hemorrhages from the bowels, kidneys or nose are frequent; coma, delirium and death follow on the second or third day. No two cases are alike. In most virulent forms, death occurs in a few hours. Again, life may be prolonged for ten days. Rats and insects spread the contagion. The former, after being stricken, betray the existence of the disease strangely. They seek the presence of men, and seem to have no fear.

No race or community can be considered immune. Those who have come from there recently state that the situation at Mazatlan, which has a population of about 22,000, has been greatly exaggerated. However, conditions there reader the hardships especially oppressive to the population, who, as a rule, are very poor. The average house is of adobe. A very few possess tiled roofs. Many are only thatched with palms. A large number are without furniture, the occupants sitting or reclining on the adobe floor. Stores are of sticks and adobe, and constructed in the most primitive style; there are, of course, some very wealthy Mexicans in Mazatlan, but they are in the minority. Men work in the mines, earning about $1.20 per day, Mexican money, or about 50 cents in our own coin. These mines are among the richest in the world. The Santo Nino is one of the nearest, being about 12 miles from the town. The roads are good, out to and beyond this point. Rich mines extend back through the heavily wooded country for a hundred miles or more. The ore is packed into town on burros. Many years ago an Indian camped in the vicinity, and when morning came saw that his camp fire had melted the ground. This led to a knowledge of the richness of the soil, which is literally full of silver and gold. The Santo Nino is probably a sample of the best mines, being easily worked, and near town. The ore averages $35 per ton in value. There are now about 4,000 tons on the dump, and 6,000 more blocked out, while all work is suspended on account of the plague. The miners, who now especially need food and the comforts their labors usually furnish, are idle. The history of this mine, in this particular, is that of hundreds of others. With uncounted wealth within touch, these people exist in absolute poverty and squalor. The city is beautifully situated at the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico. Its high, wooded hills are reflected in the waters of one of the best harbors on the Pacific coast, by which stand a high lighthouse.

The line of tourist travel has never been in this direction, and there is no danger in following any of the usual routes. The climate of Mexico is unexcelled. The winters are perfect. Sunny days, cool nights. The mornings in summer are pleasant, the afternoons showery. One may command any temperature he pleases. Popocatepetl, Ixtaccihuatl, and other mountains with shining, snow-capped peaks, hold promise of a frosty reception to a traveler who desires to ascend their rugged slopes from among the tropical surroundings at their base. A large portion of central Mexico would, but for irrigation, be a desert waste, and one may still ride through hundreds of miles of sand, only varied by the bunches of cacti and sage brush.

The air of Mexico, except along the coast, is very dry and invigorating. The people are gentle, when not aroused to anger, and are listless beyond belief. The young women are noted, the world over, as much for their beauty as the old are for their ugliness.

The archaeologist finds interest in the relics of a forgotten civilization, and even at the present time the churches are architectural marvels, when one considers that they are, as a rule, constructed of sun-dried bricks. The resources of the country are almost unlimited. The richest mines in the world are here, also valuable woods. Everything may be cultivated, from wheat to tropical fruits, coffee, tea, spices, everything that is planted proves how readily the soil responds to cultivation.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Railway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

Tipping the Butchers.

In the largest private market in New York nearly every woman who buys meat has her favorite butcher whom she tips with a dime at each order, thereby compounding a felony, for the fee invariably obtains for her an overweight of the purchase. Recently four of the 26 butchers employed left their places and opened an opposition market three blocks away. This aroused the suspicion of their former employer, who proceeded to investigate. He learned that 20 of his butchers had been systematically robbing him for the sake of tips. If a woman ordered three pounds of steak she would get 3½ or four pounds in consideration of her dime. On Saturday a single order of meat worth seven dollars was found billed at $3.12. The day before the proprietor detected a butcher in the act of giving away a four-pound chicken to a woman who had tipped him regularly for years. She had reached the door when he collared her. Her pleading kept her out of jail.—N. Y. Press

Missing Coronation Oath.

Strange things happen in the world in spite of the best-laid plans of men, but nothing more curious has happened in connection with the crowning of our kings than the mislaying of the coronation oath at the coronation of William IV. When the moment arrived for the king to swear to govern the people lawfully, the copy of the oath which had been specially prepared for his use, was missing from the altar, where it should have been placed, and the only way out of the dilemma was for the king to sign the oath printed in the book containing the order of the service. The fact that he did so is recorded in an interesting note by the primate of the time, which is historic as explaining a remarkable omission in the coronation roll which is stored somewhere in the national archives. The book in which King William signed his name is still to be seen in the manuscript library at Lambeth palace.—St. James Gazette

Three Yards of Art.

It is said that his name was Dudley Dunn, but authentic history is silent on that point. At all events he had sought the house of Dauber, R. A., and held conversation with him.

"Canvases?" said the artist, flattered by the presence of the millionaire in his studio. "Yes, sir; I shall be happy to show you my best canvases. Something allegorical? Or do you prefer a landscape?"

"What I want," said Mr. Dunn, the eminent contractor, with decision, "is something about a yard and a half long and a yard wide, to cover some cracks in the frescoin'."—London Answers.

Once a Cosmopolitan City.

Up to the time of the Prussian-Austrian war the old fortress of Mayence of the German confederation was beyond doubt the most cosmopolitan city in the world. At that time the official language was German, the law French, the government Hesse-Darmstadt, the church Roman Catholic, the administration Austrian, the military commander Prussian, the garrison mostly Italian, the post office Thurn and Taxis, the gasworks Baden and the telegraph Bavarian.—London Chronicle.

Admitted Free.

"Have you any articles of value with you?" asked the customs inspector.

"Nothing," answered the returning traveler, "except a wealthy grass widow, whom I expect to marry as soon as I land."

"Well," mused the inspector, rubbing his chin thoughtfully, "I guess you can take her through. Seems to me she will come under the classification of baled hay, and that is free."—Baltimore American.

Not His Job.

"Your husband is a floorwalker in a department store, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"Then, why don't you have him get up and walk the floor with the baby when she cries?"

"I can't wake him up. When I shake him and tell him what's the matter he mumbles something about soothing sirup in the drug department three aisles down, and then goes to snoring again."—Chicago Tribune.

No Extra Size.

"Are your safe deposit boxes extra large?" inquired the prospective patron.

"They are the full regulation size," replied the smiling attendant.

The stranger frowned.

"I'm afraid they won't do," he said. "I want one big enough to hold a hod of coal."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PAY FOR BOTH.

Local Election Officers Will Attempt to Get Pay for Both Elections.

Within a short time there will be a meeting of the members of the boards of registry and election in Plainfield, called for the purpose of considering plans for securing pay for both county and municipal elections at the November election. This matter has been under consideration for some time past and the Common Council has received many communications from the members of the board. A recent decision given in a similar case at Orange would give the members a chance to recover under the law, and the Plainfield contestants believe that now is the time to make a move in the matter.

FIRST OF WAGNER MUSICALES

GIVEN BY MISS ESTELLA NEUHAUS AT HOME OF MRS. J. K. MYERS.

Was Given This Morning and Greatly Enjoyed by Plainfield Society Women.

An audience of Plainfield society women listened to Miss Estella Neuhaus this morning at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, of East Seventh street, when the first of the series of four of Wagner musicales was given.

Miss Neuhaus began her course of descriptive recitals with "Das Rheingold," the prologue or key to the "Ring of the Niebelungen." For an hour her listeners gave the closest attention to her explanation of the gold of the Rhine-daughters, their loss of it through the dwarfs, the interposition of the gods and the curse which fell upon the giants, who demanded the gold.

The music motifs, indicative of the various characters and emotions, showed her thorough knowledge of the piano, as she illustrated the subject, and by the tone pictures brought vividly to each hearer the poetic genius of Wagner.

Miss Neuhaus is simple and unaffected in manner, and expresses herself in smooth, well-chosen English. The next recital will be given Tuesday morning, March 17, at the residence of Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, on "Die Walkure."

BOTH HORSES THROWN.

Collision Between Two Equipages on Park Avenue Last Night.

Two carriages, one belonging to A. L. Otterson and the other belonging to Michael Kennedy in charge of Edward Dooley, collided at Park avenue and Sixth street, last evening, owing to the former turning suddenly. Dooley's carriage had a shaft ripped off and one side was badly damaged. Both horses were thrown but the tangle was straightened out before either was injured.

Prevented Long Run.

A horse, belonging to J. W. Leary, of West Seventh street, ran away on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon. It avoided striking all other carriages and was in a fair way to make a long run when it was captured by Leslie VanZandt, at the corner of Park avenue.

Incident of Election.

John Adelman, a former marshal of the borough, was arrested at noon by Chief Marshal Campbell on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Mayor Smalley.

Mrs. W. C. Whitney, who is known as Nellie V. Millar, the song writer, has been dangerously ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bradley, of Jefferson avenue.

A FAVORED SPOT ON COAST

A UNIQUE CITY BY-THE-SEA IS ATLANTIC CITY.

Has No Season, But is Attractive at All Times—Central's Service to That Popular Resort.

Atlantic City has no season. It is perennial. It has broken a tradition; that a sea shore resort is necessarily a summer resort. It took daring and imagination on the part of the first man who decided to spend his winter vacation at a famed summer place, and even more of the same qualities on the part of the hotel keeper who decided to keep his house open and provide lodgings for whose might follow in the trail blazed by the daring innovator. The experiment succeeded a decade ago. The Gulf Stream made it so. Geographically, Atlantic City is the most favored resort on the North Atlantic coast. Its great temperature regulator is the Gulf Stream, which approaches the land nearer at this point than at any other place north of the Carolina coast. Thus the ocean winds that come breezing out of the east are tempered to the winter sojourner and made almost balmy and free from chill.

Put a pipe in your mouth, jam your hands snugly into your pockets, and take a turn along the board walk and notice the crowds. But for the absence of the light summer dresses, duck trousers, and straw hats, it might be a cool morning in early summer. Business men, University of Pennsylvania undergraduates, trim young women in light furs and smart wraps, invalids in roller chairs, convalescents making slow progress on the arm of an attendant—all taking advantage of the invigorating ocean breezes.

There are fun and amusement a-plenty for the person who is seeking recreation and not health. The Casino has an excellent ballroom, and a commodious white marble swimming pool of sea water, warmed to a comfortable temperature for bathing, no matter what the season. There are bowling alleys and sun parlors with commanding views of the ocean and espanade. Three long ocean piers are additional places of resort and amusement. They are kept comfortably heated when the temperature demands. For the large contingent who devote their time to outdoor sports there are the golf links, of which Harry Vardon, the English champion, spoke so highly. The course is owned by the Country Club, but its courtesies are extended to hotel guests. A well-equipped clubhouse is on the grounds of the club. Fishing is kept up throughout the winter. The Horse Show draws thousands of visitors. To speak of the hotels is hardly necessary with every convenience that luxury can command, to quiet villas and boarding houses. They stand to satisfy the vagaries and demands of any applicant.—New York Post.

The New Jersey Central has a double daily service to Atlantic City from foot of Liberty street, at 9:40 a. m., 3:40 p. m. Send to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York for illustrated booklet and time table. It's free for the asking.

WILL STEER CLEAR.

So the Four Prisoners Arraigned in Court Were All Released.

Suspensions of sentence were in order at this morning's session of the city court. Of four prisoners arraigned on drunk and disorderly charges, all were let go on their promising to steer clear of "red eye" in the future. The defendants were Austin Wilson, arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg, Willis Thorn and Jennie Duxbury, arrested by Patrolman Saunders and George Brown, arrested by Patrolman Myers.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Plainfielders who prefer fish to the daily routine of meat can best be supplied at Jerry Foss' Park avenue market. The stock is always fresh and orders are delivered promptly. Telephone connection.

R. W. Barnes, of Park avenue, announces the following specials for the week: Spinach, celery, watercress, parsley, oyster plant, apples, grape fruit, bananas, oranges and Heinze's apple and peach butter.

At VanSickle's North avenue market nothing but the best cuts of beef, lamb and veal are sold. Poultry is made a specialty and game is to be had in season. VanSickle sells at the lowest market rate for cash.

When it comes down to careful tailoring for women it is not at all necessary to go to New York. Right here in Plainfield, S. Hirsch keeps a tailoring establishment on Watchung avenue, where the best workmanship and latest styles can be found.

In compounding prescriptions, accuracy and skill is needed. Neither is lacking at Nagle's West Front street pharmacy where only experienced men are employed in the department. Nagle recently received a nice line of perfumes, including all the best makes.

If you would know that the milk and cream you use is absolutely pure, you should trade with a dairyman who has a Board of Health certificate. Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, possess such a certificate and the firm uses only the latest scientific methods in producing milk and cream.

It will be to your advantage to make an early selection of wall papers at the New York Painting and Decorating store if you want the choice of the latest patterns. This firm is now taking contracts for spring and summer work in papering and painting. All work is guaranteed to be first class.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has a telephone in his store, the number being 1342.

—An important meeting of the Knights of Columbus will be held tomorrow evening in their rooms in the Coward building, Park avenue. A full attendance is desired.

—P. S. Drayton, who recently opened the City Mills, has secured a new truck for the business. The wagon is yellow and green and is drawn by a pair of black horses.

—Workmen were engaged yesterday in placing two clusters of five lamps each at the trolley station on Watchung avenue. The lamps were placed on the opposite side of the street from the waiting room and are a noticeable improvement.

—After the regular prayer meeting of the First Baptist church tomorrow night the executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Society will hold a meeting. This will be the last meeting of the committee before the election of officers Friday night.

PERSONAL.

Mulford Estil, of Grove strert, has recovered sufficiently from his recent severe illness so that he can go out.

Charles P. Scott, Y. M. C. A. State secretary of boys' work, was in this city this morning in conference with Boys' Secretary Robbie.

Lawrence Green who, for a number of weeks past, has been soliciting business for the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company in Plainfield, has gone to Newark to continue his work. While in this city, Mr. Green met with considerable success.

Death of Little Child.

The death occurred yesterday of the one-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Rosso, of Park avenue, near Fourth street. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the parents' house.

Time Was No Object.

A shrewd old farmer named Uncle Harvey was approached by a bright, breezy young man who was selling incubators. The salesman gave Uncle Harvey the usual eloquent arguments. There was not another such incubator to be found, the prices were remarkably low, and so on.

Uncle Harvey did not respond. The young man talked himself out and made no impression. Finally he said: "You don't seem to appreciate these incubators."

"No," said Uncle Harvey.

"But just think of the time they will save!"

Uncle Harvey gave him one cold look and said: "What do you suppose I care for a hen's time?"—Green Bag.

The Ptarmigan's Black Tail.

One of the most entertaining of recent chapters in natural history is that which relates to the many curious means that birds and other animals possess of deceiving the eyes of their enemies. Mr. E. Sandys, in writing of upland game-birds, calls attention to a remarkable and beautiful instance. When the ptarmigan puts on its winter dress it has a black tail. One might suppose that this would attract attention to the bird crouching on the snow, but, in fact, it serves for concealment. Every projection on a snow field casts a dark shadow, and that is what the tail of the motionless ptarmigan looks like, the body of the bird resembling a mere hump on the white background.—Nature.

The Monument Was a Misfit.

A stately granite shaft had been erected in the cemetery of a Massachusetts town in memory of a man whose life had been anything but praiseworthy. None the less the monument was one of the sights to be shown to a stranger, and one day a former resident of the town who had been away for many years returned and was taken to see the granite obelisk. He was no stranger to the faults and failings of the man whom it eulogized with its gilded inscription, and after silent contemplation of the shaft on all sides he said: "Well, if it's for goodness it's too big, and if it's for badness it's not big enough."—New Haven Chronicle.

How Do They Let Down?

A story which will go straight to the hearts of shooting men is told of a clerical gentleman who was invited to join a shooting party. In the course of the day the host felt himself prodded in the back, and, turning round, found the amiable cleric poking at him with the muzzle of his gun, and his look of interrogation was met with the remark: "Can you tell me how to let down these beastly things?" alluding to the hammer of the gun, which was at full cock and loaded.—London Mail.

Stopped by Squirrels.

A half dozen men worked all one day in a Greenwood (Me.) mill recently trying to get it started, and two of them continued the next day. In despair they took the engine to pieces. Inside the cylinder were several parts of nuts, bits of bark and other fine stuff. A squirrel had gone in through the exhaust pipe and had discovered an excellent place for a winter storehouse.—N. Y. THE FLEXIBILITY OF A "DOROTHY DODD"

EASY FEET.

It is said that the woman who goes to church with squeaky shoes goes to the right place, for her sole needs attention. There is really a good deal about the sole of a woman's shoe that needs attention. You realize it if you stop to think how much you relieve the discomfort and "hardness" of shoes by making their soles flexible.

You can tell the difference as soon as a few steps have been taken. It means comfort, and a flexible sole, as a rule, will outlast any rigid sole. Don't overlook that.

They Cost $3.00.

MINSTREL SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

Plenty of Melody and Lots of Fun Scored Big Hit for Effort of Hope Y. M. A.

CROWD WELL PLEASED

Opening Night of Second Annual Minstrel Show Proved Decided Success—Eight Hundred People There—Topical Song Made a Hit—The Closing Sketch.

Was it a success? Well now. Just ask any of the eight hundred people who crowded Hope chapel last evening to enjoy the abundance of melody and no end of fun which went to make up the first night's performance of the second annual minstrel show of the Hope Y. M. A. From the time the curtain went up on that wonderful assemblage of "burnt cork" artists until it fell on the thrilling climax of the closing sketch, it scored a big hit, even greater than that made by last season's minstrel show. And those who had labored hard and long for the success of the affair settled down when it was all over for a brief moment of content as they heard the words of praise that came from every side and watched Fred Wharton tug away at the money bags which bore unquestionable evidence of the financial success of the first night.

The crowd went there to be entertained and that was just what happened. There was music, any quantity of it and good singing too, and then the chinks were filled in with fun, side-splitting horse-play and a good gathering of jokes which had the advantages, most of them at least, of being not only clever but new. Like all other well bred minstrel shows, there was a first part in which the end men and a chorus figured, an olio of good attractions and a burlesque sketch to wind up the programme.

There was a few minutes delay in raising the curtain but it wasn't long after 8 o'clock when City Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Y. M. A. and general supervisor of the whole show, sat down at the piano where he played all the accompaniments and directed operations generally. The footlights came up and then, behind the curtain, the chorus struck up "In the Evening by the Moonlight." As it closed, the curtain rose on a decidedly remarkable assemblage.

There in the centre, gorgeous in a dress suit and a sunflower, sat John H. Cose, the interlocutor. On the left were "Bones," William Holbert, Edward F. Shortman and Matthew D. Sweeney. On the right were "Tambos," George B. Cose, Bertram C. Firstbrook and Thomas M. Muir. The costumes were alike save that the coats of "Bones" were blue and those of "Tambos" red. Monster piccadilly collars, huge neckties and white duck trousers completed the outfit. Tier above tier sat the chorus. The effect of the costumes was quite artistic. On the left sat the dusky singers in striped shirts of blue and white, with white collars and red bow ties. On the right the singers' shirts were of red and white with white collars and blue bow ties. All wore white duck trousers and black gloves.

In the chorus were Frederick W. Bowden, Ira C. Bowers, Benjamin W. Evans, Augustus Feiring, William J. Firstbrook, Herbert R. Fluck, John R. Fritts, Hugh J. Gray, Elmer Hoffman, Harry Hoffman, Edwin B. Howes, Lendrum Jennings, Lawrence Jensen, Charles T. Leland, Tony Lusardi, Ray McVoy, George McCombe, David B. Martin, Wallace C. Morton, Chas Pawson, William S. Porter, Claude J. Roseberry, William H. Scott, Edward C. Searing, George Slorah, John B. Slorah, Bertram F. Tallamy, Frederick B. Tallamy, Louis V. Tallamy, William J. Tallamy, Chas. J. Vincent, George T. Whitley and Harry Williams.

A grand overture, led by the end men, was followed by an original welcoming song after which Bert Firstbrook had something to say. After liberating some jokes and insisting that America was discovered by either J. P. Morgan or Mr. Dooley, he subsided while "The Convent Bells were Ringing" was well sung by Louis V. Tallamy and the company. "Tambo" Cose made an immediate hit with his solo "Malinda's Bag Time Ball" in which he executed a dance that for agility even excelled his great performances at basket ball. So great was the demand for more that he gave "Won't You Roll Dem Eyes" as an encore.

Here Teddy Shortman related a few things about his uncle who died and left everything he had to an orphan asylum, subsequently explaining to Interlocutor Cose that everything consisted of seven children. A pleasingly rendered tenor solo, "Tell Me That Beautiful Story," was given by Augustus Feiring. Matt Sweeney, who had been gazing over the audience with a most injured expression, suddenly sprang into life and gave a rather strenuous duet with Bert Firstbrook, entitled "My Friend From My Home." The crowd was highly amused and demanded several repetitions.

George Cose was here reminded that his brother must have been in bed early in the afternoon as he saw the other's shirt hanging out on the line. He also told of some sad times in the barn with his father when the latter said it hurt him as much as it hurt George but George didn't think it hurt in the same place.

"Oh Come to Me My Love," as a tenor solo by William J. Tallamy, pleased so well that "Little Sweetheart" was given as an encore. Then Lusardi and Bowers manipulated their feet in clever fashion in some wing and buck dancing. The Tallamys, four brothers, sang "Stay in Your Own Back Yard" as a quartette with "Dear Old Southern Home" as an encore. Their quartette work was of a high order.

Although but a little lad, Chas. Leland did well in his soprano solo, "Only a Rose Bud" assisted by the Tallamy quartette.

"Bones" Holbert observed that rose buds were not so popular these days, that women were wearing "rats" in their hair now. He also had a real thrilling story of how Park avenue had been blocked by women with their children, attracted by a sign in a dyeing establishment to the effect "Kids cleaned 25 cents."

"Just Kiss Yourself Good Bye" sang Teddy Shortman with much vim and lots of action while the chorus came in on the finish. Tommy Muir interrupted proceedings by proudly displaying a medal he had received for bravery. The precise feat was marrying a widow with seven children. At a restaurant he had said, "Won't you have a lobster?" and she took him up. It was a case of love at first sight, he said, but he was never going to let her get a second. He also told some astonishing things from the lines in the hand of the interlocutor. He concluded with a topical song, the music for which was composed by William N. Runyon and the words a joint production. "Things are Different Now" and he distributed hits on the Common Council, the anti-annexationists, Mayor Smalley's opponent and the "speak easies." It made one of the hits of the evening and brought out repeated demands for more.

Matt Sweeney again cast a piercing glance at the rear of the hall and pictured a recent experience in which he had directed Harry Dreier, who was in search of Dr. Cregar as his son had swallowed a nickel, to Lawyer Frank Blatz. As Blatz had just gotten $1,000 out of a man, he ought to be able to get five cents out of a boy.

"My Bamboo Queen," sung and danced by the end men with the company joining in the chorus, brought the first part to an end.

In the olio, Harry Dilts punched the bag with a skill seldom seen and brought forth much applause. Will Holbert gave a monologue on all sorts of things, principally girls, and wound up by questioning whether there really were any brains in the head of City Judge Runyon as nobody had ever seen them. Some clever work on the banjo and some funny sayings constituted Joseph Loughead's share. Then Geo. Cose, Sweeney, Muir, Firstbrook and Shortman gave a "dance eccentrique," entitled "Essence of Old Virginny," in which they went through a quantity of gyrations altogether unusual but well timed. Illustrated songs by Elmer D. Cutting, tenor soloist of the Enterpean Glee Club, ended the part. He gave "When Kate and I Were Coming Through the Rye" and "Only a Dream of the Golden Past" in very satisfactory fashion.

"The Night Clerk," a sketch, completed the programme. It served to illustrate the troubles of a new night clerk (Tommy Muir) in a rather remarkable hotel in which Will Holbert, Matt Sweeney, Bert Firstbrook and Ted Shortman figured in various guises. The poor clerk saw ghosts, was knocked out by a guest who imagined himself John L. Sullivan, was visited by a brace of undertakers who started to prepare him for his funeral and finally was so badly frightened by a band of brigands that

MAYOR SMALLEY INDORSED BY BOROUGH VOTERS; REGARDED AS TRIUMPH FOR ANNEXATIONISTS

Entire Republican Ticket Elected in North Plainfield, Despite the Best Efforts of the Democrats and Some of the "Anti" Republicans.

MAYOR SMALLEY WAS RE-ELECTED BY 179 MAJORITY

AFTER ONE OF THE MOST BITTER ELECTIONS KNOWN IN BOROUGH HISTORY, MAYOR SMALLEY'S ADMINISTRATION WAS ENDORSED—THE GREATEST OPPOSITION WAS FROM THE "ANTIS," WHO WERE THIS TIME SIGNALLY DEFEATED—TRIED TO OVERTHROW SMALLEY AND LET BALANCE OF TICKET GO, BUT THE VICTORY WAS A DECISIVE ONE—THE VOTE IN THE TWO DISTRICTS.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley and his policy was roundly endorsed at the election held in North Plainfield, yesterday. The Mayor was re-elected by a majority of 179 while the rest of the Republican ticket was chosen by even larger figures. The Mayor fought his campaign on the record he had made during his four years of office. While naturally opposed by the Democratic organization, the most bitter fight against him was made by a coterie of "anti" Republicans. They attempted to drag the question of annexation into the fight. That they were overwhelmed at the ballot box is generally acknowledged as a triumph for the annexationists, who, without regard to party, supported him to a man.

And so is ended one of the bitterest fights that the borough of North Plainfield has passed through for years. As a result, the municipal affairs of the borough will go on as heretofore without change in the administration. Mayor Smalley and the entire Republican ticket, have been elected by substantial majorities. It was a victory that left no grain of doubt as to its extent.

At the start of the campaign, it was Republican against Democrat, Newton B. Smalley against William J. Conroy. While both sides were in earnest, the fight was fair. Then a band of Republicans, who had opposed annexation so bitterly at the special election in the fall, announced that they would not support Mayor Smalley but would throw their interests with those of the Democratic candidate and seek his election. Then entered a new issue into the campaign and the bitterness grew rapidly. Attacks were made on Mayor Smalley from the cover of anonymous communications. It was common talk that the Republicans in Somerville were quietly exerting every possible influence to defeat Mayor Smalley.

All those who opposed annexation were not lined up against the Republican nominee, however. There were many who voted against that proposition but who desired to see Mayor Smalley still at the head of the borough affairs. Some had changed their minds, others were avowed anti-annexationists, a few were not willing to take any stand on that question for the present until they should see what was going to happen. His friends stood by him and, despite the desperate efforts of the opposition, re-elected him. Of the advocates of Mayor Smalley there were none more active than the Democrats who had favored annexation and who now stood firm with their Republican friends of the greater city belief.

Previous to the election both sides were confident but it was generally conceded by impartial observers that Mayor Smalley had the better chance of election. It was thus The Daily Press predicted after an impartial survey of the situation. The anonymous attacks, instead of losing votes for him, strengthened his ranks as they won many votes of those who were disgusted by such tactics and admired the frank, honest stand taken by Mayor N. B. Smalley.

Mayor Smalley in reply to these covert attacks.

That there was an unusual amount of effort put forth by the political workers irrespective of party, was shown by the large vote polled, 1,056. From the time the polls opened at 6 o'clock in the morning until they closed at 7 o'clock at night the votes were dropped steadily into the ballot boxes. The Mayoralty candidates were probably the first to be on the scene. Mr. Conroy started in on Somerset street near his home, while his workers were on the picket line looking for the voters. Mayor Smalley went to the polls and directed personally the operations of his supporters. Probably the most exciting time during the day was between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening. There were a large number of voters who had been waiting for a "two spot" from one of the two parties and when they learned that the money was not forthcoming, they piled into the election place at the last minute and voted against the Republican nominees, it is said.

While the majorities tell an interesting story, the cuts made in the two tickets tell much more. In the first district there were 365 Republican tickets and 106 cuts. There were 153 Democratic tickets and 22 cuts. There were 346 Republican tickets voted in the second district and 44 cuts, while there were 192 Democratic tickets and 28 cuts. In this district there were two Republican tickets rejected. The total vote in the first district was 518 and 538 in the second district,. The appropriation of $550 for the Board of Health was carried unanimously on both tickets.

It was openly declared during the day that certain Democratic leaders were urging fellow members of the party to vote the Republican ticket with the exception of Mayor Smalley. The reason for this, it was claimed, was to make Mr. Smalley's majority as small as possible. Practically all of the cutting was aimed at Mayor Smalley and nearly everything was sacrificed to that end. While it is known that many Republicans worked and voted against the Mayor, it is also known that he received the hearty support of many Democrats. There was intense excitement when the vote was counted, although it was known a half hour previous that the Republican ticket was successful.

As soon as the vote was announced the ardent supporters of the Republican ticket celebrated by burning red fire in the street, while their exultation was shown in a more decided manner through the sounding of the borough fire-alarm bell. The victory seemed to give every one a general feeling that the administration had been strongly indorsed.

Immediately after the result was known there were several expressions of opinion regarding the election. Mayor Smalley, when seen, said that annexation had been his platform and he considered the result a vindication of his own actions as Mayor. He believed that the result was due to the lying and cowardice of his enemies.

"However, in makes no difference what the Legislature does," continued the Mayor, "we will continue the fight until North Plainfield is a part of Union county."

Former Mayor William L. Saunders said that he considered the result a great victory for annexation and were an election to be held tomorrow he believed that a majority of the people would favor annexation and the proposition would be carried easily. Mr. Saunders said that he had a petition signed by 120 anti-annexationists, the signatures being collected by W. C. Smith, asking the Legislature to let the annexation and consolidation laws alone. The former mayor said in conclusion that he was now sure that the people of the State would believe the people of North Plainfield in earnest in their efforts to secure annexation.

Former State Senator Charles A. Reed explained that when he kept the newspaper correspondents out of the Senate caucus in Trenton he was immediately "marked" by them and the statement made that "newspapers make and unmake public men."

"From that time," Mr. Reed said, "the cause of annexation has been misrepresented by the State press simply because of a feeling against me." Mr. Reed was emphatic in his declaration that the victory of the Republican ticket was one also for annexation.

ICE PLANT SOLD.

Frank Bergen Purchaser in the Interest, 'Tis Said, of H. G. Runkle, Who Will Reopen the Plant.

The sale of the Hygiea ice plant took place yesterday afternoon at the works on North avenue. The bidding was slow and there were but few present. The plant which is valued at $50,000 was knocked down to Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, for $11,000.

It is understood that he bought the place as a representative of H. G. Runkle who, it has been said, plans to start the plant up again under the managment of F. T. Ostrom. Mr. Runkle is the heaviest creditor of the concern.

"OUR COUNTRY."

Entertainment Given Under Auspices of Loyal Temperance Legion.

Under the auspices of the Loyal Temperance Legion an entertainment and social meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue. Miss May E. Howlett, superintendent of the Legion, had charge of the affair. The entertainment was called "Our Country." There were recitations by the Misses Violet Knight, Ethel Vail, Lizzie Frank, Anna Vail and Mildred Dennis. There was also an interesting talk by Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, president of the W. C. T. U., who told of President Roosevelt and other Presidents of the United States.

Four prizes were presented to those who arranged the best temperance scrap book during the past year. The prize winners were Miss Emily Bye, a book; Miss Mabel Seals, a picture; Miss Ethel Vail, a pin cushion, and Miss Cora Gray, a cup and saucer.

NOT AFTER CONTAACT.

Pennsylvania Will Not Try to Wrest Mail Contract From N. Y. Central.

The rumor that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will enter the speed contest to wrest the fast mail contract from the New York Central and Lake Shore is denied. At present the company is more concerned in breaking the freight blockade on its road. To secure this contract from the Government it would be necessary for the Pennsylvania to demonstrate daily for two months that it can run a train in less time between New York and Chicago than can the New York Central, and, while there is little doubt but what they could accomplish this, it would be an extensive undertaking, and the company has all the business it can conveniently handle. The contract amounts to $6,000,000.

GAMES AND MUSIC.

Chief Attractions at Endeavor Social at First Baptist Church.

A social under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church was held last evening, when there was a large number present considering counter attractions. Games were played and several piano selections were rendered by Miss Grace TenEyck. At a late hour refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised: Miss Bessie Wilson, Miss Bessie TenEyck, Miss Bertha Peck, Miss Grace TenEyck, N. Douglas Drake, John Rittenhouse and J. Henry Crane.

JUNIOR PLAY.

Will Present "Cranford Dames" at Franklin Hall Saturday Evening.

The junior class of the City High School will give the play "Cranford Dames" in Franklin Hall, Saturday evening. This play consists of scenes from Mrs. Gaskell's novel "Cranford," and is of a highly amusing nature. The caste consists of the young women of the class and there is much opportunity for good acting in the several parts. Regular rehearsals are being held from day to day and all who take part are fast attaining a state of perfection which will doubtless warrant the success of the play.

Admitted to Bar.

Announcement is made of the success of Asa F. Randolph, of this city, in passing the recent examination for admission to the New Jersey Bar as attorney. Attorney William Newcorn has also been admitted as a counsellor.

—The Mocha and Java coffee, sold by Neuman Brothers, cannot be surpassed for quality. It retails at 30 cents per pound.

ELECTIONS IN OTHER PLACES

Local Fights in Fanwood Borough, Somerville, Dunellen and Other Neighbors.

SOME LIVELY CONTESTS

Democrats Clean Sweep in Dunellen Independents Won in Fanwood Borough—Only One Ticket in North Plainfield and Fanwood Townships—The Details.

Spring elections were held yesterday in boroughs and townships through New Jersey. Plainfield's neighbors all had elections and some of them developed quite lively contests. In others, there was only one ticket in the field. The results are given in detail below.

N. P. TOWNSHIP.

The election in North Plainfield township yesterday resulted in the election of the only ticket in the field which was as follows:

For freeholder, William M. Demler; for town clerk, John J. Clark; for collector, E. S. Ackor; overseer of the poor, Michael Duffy; town committeeman, Albert Brokaw; constables, Francis Bartell and Amiel Clements; commissioners of appeals, Daniel F. Acker, J. W. Codington and William Titus; surveyors of highways, H. Texier and Goldson Smalley; poundkeepers, Charles Willis and Carl Rubenstein.

The only contest of the election was in the appropriation for roads. Opinion was divided as to whether to appropriate $2,000 or $1,500 for roads The former appropriation was carried by 67 majority. $600 was appropriated for the poor and $50 each for township committeemen's salaries. The total poll was 91 votes.

DUNELLEN.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 11—The entire Democratic ticket with the exception of justice of the peace, was elected here yesterday. The total vote was 317 votes which was unusually heavy. The result of the election is as follows:

For mayor, William Wyckoff, Dem., 194; William J. Hamilton, Rep., 114; for Freeholder, Peter C. Staats, Dem., 178; Eugene Runyon, Rep., 127; for assessor, John H. L. Peters, Dem., 222; Willard L. Larrabee, Rep., 82; for collector, George W. Day, Dem., 173; Isaac J. Stites, Rep., 134; for borough councilmen for a term of three years, John W. Moynihan, Dem., 183, Cornelius M. Ryno, Dem., 161, and Lewis Schneider, Dem., for two years, 156, J. Newton Apgar, Rep., 123; Lewis T. Titsworth, Rep., 128, Fowler W. Vail, Rep., for two years, 153; for commissioner of appeals, Joseph Kuldoshes, Dem., 156; George S. Larkin, Rep., 148; for justice of the peace, Albert W. Warden, Rep., 141.

Both parties made the same appropriations which are as follows: Borough purposes, $3,000; support of the poor, $100. Five votes were rejected on each ticket.

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 11—The Democrats of Fanwood township scored a hollow victory, yesterday, as their's was the only ticket in the field. Out of a registered list of 300, but 78 votes were cast, but very little interest having been manifested by the voters. Following is the ticket elected: Township committeeman, T. J. Nicholl; collector, John L. Darby; assessor, Charles H. French; constable, Horace Pangborn; commissioner of appeal, Clarence Lambert; surveyors of highway, George W. Scudder and George A. Clark. The appropriations were: Fire, $200; poor, $400; police, $100; bonds, $2,000; sidewalks, $250.

FANWOOD BOROUGH.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, March 11—Although but one ticket was placed in the field in this borough when the primaries were held, Saturday night, the voters found three in evidence at the polls, yesterday. The tickets and votes were as follows: Citizens, for mayor, Alfred McKeown, 23; for councilmen, three years, H. C. Christianson, 20; H. P. Robinson, 23; for councilmen, two years, W. H. Hoar, 21; for assessor, T. S. Young, 20; for collector and

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

F. M. Whitley, of Steiner place, is much improved from a recent illness.

Mrs. J. S. Powlison, of the borough, is improved from a recent illness.

Councilman and Mrs. E. M. Daniel are sojourning at Atlantic City for a short time.

J. Frank Hubbard, of West Seventh street, continues to improve from a long illness.

Miss Edith Cairns, of West Fifth street, has recovered from a recent severe illness.

Walter V. Dunlap, of Stelton, was a guest of friends in this city yesterday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Crosby, of West Sixth street, is spending a few days as the guest of her sister in Newark.

Edward Degan, of West Sixth street, who has been very ill with the grip, is now rapidly recovering.

Mrs. Morris Tremaine, of Buffalo, N. Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. James Middledith, of Truell Court.

Arthur M. Griffen, who has been enjoying a pleasure trip to his farm in East Arcadia, N. C., has returned home.

Miss Beatrice Young, of Newark, has returned home after a few days' visit as the guest of Miss Lillian Fenesey, of Watchung avenue.

Charles F. Hasbrouk, of Passaic, who has been entertained during the past few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carter, of Harrison avenue, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander, of Rutland, Vt., who have been living in Plainfield during the winter, have returned to their former home for the summer season.

J. Wilson Hamilton, formerly of Dunellen but now of Brooklyn, visited this city yesterday afternoon. He was formerly employed in Woodhull & Martin's dry goods store.

Fireman Samuel McCarty, who was injured in the railroad wreck at Westfield on the New Jersey Central, is steadily improving and is able to walk about the hospital and grounds.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on March 12, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Free for the asking.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Three candidates will be initiated at the meeting of Robin Hood Camp, Woodmen of the World, Thursday evening, March 19.

—There will be initiation at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., tomorrow evening. A full attendance of members is desired.

—Oliver B. Leonard and family, who have been living in Perth Amboy for the past few years, will return to Plainfield for residence in the spring.

—A meeting of the boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A. will be held tomorrow evening when important matters will be brought up for discussion.

—A special meeting for conference will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church Friday afternoon under the auspices of the Woman's Home Missionary Society.

—W. W. Hart, of Duer street, has returned home from an extensive trip through the west. He will move from his present house on Duer street to one on Fairview avenue early next month.

The best pill 'neath the stars and stripes;

It cleanses the system and never gripes.

Little Early Risers of worldly repute—

Ask for DeWitt's and take no substitute.

A small pill, easy to buy, easy to take and easy to act, but never failing in results. DeWitt's Little Early Risers arouse the secretions and act as a tonic to the liver, curing permanently. L. W. Randolph.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Fred Endress, the West Front street butcher, enjoys a large patronage simply because he gives full value for everything sold. His meat and seafood departments are models of their kind.

When medicines of any kind are needed in the household, consult Hodge, the druggist in the Y. M. C. A. building. His stock is kept strictly fresh—no antiquated goods. Agent for Belle Meade sweets.

Bargains in women's suits are the feature of the week at I. H. Boehm's dry goods emporium on West Front street. All the offerings in this department are worth investigating as a glance at the ad on page 2 will show.

If one should want great bargains in suits and underwear the New York Bargain Store on West Front street is the place to go. They are selling out their stock, preparatory to removal and bargains galore are seen on every side.

It is an easy matter to tell a Dorothy Dodd shoe. The flexibility it possesses is not embodied in any other make of women's footgear. It is comfortable and will outlast the most rigid of soles. VanArsdale is the sole local agent.

When you get ready to purchase your spring or summer suit of clothing go to M. Weinberger's store on West Front street and inspect his large stock. Only one quality, but the lowest prices prevail. He keeps a complete stock of clothing for men and boys.

There are many ways of papering a room or painting a house and in this work there is an opportunity to do poor work. If you give your contract to C. Conover & Company, of Elmwood place, you can rest assured that the work will be first-class in every particular. Only the best materials are used and the best workmen employed.

In the spring of the year many households will need refurnishing in the kitchen department, and if you need any utensils in this line the Gayle Hardware Company can furnish you with them in the best quality and lowest prices. The company always keeps a full and complete line of hardware and satisfaction is guaranteed.

If a young woman wears an amethyst she has an amulet against flightiness and folly, and may join in any frolicsome venture without fear of being led too far. If she wears a sapphire she will be proof against deceitful suitors, no matter how artful their wooing may be. Aqua-marine likewise gives the power to divine the thoughts of others. If she gets possession of a ruby she has a charm against rheumatism and kindred diseases, and a prompter to vivacity and fascination of manners. Carbuncle and garnet will exert a similar influence, quickening the circulation and warming the fancy. All these and others may be purchased at J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store at 115 Park avenue.

NEW QUARTERS.

J. A. Smith & Brother Will Move to the Cutter Building April 1.

J. A. Smith & Brother, grocers, are planning to move their business from its present location to the Cutter building about April 1. Soon afterward S. Scheuer & Company will begin to arrange for removing their business to the store vacated by Smith Brothers. Scheuer & Company have in mind plans for removing the central entrance to the upper part of the building and putting in an entirely new front. The entrance would then be put on the side next to Lederer's dry goods store.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

Vagaries of a Cold.

You can never be quite sure where a cold is going to hit you. In the fall and winter it may settle in the bowels, producing severe pain. Do not be alarmed nor torment yourself with fears of appendicitis. At the first sign of a cramp take Perry Davis' Painkiller in warm, sweetened water and relief comes at once. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. 25 and 50 cents.

A BUFFALO TRAGEDY

Lawyer Pennell Is Instantly Killed.

PROMINENT FIGURE IN BURDICK CASE

Automobile In Which They Were Riding Suddenly Veered and Plunged Into a Stone Quarry.

BUFFALO, March 11.—Ghastly as was the death of E. L. Burdick, a doubly grewsome tragedy occurred late yesterday when Arthur R. Pennell, one of the chief figures in the investigation of the Burdick murder, was hurled headlong into eternity. Mr. Pennell was out riding in his electric automobile with Mrs. Pennell. They were on Kensington avenue, near Fillmore avenue, skimming along the edge of the Gehres stone quarry, which is a huge rock ribbed hole in the ground on the right side of the avenue going out. Mr. Pennell's hat blew off. The automobile swerved, and in some inexplicable manner it leaped over the curb into the abyss below. Pennell was killed instantly, his head being crushed to an unrecognizable mass. Mrs. Pennell was injured so severely that the surgeons at the Sisters' hospital, to which she was taken, said her chances of recovery were very slight.

Two boys saw the tragedy. They were too far away to know positively just how it happened. Mrs. Pennell when found was unable to speak. She was only semiconscious when taken to the hospital and could speak no coherent words. After the operations, performed immediately by Dr. Eugene Smith in the hope of saving her life, she lapsed into unconsciousness, and hence there can be no true version of precisely how the accident occurred.

Mr. Pennell left his office in the Austin building at 4:05 o'clock. He went to his home at 208 Cleveland avenue. A friend who called up Mr. Pennell on the telephone about 5 o'clock was informed that Mr. Pennell was in, but that he was just going out for a drive. He informed the friend that he would be back between 6:30 and 7 o'clock and made an appointment with him for that hour.

"Would 6 o'clock do?" he was asked. "Oh, well, you might come at 6 o'clock, but you better make it later," said Mr. Pennell.

Those were the last words Pennell was known to speak to any one except Mrs. Pennell, save that he went back to the stairs and called out to Lizzie Romance, the maid, "Lizzie, we will be back between 6 and 7 o'clock."

Then he went out, and he and Mrs. Pennell went away in the automobile. It was his last ride.

It was learned afterward that the matter mentioned in the telephone talk was something he considered most serious and which weighed heavily upon him. It was in connection with the Burdick case.

To a reporter some days ago he said: "About this case of Burdick. I have told the authorities I went away to New York before the murder and that I met Mrs. Burdick while I was away. In fact, I saw Mrs. Burdick near New York two or three days before the murder of Mr. Burdick. I came home again Wednesday, the day before the murder. I have told it frankly, and the meeting was a proper one. But they seem determined to drag all this business out in the papers. I would do anything to stop it."

Hagaman's Body to Be Exhumed.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Justice O'Gorman in part 2 of the supreme court has granted a petition made by Assistant District Attorney Johnstone for an order to exhume the remains of the late Theodore Hagaman, who died at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel Sept. 11, 1900, under what the district attorney now declares to have been most peculiar circumstances. The body is interred in Rural cemetery, Poughkeepsie, and an officer was sent from here this morning to carry out the order of the court.

Lynn Strikers Throw Eggs.

LYNN, Mass., March 11.—Egg throwing continues in connection with the shoe strike here. Two women stitchers employed in union stamp factories were assailed by two men, and the husband of one of the women attacked the assailants, but was beaten off, and the men escaped. The Boot and Shoe Workers' union strike of machine lasters at the factory of William Porter & Son has not progressed according to expectations. Six more lasters have returned, making eighteen in all.

Policeman's Widow Remembered.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 11.—General Manager Sewell of the trolley company has addressed a letter to Mrs. Paul Mendelssohn, wife of the murdered policeman, inclosing a check for $50 and informing her that the same sum will be paid the first of every month during the current year and until further notice. A sum total of $9,850 now hangs over the man or men who did the shooting on Sunday night.

Land Company Officers Held.

CHICAGO, March 11.—President Frank D. Bittinger and Treasurer Orlin N. Vincent of the Nicaragua company, a land investment concern, were held to the grand jury under bonds of $5,000 and $1,000 respectively, charged with having used the mails to defraud. George U. Roulet, general manager of the company, was discharged from custody.

Americans Get Scandinavian Mines.

OSTERSUND, Sweden, March 11.—The Siangeli copper fields, which extend on either side of the boundary between Norway and Sweden, have been sold to an American company for $1,900,000.

MORGAN GAINS POINT

Spooner Canal Act to Be Attached to Treaty.

NOT CONSIDERED AN AMENDMENT.

Alabama Senator Continues His Deluge of Talk Against the Panama Pact—Much Old Ground Gone Over.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Senator Morgan has secured the first material concession that has been made to him by the senate in connection with the Panama canal treaty with Colombia. This consisted of an agreement to attach the Spooner canal act bodily to the treaty. This change was made in compliance with a request presented by Senator Lodge during yesterday's executive session of the senate and after the necessity for it had been discussed by Mr. Morgan and other members of the senate. Senator Daniel expressed the opinion that as the preamble to the treaty calls for the attachment of a copy of the act that attachment was necessary to preserve the terms of the document intact. Senator Morgan contended that without this attachment the treaty was absolutely invalid.

Senators Teller and Hoar took the opposite view, urging that as the act was in existence and of record in the statutes of the United States the physical annexation was of no consequence whatever. Senator Lodge, however, suggested that no injury could result from the attachment of the act, and unanimous consent was given to do so. It was specifically stipulated, however, that this concession did not amount to an amendment of the treaty.

Senator Morgan consumed the entire time of the remainder of the closed session discussing the canal question from various points of view and going over much ground he already had covered. Most of his speech was written, and when Senator Cullom asked him if the speech he was reading was a new one or an old one he replied, with some manifestation of vexation, that it was new, adding that he did not have to repeat his addresses. He discussed particularly the attitude of the isthmian canal commission, of which Admiral Walker is the head, and criticised to some extent the change of view taken by that commission in its last report. He also dwelt on the variation of the terms of the treaty from those of the Spooner law.

During the progress of his address Senator Morgan expressed a desire to have copies of the correspondence between the United States government and the new Panama Canal company bearing on the acceptance of the option given by that company to the United States to purchase the canal for $40,000,000, and the senate consented to request the secretary of state for the correspondence. The papers had not arrived at half past 3 o'clock, and as Senator Morgan stated that he would be unable to proceed without them Senator Cullom moved that the senate adjourn, and this motion prevailed.

To Investigate the Perry Case.

BOSTON, March 11.—At the funeral of George L. O. Perry, the young negro who confessed to the murder of Clara A. Morton and of Agnes McPhee and who died of typhoid fever Sunday, Rev. William Fickland of the Charles Street A. M. E. church, the officiating clergyman, demanded an investigation of Perry's treatment in the jail hospital at East Cambridge to determine whether or not death was due to natural causes.

Bearish Crop Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The United States government crop report for March, just issued, is as follows: Reserve in farmers' hands, wheat, 164,000,000 bushels, 24½ per cent of last year's crop; corn, 1,050,600,000 bushels, 41.6 per cent of last year's crop; oats, 365,555,000 bushels, 41.9 per cent of last year's crop. The reserve of wheat last year at this time was 173,000,000 bushels, and corn, 443,000,000 bushels.

Cork Workers Strike.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 11.—Over 100 of the rippers, blockers and slicers at Armstrong's cork works have struck because, they allege, the company has been discharging union workmen for no other reason than that they are members of the union. The union was only formed about a month ago, and since then, it is charged, the company has been discharging the members in bunches of ten or fifteen.

Quigley Installed Archbishop.

CHICAGO, March 11.—In the presence of a great throng of the laity and priesthood crowding every foot of space in the huge Cathedral of the Holy Name Bishop James E. Quigley of Buffalo was installed archbishop of the Chicago archdiocese of the Roman Catholic church. The ceremonies, which were most impressive and solemn, were in accordance with an ancient ritual of the church.

Modus Vivendi Renewed.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 11.—The legislative assembly last evening unanimously renewed the French shore modus vivendi for the current year after a powerful speech from Premier Bond, who declared his conviction that the imperial government intended to redress the colony's grievances at the earliest possible moment.

Ontario Legislature Opens.

TORONTO, Ont., March 11.—The first session of the Tenth legislature of Ontario opened here yesterday, the Liberal government having a majority of five. The liquor act, the assessment act and the question of asking the Dominion government to repeal the soft coal duty are the main matters to be discussed.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons Shows Faith In Her Husband.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Bob Fitzsimmons' wife, who as Rose Julian was once known as the peer of all feminine athletes, has deposited a certified check for $5,000 with Al Smith as an evidence of confidence that her husband would whip "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien in a battle for the middleweight championship of the world.

This is unique in the annals of pugilism. It is the first time that a check signed by a woman has been the guarantee of good faith in a coming prizefight.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons has advised her husband before. She was at the Carson City ringside when he knocked out Jim Corbett and kept advising him to stop punching Corbett's jaw and to play for the body. Fitz looked over at her, smiled and nodded his head and within the next ten minutes had landed the famous solar plexus punch that made him champion of the world.

Fizer Ruled Off the Turf.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—After the Lord Neville race Monday the stewards notified W. H. Fizer to appear before them. The conference was held behind closed doors, and at its close it was announced that Fizer had been ruled off the turf for violation of the Western Jockey club's rule relative to the use of drugs on horses. Nothing is known except by the stewards of the character of the evidence adduced. Jockey Treanor was suspended for foul riding on Marco in the fourth race. Safeguard has been sold to T. Licalzi and Arnold K. to E. Trotter, both at private sale. Handspinner and Tom Collins were the only winning favorites yesterday.

Forest King at 50 to 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Forest King was the medium of a big killing at Oakland. He was played from 50 to 1 to 10 to 1 in the fifth race at a mile and seventy yards and won easily. The local ring was hit hard, and it is understood he was well supported in poolrooms throughout the country. The weather was fine and the track good.

Proposed New Game Laws.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11.—The senate committee on forest, fish and game has reported favorably the bills prohibiting the spring shooting of wild fowl and extending the close season for deer two weeks by making it begin Nov. 1. The purpose of the latter bill is to prevent the slaughter of deer by tracking them in the snow.

COSTLY DOCK FIRE.

Property Valued at $600,000 Destroyed at Portland, Ore.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 11.—Fire broke out shortly before noon on Victoria dock, on the east side of the Willamette river and north of the railroad bridge, and burned fiercely for two hours, destroying property of an estimated value of $600,000.

The fire spread to the Irving dock adjoining, and the two docks, together with about 350,000 bushels of wheat, were destroyed. Several other buildings and about twenty freight cars were destroyed. The fire department was handicapped badly on account of being able to put water only on one side of the burning dock. The two docks are about 800 feet long by 200 feet deep.

It is rumored that the fire was started by a cigarette thrown on the floor.

Mrs. Payne's Slayer Still at Large.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 11.—Two men were taken to police headquarters here, each suspected of being Edward Mason, the alleged murderer of Mrs. George Payne at Trowbridge, Pa., on Feb. 26, but were released when they had satisfactorily accounted for themselves. Mason has been traced to Hurleyville, Sullivan county, where he eluded the officers. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for his arrest and conviction.

Great Blaze In Northern Pacific Mine

CHESTNUT, Mont., March 11.—The fire in the Northern Pacific coal mine has broken out with renewed vigor, and at this time the destruction of the entire property is threatened. The mine is filled with flames and smoke, and it is impossible for firemen to get within a thousand feet of the fire.

Killed While Asleep on the Track.

FONDA, N. Y., March 11.—William Nestle of St. Johnsville, a section hand on the New York Central railroad, was killed by the Twentieth Century limited at that place. He was sitting on the rail asleep.

A FIVE MILLION PLAN

Electric Propulsion Proposed on New York Waterways.

EDUCATIONAL BILLS ARE EXPLAINED

Measures Before Legislature at Albany Offer Choice of Partisan or Nonpartisan Control of the Public School System.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11.—An entirely new canal proposition has made its appearance here. John Murray Mitchell of New York city proposes to the canal committee the improvement of the present waterway at an expense of only $5,000,000. Mr. Mitchell represents citizens who aim to accomplish by such an expenditure as much improvement in a shorter period as would be obtained by the expenditure of $100,000,000.

The plan is a simple one, and electricity is to be its basis. In short, they propose to erect along the canal a third rail electric track, on which will be run "donkey motors." These motors will tow canal boats at a higher rate of speed and at a minimum cost to boat owners and shippers. The cost of equipping the Erie and Champlain canals will be $5,000,000, and the present canal with its present depth will be utilized. All that the promoters of the enterprise ask is 2 per cent of the gross receipts charged for towing. It is estimated that the revenue derived by the state will be sufficient to pay for all repairs. These repairs amount to about $500,000 a year. The apparatus is to be the property of the state.

Secretary Parsons says regarding Senator Brown's unification bills:

"These bills if enacted would remove the public high schools entirely from the supervision of the regents of the university and bring such schools under the same exclusive jurisdiction of the state superintendent as he has heretofore had over the elementary schools. This is a final effort to do at once and directly what the superintendent's department has long been trying to do indirectly and by degrees.

"It offers to the legislature and to the public opportunity to choose between educational unification under the nonpartisan board of regents as embodied in Senator Stevens' bill or to have the entire public school system by these new bills placed under the control of the superintendent of public instruction, with the consequent exposure to political interference incidental to the conditions under which his office exists.

"Those who believe in taking and keeping the schools entirely out of politics will support the bill of Senator Stevens."

Governor Murphy's Appointments.

TRENTON, N. J., March 11.—Governor Murphy has sent to the senate a large batch of nominations. Most of the nominations were for places on different boards for the management of state institutions. Among the more important appointments were those of Major E. J. Anderson to succeed himself as supervisor of the New Jersey state prison, Winston Garrison to succeed William Stainsby as superintendent of the bureau of labor statistics and David O. Watkins to succeed William Bettle as banking and insurance commissioner. The senate passed to second reading the senate bill providing for a special election on Sept. 22 on the constitutional amendments which have been adopted by two succeeding legislatures.

The Connecticut's Keel Laid.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The first keel plate of the battleship Connecticut, the first large battleship to be constructed in a government navy yard and the largest war vessel ever laid down for the United States, was laid yesterday in the navy yard in Brooklyn. There were no ceremonies in connection with the laying of the plate, and the only persons present were Constructor Capps and a few other officers directly engaged in the work on the ship.

Leipziger Bank's Head Sentenced.

LEIPSIC, March 11.—After a second trial lasting three weeks Herr Exner, manager of the Leipziger bank, has been sentenced to two years and six months' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000 for falsifications of accounts and attempted fraud, the charge of fraudulent bankruptcy having been dropped. The fifteen months that Herr Exner has already spent in prison will be reckoned as part of the sentence.

Striking Teamsters Become Violent.

TOLEDO, O., March 11.—Owing to an attack made on nonunion teamsters by striking teamsters the Toledo Cartage association has declared its intention of asking Governor Nash to send troops to this city to protect its nonunion men. Scenes of violence have been repeated on the streets, revolvers have been flashed, and the police have refused to interfere.

Six Suspicious Deaths.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The 700 or more passengers and all the crew of the steamer Karamania, which reported six strange and sudden deaths on her trip from Marseilles on her arrival here, were sent to Hoffman's island for detention and examination on the assumption by Health Officer Doty that the deaths might have been caused by Asiatic cholera.

Peabody Expects Strike Settlement.

DENVER, March 11.—Governor Peabody has announced that he looks for a settlement of the mill and smelter men's strike at Colorado City soon. He refuses to make public any of his reasons for that belief.

MAYOR SMALLEY'S RE-ELECTION.

It was no great surprise that Mayor N. B. Smalley should be reelected in North Plainfield yesterday. He made a good mayor for four years and the thinking people of the borough recognized that fact and returned him to office. It was thus an endorsement for Mayor Smalley and the policy of his administration.

But there was another feature to the election. Certain "anti" Republicans went over to the Democratic candidate and infused much bitterness in the campaign. Anonymous attacks were made to bring about the defeat of Mr. Smalley. Instead, however, of injuring his chances, methods of that nature disgusted many and they came to the support of the Mayor.

It was this same band which attempted to make the fight on annexation grounds. But the "anti" forces were not unanimous in their views and many of them favored the reelection of Mr. Smalley. The annexationists rallied without exception to his banner and the attempt to make annexation the issue resulted in what cannot but be considered a triumph for the annexationists. That this strong endorsement of the leading champion of annexation may have some effect on the fate of the "repealers" for the annexation and consolidation acts now before the Legislature is generally hoped.

Nobody could have asked for a more enthusiastic reception than that received by the boys of the Hope Y. M. A. at the initial night of their minstrel show last night. They were amateurs, of course, but the show was a creditable one and, while the programme was long, it was lively enough to sustain the interest. The performance will continue tonight and Friday night. Judging from the success of the first night, there ought to be no trouble in filling the chapel to its capacity each succeeding night. Really the boys, who have worked hard in preparing this programme, are deserving of much credit for it's a good minstrel show. Then there's a lot of credit that ought to go to City Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Y. M. A. and director of the show, who has labored night and day for its success, and to Will Holbert, whose experience made him a valuable man as coach.

A Reading express train, running at full speed, struck an open switch near Trenton Junction and several cars were derailed. The locomotive tried to dive into the bank. None of the cars were wrecked and the engineer was the only one hurt and his injuries were very slight. Fortune was on the side of the railroad company this time. There are hundreds of narrow escapes every day in which some circumstance prevents a horrible catastrophe. Yet when the catastrophe comes, people seem to forget the countless narrow escapes.

ASBURY PARK PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

Will Rebuild Board Walk and Prabably Erect a New Music Pavilion.

MAYBE BATH HOUSES

THE PROPOSED CASINO WILL NOT BE STARTED UNTIL FALL.

Appointment of a Beach Commission Soon to be Made—Lots of Applications Received for the Music Contract.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, March 11—The sale last week of $150,000 of the beach and sewer bonds, and Founder Bradley's consent to extend Asbury Park's option for the purchase of the beach and sewers to April 1, or later, insures the transfer of the boardwalk this spring in ample time to accomplish considerable improvement before next summer. At no time was it expected that work on the casinos would begin before next fall. The output of bonds was purposely limited to $175,000, that being the amount required to pay Mr. Bradley and provide $25,000 for immediate improvements.

Just what shall be done with this $25,000 is the question now agitating the public mind in Asbury Park. It is conceded that the old boardwalk must be torn up and replanked in time for the opening of the season. There is a powerful contingent in the Park, however, which is contending for an additional issue of $25,000 bonds at once to begin the erection of a music pavilion and, at least, one group of modern bath-houses. In expectation of the music pavilion and shell band-stand on the beach, the council's music committee has been holding off the summer band contract in the hope that this momentous question would be settled in time to arrange for a band of thirty or forty pieces in case the music pavilion should become an accomplished fact.

Former Assemblyman S. W. Kirkbride, who is chairman of this committee, says that he has already nearly fifty applications for the band contract.

The appointment of a beach commission, which falls to Acting Mayor Bruce S. Keator, will take place on the day Founder Bradley delivers his deed. The make-up of this commission is a matter of conjecture, although it is practically settled that Frank B. Conover, proprietor of the Coleman House, will be its chairman. There is much detail to arrange in connection with the summer's business on the beach. Privileges are to be rented and the leasing of the bathing groups has become a matter of anxious thought. Whether the 5,000 bath-houses will be leased in groups or as a whole cannot yet be determined, although it is thought that the latter plan will most likely be adopted.

Plans for a casino, to cost $100,000, are in the hands of a local architect, but they have not yet been divulged. The Council has practically agreed to hold back $125,000 of the improvement bonds until next September, when a general plan for the improvements on a grand scale will have been adopted by the beach commission.

The boardwalk, it is expected, will be relaid before June 15.

PLANS FOR SEWERS.

For New System to be Built in the Southwestern Section.

Plans are being prepared in the office of H. C. VanKmburgh for the new sewer which is to be laid from the junction of Grant avenue and West Front street and from there skirting around the south side of the city. This sewer will serve as the trunk sewer for the new residential park which is to be built in that locality. Owing to the conditions of the grade the sewer will be laid twenty feet deep in some places. This will necessitate the erection of a pumping station which will be used for the purpose of lifting the sewage over about twenty feet of grade, in order that it may flow into the disposal plant.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A very pleasant meeting of the Afternoon Card Club was held yesterday at the home of the Misses Marlow, of Dunellen avenue. There were quite a number present and the afternoon was spent enjoyably at euchre. The prize for playing, a book, was won by Mrs. Louise Terry. The usual circulation of books among the members took place.

Steps are being taken to reorganize the local baseball team for the coming season. Ettinger and Brown, last season's battery, will again be on the points and Smith will also play. Some other good men will be secured and the team promises to be the strongest of recent years.

R. J. Swackhamer, who has been severely ill, was able to get out in a carriage, yesterday and vote without doing himself any harm. Adam Dealaman, who had also expected to get out, was unable to do so.

There is a probability of there being a baseball team in Levering and Garrigues factory this year. There are a number of good players among the men and much interest has been displayed.

There was much rejoicing among Democrats last night over their sweeping victory and cigars were plentiful for some time afterwards. There was but little money bet however.

A meeting of the Methodist Sunday-school board was held last evening at the home of Mrs. C. Peter Apgar.

Mrs. Charles Dickson, who has been ill for a long time, shows no improvements and is slowly sinking.

Two houses on Jackson avenue, owned by Alvah Gray, are being painted by Lud Frazee.

Mrs. Albert Randolph has suffered from a slight relapse from her improved condition.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening in the local churches at the usual time.

Mrs. Coyle, of Front street, is visiting out of town friends.

Hazelwood Craig is away for a few days on a business trip.

Miss Mildred Gaskill spent yesterday in New York City.

NEW MARKET.

Fred Dayton, manager of the baseball team for this year, is busy preparing a schedule of games. The club will have a strong team made up largely of last year's men. It will have excellent grounds and strong financial backing.

The election was very quiet here yesterday. The vote polled was not a heavy one and everything was quiet around the polls all day.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A meeting of the Baseball Association was held last night in the parlors of the Central Hotel. Owing to so much being on the tapis in town last night, the meeting was not as largely attended as it would have been if held on some other evening in the week. The management of the team the coming season will be the same as that which made the season of '02 a record breaker. George Johnston as manager needs no introduction as he is well known to the baseball loving public. His experience as a player with some of the fastest clubs has materially aided him in being able to keep in touch with some of the best ball tossers around New York and Brooklyn and when the season opens Scotch Plains will be given a chance to see the greatest aggregation of ball players together that has ever represented the village on the diamond. Arthur Haskard has consented to act as secretary and treasurer again for the coming season. Another meeting will be held in the near future but Manager Johnston will begin at once to arrange games and sign players for the season.

Jennie Druxbury, of Patterson, who was arrested by Officer Pangborn, Sunday, for being drunk and disorderly, was arraigned before Judge Clark, Monday. Her indulgence cost her $3 and cost of court. The fine was paid. William Wilson, of Plainfield, was gathered in during the day for the same offence. Wilson is resting for twenty days as the guest of Warden Dodd at Elizabeth.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held an interesting semi-monthly meeting in its rooms last night. A pleasant visit was enjoyed from Grand Vice Regent Washburn and Chairman Rogers of the committee on State Good of the Order.

A number from town attended the funeral services of the late Henry Bainbridge, which were held from Cole's undertaking parlors, Plainfield, Tuesday morning. Interment was made at Union, N. J.

Miss Nettie Blank entertained the members of the Amity Club at her home last night. The evening was pleasantly passed in discussing the different authors.

Landlord Wm. Earl, who has taken charge of the old hotel on the corner, intends making a number of improvements about this famous hostelry.

Rev. G. M. Shott will lead the mid-week] prayer, meeting tonight at the Park Avenue Baptist [church, Plainfield.

H. M. Fullerton, of Washington Valley, has purchased a carriage team of iron grays from Frederick Clark.

The Chautauqua Boys' Club will hold its weekly meeting in the Methodist church tonight.

Richard Hart, of New York, has been spending several days with friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Lawyers Boettner, Pomerehue and Wagner, of Newark, were at their branch office at Higgins' hotel Saturday. It is said that they are negotiating for forty acres of land and are contemplating the erection of thirty houses, in the near future, near Clinton avenue.

The storage ground employes are kept more than busy at present owing to the heavy consignments of coal arriving daily, necessitating the working of the plant day and night.

Philip Smith, who is first baseman on the Plainfield High School nine, says the nine will play its first game March 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechstein have returned to New York after spending a week at their residence on Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Teeple, of Rocky Hill, have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teeple.

Joseph Caskoff will sell his stock and farming implements at public vendue March 24.

John Hogan has resumed his duties at the switch tower after a vacation of two nights.

Adam Deter has purchased the stage route from TenEyck & Harris.

MOVEMENT GROWING.

Reports of Attempt to Increase the Christian Endeavor Societies.

Already much success is attending the Christian Endeavor extension campaign. All over the United States there is a determination to bring the present societies into a larger place of usefulness. The increased interest is due to the effort being made for the recognition to be given at the Denver convention and the work's sake. According to the Christian Endeavor World, New Jersey has already contributed nine societies toward this increase. The reorganization of the Presbyterian society at Cranford, makes New Jersey's number ten thus far. In nearly every State in the Union an increase is reported in the number of new societies.

Addition to Store.

Charles Sebring had ground broken yesterday for an addition to the store and house on Watchung avenue adjoining the trolley waiting room. The house, which is owned by him, will be remodeled somewhat on the outside and when completed it will be a noticeable improvement.

AID FOR MISSIONS IN FOREIGN LANDS

Year's Work Reviewed at Annual Meeting of Missionary Society Yesterday.

AT CRESCENT AVENUE

THE WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THAT CHURCH MET.

Mrs. Milliken Elected President—The Other Officers—Address by Mrs. Calvin Mateer, Returned Missionary From China.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church, held yesterday afternoon in the chapel, attracted a large number of members and friends of the society. Mrs. S. H. Milliken, president, occupied the chair.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were very encouraging. They showed that $1,139 was received and expended for the work of the society, being divided among the various foreign fields. There was also reported an increase in membership, with greater interest.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. S. H. Milliken; first vice president, Mrs. Lawrence Myers; second vice president, Mrs. H. M. Humphrey; third vice president, Mrs. Noble King; secretary, Miss Scribner; treasurer, Miss Tracy; superintendent of collections, Mrs. D. N. Groendyke; secretary of literature, Mrs. Isaac N. Field.

Following the business session, there was an address by Mrs. Calvin Mateer, a returned missionary from China. This speaker told of the existing condition of the work in China, especially that of the Presbyterian missions.

After Mrs. Mateer's talk, a missionary tea was held and all remained to enjoy this feature and meet the missionary. Mrs. G. P. Mellick was in charge of the tea, assisted by a number of other women of the society.

YOUNG MEN AT SOCIAL.

Pleasant Evening Spent at Epworth House Last Evening.

The young men's Bible class of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church held a social at Epworth House, last evening, when a few hours were pleasantly spent in playing games and in social intercourse. Among the features of the evening were ping-pong and crokinole games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Adam Neuman, N. Mansfield Smith, Clarence Brouard.

Tried New Numbers.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra gave a rehearsal last evening. New music was tried and arrangements were completed for the public rehearsal which is to be held at Association Hall, March 17.

Judge Vail to Live at County Seat.

Judge Vail, of the Union County Courts, will soon take up his residence at 545 Westminster avenue, Elizabeth. For the past year he has resided at Summit.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph his face turned white. That ended the show.

It was no slight task to receive the crowd and seat it. J. Fred Wharton held dominion over the box office, H. G. Thompson and Chas. Dixon gathered in tickets at the door while George E. Firstbrook superintended the work of the ushers. His assistants were Thomas Chamberlain, William Dilks, John Duckworth, William Haugliter, W. L. Hetfield, Jr., V. W. Nash, Jr., James Montross, Herman Pillsch and Monro Squier. The direction of the performance was in the hands of City Judge Runyon while Will Holbert acted as coach.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Press want ads pay.

—The stock and farming utensils of Charles Johnson, of Terrill road, near Two Bridges, Fanwood township, will be sold at public auction Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. H. Hand, auctioneer.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Goodman, of Liberty and West Second streets, will soon move to Oxford place. Mrs. Goodman's mother, Mrs. Henry Van Middlesworth and sons, will reside with them.

Free Lenten Organ Recitals.

William C. Carl will begin the Lenten series of free organ recitals in the First Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, New York, Friday evening, at 8:15 o'clock, assisted by Richard T. Kay, violinist. The recitals will be given on four successive Friday evenings, and are free to the public. At the first recital Mr. Carl will play a new sonata, by Alexander Guilmant, which will be heard here for the first time.

Visitors From Orange.

The members of the Orange Y. M. C. A. will be in this city, Saturday afternoon. The visitors will be the members of the Junior department and the Y. M. C. A. students. During the afternoon two games of basket ball will be played between Leal's School, of this city, and the Orange students, and the junior members of the local association will play the juniors from Orange.

Permit Granted.

W. H. Manning, of 513 West Fourth street, was granted a permit yesterday in the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane to erect an addition to his house. The addition will 12x12x15 feet and Mr. Manning will be his own architect, mason and builder.

For Benefit of Church.

There will be an entertainment and supper at Mt. Olive Baptist church, tomorrow evening, under the management of Mrs. Robert Yetman, for the benefit of the church. There will be a number of attractions and a pleasant time is promised all.

Financial Statement Read.

At the session of the First Baptist church Sunday-school Sunday afternoon, the annual financial statement of the school was read for the benefit of all that it might be known about the receipts and expenditures for the past year.

Gave Great Satisfaction.

The general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., of Hartford, in speaking of the next entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course says: * * * "Entire programme gave great satisfaction."

State Secretary to Lecture.

State Secretary Hearn, of the Y. M. C. A.s in New Jersey, will deliver a lecture in Y. M. C. A. Hall, Monday evening, March 16. He was formerly a lieutenant of the volunteers in the Philippine Islands, and his lecture will no doubt consist of some of his experiences while in the service.

TO STOP SMUGGLING.

Goods Brought to Manila by United States Transport Seized.

MANILA, March 11.—Collector Shuster has seized a quantity of silk, silver and liquors brought from Hongkong on the United States transport Seward, but not recorded on the manifest, and has ordered the arrest of Captain Harry Chamberlin and the quartermaster of the vessel on the charge of smuggling. The goods were purchased in Hongkong at the request of prominent army officers, who say they had no knowledge of the plan to conceal them and who deny any intent to defraud the customs. The officials say smuggling is frequent on transports and regular naval vessels and that they are determined to put a stop to it.

William Crozier, editor of the American, who, with a reporter of the paper, was arrested March 2 on the charge of libeling General Davis, commander of the American troops, has been convicted, but has not been sentenced.

The Philippine government is preparing a bill regulating the importation of opium. It is proposed to control the traffic through one concessioner.

After a series of skirmishes between the government troops and the ladrones in Rizal province the ladrones have been badly scattered. Many of their leaders were captured.

ILL TREATED AND ROBBED.

Shipwrecked American Crew Suffer Great Hardship in Venezuela.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, March 11.—The crew of the Porto Rican schooner Rapido, which has been wrecked on the Venezuelan coast, have arrived here and give the following account of their experiences:

The Rapido, Master Lloret, which was bound for Curacao with a cargo of lignum vitæ, went ashore during a recent gale on the coast of Venezuela and became a total wreck. The crew, numbering five, gained the shore, from which they took three days to reach the port of Coro. They had to trudge through an inhospitable country without food or water, while the revolutionists whom they encountered on their way threatened them and robbed them of their money and clothing in spite of their protests that they were shipwrecked American sailors. They then met with the government troops, who detained them and made the sailors follow them.

The shipwrecked men were finally released, and the United States consular agent at Coro had them forwarded here on the Venezuelan sloop Linda. The consul here has given them relief and their passage to Porto Rico.

Terrible Suffering in Dalmatia.

VIENNA, March 11.—The distress in Dalmatia is so severe that the people in parts of that province are reported to be subsisting on the bark of trees and on wild herbs. A committee has been formed in Vienna to raise funds for the relief of the sufferers, and the Croatian Archæological society has started excavating at the Dalmatian village of Plavno, where interesting discoveries are expected, the immediate object being to provide work for the famine stricken inhabitants of the commune of Knin.

Shipyard Workers Strike.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 11.—Sixty ship carpenters, joiners, fasteners and laborers employed at the shipyard of the Thames Towboat company have struck because their demand for a nine hour day was refused. The Central Labor union has taken up the matter and threatens to extend the strike to other branches of the company's business.

THE POPULAR MOHAIR.

What It Is Like Today and How It Is Used.

While the great majority of shirt waists now in course of construction are of thin and fine materials, with much tucking and fancy lace embroidery adding to their beauty, many of the handsome waists are made of fine flannel, voile and, above all, of the new mohairs. Nothing has taken such a sudden rise into popularity as mohair, but it must be remembered that the mohair of today is not that of our grandmothers, but is almost a new thing. It is woven better, and the admixture of silk and wool has added to its flexibility and beauty. Now mohair is not only printed, but striped and figured, and some has tiny tufts of wool all over the surface. Others are glossy and lustrous with the old time sheen, but with a softness not known to this kind of material before this season. It has always had such a wiry feel that few ever really liked it. The mohair now is shown in all the syndicate colors, and many street suits are made of it, with all the attention to detail shown in the finest broadcloth. The cream colored mohairs are really beautiful when made up and trimmed with yellowish lace. Some pretty waists are made by having Bulgarian embroidery set along the folds and cuffs, and the funny little tab collars have the tabs wrought in this stitch. When the waist is white or a very light color and the embroidery is done in black and red or dark blue, the result is very unique and artistic.

One pretty design in a mohair waist for a young lady is of the palest blue, almost white. This is laid in seven folds in front and five in the back. These are not stitched on the edges, but are left open like the slot seams. Arranged as a yoke across the shoulders is fine black brussels net (this, by the way, is much used in the new waists), and this is in turn edged with a pretty design of white renaissance lace. Across this again are drawn lines of black ribbon, each end finished off with a loop and button.

Another very neat and attractive waist is of ashen gray mohair, soft, but shining like the richest silk. This has a plastron front, opening at the left side and fastening with frogs and loops of black silk. A band of black silk guipure lace is used to trim the sleeves and the collar, but the cuffs are ornamented only by two frogs and loops. I saw this copied in handsome fine albatross cloth and also in French broadcloth. French twilled flannel, in a delicate frosty blue, has been also used to produce the same design. It is pretty in all.

A waist which is as well adapted for separate use or as part of a suit is that shown in the illustration. It is made of the new crapelike stuff which is so well liked by all. This stuff is made in an admixture of colors, and these are made into stripes by the crinkle in the weave. It reminds one of the deeply crinkled india crapes. The colors in the waists are so closely brought together that the whole is like reseda. There is a yoke in front made of moss green velvet, the edges are bordered with a bias band of silk to match, and this is studded with small silk buttons. The bishop sleeves have deep cuffs trimmed to match the border of the waist. This is a peculiarly girlish waist and pretty besides.

The very thin waists bid fair to surpass any yet seen in point of beauty. Such daintiness in workmanship and fancy is hard to imagine. Fine lace insertions and edgings may give an idea of the material used, but one must really see the exquisite arrangement of the medallions and crossbars of lace as arranged along the front to appreciate their delicate beauty. The way the lace is treated is such that no matter how fine it is it will be easy to launder.

A fine batiste waist trimmed with its complement of lace is so sheer that it will require a corset waist almost as delicately fashioned. The linen batistes show such a bewildering array of embroidered tracings that no one could describe them all. The mode for all white waists is certainly greater than ever before. Each new maker must imagine something new, and we get a marvelous variety. The shapes vary from the old French bodice form to the pronounced blouse. The Gibson waist is among the things of the past, as few care for them now.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

'Tis Glorious To Live Long And Well

A FRENCH writer of the name of Asgill somewhere speaks of the lack of steadfast will power in the human race. He goes so far as to say that with sufficient will power man might even overcome the "cowardly habit of dying." I believe he himself, however, at last succumbed to that cowardly habit in spite of his dictum. But the dictum contained truth to this extent: Undoubtedly steadfast, trained will power will help us to prolong life and also to overcome many of the evils now held to be inseparably joined to life.

It is not luck or even heredity that has enabled Mrs. Julia Goodman, an English artist, to be a beloved and useful member of the working world up to near the age of ninety-one, which she will reach next November. Luck she never had. In 1836 she was married to Mr. Louis Goodman, who years afterward became a helpless invalid and remained on her hands to be supported till his death in 1870. He did not become an invalid till several children had been born to the couple, however—worse luck!—and, in addition to the maintenance of her husband, Mrs. Goodman had these to rear and educate all alone.

Heredity was indeed in her favor. She had in her veins the vital, tenacious Hebrew blood whose possessor seldom gives down and whines. But heredity alone would have availed little except to enable Julia Salaman Goodman to linger long in a poorhouse. She had noble artistic gifts also and a wise common sense; best of all the indomitable will that thus far has kept her from yielding to the "cowardly habit of dying."

Julia Salaman was one of a family of twelve children, all of them uncommonly gifted. Their parents educated them in a practical manner. Julia ran naturally to painting. She had the best teacher of the time and adopted portraiture as her specialty. When she was thrown on the world with a husband and children to support, she naturally and easily took up again the beloved art which had been her entertainment in her fortune favored years.

From that day to this her life has been one of incessant labor—not grudging, slavish toil, but cheerful, happy tasks, so happy that you can fairly hear the joy bells ringing their accompaniment down along the years all the way. Mrs. Goodman has naturally strong power of concentration and she has cultivated it till it is enormous. These are the things that have made her and kept her—noble intellectual gifts, a strong love nature and a splendid will power. Now at ninety she paints and does needlework without glasses, only occasionally using a magnifying glass for a few of the more delicate strokes of her brush. Who, man or woman, can equal such a record?

Mrs. Goodman has painted more than a thousand portraits. Nearly or quite fifty years ago she began exhibiting her work in the Royal academy, and she has kept it up ever since. She has painted scores of the notable persons of Great Britain. She has also met socially most of those who have helped make English history in the past two generations. She has lived with her working and enjoying faculties unimpaired while five British sovereigns ruled and four of them passed away. George III. was king when she was born; she witnessed the coronation of George IV.; lived and wrought while William IV., then Victoria, reigned and died—Victoria was seven years younger than Mrs. Goodman—and now, in full possession of her artistic powers, the marvelous woman yields allegiance to King Edward VII.

It is not for the old girls that I have been at pains to trace out this life story, not for those ancient females who have let active life slide from their grasp and now sit in a corner and "take things easy." These are past praying for. It is for the young girls I write, those of fourteen and upward. There is no woman in England more honored than ninety-year-old Julia Goodman.

Girls, most of you will live to be old. Will now that you are going to, anyhow, for it is a priceless privilege to stay here and keep learning something all the time and giving loving service to others. Stay here so long as you can, be as beautiful as you can all the time, love, serve and learn all you can. Above all, train your will to be strong and steadfast toward any worthy aim you desire. And that is the moral.

AMY Y. LYON.

TONGUE OF CALUMNY

Ever Busy to Injure the Reputation of Good Men.

Charges of Bribery Have Often Been Made Against Congressmen, But They Have Never Been Made Good.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"STOP thief!" It is the cry of the criminal who endeavors to divert public attention from himself.

It is a scheme as old as the hills and was practiced by thieves away back of the time of Jonathan Wild, Schinderhannes, or any of the others recorded in history.

"Dutch Heinrichs," one of the best known criminals in New York, about a dozen years ago got away with an immense tray full of magnificent diamonds by resorting to that old ruse. He knocked the saleman down, grabbed the tray, ran out into Broadway, handed the tray to a confederate, who stepped into an adjoining hallway, and closing the door after him, while "Dutch" ran down the street howling "Stop thief!" followed by the salesman, who had recovered and came forth making the same cry.

Everybody joined in the chase. The salesman soon fell out of the race, "Dutch" kept the lead until the crowd numbered hundreds, and then he quietly disappeared from the chase; fortunately without meeting a policeman, who might have recognized him. His confederate filled his pocket with the gems, left the tray in the hall, met "Dutch" that night and divided, giving Heinrichs the bulk of the wealth, of course. A few days later they saw "Uncle Jim Matthews," who gave them long green paper for the shiners.

This story was told confidentially, a few months later, in "Uncle Jim's" place on Broadway, near Twentieth street, and Heinrichs said insinuatingly: "Captain of precinct had 'good reason' never to suspect me in de game."

Well, the cry of "stop thief!" was recently raised in the national house of representatives by a congressman, who made a great front of virtuous indignation about having been offered a bribe, and incidentally endeavored to besmirch the reputation of so good and honorable a gentleman as Lemuel E. Quigg, who never wronged any man but himself.

This is said to be the first time in the history of our country that any representative has endeavored to bring odium upon the name of an innocent individual, and he also a former member of congress. In 1894 there was a general hue and cry about certain senators making use of their positions to put money in their purses by speculating in sugar stocks. A special committee was appointed by the senate to investigate the charges which newspapers had made. One by one the senators appeared before that committee and denied having had anything to do with the stock market, until Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, appeared, and he said:

"This committee has no jurisdiction over the actions of any senator. Nevertheless, I will tell you frankly that I have speculated in sugar stocks and in other stocks for many years, and that I shall continue to do so, as long as I please."

The first case of alleged bribery to come before the congress was on December 30, 1795, when Robert Randall and Charles Whitney were charged before the house of representatives with attempting to bribe members of congress to vote for a bill granting all of the lands lying between lakes Erie, Michigan and Huron, to a company of which Randall and Whitney claimed to be the agents. This proposed steal amounted to 20,000,000 acres of land; and the company of proposed beneficiaries claimed to be able to extinguish and pay for the Indian titles. This was the precursor of the land grants on which Credit Mobilier was founded.

Randall and Whitney approached Congressman Giles, of Virginia, and told him that while the stock of the company was the best thing he could possibly take, because of its future dividends, they had with them $1,000,000 in cash to distribute among timid senators and representatives, who prefered cash to stock. Mr. Giles arranged an interview, where Randall and Whitney met other members and repeated their bribery proposals. Then Mr. Giles informed the president, who ordered the arrest of the bribers. But, by reason of a question of jurisdiction, the United States marshal did not make the arrest. Thereupon the sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives arrested them on December 29, and on December 30 haled them before the bar of the house, where there was begun a debate concerning the powers of congress which lasted two weeks, at the end of which time they were reprimanded by the speaker, and released from custody.

During the war of 1812, the British forces caused great losses to the people at River Raisin, and in 1818 claims to the amount of $30,000 were presented before congress. Col. John Anderson, the principal claimant, wrote a letter to Congressman Lewis Williams, of North Carolina, offering "to pay him $500 for the extra trouble he gave him, in desiring him to relate to the congress the story of the conduct of the British in that country."

Mr. Williams laid this letter before Speaker Henry Clay, and demanded action by the house of representatives on this attempt to bribe him. After a protracted debate the house, by a vote of 118 to 45 ordered the arrest of Anderson, and he was arraigned before the bar of the house, the speaker (Mr. Clay) interrogating him as to the extent of the influence proposed in his letter.

It was shown that Col. Anderson had been a very brave soldier, had been loyal to his country and refused the command of a regiment tendered him by the British when they held Michigan; and he was also vouched for by Gen. William Henry Harrison, Postmaster General Meigs and others of national reputation. Consequently, when the old soldier stated that he had no intention of bribery, but honestly wanted to pay for extra services which were requested by him, he was mildly reprimanded by the speaker, and released from custody.

Charges of corruption in office have oftentimes been made in the public prints, but the records of congress show no other specific charges to have been investigated. Whenever any great revenue bill is pending, it has become customary for charges of a general nature to be bandied about, but it is creditable to our country that an atmosphere of purity has usually surrounded the halls of legislation. The presence of the lynx-eyed newsgatherers may be given credit for something of this creditable condition.

One of the most creditable days in the history of the life of the late William McKinley was the day of the announcement of his business failure. In the company of many other close and anxious observers of events, the writer had witnessed the comings and goings of scores of wealthy men, and the accredited representatives of shipping interests and other great commercial interests, in and out of the room of the committee on ways and means, while the McKinley tariff bill was being framed, in 1900. Not a few conservative men listened without rebuke to the hint that "The Major" was exceedingly polite to certain representatives of interests which received high protection in the bill. The measure was long pending and suspicion was in the air.

It may be news to the average readers of this day, but it is a fact that every member of the committee, including Maj. McKinley, was, at that time, suspected of being more or less unduly influenced in the preparation of that bill. Consequently, when, a few months later, it became known to all the world that Maj. McKenley had failed in business, that announcement tied the tongue of calumny and strangled the throat of slander.

Four years later statesmen and ex-statesmen who had to do with the making of the Wilson bill were known to have prospered, and until this day they have been suspected of having prospered by reason of that legislation. But, after all, that is only suspicion, even if brick houses were builded all too soon thereafter.

During the fraimng of the two Dingley bills, and during the appropriation of magnanimously liberal amounts for the expenses of the war with Spain, there was never a suspicion that a penny was diverted from its proper channel. That was largely because of the fact that William McKinley personally gave so much attention to the details of the disbursements for that war; and everybody knew that whatever passed in review before McKinley must be honest, fair and square to the very last farthing.

This government of ours is an honest establishment, and for the cry of "stop thief" there is and shall be no excuse.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

FLOODS IN THE SOUTH.

Mississippi River Rises Above the Danger Line.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 11.—The river is above thirty-five feet on the guage and rising. The current is swifter and more driftwood is running than at any previous time during the present rise. These signs are taken as indicating that there will be a rapid increase in the speed of the rise.

At Natchez every precaution that can be devised is being adopted to prevent any attempt at cutting the levee and a constant watch is maintained by armed men. Heavy rains yesterday added to the gravity of the situation. The river rose three-tenths of a foot and is now 2.5 feet above the danger line, which facts have intensified the feeling of apprehension. The steamer Betsey Ann brought in 250 people from the flooded district between here and Bayou Sara. The steamers St. Joseph and Senator Cordill also are doing considerable relief work between Natchez and Vicksburg.

A dispatch from Jackson says that owing to the apprehension felt throughout the Delta country on account of the high water in the Mississippi river Governor Longino has ordered Warden Henry of the board of control to go at once to Clarksdale, where the levee board is in session. Available forces of state convicts have been rushed to the water front to strengthen the weak portions of the levees.

AMES HEARING TODAY.

Fugitive Ex-Mayor of Minneapolis Brought to Manchester, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 11.—Dr. Adelbert A. Ames, fugitive ex-mayor of Minneapolis, is here to appear before Judge Pike of the superior court, when it will be decided whether he is to be set free on the questions brought up by his petition for a habeas corpus or whether the same are denied and he is turned over to Sheriff Dreger for return to Minnesota. There is the alternative of an appeal, but whether he will avail himself of further delaying the law in New Hampshire is yet to be seen. Dr. Ames is kept in strictest seclusion, and no one is allowed to approach the rooms.

The doctor stood the rail journey of sixty-two miles from Hancock, where he has been staying with Rev. Mr. Chapin, his brother-in-law, with no inconvenience except some signs of fatigue when he alighted at the Manchester station.

Bryan at Michigan State Convention

DETROIT, Mich., March 11.—Without the presence of William J. Bryan, who made an address at the morning session, yesterday's Democratic state judicial convention at the Light Guard armory in this city would have been featureless. Judge George L. Yaple of Mendon, who is the nominee for supreme judge for a term of ten years to succeed Judge Frank A. Hooker, was nominated without any other name being presented to the convention. For regent of the state university Wellington R. Burt of Saginaw was left in undisputed possession of the field before the first ballot was completed, Dr. Francis J. Welsh of Kalamazoo, Albert J. Dickson of Port Huron and Henry C. Davis of Traverse City withdrawing in Mr. Burt's favor. Mr. Welsh and Mr. Dickson were candidates again for a second vacancy on the board of regents, but were defeated by Willis J. Abbot of Battle Creek, editor of the Pilgrim Magazine.

Shipbuilders Quit Work.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Nearly 2,000 boiler makers and iron shipbuilders have gone on strike in Brooklyn in sympathy with the striking employees of the Townsend & Downey yard at Shooters Island. At the Morse yards alone 700 men went out. The only plant not seriously affected was that of the Robins company, where nearly all the mechanics are Knights of Labor and where only a few men quit work. At the W. & A. Fletcher company's works in Hoboken about 150 boiler makers went on strike.

Henderson Coming to New York?

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Hon. David B. Henderson, ex-speaker of the house of representatives, accompanied by Mrs. Henderson and their daughter, has left here for New York city, whence after a week's stay they will go to their former home in Iowa. After remaining there a few days the speaker and Mrs. Henderson will visit California. The impression here is that Mr. Henderson eventually will take up his permanent residence in New York city.

Hill Left Fortune to Life Saver.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 11.—Mrs. John Hopkins, who lives in reduced circumstances at Ophir Gold Mine, Union county, in this state, it is announced, will receive $143,000, the fortune left by the late Charles Hill of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Hopkins' first husband, Robert Alexander, while in Texas twenty years ago, it is stated, saved the life of Charles Hill, and Hill made a will of all his property to his preserver.

February Postal Receipts.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The comparative statement of gross postal receipts for February, compared with February, 1902, for the fifty leading postoffices in the country shows a net increase of over 12 per cent. The largest increase was 34 per cent, at Los Angeles, Cal., and the heaviest decrease, 9 per cent, at Jersey City. The receipts at New York increased 12 per cent and Chicago 15.

Knocked Out In the Seventh Round

BOSTON, March 11.—Jimmy Briggs of Chelsea, featherweight champion of New England, knocked out Kid Goulet of Rochester, N. Y., in the seventh round of what was to have been a fifteen round bout at the Health and Physical Culture club last night.

ABLE SERMON.

Preached at First M. E. Church Last Evening.

Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen, of New York, preached an able sermon in the First M. E. church, last evening. He fully sustained his reputation as one of the finest preachers in the country.

Tonight Rev. Dr. Fred Clark Baldwin, of Calvary church, East Orange, is expected. He is reputed to be one of the leading pulpit orators in New Jersey, brilliant and interesting.

Talked to Friend, Then Died.

The death occurred yesterday of Marshall Bazing, of Clinton avenue, aged sixty-eight years. He has been ill for some time and was thought to be on the road to recovery, although a trained nurse was in attendance. When the end came he was talking to Charles H. Lyman and was in a cheerful mood. He has resided in this city for several years.

Meeting of Plainfield Clericus.

A devotional meeting of the Plainfield Clericus was held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Cross. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, assisted by Rev. Montgomery Downey. There were a number of prominent ministers from this city and from out of town present at the services.

It is Easy to Say

"Be careful," but we must all go from heated houses into chill outer air, and the change sets us coughing and wheezing. Avoiding winter colds is difficult; curing them is not hard if you take Allen's Lung Balsam. Better begin when the cold is young and not wait until it settles deep into the lungs, for then, even with Allen's Lung Balsam, complete relief will be slower.

THEATRICAL.

Blanche Walsh in "Resurrection," at the Victoria Theatre is the reigning dramatic sensation of New York. The theatre is crowded at every performance and seats are selling four weeks in advance. Among the enthusiastic comments of the press, the New York Herald says: "I doubt if New York has ever seen so heart gripping a drama as "Resurrection." Managers Wagenhals and Kemper have arranged to send out two provincial companies, and for a spring tour for Miss Walsh have booked Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburg, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco.

In a little more than two weeks "A Chinese Honeymoon" will celebrate its 350th consecutive performance at the pretty Casino. To mark the occasion, the evening of Wednesday, March 25, Managers Sam S. Shubert and Nixon & Zimmerman have selected for all women who attend a souvenir much prettier and fully fifty per cent. more expensive than the beautiful bottles distributed at the 300th performance. The new souvenir is a heavy 24-karat gold-plated hand-burnished treasure casket, made of royal metal in renaissance design. The front of the casket is ornamented with a design showing a bust medallion of a beautiful Chinese girl. The casket is lined with pink satin and has a cover of heavy beveled plate glass.

THREE-DAY TOUR TO WASHINGTON.

For accommodations at Regent, Metropolitan, National, or Colonial Hotels $2.50 less. Special side trip to Mount Vernon.

All tickets good for ten days, with special hotel rates after expiration of hotel coupons.

For itineraries and full information apply to ticket agents; Tourist agent, 236 Fifth avenue, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or address Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia.

New Organist.

J. Edmund Skiff, of Waterbury, Conn., has been engaged to succeed Wm. E. MacClymont as choirmaster and organist of the Church of the Holy Cross. Mr. MacClymont's engagement at the Church of the Holy Cross expires May 1.

Veterans Entertained.

The friends of the members of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., were entertained last evening at the rooms of the post by an oyster supper and musical and literary programme. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

PALE PEOPLE

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,

ATTENTION!

The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the

NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL, SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,

With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitutions. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

treasurer, Charles Sheelen, 61; for commissioner of appeal, Burton P. Hall, 61; for justice of the peace, Charles Battelle Loomis, 61; Republican, same as Citizens; Independents, for mayor, Frank D. Warren, 37; for councilmen, three years, William E. Collins, 38, LeRoy J. Ellis, 38; for two years, Harry E. Knight, 40; for assessor, William R. Stanbery, 41; for collector, Charles Sheelen, 61; for justice of the peace, C. Battelle Loomis, 61; for commissioner of appeal, Burton P. Hall, 61. The Independent ticket won out entirely. The appropriations were the same in all tickets, as follows: Lights, $1,000; streets, $800; street sprinkling, $75; hydrants, $200; police, $600; general expenses, $400.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 11—As a result of yesterday's election, Lewis A. Thompson and the G. O. P. party met a stinging defeat in Bridgewater township. The township committee will be composed of three Democrats and two Republicans. The only Republicans elected were Harry C. Pastorius, justice of the peace, and J. C. Henry, supervisor of roads. Otherwise the Democratic ticket was elected.

F. T. Ross, Democrat, was elected assessor by a majority of 200, while Ferdinand Vanderveer, Democrat, received a majority of 275 for collector. Bernard Myer, Democrat, was elected town committeeman, while Chris. Ehni and William Harris, Republicans, were also elected as town committeemen. The vote was a light one and there was little or no excitement.

NEW MARKET.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, March 11—The result of the election in New Market was as follows: George S. Bunting was elected assessor on the Republican ticket by 80 majority; for assessor, Dr. Nelson, Democrat, 51 majority; for commissioner of Appeal, C. S. Boice, Republican; surveyors of the highways, A. L. and Luther Boice, Republicans; justices of the peace, J. H. Snowden and W. B. Larue, Democrats; constables, Howard Smalley and Elmer Barret, Democrats; poundmasters, John W. Bent, John Sebring and Jesse Dayton, Democrats. The appropirations were carried.

DINING CAR SERVICE.

Change Made in the Management on the Pennsylvania System.

Michael Riley, who, since 1884, has been in charge of the restaurant in the Broad Street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Philadelphia, will on April 1, retire from this position and at the same time assume the management of the railroad dining car service of the system with headquarters at Jersey City. His jurisdiction will embrace the entire dining car service of the system, both east and west of Pittsburg; some fifty dining cars. Mr. Riley was the original train news agent of the country, and established that service on the Pennsylvania many years ago, as well as the station news stand.

Armory Bill Killed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 11—The Newcorn bill, aiming to give Plainfield an armory, was defeated in the Assembly last evening by a vote of 20 to 18. The Senate agreed to put over the consideration of the annexation "repealer" until this afternoon in order to see the results of yesterday's election in North Plainfield.

Appointed a Commissioner.

Lawyer Isaac P. Runyon received word this morning from William Riker, clerk of the Supreme Court, that he had been appointed a Supreme Court Commissioner by the nine justices of that court. This honor was an unexpected one for Mr. Runyon, but he appreciates the confidence and trust imposed in him in the appointment.

Entertained a Class.

A social gathering was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Lewis Bennett, of Watchung avenue, when she entertained the Sunday-school class of Mrs. Powell, formerly a teacher in the Sunday-school of Grace M. E. church. Recitations, instrumental and vocal music were the means of spending a very pleasant evening.

Settled Controversy.

The station of the Lackawanna at Stanhope has been officially designated as Netcong-Stanhope. This settles a controversy between the two boroughs, which has been kept at fever heat for the past year. The new combination name satisfies everyone.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A very peculiar and amusing sight was witnessed recently at Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street. A man in charge of a load of lumber for the interior of the building, drove from the street directly into the building through the front entrance, and after unloading the lumber turned his team about and drove out into the street the same way he entered. It is seldom that there is a sufficient amount of room in a building to permit of this, but those who saw the performance watched it with more than ordinary interest.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

SECOND NIGHT MADE EVEN GREATER HIT

Success Continues at Minstrel Show of Boys of the Hope Y. M. A.

CROWD STILL GROWS

SOME WHO CAME LATE HAD TO BE TURNED AWAY AT THE DOOR.

Everything Went Smoothly and the Show Was Better Than Ever Last Night—Alfred Berry Marsh Acting As Stage Director.

The great success attending the first performance of the minstrel show at Hope chapel, under the auspices of the Hope Y. M. A., continued last evening unabated. The attendance was even larger than on the first night, a number of people being unable to gain admittance. This action was taken because of the desire not to overcrowd the building. Everyone who witnessed the performance last evening was unanimous in expressions of approval and the efforts of the young men in presenting such a fine programme were generously praised.

From the time the curtain rose in the first part until the final act, the interest was up to the limit. Every number was received with loud applause. It was the general opinion that the second night even showed improvement over the first. Several rough edges were taken off and the entire minstrel company appeared at its best. There are many especially bright spots in the show and the whole programme is given with a snap that keeps the audience convulsed with laughter.

No performance will be given this evening, as the regular weekly prayer-meeting will be held in the chapel. But tomorrow evening the third and last performance will be given, when it is exected that an audience fully as large as on the preceding nights will be present.

Among those who deserve credit for the success of the affair is Alfred Berry Marsh, stage director. He has worked hard and faithfully and through his efforts the show has been given without a hitch.

Endmen Cose and Muir each received a handsome bouquet from the I. C. T. Club of which both are members.

The following are the words of the topical song, "Things Are Different Now," as sung by Thos. M. Muir:

"THINGS ARE DIFFERENT NOW."

People say that in the years gone by this town was slow,
But things are different now.
When night came round they never had a place to go,
But things are different now.
We look with pity on those dead old days,
When Plainfield was a town of country jays,
Thank Goodness she has grown and changed her ways,
For things are different now.

Chorus:—
Now, Now, things are different now; that there has been an awful change you really must allow
And to the new conditions, everyone must bow,
For things are different now.

Just a month ago a man could get a Sunday drink,
But things are different now,
The cider joints were always looking for the "wink,"
But things are different now.
Since Kiely's made them mind their P's and Q's,
The thirsty mortals with their dried up fines,
Think twice before they chase their Sunday booze,
For things are different now.—Cho.

Annexation is a thing that might have come last fall,
But things are different now.
It died because the voters thought they knew it all,
And things are different now.
The poor old duffers who have made this choice,
Can now, as in high taxes they rejoice,
Thank Howland, Honeyman and old Dick Boice,
That things are different now.—Cho.

People thought this year the Boulevard was going dry,
But things are different now.
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union hopes ran high,
But things are different now.

LOTS OF CANDIDATES.

Prospect of Strong Nine to Represent the City High School This Spring.

Much interest is being shown at the City High School in the baseball team for the coming season. Manager A. D. Beers has arranged for twenty games and daily practice is being held at the Olympia building under the direction of Captain F. T. VanAuken. A large squad is trying for positions on the teams.

The candidates for pitcher are H. S. Munro and F. T. VanAuken, while either McGinley or VanAuken will be behind the bat. P. Smith and H. G. Thompson are both working for first base, and Miner will probably cover second. Either Munro or VanAuken will be at third and Craig will probably play his old position of shortstop. L. Walters, C. Ulrich, C. C. Rocap, H. Brokaw, E. M. Daniel and Douglass are all candidates for the outfield.

Work on the field and diamond will be started by the management as soon as the ground dries sufficiently to allow it. A grandstand and backstop will be erected.

CHANGES IN TROLLEY CO.

PHILLIP MAGUIRE APPOINTED DIVISION SUPERINTENDENT.

Other Changes Made Necessary by This Promotion—To Give Better Service.

Important changes have been made in the local management of the Plainfield, Elizabeth and Central Jersey Street Railroad, with a view of giving to the Plainfield traveling public a better service. The change went into effect Sunday and during the week there have been made noticable improvements made in the running of the cars and in their condition.

Frank Brown, who was formerly division superinteondent, has been raised to a responsible position at the Westfield Junction where he has charge of the offices there. In his place in this city Phillip Maguire has been placed. This is somewhat of a recognition by the company of the services of Mr. Maguire who for a number of years has been in the employ of the trolley company, having worked his way up from motorman and conductor to transfer agent and inspector in which position he served the company faithfully for over a year.

John Mowan has been appointed transfer agent at the Watchung avenue waiting room to succeed Mr. Maguire and H. Benwell, of Elizabeth, will succeed Mr. Mowan as night inspector and transfer agent.

MAJOR VAN AUKEN.

Promoted to Command City High School Cadet Battalion.

The following promotions are ordered in the Plainfield High School battalion to take effect on March 20:

Capt. Fred T. VanAuken, of Company A to be cadet major; Second Lieutenant Francis K. Anderson, of Company B, to be Captain of Company A; First Sergeant Jose L. Tweedy, of Company A, to be second lieutenant of Company B; Sergeant H. G. Thompson, of Company A, to be first sergeant of Company A; Corporal E. M. Daniel, of Company A, to be sergeant. It was further announced that drilling would be resumed Friday if the weather was favorable.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE.

Held a Meeting at Home of Mrs. Wm. H. Riley Yesterday.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William H. Riley, 11 Myrtle avenue, when Mrs. David P. Hall presided.

The attendance was large and great interest was shown in the remarks made. Reasons for and against the vote for women were given freely, and the cup of tea, which was to mark the close of the discussion, seemed for a while to stimulate it to greater activity.

Tea and Card Party.

Mrs. A. B. Lewis, of West Fifth street, will give a tea and card party at her home, this evening, in honor of her niece, Miss Nellie Mullen, of Bernardsville.

Three More Knights.

Three candidates were initiated in the second degree at the meeting of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, Tuesday evening.

Just Routine Business.

Members of the Knights of Columbus met last night in regular meeting. Nothing but routine business was transacted.

PENNANT LIES BETWEEN Y. M. C. A. AND HOPES

Contest in Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League Narrows Down to Two Teams.

GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

Y. M. C. A. IS PUTTING UP A BETTER GAME THAN EVER BEFORE.

Shown in Game With Reform Club Monday Night—I. C. T. Boys Meet Y. M. C. A. at the Latter's Gymnasium Tomorrow Night.

PLAINFIELD AMATEUR BASKET BALL LEAGUE.

	Won.	Lost.	Ave.
Y. M. C. A.	4	0	1.000
Hope Y. M. A.	2	1	.677
Reform Club	1	3	.250
I. C. T. Club	0	3	.000

There isn't any doubt now that the championship of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League rests between the Y. M. C. A. and the Hope Y. M. A. The Y. M. C. A. boys have the lead and are certainly playing the game of their lives. They were never in better form, either in team play or goal throwing. They have defeated the Hope boys at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium but it remains to be seen how the teams will fare when they meet in the more crowded quarters at Hope chapel.

Monday's game served to demonstrate the wonderful game the association players are putting up. They gave Hope a taste of it the week before but the game against the Reform Club showed the Y. M. C. A. contingent better than ever. When the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Reform Club teams was remembered, everybody expected to see the Reformers give their veteran opponents a lively tussle. There is good material on the Reform Club team and the boys have been making a good showing in practice. The sound drubbing administered by the Y. M. C. A. team was, therefore, decidedly a surprise. The trouble appears to have been that the home team was simply dazed by the brilliant playing of the Y. M. C. A. five and went to pieces for the time being.

Friday night it will be the turn of the I. C. T. Club players to try their skill against the great work of the Y. M. C. A. five. A defeat is expected by the newcomers in the league but they expect to make a better showing than did the Reform Club boys Monday night. The game will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium where many of the I. C. T. boys are acquainted. As some of the I. C. T. players were candidates for the Y. M. C. A. team at one time, there's promise of some good playing between the old rivals.

ANOTHER ROAD.

Somerset Freeholders Award Contract for One From Bound Brook to Watchung Mountains.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 12—The regular meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders was held in the Court House yesterday, but very little business was done after the excitements of the election on the day previous. However, all the members were in their usual seats.

The board having ascertained that enough filling could be secured to build the proposed road from Bound Brook borough to the Watchung mountain, bids were according received. The bidders and their bids were: J. Wallace Rehill, $5,304.20; J. B. Hillpot, $4,188 39; Richards & Gaston, $4,465.10; John McNabb, $2,996.27. A resolution was passed awarding the contract to the latter for a macadam road.

The board decided to meet at the clerk's office on Friday at 2 p. m. to pay election bills and also at Somerville Saturday to go over the Pluckamin road.

Surprise by Church Women.

The women connected with Calvary Baptist church tendered a surprise party to Mrs. Frances Scott, at her home, Monday evening. It was led by Mrs. Sallie Thornton and Mrs. Emma Brown. Under their leadership a most delightful time was had with music and games after which refreshments were served.

Borough Council Meeting.

A meeting of the Borough Council will be held Monday evening, when the various committees for the ensuing year will be named and other important matters transacted.

DELAY ACTION ON REPEALERS

Action of Borough's Election and Petition of the "Antis" Have the Expected Result.

SESSION OF YESTERDAY

Hearing on Passaic Polution Bill Was Most Important Event of Yesterday at Trenton—Primary Election Bill Now Ready for Action—Other Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 12—North Plainfield's vigorous endorsement of Mayor N. B. Smalley, one of the chief advocates of annexation, and a petition, signed by 120 anti-annexationists, asking that the annexation and consolidation acts be allowed to remain on the statute books, served to temporarily delay action on the annexation "repealer" in the Senate last night. It is thought that the Senate will delay consideration of the measure and it is possible that these arguments for its defeat may have the desired effect.

The regular proceedings of both branches of the Legislature, yesterday, were so largely overshadowed by the hearing on the Passaic pollution bill that little beyond routine business of local application was transacted. Many of the members of the House devoted some part of the day to the hearing in the Senate chamber.

Following the conference of the Republican Senators and the primary elections commission, the primary elections bill prepared by the commission was reported to the Senate yesterday. A few amendments perfecting the details of the original bill were made, the most important of which was the provision that the voter must make amdavit that he sustained the majority of his party ticket at the last election, and that he will support the whole party ticket at the next ensuing election. It was said that the bill now would receive the support of the Republican Senators and that almost unquestionably it would be passed by the House.

Assemblyman McDonald, of Monmouth county, introduced a bill yesterday which is similar in its provisions to the act introduced by Senator Strong, to fix the salaries of county clerks, sheriffs, surrogates and registers of deeds. Neither of these bills, it is believed, will be passed. There is a determined opposition to them by county officials and politicians in every part of the State.

The bill providing for the payment to Rutgers College of $80,000 on account of free scholarships, and which is a part of the original claim of more than $130,000, was passed by the House during the afternoon. This will is said to meet the terms of a compromise agreement between the college and the State.

WHIST CLUB PARTY.

Lenox Whist Club Was Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cook, of East Second street, entertained the Lenox Whist Club at their home Tuesday evening. The first and second prizes for the women were won by Miss Conyne and Mrs. Edwin Hodges and the men's prizes were won by Henry Piker and Edwin Hodges. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges will entertain the club Tuesday evening, March 24. It was also decided by the members to give a dance at the Casino Tuesday evening, April 28. It will be an invitation affair.

Reform A. A. Meets Tonight.

The Reform Athletic Association was to have a meeting last evening for the purpose of completing the organization and adopting a constitution and by-laws. The meeting was postponed until this evening when, besides adopting the by-laws and a constitution, committees will be appointed and it is possible that a manager will be appointed for the baseball team. A full attendance is desired.

School Dramatics.

The boys of Leal's School have in course of preparation a three-act comedy "Glorina," which will be given at the Casino April 16. The cast includes nine characters.

Hustling Now.

Unusual progress is being made on the Babcock building and barring bad weather the work of rebuilding will be completed nearly on time.

MR. CONROY BLAMES DEMOCRATS FOR DEFEAT

Says Had They Stood by Him, He Would Have Been Elected Mayor.

POST ELECTION REPORT

MAYOR SMALLEY SAYS HE WAS NOT SURPRISED AT THE RESULT.

Wm. J. Conroy Denies Report That There Was Any Thompson Money Sent Down From Somerville—Says Republicans Helped Him.

William J. Conroy, who was running for the mayoralty of North Plainfield against Mayor Newon B. Smalley, said yesterday when asked by a Daily Press reporter, that it was the Democrats who are responsible for his defeat. He said that had they stood by him as the Republicans did he feels confident that he would have carried his point.

When he was asked regarding the rumor that L. A. Thompson, of Somerville, had donated a large amount of money to the campaign fund to assist him, Mr. Conroy said emphatically:

"You may say for me that I did not receive any assistance from Somerville or from Mr. Thompson and if I received any help at all it was by means of the influence Mr. Thompson has on a few people in North Plainfield. That report that Thompson put $8,000 into the fund is unfounded in fact and is absolutely false. What money was spent out for campaign purposes was spent out of my pocket and not from Mr. Thompson's coffers.

"It was encouraging to see so many Republicans stand as they said they would but my defeat lay in the fact that the Democrats, those who should have supported me, bolted and went for Smalley."

Mayor Smalley gave out a statement yesterday to The Daily Press in which he said that he has never known an election in which success came so easily. He said:

"Never before have I felt so sure of victory as I did yesterday afternoon. Why, between the hours of 5 and 7 I went home and did not remain at the polls. The result was not a surprise to me. The election seemed to take care of itself as there was practically no system of securing votes.

"'Since the people have again placed me in office I will continue to serve them to the best of my ability, and the government of the borough during the next two years will continue to be of the right kind."

CLERICUS MET.

A Devotional Meeting Held at the Church of the Holy Cross Yesterday Morning.

The Plainfield Clericus held a devotional meeting at the Church of the Holy Cross yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The Holy Eucharist was celebrated by Rev. J. P. Taylor, president of the Clericus, acting as celebrant, assisted by Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, who is the rector of the parish.

After the communion office a demitation was given by Rev. Charles Fiske, rector of St. John's church, of Somerville; his subject being, "The Representative Character of the Priestly Life" The meditation was a most helpful and inspiring one and left a deep and manifest impression upon all who were present, and brought out in a clear and potent way the necessity of consecration in religious life.

The clergy present were: Rev. J. P. Taylor, Rev. E. M. Rodman, Rev. E. V. Stevenson, Rev. W. V. Dawson and Rev. Dr. Wilson, of this city; and Rev. Charles Fiske, of Somerville; Rev. Arthur Phelps, of Bound Brook, Rev. W. R. Mulford, of Fanwood and Rev. H. L. Gilchrist, of Roselle.

Talk of Trotting Circuit.

There is some talk of arranging a circuit in this part of the State for those interested in horse trotting. It has been suggested that a strong circuit could be arranged to include Plainfield, New Brunswick, Freehold and Westfield. There are good horses in each one of these places and plenty of sporting men, who no doubt could make such a scheme a great success.

Story of a Volunteer.

E. W. Hearne, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of New Jersey, will give an illustrated address on the Philippines at Y. M. C. A. Hall, Monday evening, March 16. Mr. Hearne was lieutenant of the United States Volunteers in the Philippines. The admission will be free.

AT BOUND BROOK.

Little Interest Was Taken in the Election Held There on Tuesday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 12—Interest in the local election was at low ebb Tuesday, when only 396 votes, out of a total registry of nearly 600 voters, were cast. R. H. Brokaw was elected mayor without opposition, as he ran on both tickets. The same was true of the nominee for commissioner of appeal, Benjamin Billian and Constable John W. Sebring.

Throughout the day considerable discussion was apparent on the subject of police protection, the Republicans failing at the primary to have the clause "For Police Protection" placed on their ticket, while the Democrats did. This clause received 205 votes as an endorsement.

The result of the election for councilmen was as follows:

Councilmen, three years, William Shure, D., 209; George W. Anderson, D., 129; Augustus C. Thomae, R., 175; John Magaw, R., 223; one year, Runyon Field, D., 202; William S. Terhune, R., 187.

ALL WENT ON HONEYMOON

NEWLY-MARRIED COUPLE WERE GIVEN A SURPRISE BY THEIR FRIENDS.

Party Accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Shanks to Bound Brook and Let Passengers Into Secret.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, when Miss Lottie Connett, of East Fifth street, became the wife of William R. Shanks, of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed in the presence of four friends: Miss Hines, William Yantz and James Shay, of Somerville, and Miss Grace Rowland, of this city.

The bride was very prettily attired in a traveling costume of blue with trimmings of white lace. After the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the depot where Mr. and Mrs. Shanks departed for Philadelphia. They will spend their honeymoon there after which they will return to Somerville where Mr. Shanks is the superintendent of the Somerville Woollen Mills.

When the party arrived at the depot the bride turned as she was about to board the train, to say good bye but the entire party went with the bride and groom to Bound Brook and succeeded in advertising the fact to all the passengers that a newly married couple were on the train.

THROWN OFF ENGINE.

Borough Chief Stahl Remarks on Wisdom of Keeping Off Apparatus.

While the apparatus of Warren Engine Company was responding to the alarm from box 135 in the borough Tuesday evening, Charles Sutterlein and another man were thrown off the engine but luckily did not receive any severe injuries. Chief Stahl, in speaking of the matter, said that people who ride on the apparatus do so at their own risk. It is a dangerous place, he said, and it was a great deal safer on the sidewalks than on the apparatus. He advised all, who were not members of the department, to keep off.

Wreck Victim Still Home.

Hugh Russell Voorhees, of Putnam avenue, who was injured in the Westfield wreck on the New Jersey Central, has only been able to leave his home once since the accident, and that was to visit an oculist. One of the most severe injuries sustained by Mr. Voorhees was to his eyesight and it will probably be a long time before he recovers from the effect of injuries sustained. Lawyer Isaac P. Runyon is looking after Mr. Voorhees' case which has not yet been settled.

Not Until Council Decides.

The Common Council will meet Monday, March 23, to receive and consider objections to the proposed south side sewer. Street Commissioner Gavett states that no further work will be done on the plans unless the Council decides that the sewer shall be constructed.

Making Useful Articles.

The regular meeting of the Girls' Guild of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, was held Tuesday evening, when the time was spent in making useful articles. During the Lenten season the social features of these meetings are dispensed with.

Social at Trinity.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a social in the lecture room of the church this evening, to which the members of the church and congregation are cordially invited.

GIRL'S SCREAMS SENT ANGRY MEN AFTER HIM

Henry L. Molleson, Afterwards Arrested, Charged With Assaulting a Woman.

HELD IN BAIL FOR TRIAL

CLAIMS THAT HE MISTOOK MISS WINSOR FOR ANOTHER WOMAN.

And That There Was No Assault and Battery, As Charged, But That He Merely Slapped Her—Crowd Pursued Him—Was Arrested.

Pursued by an angry crowd of men who had been summoned by his alleged victim's cries, Henry L. Molleson, a young man living on East Third street, made desperate attempts to escape, early last evening, after, it is charged, committing an assault upon Miss Cornelia Winsor, an eighteen-year-old girl, at the corner of East Front and Washington streets. He succeeded in eluding his pursuers by taking the New Jersey Central tracks into town but was picked up at 7 o'clock on Park avenue near Second street, by Patrolman Meyers. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was remanded in $500 bail for trial before Justice Huff this evening. He has retained Counsellor Francis J. Blatz to defend him.

In her story to the police, Miss Winsor said she was on her way home at 6:30 from Schoner's grocery where she is employed as cashier. She passed Molleson at Church street and had gone but a few feet when she noticed he was following her. When she quickened her steps he altered his accordingly and suddenly ran in front of her. She tried to run but, she says, he seized her and threw her down, at the same time slapping her face. By this time the terrified girl's screams were heard in all parts of the neighborhood and men came rushing from all sides. Molleson ran down Washington street with the crowd after him. He ascended the railroad embankment and, by counter moves, managed to get away.

Word of the assault was sent to police headquarters and the night men, who were just about ready to go on post, were given a description of the assailant and were hurried out. Patrolman Meyers had been gone but a few minutes when he saw Molleson and immediately arrested him on suspicion. When taken to headquarters, he at once admitted he was the man, but declared he mistook Miss Winsor for another woman who is well known to the police and that he had only slapped her.

Miss Winsor, who lives with her uncle, George H. Alcorn, on East Front street, is a most estimable young woman and was unaware of the identity of her assailant until he was arrested. She was thrown into a high state of nervousness by her experience but today is much better.

The police were greatly stirred up over the matter and Chief Kiely declared, this morning, that if Molleson is guilty he will be punished. He further stated it was his intention to make the city streets safe for unprotected woman at any time of day or night.

HOSPITAL NOT EXEMPT.

New Ruling of Court of Errors and Appeals May Affect Muhlenberg.

By a ruling of the Court of Errors and Appeals, sitting at Trenton Monday, the findings of the Supreme Court are reversed in the decision relating to the exemption of hospital property from taxation, which may make it necessary for the local assessors to appraise the property of Muhlenberg Hospital for taxation. Heretofore the local hospital has been exempt from taxation.

Same Charge.

George Gardner, a young man whose face has appeared in the city court quite frequently within the last year, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning on the old charge of drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded for trial until tomorrow morning. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Charles Flynn.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS.

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Plainfield Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Nowadays the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Plainfield reader.

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of B. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Co., says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

MRS. PENNELL DEAD

Second Victim of Auto Crash Unconscious to the End.

SUICIDE THEORY IS UNWARRANTED

Examination of Vehicle In Which Buffalo Lawyer and His Wife Met Death Shows Brakes Set and Power Reversed.

BUFFALO, March 12.—Mrs. Arthur Pennell died at the Sisters of Charity hospital last night at 8 o'clock. For hours during the day the surgeons worked over the unconscious form of the injured woman. A faint twitching of the eyelids or a murmur of pain was the only sign of returning consciousness that was perceptible during the twenty-four hours the injured woman lay upon the white cot in the hospital ward.

Toward evening a rising temperature and a quickening pulse warned the surgeons that the end was near, and word was sent to her brother, who had arrived from New York. Before he arrived at the hospital Mrs. Pennell's pulse ceased to beat, and the third victim of the grewsome tragedy enacted in this city during the last two weeks lay still in death. Except for a few incoherent words uttered when she was first taken to the hospital Mrs. Pennell's lips did not move.

The body of Mr. Pennell was removed from the morgue to an undertaking establishment and prepared for burial. It was decided that the remains of both Mr. and Mrs. Pennell should be taken to Mr. Pennell's former home in Brunswick, Me., for burial.

Mrs. Abbey Y. Pennell and J. Fred Pennell, mother and brother of the dead man, and Henry W. Lamb, a brother of Mrs. Pennell, arrived in the city in the afternoon from New York on the Empire State express. They entered a carriage at the Exchange street station and were at once driven to the Sisters' hospital. They were admitted to the ward where Mrs. Pennell lay unconscious and stood beside her for fifteen minutes. During that time the injured woman did not move. They left the ward with tear dimmed eyes and walked slowly down the steps to their carriage. They were taken to the Pennell home, on Cleveland avenue. All callers at the Pennell house were denied admission.

The automobile which carried Mr. Pennell and his wife in the frightful plunge to the bottom of the stone quarry on Kensington avenue was carefully examined. The brakes and levers were given particularly close attention. Experts in the construction and manufacture of automobiles were called in. The result of the examination left no doubt in the minds of any of the men present that Pennell did everything within human power to regain control of the vehicle when it careened in its mad course toward the yawning chasm at the quarry. The brakes were tightly set, the power indicator pointed to "Reverse," and the track of the wheels in the soft earth on the ridge between the street pavement and the quarry showed that the wheels were turning backward when the ponderous machine sped forward to destruction.

Flood Damage Along Mississippi.

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 12.—A report has reached here that the Texas and Pacific railroad embankment at Bougre, in lower Concordia parish, about thirty-five miles south of Vandalia, has broken, but Sheriff Gillespie of that parish could not verify the report. This embankment is fifteen feet high, or three feet higher than the high water stage of 1897, and is a new levee. Officers of the mail steamer Betsy Ann are authority for the statement that frame buildings in the lowlands have been washed away. Residences have been torn from their foundations, and some have been caught and held by the trees. The owners and occupants were glad to escape with their lives. Deer, bears and other animals have been driven to high lands and are being slaughtered in large numbers.

Woodmen Elect Officers.

CORRY, Pa., March 12.—The Woodmen convention concluded with a grand banquet in city hall. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term of two years: Head consul, A. A. Stutzman, Johnstown, Pa.; head adviser, J. F. Weigel, Bellevue, O.; head banker, J. K. Stauffer, Latrobe, Pa.; head clerk, W. T. Gordon, Rochester, Pa.; head escort, A. W. Kinchner, Cleveland, O.; head watchman, Orlando Maskey, Paterson, N. J.; head secretary, J. T. Lauffer, Warren, Pa. Canton, O., was chosen for the convention of 1905.

Pronounced It Smallpox.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, March 12.—Dr. Bridger, who has been commissioned by the authorities of the island of Barbados to investigate the eruptive fever prevailing in the island of Trinidad, reports that it is a widespread and rapidly increasing epidemic of smallpox and bases his statement on evidence obtained and on observations made. The Trinidad medical board, however, declares that smallpox does not prevail there epidemically and that the eruptive fever referred to is not smallpox.

Former Senator Hunter Dead.

OSWEGO, N. Y., March 12.—Former State Senator Thomas Hunter is dead at Sterling, aged seventy years. He was one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in this section and was largely interested in banking and manufacturing enterprises. He served as assemblyman from 1881 to 1885 and was state senator from 1890 to 1895. He was also prominent in Grand Army circles.

VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

Decided Progress Made on Canal Treaty.

SENATOR MORGAN KEEPS ON TALKING

Consent to Print Remarks In the Congressional Record Is Given. Ratification Without Change Is Now Predicted.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Decided progress was made yesterday toward reaching an agreement for a vote on the Colombian canal treaty, and when the senate adjourned there was a general understanding that in all probability some hour next Tuesday would be definitely agreed on as the time when a vote should be taken on the treaty and all amendments. All statements to this effect, however, were accompanied by the announcement that there were yet some details to be arranged. There is, however, no doubt in the minds of leading senators that the vote will be taken on Tuesday.

The arrangement was brought about largely by Senator Frye, who by virtue of long service with Senator Morgan on the committee on foreign relations has come to be on terms of great intimacy with the Alabama senator. No other senator thus far has shown any disposition to delay the final disposition of the treaty, so that all that was necessary was to secure Mr. Morgan's assent to the taking of the vote. The negotiation was begun early in the day, and after Senators Frye and Morgan had been closeted for some time the latter sought Senator Gorman and talked over the situation with him, with the result indicated.

Senator Morgan exacted consent to the printing in the Congressional Record of the remarks he has prepared, giving his best recollection of the speeches he has made in the executive sessions of the senate on the treaty. These speeches are contained in the pamphlets sent to the senators by Mr. Morgan. They have been read by a number of the Republican senators, who say they find in them nothing objectionable.

Democratic senators have practically agreed unanimously to urge an amendment to the twenty-third article of the treaty, relieving it of all question as to the right of the United States to control the canal, and they express confidence in obtaining some Republican votes for it. Many senators also express the conviction that the change in the treaty committing the United States to a policy of non-acquisition of Central American territory should be eliminated as entirely out of place. The indications are, however, that the treaty will be ratified without modification in any particular.

The committee on foreign relations will meet today to take up the Cuban treaty with the view of reporting it to the senate. The Democrats will endeavor to amend the Cuban treaty, both in committee and in the senate, so as to require action by the house.

CUBA RATIFIES TREATY.

Senate Has Two-thirds Majority For the Convention.

HAVANA, March 12.—The senate by a vote of 16 to 5 has ratified the reciprocity treaty with the United States.

The treaty was thus ratified by exactly two-thirds of the vote of the senate. Fifteen Republican Conservatives, or administration senators, and one Nationalist voted in favor of the treaty and five Nationalists against it. There were three absentees, all of whom, it is believed, favored the treaty. The ratification required only a majority vote, so there were three votes to spare.

Senor Zayas, the only Nationalist who voted for ratification, explaining his vote, said it was his desire to amend the treaty with reference to the exchange of similar commodities produced in both countries, but he had no intention of opposing the treaty itself. Senor Sanguilly, the leader of the opposition, made the rather mysterious explanation that his opposition was designed chiefly to draw out whatever could be advanced in support of the treaty and that the arguments of Senator Bustamente, as put forward in the senate, convinced him that the country would be more prosperous with reciprocity than without it, but nevertheless his attitude of opposition and disapproval of the acts of the executive department of the government forbade him voting yes.

The vote was taken immediately on the conclusion of a forceful appeal by Senor Bustamente.

Austria Will Exhibit.

VIENNA, March 12.—The Austrian commissioner to the St. Louis fair, Herr Stiasny, has been interviewed and says that notwithstanding the refusal of the government to make an appropriation for an official exhibit Austria will be well represented at the exhibition, as 200 manufacturers intend exhibiting independently.

Heavy Reward For Murderer.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 12.—The senate has passed under suspension of the rules and sent immediately to the house a resolution authorizing the appropriation of a reward of $10,000 for the conviction of the murderer of the Waterbury policeman, Paul Mendelssohn. No house action was taken owing to early adjournment.

Charged With Sending Poison Candy

DALHOUSIE, N. B., March 12.—Postmaster J. A. Johnson, arrested for alleged complicity in robbing the post-office here and released on bail, has been rearrested on a charge of having sent a box of poisoned candy to his alleged accomplice in the robbery, George Chieverton.

BITUMINOUS MINERS.

Convention at Altoona, Pa., Favors Many Changes.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 12.—The morning session of the bituminous miners' convention was occupied in the discussion of resolutions. National Board Member Rice proposed to abolish the examination of mine foremen, the certificates, he said, being more of a protection to the operator than to the miner. In cases of accident, he said, widows and orphans of the killed could not recover damages from the mine owners because the latter found refuge behind the mine foreman and his certificate, the courts having decided that the certificate guarantees the operator against liability. A man injured in the mines could not recover damages for the same reason. There would be fewer accidents, Mr. Rice argued, if mine owners were obliged to pay damages when they occurred. Most certificates are got in corruption anyway, he added.

Several speakers advocated the passage by the state legislature of the employers' liability act. The matter was finally referred to a special committee.

A resolution was adopted requiring that miners shall be informed each evening whether or not there will be work next day.

Another resolution adopted petitions the state legislature to enact a law similar to the law now in force in the anthracite region which provides that mine inspectors be elected by a popular vote.

It was decided not to admit boys under sixteen to the union rooms, as they have been known to give away the passwords.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, N. J., March 12.—The Passaic pollution hearing continued until late last evening. Joseph Coult, who drafted the bill, and R. V. Lindabury spoke in favor of the measure. Mr. Lindabury devoted most of his speech to answering points raised by former Attorney General Griggs. Mr. Lindabury insisted that the decision of the court that had been quoted by Mr. Griggs to sustain the point that New York state might successfully resist the attempt of New Jersey to empty sewage into New York bay hinged on other points that do not appear in this case. After the hearing the senate held a brief session and passed the voting machine bill and gave a second reading to the primary election bill. The house passed the house bill appropriating $131,000 to pay Rutgers' college for scholarships furnished under an act of the legislature passed some years ago.

Midway Islands Transferred.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The president by executive order has turned Midway islands over to the navy department. This was done at the instance of the Pacific Cable company, which has asked for the protection of its property on the islands. Roving Japanese sailors are in the habit of putting into the islands for the plumage of sea fowl and for guano. It is probable that the navy will establish a small station on the islands, and American warships will make a practice of touching there much more frequently than they have done in the past. The islands are two in number—Sand island, having 633 acres, and Eastern island, 245 acres.

Nebraska Flood Subsiding.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 12.—The flood situation in Nebraska is improved, and the worst is believed to be past. For fifteen years railroads have suffered no such damage as during the past four days, and it will require a week with favorable weather to put the roadbeds in as good condition as before the flood. The ice gorge at Plattsmouth has gone out, leaving the two Burlington bridges intact, but the Rock Island is still without a bridge across the Platte between here and Omaha.

Violence In Kansas City Strike.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 12.—Violence entered into the strike yesterday of 211 drivers employed by the fourteen transfer companies of the city, who went out for an increase in wages and recognition of their union. Perhaps half a hundred men were employed during the day to take the places of the strikers, though but little work was accomplished by them.

Died of Starvation.

TOLEDO, O., March 12.—Rev. Charles W. Potter, formerly of Detroit, but for the past six years at the head of the Adams street mission here and one of the best known charitable workers in the city, is dead of starvation. While Dr. Potter was surrounded with the good things of life he was unable to eat any nourishing food because of cancer of the stomach.

Ex-Senator Jones Better.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The condition of ex-Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, who has been ill for some days, is reported as improved. A paroxysm of hiccoughs which lasted two days greatly distressed the patient, but the physicians now have this unfavorable symptom under control, and the family express the hope that he will entirely recover.

Toledo Teamsters Still Out.

TOLEDO, O., March 12.—The teamsters' strike has not been settled, as was expected. The proposition of the Toledo Cartage association which was submitted was not accepted, and all negotiations for settlement are off. The police were called out twice to defend nonunion teamsters who were attacked by strike sympathizers.

Negro Coach Bill Failed.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 12.—In the house by a vote of 55 to 70 the separate railroad coach for negroes bill failed of final passage. It applied to all railroads and common carriers. All the Republicans voted against the measure, as did several Democrats.

Please Say Advertised."

Her Letter and Her Answer.

"Would you be kind enough to return my photograph?" she wrote. "I gave it to you in a moment of girlish folly, and I have since had occasion to regret that I was so thoughtless in such matters."

Of course she pictured that photograph framed and hung up in his room, and was inclined to think that he would part with it with deep regret. Just why she wanted it returned is immaterial. Of course he had offended her in some way, but it is unnecessary to inquire how.

The answer to her note came the following day.

"I regret," it read, "that I am unable at this late day to pick out your photograph. However, I send you my entire collection, numbering a little over 500, and would request that you would return all except your own by express at my expense."—N. Y. Times.

Uninsured Treasures.

It is startling to think that, while almost any tradesman's shop that might be burned down is covered by insurance, the British museum, if it were burned down to-morrow, would not cost the insurance companies one half-pennny. Neither would the houses of parliament. They stand for three millions sterling, but not one single sovereign of this vast sum is covered by insurance. Three thousand pounds a year is spent on a force of police and firemen to protect the houses of parliament by day and night, and the British museum pays the rent of a fireman's house in Coram street, but that is the full cost of the precautions against fire in these places. The British museum, believing that prevention is better than cure, has no artificial light on its innermost recesses.—St. James' Gazette.

How Elephants Are Caught.

Baldly, this is the way these men will work. The Chittagong beaters must surround the herd stealthily, each of the two parties making a wide, semi-circular detour, dropping two men every 50 feet. When the divisions meet beyond the game there will be a ring, round about, of coolies posted within shouting distance of each other. It is the duty of this ring to hem the herd in for days by gunfire, and gong-beating and flames at night. Meanwhile, a great log stockade is to be built. Then the wild herd is to be driven into it, with how much craft and chance of failure only an elephant catcher knows. Once in, the game is won.—Everybody's Magazine.

The Real Biscuit China.

One stormy day a vessel was loading potatoes. A cart from the country came alongside, and the driver proceeded to empty his load.

When he had finished he was invited by the mate to warm and dry himself by the galley fire, and to eat a piece of pork and a ship's biscuit, the latter as hard as iron. The driver ate the pork without touching the biscuit. When he had finished he handed back the biscuit to the mate with the remark:

"Many thanks, sailor man; there's your plate."—Cleveland Leader.

SPORTING NEWS.

New York Likely to Have Boxing Bouts Again.

NEW YORK, March 12.—New Yorkers are to see boxing bouts again without leaving their own city. It will not be fighting as it was conducted under the old regime which killed the Horton law, but boxing with big gloves and limited to ten rounds.

Senator James J. Frawley, who has introduced the bill at Albany, is confident that it will pass both houses and that the governor will sign it.

The feature of Senator Frawley's bill is that he proposes a commission to take boxing under its wing and regulate it. The commission is to be composed of three state officials, with power to license regularly organized athletic clubs to conduct boxing matches. These officials are not to receive any compensation outside of the necessary expenses, and the total expenses must not exceed $5,000 a year, which includes the salary of the secretary.

Racing at Havana.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—Race horse owners who like to pick up a few purses during the long winter months will be delighted with the news just brought here from Havana. It was nothing more nor less than that next winter there will be racing in Havana during the winter months. The scheme has been tried before and failed, chiefly because of the lack of sufficient financial backing. This time there is plenty of money in sight.

No Games at Athens Next Year.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Minister Jackson, at Athens, has informed the state department that the international Olympian games will not be held in Athens in 1904 because of the international Olympian games to be held in the United States that year. Mr. Jackson has been informed by the crown prince that the Olympian games in connection with an international archæological congress will be held in Athens in 1905.

Pennsy's Stroke Abandons Rowing.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—Robert Howard Eisenbrey, stroke of the University of Pennsylvania varsity crew and a member of the Henley eight, has been compelled to resign his position in the eight and permanently abandon rowing on the recommendation of his physicians. He is suffering from a serious attack of athletic heart (enlargement), caused by three years' hard rowing.

Walthour Won at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—In the motor paced championship bicycle race last night between Bobby Walthour of Atlanta and Harry Caldwell of Manchester, N. H., Walthour won two straight five mile heats, and the third was abandoned. Walthour took the first heat by ten yards in 7m. 58 2-5s. and the second by half a mile in 7m. 48s.

Long Shots Won at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Long shots were much in evidence at Oakland. El Piloto took the second race at 15 to 1, Rinaldo scored at 25 to 1, while Dimente, a 25 to 1 shot, scored in the third race. The weather was cloudy and track fast.

Gans Won In Eleventh Round.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 12.—In a sharp battle here last night Gans won from Crosby in the eleventh round.

No More Deaths at Olean.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 12.—No more deaths have resulted from the awful calamity which visited Olean on Monday night, but each hour brings forth the names of more of those who are under care of local doctors for treatment for burns. The patients at the hospital are all doing as well as could be expected, and hopes are entertained for their ultimate recovery. So far as can be learned the total list of injured is about forty-five, including those slightly burned.

Labor Candidate Succeeds Beresford

LONDON, March 12.—The election of a successor to Lord Charles Beresford as member of parliament for the Woolwich division of London took place yesterday and resulted in a majority of 3,229 votes for the labor candidate, William Crooks, over Geoffrey Drage, the Unionist candidate. Lord Charles Beresford's retirement from parliament is due to his appointment to the command of the channel squadron. He was elected unopposed as a Conservative in 1902.

Kansas Stockyards Bill Signed.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 12.—Governor Bailey has signed the stockyards bill, and it will go into effect at once. The bill reduces the yardage prices on cattle 25 per cent. It is reported that the officials of the Kansas City Stockyards company are considering moving the yards into Missouri on account of the law.

Old Name, Lake George, Adopted.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., March 12.—Residents of the village of Caldwell at a special election voted to change the name to Lake George and to incorporate as a village. The village was known as Lake George for over fifty years, but was changed to Caldwell seven years ago.

FIGHT TO SAVE AMES

Former Mayor of Minneapolis Appeals to State Court.

BAIL FIXED AT $12,500, WITH LIMIT

Should New Hampshire Courts Decide Adversely Petition Will Be Carried to United States Tribunal.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 12.—Not until all legal proceedings are exhausted will former Mayor Adelbert A. Ames of Minneapolis consent to return to that city and stand trial for alleged bribery. His attorneys in this state made a strong effort in the superior court to secure his release on habeas corpus proceedings, and when beaten they appealed to the supreme court of New Hampshire. Should that court decide adversely, the power of the supreme court of the United States will be invoked to set him free, so that he will probably be able to stay in New Hampshire for a year or two at least.

In the meantime he will be at liberty provided he finds sureties in the sum of $12,500, which amount, however, must be furnished before 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon next. As Dr. Ames has not yet been behind the bars every effort will be made to secure bail.

Dr. Ames was indicted for bribery during his term as mayor of Minneapolis in 1901, and he evaded his bail of $10,000. He eluded the Minneapolis police until a month ago, when he was found at the home of Rev. Mr. Chapin in Hancock, this state, and there arrested to await requisition papers from the governor of Minnesota.

At the time of his arrest he was undoubtedly a very sick man, so that his counsel, Mr. Hamblett, obtained at once a short stay in the proceedings on that account. Finally there came the hearing before Governor Bachelder on the question of honoring the requisition papers from the governor of Minnesota, and when they were finally granted Mr. Hamblett succeeded in obtaining another stay of two weeks, again on the ground of ill health.

On the expiration of this last respite on March 5 a writ of habeas corpus was obtained which again prevented Sheriff Dreger from taking Dr. Ames back to Minneapolis. Another delay came so that the hearing on granting the petition for release on nine different counts did not come up until yesterday.

Miners' Union Will Prosecute.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—The United Mine Workers' national organization has taken up formally the recent killing of William Dodson, William Clark and Richard Clayton at Beckley, W. Va. It is announced that the national organization will open its $1,000,000 treasury fund to prosecute United States Marshal W. W. Cunningham, who is charged by the miners with responsibility for the murders. Chris Evans of Nelsonville, O., who has been handling the case, and William Blakely and G. W. Purcell, Indiana organizers, who have been sent to assist him, have been notified to proceed with vigor.

Breakup Stops Lumbering.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., March 12.—Reports from Adirondack points north of here show that the Hudson river is free of ice from North creek to Thurman. All lumbering operations have ceased, and the lumber companies are preparing for the annual drive, which will begin about the 20th inst. Nearly all of the logs cut during the winter have been delivered to the ponds and streams where the drives start. Those left in the woods will stay until another season, as all the log roads are impassable by reason of the sudden breakup.

Funston at War Department.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—General Frederick Funston is at the war department in response to a summons from Acting Secretary Sanger to discuss matters connected with his new assignment to duty as commander of the department of the Columbia. Mr. Sanger desires to acquire special information respecting conditions in Alaska, which is within the limits of General Funston's new command, and as the officer soon will be going to that territory the acting secretary is charging him with subjects of inquiry.

Wheat Fields Flooded.

CAIRO, Ill., March 12.—The river gauge at Cairo registers 49.4 feet, and the water is rising slowly. In Mississippi county, Mo., more than 40,000 acres of wheat have been flooded. The Big Four railroad tracks north of Mound City are under water. It is reported that the levee has broken at Price's Landing, near Commerce.

Shot From Ambush.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 12.—W. L. Croft of Fairfax, Barnwell county, S. C., was shot and instantly killed from ambush at night near his home. Suspicion points to a negro, Frank Strange, whose wife Croft had befriended by giving her a home after her husband had driven her from his house.

Justice Day Very Sick.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Justice Day rested comfortably last night. The attack of grip is quite a severe one, but while the attending physician thinks it will yield to treatment it will be some days before Mr. Day can go out again.

Colorado and Southern Strike Ends.

DENVER, March 12.—The blacksmiths, boilermakers and machinists formerly in the employ of the Colorado and Southern Railway company have declared their strike and boycott off.

BUSY TIMES AT HOSPITAL.

The amount of work that Muhlenberg Hospital is doing in these days is greater than ever before in its history, and the resources of the institution are being severely taxed to meet the demands made upon it.

Although the wards have a normal capacity for only eighteen patients there are at present twenty-three ward patients in the institution. In addition to these there are at present five private room patients, making a total of twenty-eight inmates. The number of patients admitted during the current hospital year which began in May last is 328 against 296 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of thirty-two patients.

On the night of the recent railroad wreck, thirteen patients were admitted to the hospital which with the twenty-one already there made a total of thirty-four to be cared for that night. Since that date the number of inmates has ranged from twenty-five to thirty-one.

On a single day within the past fortnight there were six operations performed in the operating room, of which three were what are called major operations.

The first board of editors of the Oracle of the City High School has completed its work and a new board has taken charge of the future issues of that publication. It must be said that the school girls and boys, who have directed the first numbers of this paper, have done well and the Oracle has brought forth many words of praise for them. While the Oracle is not a year old yet, it compares favorably with many school publications which have been in existence for many years. With experience, the Oracle is going to continue to grow in excellence and circulation.

All those great things which were to happen at Asbury Park, when that city secured control of the beach front, need not be expected immediately. In fact it is likely that visitors to that resort will recognize the place when they visit it again this summer. Some changes are to be made, it is true, but the more extensive ones will wait the close of another season before they will be started. There is but a comparatively short time now before the season opens and the proposed Casino and other big changes could not be gotten ready in time.

With a definite time set for adjournment, the lawmakers at Trenton are moving the wheels of legislation with much celerity. Bills are going through so fast now that the ordinary mortal hasn't much of an idea of what is happening.

SECOND NIGHT MADE EVEN GREATER HIT

'Tis true one gin mill keeper met defeat,
But then our City Fathers got cold feet
And stuck another place across the street,
And things are different now.—Cho.

Mr. Conroy thought North Plainfield wanted him for Mayor,
But things are different now.
He let Dave Carney fill him full of nice hot air,
And things are different now.
Today he feels as if he liked to cuss—
"Back up," the borough said, "despite your fuss Newt. Smalley's plenty good enough for us,"
And things are different now.—Cho.

When the trolley company started all its cars were new,
But things are different now.
They really tried to see how nicely they could do,
But things are different now.
Today most anything is good enough,
Their "public servant" cry is just a bluff,
Their sole ambition is to get the "stuff"
For things are different now.—Cho.

In the chapel we have always looked for one old face,
But things are different now.
They say that some one's coming here to take his place,
For things are different now.
We don't know why they're sending him away,
And every member of the Y. M. A.,
Would give his head to have Freel Stewart stay,
For things are different now.—Cho.

MAYOR WAS MISSING.

Mayor-Elect Wyckoff, of Dunellen, Couldn't Be at Dinner Given to Noah Dove Encampment.

Harvey L. Schmeyor, of Prospect place, entertained a score of his friends at his home last evening. A very enjoyable evening was spent and during the evening a number of speeches were made with John H. Carney as toast master. Mr. Carney acted out his part of the programme in his usual humorous manner. At the close of the speechmaking resolutions were adopted and sent to Mayor Wyckoff, of Dunellen, in which was expressed regret that he could not be with the gathering last evening.

Mayor Wyckoff is a member of Noah Dove Encampment, I. O. O. F., of which organization the members of the dinner party were also members The resolutions were signed by Edward E. Sebring, F. W. Mills, J. B. Eick, Joseph Perry, William Townley, J. F. Kettering, Simon Mantz, Henry Nischwitz, S. H. Schleif, A. W. Pangborn, E. T. Bowman, Peter Doeringer, J. H. Williams, J. Kingston, Harvey L. Schmeyer, John Becker, Jr., and John H. Carney, toast master.

Retail Clerks' Anniversary.

The anniversary of the Retail Clerk's Mutual Aid Association will be celebrated Monday evening, March 23, at which time there will be the drawing for the tea set. An interesting programme is being arranged for the evening. Last Monday evening the association initiated one new candidate.

Lenten Recitals.

A series of Lenten recitals will be given at Holy Trinity church, 122d street and Lenox avenue, New York, on Monday evenings, March 16, 23 and 30, by William E. MacClymont, organist, assisted by other soloists. The recitals are free and all interested are cordially invited.

Only Pleasure That Night.

The members of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., have arranged for a social time at the communication to be held Tuesday evening, March 17. There will be no work that evening, but the time will be given up entirely to a programme of pleasure and profit.

Special Preacher.

Rev. Charles Fiske, rector of St. John's church, Somerville, N. J., will be the special preacher at the Church of the Holy Cross this evening. The hour of service will be 8 o'clock.

Soon in New Home.

Woodhull & Martin hope to be able to occupy their new building on East Front street, about May 1. The work of construction is going along rapidly.

Social Club Ball.

The North Plainfield Social Club will hold its annual ball, this evening, in Saengerbund Hall.

BOY WANTED!

We want a good, strong boy of 18 or 20 years to learn the Carpet business; must be honest, willing and ambitious; a good position for the right boy. Apply at main store.

The Carpet Season is now here, and our carpet store is fast becoming a very busy place. The new carpets are all in stock, and a fine display they make. Only reliable makes are sold by us. Patterns the very latest.

We have an extra large line of all-wool extra supers in 1903 patterns suitable for dining rooms, bedrooms, etc.

In high pile carpets, the Axminsters are most in demand. Our range of patterns in these goods rivals that of any house in the business.

Velvets are also very popular. They are probably the best carpets made for hard wear. The line includes some choice patterns for hall and stairs.

The best makes of Tapestry and Brussels are shown in beautiful new patterns.

We have our usual good assortment of Chinese and Japanese Mattings, Oil Cloths and Linoleums. We have skilled men to make and lay these goods.

Estimates cheerfully furnished for making and hanging shades of all kinds. We make our own shades and figure closely on same. Curtain poles and brass rods, etc., in large variety.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

White Label canned goods are to be secured at the Park grocery at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street where the freshest vegetables in season are to be found.

Smalley Brothers, the North avenue butchers, have always made it a point to secure the very best meats for their patrons. Their delivery system is not excelled by any other butcher in the city.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods merchants, are now preparing for a big spring and summer trade. They will carry a full line of dry goods, notions, men's furnishing and toilet articles.

Some excellent bargains in decorated fine porcelain dinnerware are to be had at present at Gavett's. They are all new designs and have only recently been received. Just the thing for wedding or anniversary presents.

It will delight both young and old to visit A. M. Harper's doll hospital on Park avenue. Ther are so many things there that will interest and amuse all classes and ages. Mr. Harper makes a specialty of fine stationery, pens, pencils, etc.

If all the young men in this city knew where to get their latest spring styles of hats and neckwear there would be no necessity of going to New York for them. James R. Blair, of Park avenue, has these styles on hand and also has a large assortment of furnishing goods.

Accuracy in the compounding of prescriptions, promptness in service and the best goods are three strong features of L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street. The high standard of excellence in soda-water drinks is maintained and a full line of the purest and best confections is always on sale.

Warnock's specialties during the coming week will be charlotte russe, eclaires and the best of fancy pastry made fresh every day. All of Warnock's goods give entire satisfaction because they are made of pure materials by workmen who know how. Telephone what you forget and it will be delivered.

During the coming spring and summer, Harry Dreier's sporting goods house will be headquarters for baseball goods and the best makes of bicycles. He is now quoting prices for the complete equipment of baseball teams and can beat Newark and New York firms. Bicycle sundries and tires will also be made a specialty.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—James F. Parker will speak tonight to the Swedes at the Pilgrim church.

—Miss Chandler, of East Fifth street, will entertain the Geisha Whist Club this evening.

—Coffee that is coffee — Neuman Brothers' Mocha and Java. You assume no risks—it's fully guaranteed.

—There will be singing, speaking and recitations given at the Plainfield Rescue Mission tonight at 8 o'clock.

—Edward Connors, of West Third street, will shortly leave for Honduras, where he has secured a position with a banana raising concern.

—Wikoff & Stiglitz, of East Front street, expect to move their place of business within a short time to the top floor of the building corner of Front and Somerset streets.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fickert will move April 1 from their present home on Fairview avenue, to the Cribner property, corner of East Front and Richmond streets. Mr. Beckman, owner of the property now occupied by Mr. Fickert, will take up his residence there upon the removal of the tenants.

PROSECUTOR WAS SWORN IN PROSECUTOR ENGLISH TOOK HIS OATH OF OFFICE YESTERDAY MORNING.

Entered Upon New Term Immediately—Several Offenders Were Arraigned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 12 — When the Court of Special Sessions and Orphans' Court convened yesterday morning N. C. J. English, recently reappointed prosecutor of the pleas for the county of Union, was sworn in. Mr. English immediately entered upon the duties of his new term, and on his motion several defendants were arraigned.

Louis Needleman, who on Wednesday last was brought here from Chicago, whither he had fled after robbing Simon Feinswag of two gold watches and jewelry, was the first arraigned. He pleaded guilty. Needleman was sentenced to one year at State prison.

Henry Jones, colored, who, in a fit of jealous rage, recently committed an atrocous assault on George Smith at the Keystone Hotel by slashing him across the face with a razor, was next arraigned. He pleaded guilty. The court sentenced Jones to the State Reformatory.

Janerio Russo, of Summit, charged with the larceny of carpenter tools, property of Philip Gieginheimer, pleaded non vult. He was sentenced to the reformatory.

Alfred Green and Charles Viers, colored, charged with having, on two occasions of late, entered the box office at Jacobs Theatre, stealing $25 and $18, pleaded guilty. The court suspended sentence and directed that they be given into the hands of the probation officer.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett, of Orchard place, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tams, of Trenton.

Thomas Flynn, of Plainfield avenue, has returned home after a week's visit with friends in Raritan.

Edward Golden, night telegraph operator at the North Avenue station, is still detained at his home in Hopewell by illness. He is, however, steadily improving.

Justice William E. Mattison, of Somerset street, who was removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital last Friday, suffering with complications of heart trouble and a bad cold, returned to his office this morning greatly improved.

Presiding Elder Expected.

A special service will be he held at the German Lutheran church Sunday evening when the presiding elder of the Swedish Lutheran churches in this State will be present and preach a sermon. A Swedish baptism will take place during the services. The services will be in Swedish and the music promises to be a feature of the evening.

Valuable Dogs.

A. R. Kyle, formerly with F. A. Barnaby, of Plainfield avenue, has been engaged in raising some fine collie dogs of pedigreed stock. This morning Mr. Kyle shipped to Carlton, N. J., by U. S. Express Company, a mother and three sons, sable and white collies. They are beauties and are valued at $500.

Lived in Plainfield When a Boy.

Vincent Herring, son of the late Walter Herring, a former resident of Plainfield, died at home, 274 Manhattan avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, after a short illness. The funeral services will be held this evening at 9 o'clock.

Trolleys Ready for Crowds.

Division Superintendent Maguire, of the trolley company, had four cars stationed in front of Hope chapel last night and the night before to accommodate the large crowds.

Soloist at Public Rehearsal.

Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross will be the soloist at the sixth public rehearsal of the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra to be held Tuesday evening.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 15, "The Young Christian's Pleasures; the Recreation of Body, Mind and Soul"—Text, 1 Cor. vi, 19; x, 31-33.

"Whatsoever ye do do all to the glory of God."

"The Young Christian's Standing Ground" is the general topic for the present month. We have already considered our position on the temperance question and on the proper use of the Sabbath.

The present week brings us a topic of broad application which deserves careful thought. The subject is too often narrowed to a mere question of amusements, proper and improper, and the mode of treatment is as inadequate and profitless as can well be made. An excellent example is set us in this matter by the Young Men's Christian association. Its emblem is a triangle of which the sides represent the threefold nature of man in body, mind and soul. Its members endeavor in their work to secure harmonious development of each.

Each part of our makeup is so related to all others that no one can be built up without benefit to all others, and, on the other hand, no one can be neglected and stunted without detriment to the others. "A sound mind and spirit in a sound body" is the goal for which we should each one strive. Limitations and hindrances will be met in many ways, but the mark should be kept clearly in view to develop in harmony and as far as possible all parts of our being. Due regard must be had to the place each part occupies in the scheme of the whole.

Recreation should never be confounded with mere amusement. It may be fun or it may be downright hard work. Its test is not in the pleasure it gives at the time, but in the new vigor and refreshment gained. The word gives the right clew to the end we should aim to reach. We become weary. Our energies are exhausted. We need new power to become untired. This can be done oftentimes by diverting attention, by considering different lines of thought than those we have been following, by taking up some form of exercise unlike what we have been occupied with. Use a different set of muscles; think of another subject; arouse feeling on other interests. This will recreate us; it will refresh us. We become rested, new in energy, alert and alive again.

God's glory is never enhanced by crippling a part of our nature. Spirit cannot be emancipated by cramping the body or dwarfing the mind, nor can any recreation come from dissipation. The freest, most rational use of all powers, in order that all faculties may cooperate for highest development of each and all, is our duty.

There is no eminence in piety indicated by denouncing indiscriminately all amusements, nor is it a sign of wisdom to indiscriminately commend all the popular forms of entertainment.

Earnest and clear eyed young people are fast coming to choose the best things, the most helpful in each department and to let alone whatever merely serves to entertain and does not leave permanent betterment of body, mind or soul.

Whatever does most good is best and should be used.

A Soldier of Christ.

The soldier does not expect always to march in dress parade. Doubtless such military displays are occasions of exultation, but that is not what men become soldiers for. The fatiguing march, the exposure, the deprivation, the terrible battle, with wounds and death momentarily threatening, are the services for which he has enlisted. He who endures them is a good soldier. So a good soldier of Christ must be able to endure hardness and must expect it. Paul learned how to suffer, and we account him a hero because he did not murmur nor charge God foolishly nor abate one jot of his faith. His faith was steadfast; trial did not weaken or alter it. His emotions were changeable, but his faith was fixed, and he went through all his sufferings in a spirit of triumph because his faith was so strong.—New York Independent.

Our Duty.

This truth comes to us more and more the longer that we live—that on what field or in what uniform or with what aims we do our duty matters very little, or even what our duty is, great or small, splendid or obscure. Only to find our duty certainly, and somewhere, somehow, do it faithfully, makes us good, strong, happy and useful men and tunes our lives into some feeble echo of the life of God.—Phillips Brooks.

Character.

Character is always and finally the supreme power in human affairs. What is character? It is the stamp of truth, power and proportion made by the hand of God upon mortal clay. Christ alone was the perfect character, stamp or image of that God who is not only perfection, but omnipotence.—Southern Missioner.

Two Good Rules.

There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart—never to believe anything bad about anybody unless you positively know it to be true; never to tell even that unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary and that God is listening while you tell it.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

A Prayer.

If there be some weaker one,
Give me strength to help him on;
If a blinder soul there be,
Let me guide him nearer Thee.
Make my mortal dreams come true
With the work I fain would do;
Clothe with life the weak intent;
Let me be the thing I meant.
—J. G. Whittier.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 15—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from the sermon on the mount: What Christ teaches about trust.—Matt. vi, 19-34.

The fatherhood of God was frequently emphasized by Christ. He not only believed in Him and trusted Him as His own Heavenly Father, but taught His disciples that God was their Heavenly Father and as such was worthy of their trust and confidence. Trust in the sermon on the mount is distinctly founded upon the Fatherhood of God.

1. Christ teaches that if our trust is in God we should lay up treasures in heaven. "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." It certainly seems inconsistent to profess that our trust is in God, that our supreme interests are in heaven, and then to devote our entire time to laying up treasures on earth. We trust in what we have. If our treasures are heavenly, so will our trust be; if they are earthly, our trust will be here. But earthly things are temporary, while heavenly things are eternal. Therefore also we should lay up treasures in heaven rather than upon earth.

2. Christ teaches that trust in God must be whole hearted. We cannot divide heart trust equally between two persons or things. One or the other will obtain the supreme place. "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." Do not try to love and trust both God and the world supremely. It cannot be done. Therefore give the supreme place in trust, as in love, to God.

3. Christ teaches that trust in God should make impossible undue anxiety concerning the future in this life. "Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on." And why? (1) Because life is more than meat and the body more than raiment. God has given us life and has made our bodies. They are more valuable and important than the food and clothes required for them. Having given us the more important, can we not trust Him for the less? (2) Because undue anxiety is worthless. "Which of you, taking thought, can add one cubit to his stature?" If worry were worth anything, it would still be unnecessary, since God can do more for us than we could possibly do for ourselves. But how much more unnecessary—yea, even sinful—it becomes in the light of the fact that it is worthless. Therefore it should certainly give place to supreme trust in God. (3) God takes care of the flowers of the field and the fowls of the air. Much more will He care for His children. Would the mother who never fails to give water and sunshine to her plants and food to a pet bird in its cage neglect her child? We cannot think so. Is God's love then not so strong as a mother's? Yea, it is infinitely greater. "When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up." Can we not therefore trust God with implicit confidence?

4. Christ teaches that God should have the first place in our hearts and lives. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." Something will have the supreme place. Let us give that first place to God. He is worthy of it, and nothing will help and bless us so much as to give it to Him.

Soul Winning.

Rev. Dr. Edwin Forrest Hallenbeck, president of the New York State Christian Endeavor union, in addressing his constituency recently on the subject of work for the coming year, had this to say about "soul winning," these two words being the motto just chosen for state work: "Oh, workers for Christ, let us make this the best year of service we have ever known—the best because we shall put into it most of determined, persistent, prayerful effort for souls. Would it not be possible to inaugurate a 'win one campaign' in every society, each member resolving to make a sincere endeavor to bring at least one soul to Christ during the winter months? This is a practical way of focusing our enthusiasm and making it tend toward definite results. Such a movement would drive us to our knees, for only in the presence of God can we get wisdom and power for such work. It would send us to our Bibles, for the word of God is the sword of the Spirit, the weapon we need for the conquest of souls. Thus the spiritual life would be stimulated, and we would be permitted to taste deeply of God's pure joy, and, best of all, Christ would be glorified, and souls would be saved. Shall we not join our hearts and our hands in effort for a large ingathering of souls?"

Prayer.

Prayer begets prayer, and one man who prays in the spirit will set a whole society praying.—H. A. Kinports, Secretary New York State Union.

43. V., Poyntelle, Pa.—Even though your church is small, the Christian Endeavor idea can be admirably carried out in connection with its work and prove a great stimulus to it. We would suggest that you address the United society, Tremont Temple, Boston, for a copy of the model constitution.

44. P., Hope, Ida.—Merritt B. Holley of Traverse City, Mich., has come to be known as the "man with the museum." He has gathered more than 3,500 Christian Endeavor souvenirs, and these he will exhibit at the Denver international convention next July.

THE SENTIMENTAL GIRL.

Some of Her Traits—Why She Reads "Mushy" Novels.

"The sentimental girl or woman misses a good deal out of life." This was the remark of Mrs. Worldlywise.

"Why, I thought that on the contrary"—began Miss Bud.

"Then, my dear, you were mistaken," put in the older woman crisply. "Like does not always attract like in this world, and one of the most striking proofs of it is that the sentimental girl rarely attracts the man sentimentally inclined."

"But the other men"—

"They are not attracted either. When a man discovers that a girl is romantic, inclined to believe everything he says and to take every glance from his eye as a proof that he loves her, he is apt to chuckle behind his hand and leave her. 'Too easy and too silly,' is the thought in his mind. On the contrary, the girl who is a jolly good fellow and will talk on almost any subject in preference to love is the one whom he, with the natural perversity of mankind, will lead up to the subject."

"I suppose one can pretend?" put in the debutante.

"Oh, dear, yes. One not only can, but must. And yet men blame us we-men for being deceitful! So if you are inclined toward love, ideals and all those nice little things don't let the men suspect it. Talk golf nonsense, verse or what you will, only avoid the slightest approach to sentiment, and you will soon find things coming your own way."

"LOVE STORIES."

"But the sentimental woman does sometimes marry?"

"Alas! yes, but her husband does not find out about her weakness till afterward. Then we see a nice household, with the mother of the family sprawling on a divan reading mushy novels because real life isn't good enough for her and the children and household arrangements going to the dogs in consequence. This, of course, is the exaggerated type of sentimental woman, but I was personally acquainted with one of her kind. She spent her time reading love stories and whatever spare money she had in going to see romantic plays until she lost all her ambition, her pride in her home and everything else a woman is supposed to have. In the end her husband divorced her, and even then she didn't seem to care much, but lounged in a chair with a box of candy at her elbow reading her perpetual novel."

"H'm-m! And I suppose she"—

"Yes, exactly so. Well, in its lesser forms sentimentality leads to a woman's thinking no one can understand her, least of all the unfortunate man who is her husband. When she is clever she writes her experiences, and then we have things like 'The Confessions of a Wife,' that make you long to shake the woman. But as a rule the sentimental woman is not clever. She contents herself with boring her husband ninety times a day with the trite remark, 'Do you love me?' or else weeping and going around the house wearing an injured expression."

"I wish," the older woman went on hastily as if she feared an interruption, "mothers would teach their daughters that while love is a good thing it isn't the whole thing; that ambition, work and success are not mere masculine attributes. Oh, yes, I know there are many women who have found that out already, but there are a lot more who ought to be helped to find it out. When we have more ambition and less analyzing among women then we shall have fewer sentimental women and as a result fewer heartbroken ones." MAUD ROBINSON.

One Wife's Ultimatum.

A woman left her husband on the ground that he ill treated her. Finally she offered to return to him if he would sign a set of rules she drew up for his observance. One of them was that he should take a bath once a week and put on clean clothes. The husband refused flatly to sign, and it was all off again. The wife was right. A husband who will not take a bath once a week and put on clean clothes ought to live in a stable.

Helpless Women.

Many of the women of today have been kept in such a state of financial dependence that they have no more judgment than a child when it comes to spending money. Where this is the case, however, it is generally the fault of the women's husbands or fathers, who have never allowed them to learn how to take care of money.

THE STATUARY HALL

Most Interesting Spot in the Great Capitol Building.

Maryland's Contribution to Its Treasures Consists of Bronze Likenesses of John Hanson and Charles Carroll.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"THE iggerance of some pa-aple be appallin'," said Irish Mary, who sold pies to the soldiers of the Army of the Potomac.

All of her pies were covered, and one of the soldiers asked her how it was that she could cut into pies with such accuracy and give them whatever kind was asked for. She pointed to an imprint and said: "Yez see that 'T. M.,' don't yez?"

"That manes 'Tis Mince!'" she said, dramatically.

But when one of the boys pointed out the fact that she had just cut an apple pie that had "T. M." on it, she said:

"The iggerance of some pa-aple is appallin'. That manes: 'Tain't Mince.'"

Well, the ignorance of thousands of educated people, on some points, is appalling. A niece of the writer, a high school and college graduate, a young woman of considerable force of character, who has been reared and exceptionally well educated here, recently made the assertion that the national house of representatives is superior to the senate, because the right to raise the revenue is vested in the house of representatives by the constitution; and she informed her veteran uncle that "as money is the source of power, and the house raises revenue, it has greater power than the senate."

But she easily learned in the course of conversation that the senate is a coordinate body, and, by its power of amendment, usually has really more to do with raising revenue than does the house, in which the revenue bills originate.

But one of the most astounding manifestations of lack of information among people generally believed to be well educated has been set forth by the legislature of the grand old state of Virginia during the past few weeks. The memory of Robert E. Lee, the great confederate military genius, is dear to the hearts of all of the survivors of his armies; and it is particularly dear to the people of Virginia because he was a Virginian. That is all right, and perfectly natural. Nobody quarrels with that sentiment; but, on the contrary, it is commended, because worthy of commendation.

The members of the legislature of Virginian, however, ought to be aware of the fact that the memory of Robert E. Lee is not so affectionately cherished by all of the people of this republic. And when they seriously entertain the idea of presenting a statue of the confederate leader to be set up in statuary hall in the great capitol building, they ought first to ascertain if it is at all within the range of possibilities for them to induce the acceptance of such statue, for erection in such a place.

The history of statuary hall ought to be known to all of the people of Virginia, and to all of the people of the republic; but it is not. The great hall was occupied by the national house of representatives for almost 50 years previous to 1864. In that year the new marble north and south wings of the capitol were completed, and occupied by the senate and house of representatives, respectively. The room formerly occupied by the senate was formally set aside for the use of the supreme court, and it is so used until this day.

The larger room, which had been occupied by the house of representatives, was set apart, by a joint resolution of congress, to be used as a hall of statuary: "Each state, now loyal to the union, to have the privilege of placing therein the statues of two of her most distinguished citizens."

Virginia was not then "loyal to the union," and she is not entitled to the privilege of placing any statue in that hall, nor can such privilege be secured without special legislation which the congress would be loth to enact. The time may come when the name of Lee will be as highly respected as that of Grant or of Lincoln, but the time has not come now, not yet. If the members of the legislature of Virginia were aware of this simple fact of history concerning the origin of statuary hall, and the language of the joint resolution setting it apart for that purpose, they would not have spent so much time and energy this winter in debating the accomplishment of a desire which, however dear, is impracticable.

During the civil war, because of its environments, because of the constant presence and mobility of hundreds of thousands of soldiers, Maryland remained in the union, albeit everybody knows that Gov. Hicks and the people of Maryland were as anxious to secede from the union as was Virginia or any other southern state. No matter, Maryland remained in the union, and recently that state took advantage of this fact by sending to the statuary hall the statues of two of her most distinguished citizens; and they were unveiled with the greatest of pomp and ceremony.

One of these is a statue of John Hanson, of whom superficial readers of history have never heard read or remembered. And yet John Hanson was not only one of the great figures of the ante-revolution, not only a great citizen of Maryland, but also of the embyro republic, and president of the congress of the revolution.

John Hanson was the powerful leader who prevented Maryland from ratifying the constitution of the confederation in 1777 and 1778, when all of the other colonies, or states, had entered into that agreement. Hanson insisted that Virginia should do as Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York had done, surrender all claims to the northwestern "back lands," or northwestern territory of the confederation. After Virginia surrendered her claims, the area of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio became the common property of the confederation. This action of the state of Maryland, under the direction of John Hanson, led directly to the ultimate formation of the federal union. This was the beginning of the acquisition of a public domain; the beginning of the acquiring of public lands in common for the federal union; lands out of which free states were carved. It was the common ownership of this public domain that did more than all else to cement the states into a more perfect union. It was Hanson's foresight which made not only possible, but necessary the ordinances of 1784 and 1787, from which the federal constitution developed.

The other statue, of course, is of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, of whom every boy and girl has read and heard. The story is well known that when he had signed the declaration of independence, some one said that there were so many Carrolls that the king would not know which one to take, if he succeeded in capturing the signers, so Carroll immediately wrote beneath his signature: "of Carrollton," so that his identification might be the more complete.

In his speech at the unveiling, Senator McComas said: "As a boy of 11 years, Charles Carroll was sent to the college at St. Omers, and later to the colleges at Rheims and Paris. At 20, was a student at the Temple, at London. There for eight years he associated with the master intellects, listening to Fox and Burke, in the eloquent periods on liberty. At 28 he returend to his Maryland home and, long before his confreres, he advocated revolution and independence.

"On July 4, 1822, the last living signer of the declaration of independence. Carroll, helped lay the corner stone of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Forty years before, with Washington, he had sought to unite the Ohio with the sea, by the Potomac; and now, at the age of 85, he foresaw that the American union could not endure without railroads."

These statues of Hanson and Carroll were cast at the bronze foundry of Creut, Paris, and were placed in their positions in statuary hall last December, where they remained until the time for their unveiling. Each statue is of heroic size, seven feet three inches high, with the stand, also of bronze, of four inches.

SMITH D. FRY.

Gigantic Mining Operation.

One of the most gigantic mining operations ever undertaken is about to be carried out at Cripple Creek, Col. A tunnel no fewer than 14 miles in length is to be bored in order that the minerals may be brought through and forwarded to the coast. The real advantage will that the ore will then be able to pass from the mine to the port over a comparatively level plane of transit, whereas now the mineral has to be transported over the range of mountains.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

HEARINGS AT ALBANY.

Pure Ice Bill Argued—Good Roads Extension Advocated.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—State Commissioner of Health Lewis appeared before the senate public health committee in favor of the McCabe bill prohibiting the cutting of ice for domestic use between Waterford and Coxsackie on the Hudson river or within 3,000 feet below any town of more than 100,000 inhabitants on the river.

General Robert Avery of New York said that ice polluted by eighty sewers was sold for domestic purposes in New York city and was the cause of sickness and frequency of typhoid epidemics. Senator Lefevre and a delegation of ice dealers opposed the bill on the ground that it would deprive 10,000 men of a means of livelihood. The American Ice company is expected to be represented at a later hearing.

An immediate attack in the courts upon the constitutionality of the thousand ton barge canal bill was promised before the senate judiciary committee at its hearing on the Ambler constitutional amendment proposing to remove the prohibition against the alienation of the canals from state control by John I. Platt of Poughkeepsie. "Even if it passes," he declared, "it will have no plain sailing."

The senate committee on judiciary gave a hearing to the advocates of good roads on the bill to permit the state to bond itself for $50,000,000 to build improved highways. The principal speaker was W. Pierpont White of Utica.

Before the assembly excise committee a number of hotel keepers appeared in advocacy of the Yale bill, which authorizes the issuance of an excise certificate to hotels regardless of the local option clause in the present law. Several favored the act, declaring that under present conditions a hotel keeper had to be a politician all the year round in order that he might secure votes enough to insure a license.

Escaped From Ice Blockade.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 12.—Norman Ross and Frank Carter, masters of two vessels of the American herring fleet which is frozen in the icefloes in the Bay of Islands, have arrived here after having trudged ninety-six miles across the snowfields in the interior. They were four days on the march and were accompanied by three other travelers and two guides, who dragged a sled with their stock of provisions. They reached the railroad on the morning of the fifth day footsore and weary. They had to adopt this expedient to return to Gloucester, Mass., the Bay of Islands and the whole western slope of Newfoundland being blockaded by icefloes. The travelers report that there are immense snowdrifts in the interior and that the traffic on the western division of the railway has been abandoned for the past month, not a wheel moving.

Students Returning to Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 12.—The increase in the number of students returning to the university to renew work is more marked than at any time since the exodus began more than a month ago. The increase was most noticeable in the colleges of law and mechanical engineering. The report of Health Officer Hitchcock shows five new cases of typhoid during the past twenty-four hours. Frank Dudgen of New York city, a freshman in the college of law, was taken to the Cornell annex yesterday with typhoid fever. Dr. Soper announced that the city facilities for carting away garbage would be increased threefold at once. The work of disinfecting is progressing rapidly under direction of Dr. Soper.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

There will be a practice of the City High School baseball team this afternoon on Hope Common. The work will be undr the direction of Capt. Fred T. VanAuken and it is expected that he will shortly select the regular team from the squad of candidates.

Manager E. D. George, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, has prepared the following schedule: April 15, Plainfield High School, in Plainfield; April 18, Pennington Seminary, at Pennington; April 25, Rutgers Preparatory School, New Brunswick, in Plainfield; May 6, Pingry School, at Elizabeth; May 9, Rutgers Preparatory School, in New Brunswick; May 13, Jersey City High School, in Plainfield. Arrangements are being made for games with the Montclair Military Academy, the class of '06, of Rutgers College, Peddie Institute and Morristown High School.

WHIST.

This evening the famous Park Club whist four will try conclusions with the whist team from the Forest Hill Club for the Metropolitan challenge trophy. The result will be watched with considerable interest.

The whist four from the Plainfield Camera Club will go to Jersey City next Tuesday evening and play the team from the Jersey City Whist Club for the State trophy. This will be the first opportunity the Camera Club has had to play for the trophy and the four will make a determined effort to bring it home with them.

BASKET BALL.

There will be a basket ball game this evening, between the team from the Borough High School and the Reform Club team. The game will be played at Reform Hall.

Tomorrow afternoon the freshman-sophomore and the junior-senior class teams of the North Plainfield High School will play basket ball in Reform Hall. This game has aroused much interest and a large attendance is expected.

Saw Twenty-Two Initiated.

Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash and his son visited Park Lodge, A. O. U. W., at Asbury Park, Monday evening and witnessed the initiation of twenty-two young men. The work was done by the team from the Camden Lodge and the stereopticon was used. So far as known this is the only lodge in the State that uses the lantern and it is said to make the work more impressive. The members of Columbia Lodge, of this city, are considering the advisability of doing the initiatory work in this way.

MISERABLE SPECIMEN.

City Judge Runyon Said So, and the Prisoner Looked the Part—Sixty Days Straight.

"You are the most miserable specimen of a woman I have had before me in a year," was the way City Judge Runyon expressed himself, this morning, when Mrs. Jennie Duxbury, covered with mud and ragged and unkempt, was arraigned before him.

The prisoner looked it and made no attempt at defense as she was arrested on the same charge Tuesday and worked the judge's sympathy to the extent of getting a suspension of sentence She also admitted having been arrested in Scotch Plains, Sunday, and paying a $5 fine. She was sentenced to sixty days straight in the county jail.

PALE PEOPLE

With Weak Lungs and Weak Stomachs,

ATTENTION!

The main trouble with the ordinary Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is that many people with weak stomachs are unable to use it, thereby being deprived of one of the best tissue builders and lung tonics of the day. We have formed a perfect mechanical combination of the

NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL, SHERRY WINE, GLYCERINE AND EGGS,

With the universal digestant—PURE PEPSIN making a food and medicine for the weakest constitution. Consider this matter before it is too late for you to derive proper benefits. Confer with your physician regarding it if you desire. If your lungs are weak act and act quickly.

MAY LEASE NORTH JERSEY

NEW VARIATION TO AN OLD RUMOR GAINS CREDENCE.

Plainfield and Elizabeth Company Said to be Included in the Proposed Deal.

The old story of the sale of the North Jersey Street Railway to a syndicate headed by Thomas A. Nevins, of East Orange, who was president of the old Plainfield Street Railway Company, was revived in Jersey City yesterday, with a slight variation. Instead of the line being sold the road will, the new story says, be leased to the Nevins syndicate for 999 years. The lease, it was further related, would also include the Jersey City, Hoboken and Paterson, the Elizabeth, Plainfield, Central Jersey and Orange and Passaic Valley companies. The total capitalization of these lines is $21,400,000 in bonds and $39,000,000 in stock.

It was also said that Mr. Nevins or E. B. Gaddis would be president of the new company. It was further stated that the transfer would take place in April, and that the details would be perfected at a meeting to be held in Jersey City today at the office of the North Jersey company.

No one connected with that company would talk of the matter except to admit that the executive committee meeting of the North Jersey would be held today. As to what business was expected to come before the committee every one professed ignorance.

THEATRICAL.

Miss Maude Lillian Berri, the prima donna of "The Sultan of Sulu" has excited the envy of a number of other handsome women on the New York stage with her new Paris creations which she is now wearing in George Ade's successful opera at Wallack's Theatre. As the American Girl Miss Berri displays a succession of gorgeous gowns of novel design that has brought numerous requests from the modists for permission to copy. It may not be generally known, but Miss Berri's gowns are made from copyrighted models in her possession, brought from France by Henry W. Savage recently and the style could not be worn by another without her consent, any more than one firm could use the invention of a rival firm.

Jerome Sykes will play his role of "John Doe" in Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Billionaire" for the 100th time at Daly's Theatre, New York, Monday evening, March 23. Souvenirs will be presented to women. Of the many successful comic characters Mr. Sykes has portrayed, none has proved as enjoyable a novelty as this humorous satire on the man who has to devise schemes to spend his income to avoid the disgrace of dying rich. "The Billionaire" is the most popular and successful comic musical attraction presented in New York this season and will continue at Daly's for several weeks longer. In May, Klaw & Erlanger will present another notable attraction at this house—Dan Daly in George V. Hobart and Edward E. Rice's dramatic version of the former's comic stories, "John Henry."

"Blue Jeans," that splendid melodrama, brimfull of southern atmosphere from the clever pen of Joseph Arthur, will be played by the permanent stock at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, next week. A gala event will take place next week at Proctor's 125th Street Theatre, where the permanent stock company will present Ouida's famous drama, "Under Two Flags," with the well-known actress, Minnie Seligman, in the leading role of Cigarette, and Harlem's favorite, Ned Howard Fowler, in the role of the Hon. Bertie Cecil. The show at Proctor's Twenty-third Street next week is one of those evenly good bills with a touch here and there of novelty and perfect variety. The topping feature will be Arthur and Jennie Dunn, those "little big uns" who have made millions laugh with their inimitable sketch, "The Messenger Boy." Proctor's Theatre in Newark will have an all star feature bill, headed by Florence Burns, "The Golden Haired Heroine;" Midgley and Carlisle, comedy sketch artists; the Three Keatons, acrobatic comedians; John Dunn and company, in "The Last Lesson," and fifteen other headline acts and novelties.

STOVE STARTED IT.

But the Fire Department Arrived in Time to End It.

A still alarm of fire was sent in this morning at about 11:30 for a blaze in the apartments of Miss Abbie Holmes, at 212 Park avenue. Miss Holmes was preparing for luncheon when a kerosene stove exploded. George Henderson, who keeps a barber shop on the top floor of the house, sent word to Giles, the butcher at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, and he telephoned to fire headquarters. The blaze was extinguished by extinguishers before any damage was done.

CHORUS REHEARSING.

Getting Ready for City High School Entertainment.

The members of the chorus in the entertainment to be given by the City High School on the evening of March 28 held regular practice this afternoon. The work was under the supervision of Chas. L. Lewis and the boys are showing improvement in the work. The instrumental quartette under the direction of William P. VanEps, 1904, is also starting practice work on the selections to be used in the entertainment.

Funeral of Miss Atkins.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning over the remains of the late Miss Juliet Atkins, of Westervelt avenue, who passed away a few days ago. The services were held at the undertaking parlors of A. M. Runyon & Son, Park avenue, and were in charge of Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls church. The remains were taken to Greenwood for burial.

Encouraging Progress.

A business meeting of St. Peter's German Lutheran church was held last evening when matters of importance were discussed. There was a good-sized representation of the membership of the church present who heard the reports read. The reports showed that encouraging progress had been made during the past month and that the church was in a healthy condition.

SHERIFF TAKES COUNTY JAIL

But Fails to Come to Agreement With the Freeholders As to Compensation.

IS NOW IN POSSESSION

Board of Freeholders Admit Right of Sheriff Coriell to Manage Jail —Took Charge Yesterday—The Sheriff Wants 32.5 Cents Per Man Per Day—Other Details.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 13 — Sheriff B. Frank Coriell assumed charge of the Union county jail yesterday afternoon. While the Board of Freeholders admitted his right to the jail, the board and the sheriff failed to come to any agreement as to the recompense Mr. Coriell is to receive for his care of the county's offenders. Each side had an offer but they failed to strike a common figure and the question still remains in dispute.

It will be remembered that the Sheriff made a demand for control of the county jail sometime ago and that the board referred the demand to the committees on jail inspection and public buildings. The right of the Sheriff was admitted but the committees failed to agree on the allowance.

A conference with Sheriff Coriell brought out that he desired 35 cents per prisoner per day. Sheriff Coriell's offer was reported to a meeting of the Freeholders, yesterday afternoon. The board suggested 30 cents and a committee waited on the Sheriff. He made a compromise offer of 32 5 cents. The committee reported but the Freeholders adjourned without taking action.

Immediately after the meeting the Sheriff took possession of the jail and notified Warden Dodd to continue it hereafter under the direction of the Sheriff. The jail committee of the Freeholders will take an inventory this afternoon.

The Freeholders claim that, under their management, the average cost for the last three years has been 24.6 cents and that they supplied medical attendance, clothing and other incidentals which will not be furnished by the Sheriff.

MOLLESON HELD.

Although Testimony Freed Him From Suspicion of Criminal Intent.

Following a brief trial before Justice Huff, last evening, Harry Molleson, the young man accused of assaulting Miss Cornelia Winsor on East Front street, Wednesday night, was held in $300 bail for his appearance before the Grand Jury. He failed to secure a bondsman and was committed to Elizabeth.

The testimony of Miss Winsor and the witnesses, together with Molleson's defense, tailled somewhat and practically freed the prisoner from suspicion of criminal intent

Park Sisters to Play.

The Park Sisters, two of whom will render cornet selections at the mens' meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, have filled thousands of engagements, appearing in lecture courses from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, also two successful seasons abroad, where they played before the crowned heads of Europe. The Park Sisters have succeeded in bringing out the exquisite tone possibilities of the cornet to a degree of masterly execution heretofore unthought of. They have only to be heard to demonstrate the truth that their music is a great novelty. Hugh R. Monro, vice president of the Niagara Lithographic Company, of Buffalo, will speak and Miss M. H. Cromwill will sing.

Another Minstrel Show.

A minstrel show will be given by the Athletic Association of the North Plainfield High School on the evening of April 20 at the Y. M. C. A. Hall for the benefit of the association. The entire membership of the association will take part in the show and they will be coached by Wm. A. Schorb.

Pangborn-Allen Case Again.

The celebrated Pangborn-Allen case will come up in the courts in Pennsylvania next Monday for a final hearing. Isaac P. Runyon, of this city, represents the contesting heir.

—The display of fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers tomorrow, will be extra large. Don't fail to place orders early.

GAVE TROUBLE.

Now Lawrence Tunison is Sojourning in Elizabeth.

Lawrence Tunison, a young man twenty-two years old, drank several glasses of beer, last evening, thought he was drunk and started out looking for trouble. He found it at the corner of Park avenue and Second street in the shape of Patrolman Myers. Tunison objected strenuously to being arrested but was hauled to headquarters with a crowd of 200 men and boys trailing behind. This morning City Judge Runyon gave him his preference of $20 or twenty days. He took the latter.

HAS SECURED A DIAMOND

REFORM A. A. IS GETTING READY FOR BASEBALL SEASON.

Met Last Evening to Complete Steps to Form a Permanent Organization.

A second preliminary meeting of the Reform Athletic Association was held last evening for the purpose of completing the permanent association. Thomas Mack was chairman of the meeting and E. P. T. Smith presented the new by-laws for consideration. These were adopted on the first reading. The final adoption will be taken next week Tuesday evening, when the association will meet again. For the present the association will meet on Tuesday evening of every week.

Joseph Barry, William Lawler and Edward Taylor, the committee on baseball, reported that several players had been seen and signified their desire to play for the association. In connection with this Mr. Smith reported that he was about to close arrangements for one of the best ball fields in the city, on the trolley, and he hoped that practice would commence next week. The location of the field will be made known soon.

The subscription committee reported progress, as did also the other committees. At the next meeting there will be election of officers and other important business. At present the association has a membership of fifty-five.

EDITORS OF ORACLE.

New Board of Editors at City High School Organizes.

The candidates recently selected from the study body of the City High School to act as the second board of editors of the Oracle held their first meeting yesterday afternoon. At this time VanWyck Brook, 1904, was elected to the position of Editor-in-Chief while the other elections were as follows: Literary editor, Miss Lillian Snodgrass, 1905; art and exchange editor, Miss Edith L. Jarvis, 1905; school editor, Miss H. Mae Batchelor, 1904; business manger, Harold C. Fenno, 1904; assistant business manager, Harry G. Thompson, 1905. Mr. Thompson was elected to the position of business manager by the student body of the school but tendered his resignation on account of other important school duties.

Is Now General Superintendent.

After a varied but very successful career of several years in railroading on many important lines, Manley B. Cutter has assumed his new duties as general superintendent of the Lehigh Valley, in charge of maintenance of way, maintenance of equipment, conducting transportation, lake marine and canal lines. Mr. Cutter was born in 1860 and at the age of sixteen years he began his railroad service with the position of messenger on the Chicago and North Western.

Collection System a Success.

Postmaster E. H. Bird is much pleased with the new arrangement of collecting mail, recently adopted. Letter-Carrier E. T. Dunn now makes the early morning collection from all mail boxes, thus giving the other carriers more time to make their deliveries. The scheme thus far is a decided success.

Orange Day Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be Orange day at the Y. M. C. A., when the members of the Y. M. C. A., of that place, will be in this city as the guests of the local association. Two games of basket ball will be played during the afternoon. The first game will be called at 3:30 o'clock, and at the end of the fist half the students will play their game with the Y. M. C. A. team. Admission will be by ticket or at the door.

Princeton Alumni Dinner.

The Princeton Alumni dinner will be held at the Park Avenue Hotel, Thursday evening, March 26. It promises to be an unusually enjoyable affair.

PARK CLUB VETERANS HOLD WHIST TROPHY

Had No Trouble in Defeating Team From the Forest Hill Club Last Evening.

THE SCORE WAS 22 TO 2

VISITORS WERE NOT IN MATCH AT ANY STAGE OF GAME.

Metropolitan Whist Trophy Will Remain in Plainfield for Another Week—The Park Club Four is Back in Its Old Form Again.

The Metropolitan challenge whist trophy is still in possession of the veteran Park Club whist four. That team defeated the challenger, the Forest Hill Club team, last evening by the very large score of 22 to 2. There never was any doubt but what the holders of the cup would win the match last evening, but the unusual score was not looked for.

The challengers scored two points in the first round and that was the end of their scoring. The Park four played a very strong conservative game throught and took advantage of every point. Their play reminded one of the old days, when the team was fishing for large game in the American Whist League and by clever work captured the big trophy from the Hamilton Club of Philadelphia in 1895. That event brought great honors to the famous four and its fame spread throughout the whist world. The team then held the trophy against the Philadelphia Whist Club, but in the same year lost it to the Albany Club.

Two members of the Camera Club team watched the match last evening with evident interest, noting the various important plays. It was certain that the Forest Hill Club team was not up to the game, for at times the members made several mistakes which cost them many tricks. After the game a social time followed and light refreshments were served.

At the end of the first round the score stood 11 to 2 in favor of the Parks. In the second round the Parks added four points to their score, while the challengers failed to make anything. The last round showed a score of 7 to 0 in favor of the Parks, making a total score of 22 to 2.

Samuel Townsend, S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers and Joseph H. Howell represented the Park Club, while A. W. Bray, Jr., J. G. Bray, J. F. Sisserson and C. M. Hopwood comprised the Forest Hill Club team.

The Knickerbocker Whist Club team is the next challenger and the match will be played Thursday evening, March 19, at 8 o'clock at the Park Club. This is a much stronger team than Forest Hill and the result will be watched with deep interest.

JUST IN TIME.

Occupants of Lawyers' Office Discover Incipient Blaze That Might Have Been Worse.

A telephone call at fire headquarters yesterday afternoon from the office of former Senator Charles A. Reed, called part of the fire department out for a most peculiar blaze in the office of the Postal Telegraph Company on North avenue.

It seems that when the Smalley building was erected, the owner of the telegraph office bored a hole into the side of the big building for the purpose of connecting with one of the chimneys. The old chimney place in the office was left open and a new one was made. When the former occupants of the office moved out the new occupants placed a stove with connections to the old stove hole. The stove has never had the proper draught and yesterday it was apparent, from the lawyer's office, that the roof of the building was ablaze.

When the firemen arrived they found that the roof had been built over the chimney and all the smoke had been going into the attic, instead of out into the open air through the chimney. A serious conflagration was narrowly averted. The stove was moved and placed in a position where it received the proper draught from the chimney.

Anchor Lodge to Entertain.

Tuesday evening, March 31, Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will entertain Jerulsalem Lodge, No. 26, Jerusalem Chapter, R. A. M., Trinity Commandery, No. 17 and a New York Lodge of Masons. The third degree will be worked. Many prominent guests and Grand Lodge officers will be present.

WANTS EVERY WIRE PUT UNDER GROUND

Bill Introduced Into Legislature Which Promises to Make Considerable Excitement.

NO WORD OF REPEALERS

BOTH HOUSES ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY EVENING OF NEXT WEEK.

Senator Cross Wants Automobiles to Run Not Over Fifteen Miles An Hour—Offers Amendment to Bill —Other Important Matters.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 13—Nothing more has been heard about the annexation "repealer" and, when the Legislature adjourned for the week yesterday, there was considerable talk about the chance that North Plainfield's decisive stand had ended the career of that bill. Yesterday's session was quite a busy one and several measures, which promise to attract much attention, made their appearance.

The child labor bill was passed by the House at the end of a discussion which was begun Tuesday night. The leading feature of the debate was some rather entertaining, if not instructive horseplay between Mr. Scovel and Mr. Swackhamer. The bill prohibits the employment of boys under fourteen years of age and gilrs under sixteen in factories. Newsboys are excluded from the age requirements of the bill.

What is sometimes called the Rahway Octopus, but which really is the Rahway Reforamtory, received attention in the Senate yesterday. A bill by Mr. Strong brought out the statement by Mr. Bradley that the appropriations committee had granted $200,000 last year to the institution, with the understanding that this amount would complete the building, but that this year an additional $63,000 was asked for to put on the finishing touches.

"Mr. Strong's bill authorizes the Governor to appoint an architect, at an expense of $500, to investigate what sum actually will be required to complete the institution, and to learn how the money already appropriated had been expended," Mr. Bradley explained. "The bill is a good one and takes a step in the right direction," he said, and it was passed. This action, it was believed, was taken in deference to the conservative views of the Senate committee on appropriations, of which Mr. Bradley is a member, and was regarded as an indication that the reformatory would have to get along this year with an appropriation sufficient for its maintenance only.

The bill introduced by Senator Bacheller, which provides that there shall be a new grand jury drawn every two months in first class counties, was passed after determined opposition by Senator Hudspeth, of Hudson county.

The Senate confirmed all of the Governor's nominations, with the exception of that of Winton O. Garrison, which was laid over.

A bill which will be sure to attract wide attention, and possibly concentrated opposition, was introduced yesterday afternoon. It compels all telegraph, telephone and electric lighting corporations in any and all cities of this State having a population of more than fifteen thousand to place all wires underground before January 1, 1904. The penalty for non-compliance with the act is $10,000.

Both houses adjourned until next Monday night.

The automobile bill was reported by the Senate committee, with one amendment, reducing the authorized maximum speed of automobiles from twenty to fifteen miles an hour. This amendment was Senator Cross's and was not concurred in by the other members of the committee, Senators Bradley and Minch. A public hearing on the bill will be held Monday night.

Mr. Garrabrant introduced a bill providing for the abolition of grade crossings.

PLAYED WHIST.

The Fortnightly Whist Club Held a Meeting Last Evening.

The Fortnightly Whist Club was entertained last evening by Miss May McLaughlin, of Somerset street. Miss Mary Griswold won the first prize for the women, and Arthur A. Cannon the first prize for the men. John G. McLaughlin was presented with the consolation prize. Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Potter, of East Second street, will entertain the club Thursday evening, March 26.

GAS COMPANY PLANS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Plant on East Fourth Street to be Greatly Enlarged and Modernized.

MUCH NEW MACHINERY

OFFICIALS WILL SPEND $25,000 TO BETTER THE LOCAL SERVICE.

Work Now in Progress, But Will Not be Completed for Many Weeks — President Runkle's Explanation of Poor Gas.

In spite of the fact that electricity is branching out into many fields and doing the work which was formerly done with steam and gas, the latter seems to be dying a hard death in this city. This is very evident from the fact that the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company has been and is still contemplating making great improvements in this city at its gas works. There will be about $25,000 spent in improving the present system.

The first step towards a practical accomplishment of the proposed improvements was the shipment last week of three carloads of machinery which is being installed in the gas works at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets. The machinery consisted of the fifty ton mate to the apparatus of the same size which was installed during the latter part of the fall. It includes several very heavy gas cylinders and retorts. They were supplied by the United Gas Improvement Company, of Philadelphia. They will not be in working order for three weeks.

In conjunction with the plans for improvements of the works and the service in this city the company has recently secured three houses in the neighborhood which it will tear down and on the site will be erected another large gas receiving and discharge tank. Work of demolishing the buildings has been started already. It will be several weeks before the material for the new receptacles arrive here.

H. G. Runkle, president of the gas company, said to a Press man, last evening, when asked in regard to the poor condition of the gas at present, that it was caused partly by the fact that while the improvements are going on, the old apparatus, which was in use before the new machinery was installed, was being used. He stated also that the main reason that the gas has been so poor was because of the fact of the oil, whic is used in making the gas, is of poor quality.

All the oil that has been used this year has been unsatisfactory and it is next to impossible to secure better at present. When the new machinery is in working order there promises to be much better service and a better quality of gas will be sold.

Missionary Sunday.

Missionary Sunday will be observed at the First Baptist church, Sunday. In the morning Rev. Dr. Rhoades will preach and the offering will be for the American Baptist Missionary Union. In the evening Dr. Rhoades will give an illustrated lecture on China. This divine is especially well informed on the condition of affairs in China and his address will be of unusual interest.

Struck by Train.

Passenger train No. 8, westbound on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, struck a man named Guber at Goodman's crossing, near Picton, Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The man sustained a scalp wound and cuts about the face. Dr. W. Kempton Browning was summoned to the scene of the accident and took care of the man, who was later removed to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark.

Christian Endeavorers to Elect.

The executive committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church met Wednesday evening, after the regular meeting of prayer, when the final business affairs of the society were closed up for the fiscal year. The annual business meeting will be held this evening when new officers will be elected and other matters will be brought up for discussion.

Daughters of Liberty Entertained.

Following the regular meeting of Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty, Wednesday evening, the members enjoyed a programme of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations. Those who took part in the entertainment included Miss Adele VonOhl, Mr. and Mrs. John Manley and Miss Try Mattox.

PENNSY BEHIND IT.

Backing Syndicate That Would Lease Trolley Lines.

The latest reports in regard to the giant New Jersey trolley merger, declare the Pennsylvania Railroad is behind a scheme to lease the various roads for a continuous line from New York to Philadelphia. A meeting of the heads of the various companies in Hudson, Essex, Passaic and Union counties, was held in New Jersey City yesterday and the fact that President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, made a special trip from Philadelphia to attend, lends significance to that rumor.

MUSIC AND SOCIABILITY

PREVAILED AT A SOCIAL HELD AT TRINITY REFORMED LAST NIGHT.

Then There Were Recitations by Little Miss Ella Case—The Attendance Was Large.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of the Trinity Reformed church held a delightful congregational sociable last evening in the lecture room. A feature of the evening was the vocal solos rendered by Miss Ethel Derby and Mrs. Thomas MacDonald both of whom were heartily encored.

Little Miss Ella Case, a pupil of Miss Addie Parker Jackson, won much applause in reciting a number of entertaining sketches, portraying different characters. She showed wonderful skill and several times she was encored. Among the selections which were particularly pleasing were: "A Little Quaker Sinner," and "A Surprise Party at Quarters," a southern plantation sketch which was very well received.

The committee which had the arrangements for the social in charge and who are responsible for the success of the affair, comprised: Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Mrs. Mary Disborough, Mrs. Edward Cooley, Mrs. H. VanName, Mrs. H. B. Paul and Mrs. S. C. Baker.

After the musical and literary part of the programme refreshments were served. The attendance was unusually large.

SERVICES TO CLOSE.

Last of Special Meetings at First M. E. Church Tonight.

The special services which have been conducted during this month at the First M. E. church will come to a close this evening, when Rev. Dr. J L. Hurlbut, pastor of the M E. chruch at Morristown, will preach. Dr. Hurlbut, is a former townsman and is well-known to many in this city. His sermon this evening will be one especially for young people.

The services, which have been somewhat of an evangelical nature, have been very encouraging, to the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass. They having been very well attended, both by members of that church and other denominations.

Nonpariel Club Dance.

The second reception of the Nonpareil Social Club was held last evening in Saengerbund Hall when there were several hundred people present. Representatives of clubs from Elizabeth, Jersey City, New Brunswick and other towns were present. The affair was very successful and was in charge of the following committee: President, Robert Stevens; vice president, Edgar McCray; secretary, W. H. Jones; treasurer, Thomas Bowser; Prof. Ernest Austin and Chapman Johnson.

Entertained Elizabeth Club.

Miss Florence Serrell entertained the members of an Elizabeth card club, yesterday afternoon, at her home, corner of Myrtle and Sycamore avenues. Ten young women were present and spent the time very pleasantly. Whist was enjoyed and the winners were: Miss Kellos, first prize; Miss Ethel McLaine, second; and Miss Manville, third. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Special Sermons.

Beginning Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will deliver a series of Sunday morning sermons, taking the following topics: March 15—"The Incarnation of Christ." March 22—"The States of Christ." March 29—"The Offices of Christ." April 5—"The Atonement of Christ." April 12—"The Resurrection of Christ."

Basket Ball Tonight.

The I. C. T. Club will play a game of basket ball with the Y. M. C. A. team, this evening, at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. This game promises to be a very interesting one and a large attendance is expected.

—The house of Mrs. Lindsay, of West Front street, is being painted and put in first-class condition.

SON'S ARREST CAUSED DEATH

Excitement and Worry About Son Brought on Fatal Stroke for James Gardner.

STRICKEN IN STREET

Son Was Arrested Yesterday on Complaint of Mother for Abusing Her—Was Just Starting for Elizabeth When the News of Father's Death Came—Was Released.

While his twenty-year-old son George was detained at police headquarters, awaiting transportation to Elizabeth on a committment for incorrigibility issued by City Judge Runyon, James Gardner, of Madison avenue, fell dead on that thoroughfare, this morning, while trying to reach his home. Excitement caused by the boy's sentence brought on an attack of heart disease that proved fatal. Word was immediately sent to Chief Kiely and young Gardner, who was just being placed on a trolley car with several other prisoners by Patrolman McCarthy for the Elizabeth trip, was ordered released. He heard of his father's demise in a most matter of fact way and then expressed pleasure at being freed.

The Gardners, who came to this city from Phillipsburg a few years ago, with the exception of the mother, have given the police a great deal of trouble. Father and son, who chummed together, were constantly appearing in court on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and the boy at one time for larceny. Wednesday Mrs. Garener had the son arrested for abusing her and when arraigned he pleaded not guilty. His trial was put off until today and the plaintiff's testimony convinced the court that the young man was incapable of caring for himself, owing to his craving for liquor. He was accordingly remanded to the care of the county probation officer previous to sending him to an institution.

Mrs. Gardner left the court room and informed her husband, who had been waiting at Park avenue and Front street, what had been done with the prisoner. He staggered a moment and then declared he was ill and would need assistance to his home. Mrs. Gardner managed to get him to Madison avenue when he sank down off Front street to the steps of a small shoe shop and expired.

Gardner was fifty-five years old and beside George, leaves two other boys and one daughter, Mrs. George Apgar, all of whom live in this city. The body was later removed to the home at Madison avenue and Third street.

WEDDED TWO YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Nagle Celebrates Event With Aid of Friends.

In honor of her second anniversaery of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle, of West Front street, entertained thirty friends from this city, Perth Amboy and New York last night.

A delightful time was had listening to a programme made up of solos by Louis Tallamy, Frank Humpston and Harry Runyon and J. Noll, of Philadelphia; piano solos by Miss Ida Tallamy and an "invisible" dialogue by Mrs. J. E. Henry, Mrs. Lindsey Woolley and Miss Helen Woolley.

The occasion terminated with the serving of a collation. The decorations were exceedingly pretty and were a combination of green and white and pink and white.

WHIST WAS ATTRACTION.

At Meeting of Geisha Whist Club Held Last Evening.

Miss Chandler, of East Fifth street, entertaeind the Geisha Whist Club at her home last evening. Mrs. Harry Connett and Miss Lillian Chandler received the first and second prizes for the women, while William Townsend was awarded the first prize for the men. Armstrong Mulford and William Abbott cut for second prize and Mr. Abbott won. Mr. and Mrs. Rose, of West Fourth street, will entertain the club at its next meeting.

Marked Dozen Years.

Miss Carrie Quipp, of Codington avenue, celebrated her twelfth birthday yesterday. Twenty of her friends spent the afternoon playing games. Refreshments were served after which the guests departed for their homes. Miss Quipp received a number of useful and handsome presents.

WHY GOVERNOR VETOED MR. NEWCORN'S BILL

Plainfielder's Measure Aimed to Get Easier Appeal for Policemen and Firemen.

MURPHY'S FIRST VETO

BILL WAS INTRODUCED LAST YEAR, BUT WAS DEFEATED.

Was Brought Up Again This Winter and Carried Through Both Houses of the Legislature, When Governor Vetoed It.

Assemblyman William Newcorn's bill, which aimed to permit any Supreme Court justice to summarily review any proceedings suspending, dismissing or retiring any fireman or policeman, was the first this winter to secure the veto of Governor Murphy.

The bill that attracted the Governor's disapproval was one introduced last year by Mr. Newcorn and lost in the Senate. He introduced it again this year and got it through. The bill was No. 6 last year, and No. 20 this year.

The Governor's veto stated that "this act allows any policeman or fireman in the State who, for misbehavior of any kind, has a sentence imposed on him by the Board of Police or Fire Commissioners, to have the judgment reviewed by any justice of the Supreme Court within ten days.

"In my opinion this privilege, if granted, will have a tendency greatly to lessen the discipline in the fire and police force of the State, already thought by many in some cities to be sufficiently lax. If any member of either force feels himself aggrieved by any sentence of the Board under which he serves, he already has the right to appeal in the usual way. To give him the power to have the case reviewed within ten days by any justice of the Supreme Court would, in my opinion, invite such action to a very large extent. If the controlling Board are made to feel that any sentence ordered by them is subject to easy and inexpensive review, they may be deterred in many cases from inflicting such punishment as they think just.

"There is a general impression throughout the State that policemen are not held rigidly to the strict observance of their duties as they should be; that the firmness with which they hold their positions makes them to a certain extent somewhat indifferent to discipline. The effort of the Legislature should be to strengthen and not to weaken the influence of the governing Board upon the force. If members do their duty they are not likely to have any trouble. If they are charged with offences and found guilty after trial they should accept the punishment and not be encouraged to go to court for a review. If in certain cases they feel themselves aggrieved the present remedy, I think, is sufficient."

BERGEN TALKS.

In Delirium He Says Things Which May Have Bearing on Mysterious Death of Dunellen Man.

Through the startling exclamations made by one William Bergen, of 10 South street, New York, while suffering from delirium, the New York authorities have renewed their investigations of the mysterious death of one William Scheick, who formerly lived somewhere near Dunellen, but who, at the time of his death, resided with his mother, Mrs. John Scheick, on Suydam street, New Brunswick.

Scheick was arrested prior to the election of 1901 for being illegally registered. In order to save himself from being sentenced he gave information which resulted in the arrest of his fellow lodgers. The night after his release from jail Scheick was found floating in the river with a deep gash in his forehead. It is believed that he was murdered by some of the men he betrayed and that Bergen was an unwilling witness to the crime and that the thing has preyed upon his mind until it has driven him mad.

—The anniversary meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held Friday afternoon, March 27, in the lecture room of the church.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

During this week, John Wirth, the West Front street baker, will make a specialty of Boston brown bread and the best of confections. All goods delivered.

With all purchases made at his pharmacy, Shaw, the West Front street druggist, presents Red Star trading stamps. Shaw has a stock of patent and manufactured preparations that is without equal.

When it comes to getting the very best cigar one can rest assured that if they are secured at Dobbins' cigar store on Park avenue he is getting his money's worth. Mr. Dobbins also keeps a large stock of pipes on hand at all times.

Experience, skill and unexcelled workmanship are the three requisites of a first class watchmaker. L. Moralier & Son, of Park avenue, have all three and the fact that they have been in business for many years in this city, qualifies them to repair the finest watches.

Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, makes one of the best spring tonics on the market and the time has arrived for the taking of such a "bracer" before the real warm days come. Mr. Miller's pharmacy is one of the most complete in the State and you make no mistake in trading there.

Any or all of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company manufactured or imported goods are to be had at the local store on West Front street. New lots are received every day and the stock is constantly kept fresh. The A. and P. goods are known and used the world over and have always given satisfaction. Handsome premiums with purchases.

S. Scheuer & Company, of West Front street, will before many months be located in their new building on Front street, opposite Somerset street, where they will be better able than ever to handle the constantly increasing trade. In the meantime do not forget that the firm is always ready to serve their patrons with the best goods on the market at the lowest prices.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, has just purchased a fine lot of thermometers, a most desirable thing in any household. They are of the best make and reasonable in price. Mr. Vail will also be pleased to have you inspect his large stock of jewlery, watches, diamonds, silverware, and if you have trouble with your eyes he can properly fit them with a pair of glasses.

PERSONAL.

Henry J. Talford, of Newark, is spending a few days in town with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of West Seventh street, are sojourning at Palm Beach, Fla.

Joseph Mandeux, of North avenue, has returned home after a few days' stay in Alfred, N. Y.

Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, of West End Park, is very much improved from a severe attack of the grip.

Mrs. Hubert N. Holder, of West Fifth street, has entirely recovered from a recent severe attack of tonsilitis.

Roundsman William Mattox is still kept at his home by illness. He does not improve as rapidly as his friends would like.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conger, of Cottage place, are receiving the congratulations of friends over the arrival on Wednesday of a daughter.

Manager Chas. Schermerhorn, of the Western Union Telegraph office at the North Avenue station, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Edward J. Richards, who recently lost her husband by death, and her three daughters, of Jersey City, are expecting to take up their residence in Plainfield at the home of William F. Richards, of East Third street.

Mrs. Kate Wallace and children, of Maybrook Junction, N. Y., returned home, yesterday, after a pleasant stay with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fahy, of North avenue. They were accompanied by Miss Theresa Fahy, who will remain with them for several weeks.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

REPUBLICANS GAINED ONE

BUT THE DEMOCRATS STILL CONTROL SOMERSET'S BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

Democrats Elected Two and Republicans One in Township—Was Heretofore Democratic.

Somerville, March 13—At the spring elections on Tuesday the Republicans of Somerset county made a desperate effort to get a better standing in the Board of Chosen Freeholders. There was no opportunity for them to gain control, but had Republican Freeholders been elected in the three townships where the office was contested for they would have made the board a tie—five and. As it was, the Democrats elected two and the Republicans one of their candidates, which is a gain of one for the Republican party. The board now will stand seven Democrats to three Republicans. Before it was eight to two.

In Montgomery, E. V. Cruser, the present incumbent and a Democrat did not try for a re-election, and Jacob M. Vreeland, a Republican, was chosen by a goodly majority. Stephen S. Voorhees (Ind. Rep.) opposed Vreeland. John N. Brokaw, the Democratic candidate, withdrew his name on election morning.

In North Plainfield township a Citizens' ticket was in the field, made up of Democrats and Republicans. Wm. M. Demler, who won the nomination for Freeholder is a Democrat.

In Warren, Joel Codington was re-elected by a majority of 51 votes over John E. Flammer, Republican. This is Mr. Codington's third term and there was bitter opposition to his re-election.

The Board of Freeholders will be constituted thus:

Bedminster—David Philhower, D.
Bernards—J. A. Whitenack, D.
Branchburg—E. B. Hoagland, D.
Bridgewater—Wm. J. Logan, D.
Franklin—T. E. Gibson, D.

FREE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE.

Of Furniture, Carpets and Everything for the Home—Just Issued by Amos H. VanHorn, Ltd.

One of the most attractive catalogues of recent years has just been published by the old established furniture house of Amos H. VanHorn, ltd., of 73 Market street, Newark.

Its forty-four pages are filled with pictures and prices of the goods this house carries and the departments are so arranged as to make selections easy. It is no small task to have every stock represented in a catalogue when the store it advertises needs five acres floor space for its business, yet this admirable catalogue does its work well, and familiarizes those who contemplate furnishing or re-furnishing with its well-known liberal and accommodating terms in selling its goods.

The Amos H. VanHorn, ltd., house will gladly send a copy to any one asking for it.

PROGRESS IN SENATE

Vote on the Canal Treaty to Be Taken Tuesday.

THE CUBAN TREATY IS REPORTED.

The Latter, Amended to Meet the Wishes of the Democrats, Will Require the Approval of the House to Make It Effective.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—There were important developments yesterday regarding the treaties pending in the senate. It was decided to vote on the Panama canal treaty on Tuesday next, and the Cuban reciprocity treaty was reported to the senate by the committee on foreign relations. The end of the work for which the extra session was called therefore is in sight. The agreement to vote on the canal treaty was arrived at soon after the senate assembled at noon and without discussion of moment. The terms had been made satisfactory to Senator Morgan before the request to fix a day for a vote was preferred by Senator Frye, so the former made no objection.

The Cuban treaty, with the various amendments agreed on by the committee on foreign relations, was then reported by Mr. Cullom, and at his request it was read for the information of the senate. The reading was followed by a formal request by Mr. Cullom to take up the Cuban treaty for discussion, but while this was denied still the greater part of the session was devoted to it. The amendments made include, in addition to those of last session, a provision requiring the approval of the house of representatives to make the treaty effective.

With the adoption of this amendment the Democrats as a body probably will cease opposition to the Cuban treaty, but some of them, the sugar interests of whose states are affected by the treaty, will continue to oppose it. The Republican side of the senate will vote practically, if not solidly, for the treaty, and it is now generally believed that it will be ratified after action on the Panama treaty.

Individual Democratic senators will offer a number of amendments to the canal treaty, and they will unite in pressing some of them, but if they should be voted down, as seems likely, a number of the Democrats will vote for the ratification of the treaty.

The progress made leads many senators to predict an adjournment by the close of next week. The action of the committee on commerce in postponing a vote on Dr. Crum's nomination, which also took place yesterday, is generally accepted as disposing of that matter for this session.

Cuba Dreads Delay.

HAVANA, March 13.—The publication of Washington dispatches regarding the amendments to the reciprocity treaty by the senate foreign relations committee has caused a renewal of apprehension among business men that the treaty may remain unsettled until the next session of the United States congress. The merchants and bankers here hope that if the amendment requiring the approval of the house is adopted President Roosevelt will call a special session of the house to settle the matter. The uncertainty regarding the rates of duty has seriously hampered both the export and import trade for several months. The merchants, although anxious for its ratification now, declare that even the rejection of the treaty is preferrable to a further long period of uncertainty.

To Clean Coal by Machinery.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 13.—The Lehigh Valley Coal company will start a new breaker at Mineral Springs, three miles from here, on Tuesday next. The structure is 200 feet high and will contain automatic cleaning devices that will do away with the employment of boys as slate pickers. The capacity of the breaker will be 2,000 tons a day and give employment to some 400 miners.

Ironworkers Threaten to Strike.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 13.—The Amalgamated Sheet and Iron Workers of this place met and sent out a demand to their employers that they grant a nine hour work day, an increase of 10 per cent and time and half time for overtime by April 1. They at present receive $2 a day and an allowance for overtime. The men say they will go on strike if their demands are not granted.

Morgan Calls on President.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—J. P. Morgan called at the White House yesterday afternoon and held a conference with the president. He was alone and remained for about half an hour with Mr. Roosevelt. The nature of his call was not disclosed. Last night Mr. Morgan and his party took dinner at the Arlington hotel, Senator Hanna and Miss Phelps, the latter's niece, being Mr. Morgan's guests.

Miners Decide to Strike.

MASSILLON, O., March 13.—The 2,000 miners of this district have decided to strike April 1. The decision was the result of a joint conference between the miners and operators, which split on the demand of the miners that a four foot standard vein of coal should be established. The operators refused to accede to the demand.

Sixty Miles of Ice Floes.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 13.—The British steamer Bruce has arrived here from Sydney, C. B., and reports having met with an unusual stretch of ice floes. She went outside Sable island, yet ran through sixty miles of heavy floe ice ten feet thick. The steamer had her bows injured and will dock for repairs.

FOR HIGH LIQUOR TAX

Bill Introduced In New York Senate.

INCREASE OF 50 PER CENT PROPOSED

Governor Odell Favors Change and Praises the Present Raines Law. He Quotes Official Figures to Prove His Position.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 13.—Senator Raines yesterday introduced the higher license bill, increasing the liquor tax 50 per cent in every part of the state. It was immediately referred to the excise committee, and a joint hearing will be given by the senate and assembly committees next Wednesday.

The introduction of the measure by Senator Raines was the signal for the beginning of the fight by the liquor dealers and allied interests against it.

Although practically every Republican in both houses of the legislature has, with the exception of Assemblyman Evans of Oneida, been pledged by Governor Odell to support the measure, the liquor men say it is not sure of passage.

It has been stated by some legislators that if the excise bill is passed it will be unnecessary to enact a mortgage tax bill for two or three years, as the canal improvement project will not be in operation before that time. The governor does not agree with those views. He believes that at least a large part of the revenue derived from the mortgage tax bill will be needed to meet an appropriation of $1,500,000 for a new insane hospital building and for good roads. For the latter projects $2,000,000 will be required to meet the state's share of the improvement work for which the boards of supervisors have petitioned this year.

Governor Odell in discussing the higher license measure said:

"Every decent, lawabiding citizen in the state is aware by this time that the present liquor law, if it has done nothing else, has at least succeeded in reducing greatly the number of places where liquor is sold, has driven out of business thousands of places that were menaces to public morals and has succeeded in reducing our prison population and diminishing crime.

"It is often stated, without figures to prove it, that the so called Raines law hotels have increased in number yearly. That is absolutely untrue, for here are the actual figures in three of the boroughs of Greater New York:

"On June 1, 1900, there were 1,910 declared hotels in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx. On the same date in 1901 there were only 1,335, a reduction of 30 per cent. On the same date in 1902 there were 1,360, an increase of only 25 over 1901, but still a decrease of 29 per cent from the number in 1900. In June, 1900, there were 1,664 declared hotels in the borough of Brooklyn, and on June 1, 1901, there were 832, a reduction of 50 per cent. On June 1, 1902, there were 726, a reduction of 56 per cent from the number of 1900.

"Now take the criminal statistics since the present law went into effect, and it will be found that the number of commitments for drunkenness has fallen from 53,200 in 1897 to 33,203 in 1901, a reduction of nearly 40 per cent, and it further appears that the commitments for assaults, robberies and burglaries have materially diminished."

Schooner's Crew Suffered Hardship.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 13.—The fishing and sealing schooner George W. Prescott of Victoria was capsized and completely wrecked Monday morning thirty miles off the Columbia river. One member of the crew, an Indian, was lost. The entire crew had a narrow escape from death. The steamer Montara, from San Francisco, which picked up the crew, brought them to Seattle. For more than forty-eight hours the Prescott and her crew floundered in the waves. Frequently they were washed overboard. Finally they were compelled to tie themselves to the wreck and await assistance. For fifty-six hours they were drenched to the skin, without food and every minute expecting to be dashed to pieces.

Pope's Presents For the Fair.

ROME, March 13.—Negotiations have been begun with the Vatican with a view to securing the placing on exhibit at the St. Louis exposition of Pope Leo's jubilee presents. The American vessel which will transport the jubilee presents of Queen Victoria, which King Edward has promised to exhibit at the exposition, will call at Civita Vecchia, the port of Rome, to embark the pope's jubilee presents if the negotiations are brought to a successful termination.

Run on Montana Savings Bank.

BUTTE, Mont., March 13.—A run on the State Savings bank caused no little sensation in financial circles. The run was caused by a report to the effect that John A. Creighton, an Omaha millionaire, president of the bank, had withdrawn his support. He is said to have sent $500,000 to the bank. In addition local men of wealth rushed in deposits of from $5,000 to $50,000, and at this the excitement subsided. The bank is one of the strongest in the state.

New Postal Telegraph Line.

OMAHA, Neb., March 13.—The Union Pacific Railroad company and Postal Telegraph company have come to an agreement by which the Postal company will build a line of wire on the Union Pacific right of way from Omaha to the Pacific coast. The poles and wires have been stored here for some time, and the work of construction will begin at once. The line will carry six wires, and the total cost of construction will be $1,500,000.

THERE'S BEEN A CHANGE.

North Plainfield is still continuing under the municipal control of the men who were in power before the election of last Tuesday By a majority of nearly 200, the citizens put themselves on record as believing Mayor Smalley was the man they wanted at the head of the borough affairs. There is no question now that the people of North Plainfield recognize the fact that Newton B. Smalley has been a good mayor.

The post-election talk has brought out several important facts. There has not been a desertion from the ranks of the advocates of Greater Plainfield. Almost without exception the annexationists supported Mayor Smalley. But a number of borough citizens, who had heretofore declared themselves as against annexation, have volunteered the information that they believe annexation and consolidation would be desirable. This class is more numerous than some people think.

It is not surprising that the greater city cause should gain adherants all the time. So will every good cause if time is given. Prejudice and failure to investigate carefully will often place a worthy man on the wrong side. None of us are infallible. But, as time goes on, the rights and wrongs of the question come to the fore and the real question is understood. Every day since the special election on the annexation question, that movement has gained ground. It will continue to do so. Today, we believe there would be a fair majority in the borough in favor of annexation. It will not be long before there will be an overwhelming majority in favor of annexation and subsequent consolidation.

The Court of Errors and Appeals has decided that a hospital in Camden is not exempt from taxation on the ground that it is not wholly supported by charity. Like all other hospitals, private patients are taken there and allowed to pay for care either in the main wards or a private room. That the revenue from these patients is utterly inadequate to support the hospital makes no difference in the eyes of the court. This ruling is likely to prove troublesome to the hospitals throughout the State, Plainfield included. As it is, Muhlenberg Hospital has trouble enough to meet all its obligations. If a heavy tax is to be added to this, it will make the duties of the Board of Governors of that institution still more difficult. A new law by the Legislature might remedy the trouble. Hospitals are very useful institutions and they deserve municipal aid rather than taxation.

It looks as if the request of the New Jersey Commissioners of the St. Louis Purchase Exposition for an additional $50,000 was perfectly reasonable. New Jersey wants to be adequately represented at that great fair and it takes money to do it. Even going forward on a modest scale the Commissioners find that their original appropriation has been made to look very sick and that another of the same size is necessary to give Jersey anything like a proper shewing. The request is now before the Legislature and it seems likely that the Legislators will see their way clear to grant the reasonable request.

Tonight sees the final appearance of the Hope Y. M. A. minstrels. The show has certainly been a clever one and it has served to entertain several thousand people besides raising funds for one of the most flourishing organizations for the benefit of young men in the city.

Last season broke all existing records as far as baseball in Plainfield was concerned. From the present appearance of things, the season now almost ready to begin is going to prove even greater.

Something dropped in Somerville last Tuesday. It looked very much like Former Senator L. A. Thompson.

It is pleasing to note that Cranford repudiated the claims of Assemblyman Hall as a local leader.

GIVEN ACID BY MISTAKE

YOUNG DAUGHTER OF MRS. LEWIS T. THOMAS BADLY BURNED.

Given Carbolic Acid Instead of Medicine—Hope of Recovery Entertained.

A serious mistake was made by Mrs. Lewis T. Thomas, of Watchung avenue, last evening, when she gave her daughter a teaspoonful of carbolic acid, which she supposed was the regular medicine prescribed for the patient.

The girl, who is nearly six years of age, has been ill for some days and she had been taking medicine much the color of the carbolic acid. How Mrs. Thomas happened to get the wrong bottle is a mystery to her, but she immediately discovered the mistake and summoned her family physician, who after using heroic treatment succeeded in getting the girl over the first shock. The little one's mouth and tongue were frightfully burned, while the stomach did not escape from the deadly poison.

This morning the patient was resting comfortably, although she is not out of danger. As yet the physician does not give much encouragment for ultimate recovery, but everything possible is being done to counteract the effects of the poisonous dose.

STRONG ENDORSENENT.

Leo Battalia, the expert piano rebuilder, Watchung avenue, justly feels proud of the following letter from H. B. Parsons, vice president and secretary of Wells, Fargo & Company, 63 Broadway.

Mr. Leo Battalia:

Dear sir—I herewith hand you check for bill rendered. Mrs. Parsons, the members of my family and I are much pleased with the great improvement made by you in the tone of our Knabe grand piano, and believe your work shows very exceptional expert knowledge and skill.

Yours very truly,
H. B. Parsons.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

DUNELLEN.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Sarah Gulick were held from her late residence on North avenue yesterday morning. The services were simple but impressive and were conducted by Rev. Frank Fletcher and Rev. S. K. Doolttle. The pall bearers were Eugene Runyon, Samuel Muril, George F. Giles and Jacob Vossellor. Interment was made in the cemetery at Bound Brook.

A. J. Harnley has rented Willard Apgar's present home on Front street. Mr. Apgar will shortly move into the new house next to that which is nearly finished.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD'S REVIVAL

WILL BEGIN MONDAY AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. W. A. Spinney, Pastoral Evangelist, Will be There Two Weeks.

The Baptist church, of South Plainfield, Rev. J. A. Cubberley, pastor, is anticipating the holding of a two weeks' series of spucial evangelistic meetings with the assistance of Rev. W. A. Spinney, of Newark, beginning Monday.

Mr. Spinney has been pastor of strong churches in Ohio and Wisconsin. His last pastorate was in Milwaukee, where he served one of the largest Baptist churches in the State, with three missions. November he declined an urgent call to the First Baptist church, of Terre Haute, Indiana, with a membership of 900 members, and three strong missions, in order to accept the call of the New Jersey Baptist Missionary convention to serve as pastoral evangelist. During the past winter he has been conducting very successful meetings in various parts of the State. He is now closing a series of meetings with the North Baptist church of Camden.

REV. W. A. SPINNEY.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

THE FLEXIBILITY OF A "DOROTHY DODD"

EASY FEET.

It is said that the woman who goes to church with squeaky shoes goes to the right place, for her sole needs attention. There is really a good deal about the sole of a woman's shoe that needs attention. You realize it if you stop to think how much you relieve the discomfort and "hardness" of shoes by making their soles flexible.

You can tell the difference as soon as a few steps have been taken. It means comfort, and a flexible sole, as a rule, will outlast any rigid sole. Don't overlook that.

They Cost $3.00.

FREEDOM IN RUSSIA

Czar Proclaims Religious Liberty to All Creeds.

OTHER IMPORTANT CONCESSIONS.

Decree the Most Significant Since the Act of Emancipation—Issued on the Birthday Anniversary of Alexander III.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 13.—The czar has issued a decree providing for freedom of religion throughout his dominion, establishing in some degree local self government and making other concessions to the village committees.

After referring to the efforts of his predecessors, particularly his father, to add to the welfare of the Russian people the czar announces in the decree his decision to grant freedom of religion to all his subjects who profess non-Orthodox creeds and to improve the conditions of village life and those of the local nobility and peasantry.

Among the measures outlined by his majesty for the attainment of these ends is reform of the rural laws.

The decree, which was issued in commemoration of the anniversary of the birthday of Alexandar III., is considered to be the most significant act of state since the emancipation of the serfs. The public hails it as the proclamation of a new era opening up bright prospects of the early improvement of Russian internal administration.

Although the Jewish faith is not specifically mentioned in the czar's decree, it is believed that the liberty granted to "all creeds" is intended to include the Jews.

Ithaca Accepts Cornell Loan.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 13.—The executive committee of the board of trustees of Cornell university has signed an agreement with the Ithaca Waterworks company by which the university loans the water company $150,000 for the construction of a filtration plant for the city of Ithaca. President Schurman appeared before the Ithaca city council three weeks ago and made an offer of this loan if the city would allow the water company to increase its rates enough to pay one-fourth of the interest on the loan. This proposition was agreed to by the city. The university then made its offer to the water company, imposing the one condition that the filtration plant be completed by September next and that the university approve of the plans.

Taylor Wanted For Embezzlement.

HONOLULU, March 13.—Wray Taylor, commissioner of agriculture and forestry for the territory, is wanted for embezzlement. A police agent left Honolulu on the steamship Alameda with extradition papers and a warrant for Taylor's arrest. Taylor sailed from here on Jan. 3 for San Francisco to consult with the California board of horticulture. He was heard from regularly up to the middle of February and was expected to return here Feb. 19. It is believed that Taylor went east from San Francisco and crossed the Atlantic. If that is the case, the police agent will endeavor to trace and follow him.

Theaters In Receiver's Hands.

DENVER, March 13.—Denver's two largest theaters, the Broadway and the Tabor, have been turned over to a receiver appointed by Judge Hallett in the federal court pending the settlement of a suit brought by Mrs. Marie Antoinette Singer-Bigger of England, daughter of the late William H. Bush, who was formerly in partnership with Peter McCourt in the management of the two theaters. The suit is to obtain an interest in the present leases of the two theaters held by McCourt. About $50,000 is involved in the suit.

Colorado Burglars Foiled.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., March 13.—Burglars effected an entrance into the Denver and Rio Grande offices at Colorado City and blew open the safe, but failed to get any money. A heavy charge of nitroglycerin was put into the safe, which not only demolished the strong box but wrecked the depot interior. This is the tenth attempt in the past six years at this place, none of which has been successful.

An Austrian Naval Cruise.

VIENNA, March 13.—It is officially announced that a division of the Austrian navy, consisting of three armored cruisers and a torpedo boat, will proceed at the end of March to the eastern Mediterranean, visiting the ports in the Greek archipelago and Asia Minor. The authorities are careful to state that the cruise is entirely without political significance.

THE WORLD AGAINST HIM

BY WILL N. HARBEN.

WILL APPEAR SOON IN THIS PAPER.

PACIFIC'S GREATEST DEPTH.

Five Miles of Rope Required to Sound a Spot One Hundred Miles from Guam.

The soundings made in the Moser Basin and in Tonga-Kermadec Deep, were accompanied by great excitement. It was on a beautifully clear day, the twentieth of February, that the Albatross approached within a little more than 100 miles of Guam, reports Leslie's Monthly. The vessel lay to, and preparations were made for one of the frequent soundings. At length, the silence was broken by a brief order and the tinkling of a bell. Slowly the machinery of the engine began to work and slowly the tough wire rope began to sink beneath the water. Foot by foot, fathom by fathom, it slid from the ship. One thousand, two thousand, three and then four thousand fathoms disappeared. The record was passed. Five miles of rope!

It was an anxious moment, for the strain caused by the immense length and weight of the wire rope on the machinery was tremendous. But everything held firm; and at length, when the mark recorded 4,813 fathoms, or 28,878 feet, practically the height of Mount Everest, bottom was touched. It was an added triumph for American geographical science.

EMBROIDERIES AND FRINGES

Russian Embroideries Popular—Flat Stoles Ornamental.

The long fur stoles are of a purely ornamental character, for they are quite ordinary wraps when worn close up to the neck and only acquire the graceful, old world air when hanging carelessly from the arms. The flat stoles of feathers will no doubt achieve some popularity in the spring, but this fashion is not a genuine success.

Russian embroideries and the pretty woven galloons in artistic colorings which so closely represent the real thing are to be much worn in the spring, and there are new embroidered trimmings to be worn medallion style, which inlet beautifully on soft cloth or silk and wool mixtures. Collars and trimmings of cut cloth edged with fine silk braid are also to be used on spring gowns and are most effective when mounted on white or a pale contrasting color.

Fringes are shown on many of the new French models for evening wear, but they are invariably combined with lace and used on very pale colors. One great universal feature of the evening bodice is the flounce or fringe which hangs from the bust and forms a sort of bolero.

A smart coat is shown in the sketch.

SOME UP TO DATE HATS.

Modified Flat Shape—The Ever Popular Sailor.

The flat type of hat is now wide in front and is so prettily curved that it no longer suggests the plateau. Some are raised slightly in front and have a bandeau in the center; others droop in the middle and curve upward at the side, where there are bows or flowers as the stiff, ugly cockade is rapidly dying out.

Other hats are of the picture type, gracefully raised and without any decided outline. This fashion is invariably becoming, as a hard, stiff outline forms a harsh frame for the face. The severely simple pompadour coiffure still remains in vogue, but the back hair is arranged in the most varied manner, usually loosely and carelessly.

The gown shown is of royal blue cloth and beige applique.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

MINE PROMOTER ARRESTED.

Dr. Flower Charged With Attempted Bribery and Larceny.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Dr. R. C. Flower, promoter of the Arizona, Eastern and Montana and other mining companies and a friend of the late Theodore Ragaman and his widow, was arrested yesterday afternoon in the Tombs police court on a warrant issued by Magistrate Barlow charging him with attempted bribery of a public official. It was his second arrest during the day.

The allegations contained in the warrant were sworn to by Flower himself in an affidavit in which he charged Andrew D. Meloy with the embezzlement of $2,300 which, he declared, he had given him with the understanding that it was to go to Inspector Titus, then a captain in charge of the detective bureau, in order to secure immunity from police interference in his mining stock operations.

Meloy was arrested on the embezzlement charge and held in $1,000 cash bail, which he furnished. Bail in Flower's case was fixed at $3,000, which was furnished by Mrs. Cornelia Storrs, a heavy investor in Arizona, Eastern and Montana stock.

Earlier in the day Flower was arrested on a warrant based on an affidavit filed by Mrs. Belle Gray Taylor, a prominent clubwoman, in which she charged the promoter with the larceny of $500 in connection with investments made by her in Arizona, Eastern and Montana stock, and held in $2,000 bail, for which Mrs. Storrs also became surety.

In the other case Flower had sworn that Meloy obtained $2,500 from him for the alleged purpose of bribing Titus to permit him to continue operations in mining stock, but that the money was not so applied. When the affidavit was handed to Magistrate Barlow, he read it in some surprise and then exclaimed:

"Why, this is a confession of guilt. This man swears that he gave this money to be used in corrupting a public official."

Magistrate Barlow at once directed Assistant District Attorney Garvan to take out warrants charging Meloy with embezzlement and Flower with attempting to bribe a public official. Both men were at once arrested.

Judge Day's Condition.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—After a visit to his patient Dr. B. L. Haddin, the attending physician, made the following statement: "Judge Day has a moderately severe attack of pneumonia. He is very comfortable, and his symptoms at present do not occasion alarm. Dr. Osler of Johns Hopkins university will see him in consultation." The friends of Judge Day are very apprehensive concerning his condition. His temperature is very high, running up to the neighborhood of 105. He is not a man of robust physique, but, on the contrary, is of frail appearance and, it is feared, may be unable to withstand a severe attack of illness, though hopes are entertained that his excellent habits and the careful nursing and medical attention he is securing will enable him to pull through.

New Department's Offices.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The new offices of the department of commerce and labor, which until the new fiscal year are to be located in a large office building at 719 and 721 Thirteenth street northwest, are being put in shape, and Mr. Cortelyou will move into them the early part of next week. The secretary is following out modest ideas in getting his department into running order. His own office and that of the force immediately connected with the secretary's office will be housed in a single room, the total area of which is 3,755 feet. Accommodations have been arranged for a private office for the secretary and another for Mr. Garfield, the chief of the bureau of corporations, and for about forty or fifty clerks.

Receiver For Famous Lands.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 13.—Federal Judge Clark has appointed J. F. Loomis of Chattanooga receiver to take charge of the famous "Alger Painted Rock land" in Marion county, Tenn. About twelve years ago Senator Alger of Michigan bought this property for about $200,000. He subsequently recovered about $50,000 on it. The land passed to the hands of Frederick Gates, Jr., and others. A savings bank in the east advanced money on a mortgage and wants to foreclose.

Ireland to Be Cardinal.

ROME, March 13.—The situation with regard to the appointment of Archbishop Ireland as cardinal is unchanged. Personages of high authority at the Vatican state that his nomination is likely in two cases—as a reward when the Philippine question is satisfactorily solved or in the event of his nomination being asked for directly or indirectly by the supreme authority of the United States.

Trainmen Plan Concerted Action.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The Record-Herald says that early in May a concerted demand will be made by the trainmen of all railroads centering in Chicago for a raise in wages amounting to between 12 and 15 per cent. Preceding their visit to Chicago the trainmen's committees are to make a similar demand upon the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railroads.

Mississippi Levees In Great Danger.

JACKSON, Miss., March 13.—The levee board, in session at Clarksdale, has asked that forces of convicts be rushed to the levee section in Issaquena county, where the embankments are reported to be in great danger. Officials of Sharkey county have requested a supply of tents, as breaks in the levees above will render hundreds of families homeless.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

American Baseball League's New York Grounds Finally Secured.

NEW YORK, March 13.—It is informally announced that the American Baseball league has secured grounds for its New York club in the neighborhood of Amsterdam avenue and One Hundred and Sixtieth street.

The site said to have been chosen has never been mentioned in this connection before. Transportation to it is rather inadequate at present, but the management hopes, with the completion of the tunnel road, to be able to carry large crowds there from any part of the city.

The president of the club, whose name is withheld, is well known in New York real estate circles. He is the head of a large corporation which owns the site on which the baseball grounds are to be located.

The site is said to have been leased for a term of ten years.

New Orleans Races.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—The Way, a strong favorite in the betting, scored an easy victory in the Bush Cup handicap at two miles and a quarter. The race was worth $1,680 to the winner, who also received a piece of plate valued at $300. Opening at twos, The Way was backed down to 7 to 5, the Corrigan pair, Zazel and Leflare, being next in demand at 8 to 2. Fuller rated The Way very cleverly through a mile and a half, worked his way up to the leaders on the final turn and came away at the end without an effort. The weather was showery and the track heavy.

Fournier Wins In England.

LONDON, March 13.—In a motor bicycle race at the suburb of Canning Town for $5,000 Fournier, the French automobilist, beat Charles Barden of England in three straight mile heats. The time was: With flying start, 1m. 14 3-5s. and 1m. 18 2-5s.; with standing start, 1m. 23 3-5s. The attendance numbered 4,000 persons.

Cocks of Two Counties Fight.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., March 13.—A cocking main was held near the Vermont line yesterday between birds from Rensselaer and Saratoga counties. Rensselaer won the first two battles, Saratoga the next two and Rensselaer the next three and the main, which was for five out of nine.

A Carload of Dogs.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Arrangements are being made to bring a carload of dogs from Pittsburg to the Chicago Kennel club's bench show, which will open March 25. The carload will include nearly all of the prize winners at Pittsburg. Entries will close March 15 instead of March 12.

Jockey Waldo Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—Jockey Willie Waldo was suspended by the stewards at Oakland for his bad ride on Hainault in the fourth race. Light rain fell during the greater part of the afternoon, but the track was good. There were several close finishes.

Chess Champion at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 13.—Dr. Emanuel Lasker, chess champion of the world, played a simultaneous chess match last night with different Princeton players. The Princeton open handicap chess tournament will be held on March 16.

Dinner to Minister Francis.

NEW YORK, March 13.—A complimentary dinner to Charles S. Francis, the owner and editor of the Troy (N. Y.) Times, was given at the Gregorian hotel last evening. The event was to celebrate the return of Mr. Francis to this country after his two years of public service at Athens as the American minister to Greece. The dinner was given by John A. Sleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly, who for many years was associated with the late John M. Francis in the editorial department of the Troy Times. The guests included former Governor Black, Charles Emory Smith of the Philadelphia Press, Collector Stranahan, J. Edward Simmons, Austin B. Fletcher and Pomeroy Burton of the World.

Another Death at Olean.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 13.—Walter Jackson, a patient at the hospital here, is dead. This brings the total deaths from the explosion of tank cars on Monday night to fifteen. Jackson was nineteen years old. Richard McDonnell, another boy, with a fractured thigh and terrible burns, will also die. The other patients will probably recover.

Ames to Return to Minneapolis.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 13.—It is announced here that former Mayor A. A. Ames is willing to return to Minneapolis tomorrow. His attorney, Mr. Hamblett of Nashua, however, says that if Mr. Ames has so decided it is news to him. Mr. Hamblett declines to state whether or not bail has been secured for his client.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

CHINA NOT ALARMED.

Boxer Troubles Not Considered Very Formidable.

PEKING, March 13.—The queries received at the foreign legations here from their respective governments indicate that greater importance is attached abroad to the disturbances in China than the most competent observers here think the outlook warrants. The foreigners are entirely confident of the ability and disposition of Yuan Shi Kai, the governor of Chili province, to suppress the occasional Boxer demonstrations in Chili.

Of the other revolts the Canton movement is now alone considered serious. The remainder are regarded as having no national significance. While the hatred of foreigners and the discontent with the Mantchoo rule has increased since 1900, co-operation between the discontented elements is lacking, and there appears to be absolutely no formidable revolutionary movement.

Yung Lu, the first grand secretary, is critically ill of dropsy. His death would probably promote Prince Ching, president of the foreign office, to the head of the government.

Kansas City Women Drive Trucks.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 13.—Two women, Mrs. G. B. Evans and Mrs. H. S. Meyers, took the places of their husbands, nonunion men, yesterday and drove trucks about town in defiance of the striking transfer companies' drivers. They met no interference, but instead the men lifted their hats as the women drove by and cleared the way for their vehicles. Although it was still necessary for the police to remain on duty about the barns, there was no violence aside from two or three trucks being stopped. A big crowd of strikers and sympathizers followed one wagon driven by a nonunion man, and when a few stones were thrown he willingly returned his team to the barns. The business of the transfer companies was practically at a standstill.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—The house yesterday passed the house bill incorporating Paulsboro and also the bill providing for the swearing of stenographers who take testimony in certain cases. Mr. Garrabrant introduced a bill providing for the abolition of grade crossings. The house adjourned until next Monday night. In the senate the automobile bill was reported with an amendment reducing the maximum speed on country roads from twenty to fifteen miles. Action on the amendment was deferred. Mr. Strong's bill appropriating $600 for an architect to make an estimate of the amount of money needed for the completion of the Rahway reformatory was carried after a debate by a vote of 14 to 4.

Finns Thankful For Aid.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 13.—Governor Van Sant has received a telegram from the central relief committee of Finland which reads: "Please convey to the American people our heartfelt thanks in behalf of Finland for general relief already afforded. Dr. Klopstock has just finished a five days' sledge tour and reports that the stories of distress are fully corroborated." The relief work in this state is progressing with satisfactory speed. Already more than $65,000 has been turned in to the general Minnesota committee, and within a few days it will reach a total of more than $100,000.

Dr. Muller Returns.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Dr. Frederick Muller, assistant to Dr. Lorenz, the eminent specialist in congenital hip disease, was a passenger on the steamer Barbarossa, just arrived from Bremen. He is on his way to Chicago.

SPORTING NEWS

INDOOR SPORTS.

Saturday evening the third meeting in the "novice contest" will be held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium when the two events will be the standing high jump and the running high kick. An entrance fee will be charged for new entries into the contest of 5 cents and the points will be saved until the end of the contest when the medals and other honors will be conferred upon the winners. This contest bars those who hold championships but those who wish to enter for the purpose of breaking records can do so. Those who break records will have their names enrolled on a metal shield which will be a permanent fixture at the gymnasium.

BASKET BALL.

Owing to the failure of the basket ball team from the North Plainfield High School to put in an appearance, the game with the Reform Club team was not played. A portion of the evening was spent in practice by the regular team.

The Orange Y. M. C. A. will play play a match game of basket ball with the local Y. M. C. team, Monday evening. The contest will, no doubt be witnessed by a large number of people as there is a great deal of good-natured rivalry between the two associations in athletic events.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

In the semi-final round for the individual bowling championship at the Park Club, last evening, J. C. Peck, a veteran bowler, defeated F. O. Ball, a crack bowler of the regular team, two out of three games. In one game Mr. Peck rolled a score of over 200. In the same round L. H. VanBuren defeated J. I. Taylor, thus placing Mr. Peck and Mr. VanBuren in the finals.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Orange Field Club baseball team will start practice at its old grounds on Arlington avenue and Randolph road Saturday afternoon. The practice game will be called at 3:30. All members and those who aspire to a position on the team are requested to be present for practice. The first game of the season will open March 28 with the High School.

Will Enlarge Building.

A permit was granted yesterday to Charles P. Sebring, of Greenbrook, to erect an addition of brick to the frame house and store owned by him on Watchung avenue near North avenue. The addition will be 12x15x47 feet and 6 inches. Wm. Clum is the architect, G. Waldron the mason and P. P. Sebring the contracting carpenter.

THEATRICAL.

Once again they are to have that popular comedy-drama, "The Fatal Wedding," at the Grand Opera House, New York. This engagement will mark the fourth of this famous play at the Grand within the year. Since its earlier presentation at the Grand it has been seen in all the principal cities of the country and everywhere it has been proclaimed the melodramatic standard. The occasion of the half thousandth presentation of the piece will not be passed by without due recognition, the management having decided upon a special St. Patrick's Day souvenir matinee, when each woman attending will receive a handsome, heavily plated, 14 karat gold wedding ring.

Klaw & Erlanger have been responsible for many theatrical successes in New York during the last ten years, but none of their past achievements have attracted such marked public attention as their wonderfully magnificent production of "Mr. Blue Beard," which is now in its eighth week at the Knickerbocker Theatre. From the very first performance this great spectacle has been presented to audiences that have crowded the theatre to the doors and have enthusiastically applauded its many extraordinary features,. Up to this time 104,800 people in round numbers have seen the piece and every one of them has proved an ardent advertiser of its great merit, commending it to his or her neighbors as an entertainment that no one should fail to see. Klaw & Erlanger, through their enterprise and vast resources, have become the most important factors in theatrical life in America. Their New Amsterdam Theatre, now being built on Forty-second street, near Broadway, will be the finest theatre in America and will cost, exclusive of the land, $1,200,000 This theatre will be opened next September with the Rogers Brothers in "The Rogers Brothers in London" as the attraction, to be followed in November with "Mother Goose," the Drury Lane successor to "Mr. Blue Beard."

Miss Whitney's Concert.

Miss May Vincent Whitney announces a concert to be given at the Casino Tuesday evening, May 12 Miss Whitney will be assisted by her sister, Miss Bertha Hurst Whitney, who will contribute a series of poses plastique and tableaux mouvant.

—Delicious strawberries, dainty and nice, are a feature at Neuman Brothers. Prices extremely moderate.

—Jacob Gaub, who recently went to Pittsburg, to work for the Westinghouse Company, is now located at Tuttle Creek, ten miles out from the "Smoky City."

Maze Edwards, manager of the Casino, who has been ill for several days, was able to be out again this afternoon.

Mrs. Edwin B. Day, of White Plains, N. Y., formerly of Plainfield, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Anthony C. Vail, of West Eighth street.

A new line of Keyser Barattea neckwear, in black and black and white, in all shapes, is being shown by Hoyt & Marcley, tailors and outfitters, 202 West Front street.
